UNDERGROUND STORAGE helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!

Huge, natural rock formations - thousands of feet underground in Ohio are used by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company to store tremendous volumes of natural gas you need to heat your home in winter. (a) These underground storage areas once contained supplies of "native" gas. This gas was used up several years ago. Now, gas piped to Ohio from Texas and Louisiana is pumped into the underground storage areas during summer. In winter it is withdrawn as needed to heat homes. On cold days as much as 55 per cent of the gas you use may come from storage. A Nine out of every 10 Ohlo Fuel customers have gas for heating their homes today because of underground storage - another step in Ohio Fuel's constant program of progress to serve you.

Old Timer believes Houk has winner mage to their chances has been done, but it's unlikely the oth-ers' have been strengthened, whether by the damage or by building from within or by trades, sufficiently to make any differnce.

So it seems clear to us that Detroit, Boston, Kansas City, Los Angeles and Washington will be the second division clubs of the junior circuit this season, not necessarily in that descending order, but nearly seems.

AMONG THE FIRST DIVIsion clubs there is some question, so far as we are concerned. It is chiefly not whether the Yankees are still the best team in the league but rather whether Bultimore and Cleveland can be expected to improve off last year's showings.
Give the Orioles' sophomores a season as strong as in 1960 and they could pick up all the marbies. Somehow we don't think that's what will happen, and have therefore chosen the Birds for third place.
Minneson's Twins have a power-packed, pitching-paltry outfit that did well for Harry Lavagetto last season and AMONG THE FIRST DIVI-

Lavagetto last season and ought to catch some of the en-thusiasm of the Twin Cities to tinish in fifth.

thusiasm of the Twin Cities to hinsh in fifth.

This leaves first, second and fourth. Senor Al Lopez' White Sox have some style and class, not much youth, diminishing speed and weak power, plus a set of pitchers who're a year older, despite their obvious high quality. We say the Sox will wind up in fourth.

Reduced to Cleveland and New York, the O. T. asserts without much fear of sound contradiction that Ford, Turbey, Ditmar, Coates, Terry and Stafford are a better set of hurlers than Antonelli, Perry Bell, Grant, Latman and Locke. At least, based on last year's performance, this is ceryear's performance, this is certainly so.

tainly so.

Elsewhere, the Yankees have the soundest, strongest catching starf in the majors, led by the peerless Berra, and including Elston Howard, who can catch for any club in the majors; John Blanchard, hero of the Series, and Jesse Gonder, up from Richmond.

up from Richmond.

The infiled is strong but not so well supported by reserves as in 1960. Bill Skowron is the best first baseman in the league when he's healthy. Bobby Richardson was outstanding in the Series, Tony Kubek is a denpendable fielder at short with a strong bat. Cletis Boyer has no equal with the glove at third.

In the outfield, Lopez and Berra together make the best-hitting left field in the league. Thir fielding leaves somthing to be desired Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris have no e-quals in center and right.

Manager Ralbh flouk will

Manager Ralph Houk will need to come up with reserve strength. He has Joe DeMaestri and Fritzie Brickell to start with in the infield. Howard and Blanchard can play first base. Howard can play the outfield, quite well, too. Deron Johnson may stick as infielderoutfielder.

outfielder.

As for Cleveland, weaknesses at third base, on the bench and in the outfield (Piersall is a weakness, in our book) plus lack of proven capacity on the mound force the choice for second place.

Willie Kirkland is apt to be the surprise of the season.

Clifford F. Shreve, Base Line road, teacher in Willard schools, has received a year's leave of absence to take up ad-vanced studies in biology at West Virginia university, Morgantown, W. V., under a national foundation program to develop instruction in physical sciences.

Once my Mom won a "Mrs America" contest — but only locally. She got some dandy kitchen utensils which are fine to cook in. Even I can cook in them.

She swears she won't enter again, because she is not the type to enter contests. I don't know what type it takes to entered once just to prove to Pop she could do it. And she won. But she claims that cooking hamburger, which is what she had to do, doesn't bring out the best in her and so she didn't best in her and so she didn't win after the local contest.

I notice — how could I miss it? Pop pinned it up on my door! — that Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is going to have its contest in the fall instead of the spring.

Women who are married and over 21 can enter. In Ohio there will be $10,000 in prizes. If you win in Ohio, you get to go to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., on Nov. 27 to compete against the 49 other winners.
