Joan Postema becomes bride of Russell Easterday, Creston

Miss Joan Postema became the bride of Russell E. Easterday Saturday afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris Postema. Route 588 and Base Line road.

The Rev. George Ebbers, paster of the Celeryville Christian Reformed church, read the double ring ceremony Before an improvised altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli. Miss J ud Sainer, Louisville, played a prelude of organ music and accompanied James Decker, Galion, soloist.

Given in marriage by her

Gallon, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white silk organza over taffeta in a ballerina length. Bands of small taffeta flowers can around the skirt and neckline. The low rounded neckline extended into three quarter length sleeves. The back of the dress featured a Dior bow at the end of the neckline. Her singertip yell of Illusion fell in folds from a flat Dior organza low. Her bouquet was an arrangement of white orchids carnations.

Carol Postema was her sister's only attendant. She wore blue silk organza in a baller-ina length. It was designed with a full skirt and the bodice had a large shawl collar. He head dress was a matching Dior bow with a short veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and carnations.

Don McNutt, Creston, was best man. Ushers were Marvin Mawhorr of Mansfield and Robert Eyler of Galion.

A reception followed at the neighboring home of Mr. and Mrs. Burr Knaus, lifelong friends of the bride and her family.

The bride's table held a

Ily.

The bride's table held a four-tiered cake which had been baked by her cousin, Mrs. Melvin West nee Clarice Eyler, West Pâlm Beach, Fla, for whom Miss Postema had been a flower girl. The table was decorated with bouquets of flowers and sprays of greens with sweet peas. Mrs. Don Walker of New London and Mrs. James Vickers of Wooster, Ashland college classmates of the bride, assisted the guests. Miss Carol Patterson of Coshocton, another punch bowl. Miss Patricia Postema, a cousin, registered guests in the bridal book.

The bride's mother chose a straight-skirted, pink gown with white embroidery. She wore a small pink veil and a corsage of pink flowers. The bridegroom's mother wore a full-skirted pink lace dress trimmed with matching ribbon and set off with white accessories. Her flowers were also pink.
