

The Constitution

"I'll give $5," the man said over the telephone, "if you can show me the word 'democracy' in the Constitution."

This is Constitution week, and $5 is as important as to be the next person. You won't find the word "democracy" in the Constitution. But you'll find a lot of others, and their arrangement is particularly significant just now, when the whole world mourns the tragic death of a valiant warrior on the side of the principles our Constitution espouses.

We've noted some abuses of the Constitution in the past year, conduct that was unlawful and illegal in the wildest extreme. Most of it perpetrated by persons of public authority and responsibility, too.

We wish it were possible to snatch each of them by the left ear and jam their noses into the Constitution with the admonition they'll either read it and comprehend it or we'll snatch the damned ear off. But it's not. And the Constitution protects them from our innuendo and exposure. We dare not give even a hint of their identities.

We would not have it otherwise. To us, the personal guaranties of the Constitution are its most important facets. It is conceivably possible to erect another government in another pattern and have it perform more effectively than that which we have. But we hold it is not possible to fashion a government without the personal guaranties set out in the Bill of Rights.

The right to freedom of worship, or of no worship at all. The right to equal protection before the law, the right to security of person and property (both of which are most commonly offended against), the right to freedom of assembly, the right to freedom of speech and of the press, the right to bear arms, the right to petition the government.

Without them life wouldn't be worth living. Indeed, many thousands of persons have within the past decade laid down their lives in an effort to secure them. Explain otherwise the eruptions in Cuba, Africa, in Hungary and East Germany.

Fair 'successful', say directors, after poor first day

Despite a poor opening, when both rain and power failure dampened spirits, the Huron County fair wound up in the profit column, says Secretary Elfreda Crayton.

The big day was Wednesday when a record-breaking crowd swarmed through the gates. "Thursday and Friday both were big days and Saturday also was a satisfactory fair day," Mrs. Crayton said.

The fair ended officially shortly after midnight Saturday with the performance of the Horse-Capades show. More than 300 entries of horses and ponies made up the program. Children's horsemanship classes had a combined list of 96 entrants.

Judge Elmer Rooper said, "It was the toughest class I have ever had to tie."

Record hog, a new feature of the fair, was especially well received Saturday night.

Most all concessionaires reported good business. The rides reported business well over the previous year.

"It certainly was the greatest Huron County fair we have ever had," Mrs. Crayton announced.

New mail system goes into effect Oct. 1, Brooks says

Formal inauguration of the Ohio Regional Center plan of mail distribution is set for Oct. 1, Postmaster Raymond L. Brooks announced.

The plan has been in effect informally for several weeks. By its conditions, regional centers are established throughout Ohio. Mail deposited in lesser post offices is sent to "satellite" offices and thence to the regional center for dispatch to other regional centers, where the reverse process occurs.

Mansfield, serving 57 smaller offices, including Plymouth, and Norwalk, serving 19 smaller offices and one large one—Sandusky—are the two nearest regional centers.

Overnight delivery of first class letters and parcels is the rule governing the new service, Brooks said.

Willard is the nearest satellite office of the Mansfield center. It processes mail for Greenwich, New Haven, North Fairfield, Plymouth and Shiloh, among which there is inter-office service not involving the Mansfield center.

Other satellite offices in the Mansfield district are Fostoria, Tiffin, Ashland and Crestline, which processes Bucyrus mail.

The Lodi-to-Willard star route will be discontinued Oct. 2, Brooks said.

Dedication of addition set Nov. 5

Rep. Richard M. Christiansen, D-Mansfield, will speak Nov. 5 when Plymouth Board of Education dedicates the new $258,000 high school addition.

Tuition rate for pupils not residing in the district was set at $13.21 monthly, effective Oct. 1. The old rate was $13.

Glenn Moore, 59 Portner street, Plymouth, was hired for one year as night custodian in the high school.

A landscape plan prepared by Gordon Riggie, a 1956 graduate of Plymouth High school and a 1960 graduate of Ohio State university's college of agriculture in landscape engineering, has been revised by him and was approved Wednesday night. Offer of Little Garden club to contribute to the cost of the plan, estimated at roughly $1,000, was accepted with thanks.

Mrs. McNeill loses brother in hospital

Brother of Mrs. J. E. McNeill, Willow drive, Edward Anderson, 86, Oak Harbor, a retired rural mail carrier, died in Magruder hospital, Port Clinton, Monday.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran church and of Oak Harbor Grange.

His wife, Emma; a daughter, Mrs. Merle Ziegler, Danbury; and two brothers, Carl, Mt. Rose, Cal., and Henry, Porterville, Cal., also survive.

New sewer engineer debated in face of cheaper estimate

An estimate of $131,543 to construct two, not three, oxidation lagoons for sewage treatment was laid before village council Tuesday night by Carl H. Gerken, Napoleon, retained as special consultant to furnish comparative estimates.

The estimate apparently did not include Gerken's professional fee for the work.

In a brief, one-page letter, he submitted the $131,543 figure based on these computations:

140 A land	$35,000
100,000 cu. yds. excavation	$40,000
Seed and fertilizer	$2,143
Distribution system and incidentals	$12,030
Outlet sewer (12-in., 1,100 ft.)	$1,370

@ $3.50	3,850
Force Main (4,500 ft. 6-in. Transite @ $3)	$13,500
Pump station	$25,000
Total	$131,543

His estimate is about $50,000 less than that of the village's present consulting engineers, Alden E. Stilson & Associates, Columbus.

On this fact turned the debate of the session: whether the village ought to discharge Stilson and engage Gerken or to use the data prepared by Gerken, for which he was paid $250, to discuss with Stilson the possibilities of reducing his estimate.

Gerken will be summoned here next week during a special session to discuss in detail what he proposes to do.

