Shiloh joins posts

Combining of three officers village clerk, village treasurer and clerk of the Board of Public Affairs into one job, was offered by village council Feb. 8.

Mrs. John Bryan is the village clerk at a salary of $400 a year. J. J. Cible is clerk of the Board of Public Affairs at $1,100 a year. Mrs. Maud Ruckman is the village treasurer, a job paying $150 a year. The combination job cannot become effective before Jan. 1, 1962.

Gibson seeks $150,000

Issues in the suit of Merland Gibson, administrator of the estate of his wife, Myrtle, a traffic fatality in Route 61 near Route 598 Dec. 8, 1958, against Gladys Coffey, Shiloh, and Ralph P. Pettit, Greenwich, were presented before a common pleas jury at Norwalk Tuesday.

Gibson alleges his wife was a paying passenger in Mrs. Coffey's car on the morning of Dec. 8, 1958, when Mrs. Coffey collided with a light truck owned by Pettit.

Gibson seeks $150,000 judgment for wrongful death.

J. M. Cramer dies; Clarence's brother

Brother of Clarence O. Cramer, Jacob M. Cramer, 80, Toledo, died there Saturday after a lengthy illness.

He also survived by his wife, Zella; two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Kusz and Miss Anna, both of Toledo, and a sister, Mrs. Garnet Clymer, Toledo.

The Rev. Theodore Klaunder conducted last rites Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Burial was in Toledo Memorial park.

cheol to marry Miss Edna Sheely.

Sunday, half a century after he promised in the parsonage of First Presbyterian church in East High street to love, honor and cherish his bride, LeRoy Lofland will mark his golden wedding anniversary "not regretting one single minute of what I did."

"Marriage," say the Loflands, "has been good to us and we wouldn't know what could have been better."

Their only surviving child, Aiden, and his family will be hosts at open house at the senior Loflands' home at the northeast corner of Plymouth East and Mills roads where they've farmed an 83-acre place for 18 years. Prior thereto, the Loflands farmed 21 years about a mile north of the present place. All told they've been farmers hereabouts for 48 years.

Mrs. Lofland is the daughter of the late Henry and Mary Sheely. Her brother and sister-in-law, the Frank L. Sheelys, were witnesses for the quiet ceremony performed by the Rev. Howard Welch.

The Loflands' daughter was killed at Shiloh several years ago. Another son, Chester, died last year.

They've five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Modern appliances make the housewife's tasks much easier, opines Mrs. Lofland, about a home that by present standards is big. "These young girls getting married today," Mrs. Lofland observes "don't want big houses like this one—they say it's too much work!"

"But," observes Mr. Lofland "they have their advantages. It's just as many steps from the corner of that kitchen to the living room. When a man has words with his wife, it's awful nice not to have to go in the cold to cool off—you can go to the living room and be just as far away as in the barn."

It's apparent he speaks the truth so far as linear measurement goes. From the kitchen an indignant husband goes through the dining room and a sitting room before he reaches the spacious living room.

Friends and kin of the Loflands are cordially invited to the open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, when they'll observe the golden wedding day that will fall Feb. 22, on Wednesday, when it's less convenient to entertain.

The Erie County Reporter, Huron, was first and the Yellow Springs News was second.

Tax collections largest in history, treasurer reports

Jan. 31 was the official closing date for the largest real estate collection in Huron county's history, reports Harold B. Collier, treasurer.

Total amount collected was $1,457,606.53, of which $13,607.64 was for special assessments and $73,001.76 was paid in advance payments on the June tax.

This works out to a little more than 100 per cent of the current charge.

A total of $71,902.51 is the amount of unpaid taxes. This is about two per cent of the total charge. Collier regards it "a very nominal amount of unpaid tax."

The settlement has been made with the auditor for the collection, who will soon make a distribution to the subdivisions of Huron county for their proportionate shares.

Treasurer remarked that bills are already prepared for the June collection, or second half 1960 tax, and may be paid at any time if one chooses to do so. June 20 is the final date for payment without penalty.

Treasurer is now making changes of address for future billing reports during the recent collection.

School board sets wage level for custodians, hires teacher

Custodian salary schedule salary schedule starting at $3,700 and reaching $4,200 after five years of service was adopted by Plymouth Board of Education Feb. 8.

Delmar Nesbitt of Shiloh was hired as of Aug. 1 for a custodian job.

Janice Bowman, a Plymouth High school graduate now completing her third year at Ashland college, will replace Mrs. Roy McGregor on the staff of Plymouth Elementary school. Mrs. McGregor's resignation effective at the end of the school year was accepted by the board. The McGregors will move to Florida.

A bid of $7,270 by Buckingham Farm Equipment for a 66-passenger school bus was accepted. Administrative proceedings to obtain the state's share of the cost which is about 75 per cent of the total have begun.

James Crawfis, school architect, told the board contractors working on the Shiloh building will turn it over to the school Mar. 1. Supt. M. J. Coon said moving will begin on the afternoon of Feb. 28. Pupils will probably have to carry sack lunches for a few days until the cafeteria equipment is in working order.

Charles Vanasdale, Plymouth village council member, asked the board's views as to sewer charges, either per head or by metered water. "We want to do it the cheapest way possible," he said. Shiloh sewer rates are charged per head. He asked the board to consider future school sites to aid the planning commission. "If our grandfathers and great-grandfathers had planned the community then, perhaps we would not have some of our present problems," he stated.

Approval was given to Plymouth Boosters club to hold another carnival on the school grounds.

Landscaping of the Shiloh building and high school addition was discussed.

A sum of $1,600 was included in the contractor's bids for landscaping, which can be recovered. Coon thinks the money can be better used for the driveway at Shiloh and for walks at the Plymouth site. David Cook suggested using the government bonds, bought by the Class of 1944 in lieu of a class trip because of the war, for part of the costs. No decisions were reached since there is plenty of time to do the work.

Bright spot of the meeting was Coon's announcement that state foundation funds for 1961 will amount to $167,741.46. Norman Wolfe, Richland county auditor, had estimated them at $164,696 for the school budget.

Advertiser wins prizes

3rd in Ohio

The Advertiser was the third best newspaper in its class in Ohio.

Entered in the annual Osman C. Hooper Newspaper show staged by the Buckeye Press association at Columbus Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The Advertiser won third prize in general excellence in the under-2,000 circulation division. Both the winner and the second prize newspaper are published in communities at least three times the size of Plymouth.

The Erie County Reporter, Huron, was first and the Yellow Springs News was second.

The Advertiser won second prize in its division in advertising and third prize in sports page.

Certificates signed by the judges join others won in previous years in the offices of the newspaper.

Allen J. Tenny, president of the Buckeye association, editor and publisher of the Chagrin Valley News, Chagrin Falls, was chairman of the judging panel, assisted by Prof. George Kienle, head of the department of journalism, Ohio State university.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Congratulations on the fine honors which came to your newspaper in the Osman C. Hooper show during the 1961 Ohio Newspaper Association convention.

The standards of Ohio newspapers are high, as reflected by the keen competition of the show, and each member of your staff is to be commended. Of course, the public is really the beneficiary of a good newspaper!

John Feichtner, 82, dies at son's home

Elder brother of Albert Feichtner, who married during the same ceremonies nearly 56 years ago, John Feichtner, 82, veteran Huron county farmer and bank director, died at the home of his son, Ray, Thursday morning.

A director of Willard United bank since it was established in 1933, Mr. Feichtner was a farmer in Huron county for nearly 70 years. The Feichtners were raised east of Willard in New Haven township.

His wife of 55 years, Elizabeth; two sons, Ray and Dale; and a half-brother, Frank Albright, Willard, also survive.

The Rev. Harry Adams, pastor of Willard's Evangelical United Brethren church, conducted last rites Saturday at 2 p.m. Burial was in Steuben cemetery.

Boy drinks poison, condition guarded

A two-year-old Plymouth route 1 child is recovering in Mansfield General hospital from severe poisoning brought about by a forbidden drink of lighter fluid.

Russell Mason son of the Roy Masons, was found unconscious in a downstairs bedroom in his parents' home, blue of face and scarcely breathing, Feb. 4. The cup of a lighter fluid container was clutched in his hand.

Rushed to the office of Dr. K. H. Barth at New Washington, the boy was given emergency care and sent in the family car to Mansfield. Mrs. Mason encountered trouble at Crestline and a taxicab was hired for the 11-mile run to Mansfield.

The boy's condition has improved but his prognosis is guarded. A respiratory ailment may develop, doctors said.

His parents urge others to exercise extreme care in leaving dangerous fluids or solids within reach of small children.

Christiansen proposes bill to control 'gyppers'

Rep. Richard M. Christiansen is offering legislation to prohibit "phony" bankruptcy or receiver's sales.

The proposed law, Bill No. 342, was introduced in the Ohio legislature Feb. 8.

"If this bill becomes law," Christiansen says, "the public will no longer be gypped by fraudulent bankruptcy and receiver's sales."

The Richland county legislator described one incident occurring in a large city in central Ohio last summer. A so-called bankruptcy sale was in progress; the "owners" brought in over $50,000 of shoddy merchandise to add to the bankrupt stock. The public thought it was getting bargains, but instead was being offered shop-worn and cast-off merchandise.

"An affidavit this bill will become law," Christiansen ad-

THE REV. MR. HALL

Hall to go to church in Elyria

After nearly five and a half years as pastor of First Evangelical Lutheran church, the Rev. Robert F. Hall has resigned, effective Apr. 30, to become pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, Elyria.

The Rev. Dr. Herbert W. Veler, president of the Synod of Ohio, will be here tomorrow to discuss with the guild committee possibilities of obtaining a successor.

The Rev. Mr. Hall's new church, corner at Gayford and Princeton streets on the east side of Elyria, has 380 communicants. The Plymouth church now has 234.

Son and grandson of Lutheran pastors, the Rev. Mr. Hall came here in October, 1955, from Reedsburg, in Wayne county. He is a veteran of World War II, in which he served 3½ years as an enlisted man with Marine units, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, in 1949 and of Hamma Divinity school, Springfield, in 1953.