Solicitor Joseph F. Dush insisted upon a written contract to be submitted for his study by Gerken and a statement by Stilson showing what fees would be due him if the village should terminate his contract.

After telling Cloyce V. Messenger, Shelby district manager for Ohio Fuel Gas Co., that its studies of the proposed new gas rate are incomplete and it is not now ready to offer a counter proposal, the council indicated it will not be hasty in concluding a new agreement. Mayor William Fazio appointed—

Red to meet Berlin Heights in NCC scrap there Saturday

Plymouth's Big Red pits a defense that has given up 444 yards on the ground in two games against an outfit that can't move very well in what may be the last renewal of an interesting series with Berlin Heights there Saturday at 2 p.m.

The Tigers are down this year and Coach Spec Sanders has the crying towel out. But after he scouted Plymouth here Friday night there was a smile on his face and he promised "we'll be ready for you."

Tigers eleven are always smartly coached. Sanders has an imposing record during his tenure at the Erie county school.

BIG RED OFFENSE HAS been no more potent than its defense. In two games, Red backs have gained only 169 yards on the ground and have passed successfully for a net of 29 yards.

If the Red is to salvage any glory from the 1961 season, this contest will have to be part of it. Western Reserve shapes up as the power in the emasculated North Central conference, Black River seems to be as down as it ever was, and Berlin Heights and Plymouth are doubtful. A win over Western Reserve by Plymouth could well produce the champion, since the Rough Riders have already taken the Tigers.

Lack of experience and of size and speed are the obvious reasons why Plymouth hasn't done well so far. The Red has simply been outmatched. "You can't learn the game of football," says Coach Bill Ramseyer, "out of a book — you've got to practice with it and play it, and even then only the smarter players get anywhere."

In two contests so far, less than a handful of players have shone to any advantage. Another season later, they'll have some experience and, it is to be hoped, some more size.

IT'S OBVIOUS THIS squad needs a smart performance to rouse it from its lethargy. Ramseyer assembled his players after Friday's debacle and told them "You can make a season out of this or you can lie down and call it quits — it's up to you!"

Berlin Heights seems tailored to fit this need. But on form and with the advantage to a home squad, the Tigers are easily 10 points the favorite in Saturday's battle.

Berlin Heights has been beaten twice, by Western Reserve and by Firelands. Only against Firelands was the Tigers eleven able to score — two touchdowns. It gave up 16 points. Western Reserve scored 20.

Varsity cheerleaders led by foreground, include Natalie Faust and Marietta Lofland, kneeling; Nancy MacMichael, Peggy Reed and Shirley Hall.

Polar Bears maul Plymouth, unopposed save during tries for PAT conversions

Margaretta's Polar Bears mauled Plymouth, 30 to 0, in a one-sided contest in Mary Fete park Friday night.

Margaretta never was in trouble, lost another score on a penalty, and demonstrated superiority in all facets of the game. The Polar Bears outweighed, outcharged, outran and outpassed the Big Red.

Margaretta went on the new $2,000 electric scoreboard on the 11th play of the game. After Plymouth stalled on the 50, Phil Fletcher punted to the Polar Bear 30. L/b Harple tore off a first down to the Red 25 but the gain was offset by the first of five 15-yard penalties to be assessed against Margaretta. Al Wiedenheft got 10 of them back and then Jim Bright swept right end for 48 yards and the score.

Patently able to penetrate the Plymouth defense almost at will otherwise, the Polar Bears couldn't make three yards for the PAT in all five attempts.

LESS THAN SIX MINUTES later, Margaretta punched to another TD. The teams exchanged fumbles deep in Plymouth territory before Fletcher punted out to the Red 42. Wiedenheft and Harple collaborated to pound to the Red 11 before Wiedenheft circled right end for the score.

Midway in the second period, Margaretta sought to punt. The snapback passed over the punter's head and Margaretta surrendered possession on the Plymouth 12.

Here the Red had a splendid opportunity to score and get back in the ball game. Gary Utiss got seven to the four. But the Red couldn't move an inch thereafter. Jimmy Hamman was swamped in a fourth down pass attempt, lost 14 yards and that was it. Plymouth never got closer.

Margaretta marched steadily, 11 and 12 yards at a crack, for five first downs before Bright rounded left end for his second TD. The last play carried 13 yards.

Plymouth's offense produced the most creditable showing in an otherwise dismal performance in the series which followed. Fletcher was the principal gun in moving the Red from its 22 to the 44 before he was forced to punt. The halftime gun saved Plymouth from further humiliation.

Margaretta resumed the attack in the third period. At 11:34 Bright romped over left tackle for 58 yards but a clipping penalty nullified the play. At 9:37, Harple swept end for the fourth touchdown.

LESS THAN FIVE MINUTES, later, Margaretta boosted the score with a handsome completion from Oates to Dave Gowitzka for 39 yards. Gowitzka faked John Bowman out of his shoes and went untouched for the last 20 yards. Margaretta's ability to turn the ends so effectively derived, it must be said, from sheer power and speed. But a good bit of it was because Plymouth's ends weren't turning in properly.

With second stringers on the field, for the most part, in the final period, Margaretta penetrated to the Plymouth 12 but offended the referee again and with this penalty and another five-yarder was set back far enough as to cause no further damage.

Reed scores TD for Bluffton college

First Plymouth High school graduate to play college varsity ball as a freshman, Dayton Reed, Class of 1961, went into the Bluffton college lineup against Grand Rapids Saturday night and scored the final touchdown in a 28 to 0 victory.

Inserted by Coach Kenny Mast as reserve quarterback, Reed sent the Beavers downfield to the Grand Rapids 20, then pitched up 18-yard aerial before sneaking in for the final score.