His grandfather, the Rev. John A. Hall, was pastor here when the present church was erected. His father, the Rev. Arthur Hall, recently retired from a charge at Schwing, was pastor at Tiro when the Rev. Robert F. Hall was born.

Married to the former Marie Bruce of Covington, Ky., the minister is the father of three daughters and a son.

Present Ohio law, provides on such appeal by municipal corporations from the determination made by the tax commissioner on valuation of public utility property.

"It is fundamental in the American system of jurisprudence that right of appeal be had from decisions of administrative agencies and commissions," Christiansen said.

THE VOICE OF THE ADVERTISER

Congratulations

At the start of the season, a basket ball devotee would have had to be more fool than fan to choose the Big Red to repeat as champion of the Richland County league.

On its record, the squad was no great shakes. Its most experienced players had graduated, it had no substantial height (in a game in which height counts so much,) and it had only three seasoned candidates.

One reason we are so proud of this outfit is that it confounded the experts by pursuit of the method that we've been preaching for so long: team play. There are many adults who can learn much from Coach Daup's Big Red quintet. Desire to excel and willingness to pull together to coe with its problems produce a champion.

An undefeated one, if you please. At least in league play, anyway.

The county title is within its grasp. Two victories will win it. We'll be pulling for the Big Red all the way.

A thank you

It isn't everyday that the Advertiser wins a prize. And only rarely that it's judged among the best of its class in the state.

But that's what happened at Columbus Friday. Fulsome praise was heaped - well, piled up a little, anyway - upon the editor for the product he entered in the contest. Newspapers published in towns considerably larger than this one were passed over by the judges in choosing The Advertiser for its award.

Good towns help to make good newspapers. Good newspapers always make better towns.

To the many subscribers, readers and advertisers whose encouragement and patience made the winning of these awards possible, we extend our deep thanks and the pledge we will never stop trying until we've won the biggest and best prizes of them all.

They got those humps because they were bred there

We got ours because (choose one)

- 1. We worked for 'em.
- 2. God meant for editors to have humps.
- 3. A hump is a sign of ignorance.

As any fool can plainly see (we can see it), No. 2 is as wrong as wrong can be. Obviously, God never intended for editors to have humps or He would have made them with humps.

Camels have humps, and they're not especially ignorant. The dromedary and the Bactrian are pretty smart, it seems to us. They eschew water for drinking purposes six days out of seven. It's a good bit like the old saw, "All Frenchmen are Europeans, but all Europeans aren't Frenchmen." Some animals, including humans, which have humps may be ignorant, but not all of them.

So that hump on our back isn't necessarily a sign of ignorance. And No. 3 isn't completely correct.

The right answer, dear friends and gentle hearts, is No. 1
WE GOT THAT HUMP BECAUSE WE WORKED FOR IT!

Humps develop from pushing, and the Lord knows we pushed.

Which is how we won some important awards in advertising during the annual Osman C. Hooper Newspaper show, staged by the Buckeye Press association to afford its members an opportunity to see how they compare with other newspapers in the same circulation class.

Advertisers who don't push make at least one tragic mistake: effect of advertising is cumulative. Repetition sells!

Publishers who don't push don't eat. But they have to have something to push with. Know-how is part of it. Equipment is another. We've got both — modern, efficient, flexible, ready at the drop of your hat.

Ungainly though it may be, like the Brahman, we're touchy about our hump. We'd like it to grow bigger. On push.

Let our prize-winning staff help you sell this market, with ideas, and the kind of hard work that wins prizes

Miss Dorion weds E. Duane Baker

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday morning before the altar of the Most Pure Heart Mary church in Shelby by Miss Florence Dorion and E. Duane Baker.

Bouquets of white gladioli decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dorion. Mr. Baker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Baker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white gown made by her sister, Mrs. Dean Morse. The dull satin skirt fell in graceful folds over a hoop. The sheer bodice was designed with applique and extended into long sleeves. A small iridescent crown held her shoulder length veil. Her bridal bouquet was an arrangement of tiny white rosebuds on a white prayer book with long streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William Kamann, who wore a ballerina gown in blue jersey net over taffeta. A short lace jacket with three-quarter length sleeves fitted over the bodice. She wore a matching feather hat and carried a cascade bouquet of blue carnations.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Robert Krishna of New London, were her bridesmaids. Their gowns were similar to that of the matron, in a rose shade. Their bouquets were in pink.

Mr. Kamann was Mr. Baker's best man. Ushers were Noah Sammons, Jr., and Robert Baker.

Mrs. Dorion chose a dress of soft blue crepe with a lace bodice. She wore a small matching velvet hat and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Baker wore an afternoon dress in black with matching accessories and also had a corsage of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gloyd Backensto, also chose black and wore pink carnations at her shoulder.

A wedding breakfast for members of the wedding party and the immediate families was served at the Dorion home. Miss Shirley Hall and Mrs. Benjamin Dorion assisted. Later a reception was held at Teen Town for friends of the young couple.

The new Mrs. Baker attended Plymouth High school. Mr. Baker was graduated there in 1960. They are now at home at 9 Portner street.
