

The high school

Remarks of Dr. John D. Millett, president of Miami university, to the Ohio Association of School Administrators are worth study.

He chided the school superintendents for what he called the unsympathetic attitude of their profession to the universities' attempt to raise the standard of American education.

He charged the administrators believe the college testing program is an unworthy educational goal and "mere intellectual activity".

He said the colleges didn't institute the movement to improve the quality in education. Rather, it derived from parental demand for higher standards.

And he predicted there will be more of it.

Dr. Millett apparently knows what he's talking about. No school administrator of our acquaintance denies the truth of what he said at Sandusky.

At the same time, a word ought to be said for the administrators, some of whom find themselves in the position of making policy arbitrarily because their superiors have abdicated their responsibilities.

School boards throughout Ohio have been deficient, we feel, in concerning themselves with the quality of education. Most of them are concerned with the drop-out problem, which we confess is a big one. But it is not, we submit, one that should be solved by the individual school board. We have already said here how it should be solved, and how soon, too.

It's pretty difficult, if not impossible, to raise academic standards unless there is a desire to do so.

Once that desire is developed, these steps are proper:

1. A major share of instructional and operating funds should be devoted to academic, rather than vocational, purposes.
2. Teacher pay scales should be adjusted so that increases relate more to efficiency and results than to acquisition of advanced degrees.
3. Teacher turnover should be reduced by developing the kind of atmosphere that teachers want and have a right to expect.
4. Administrators should spend more time supervising teachers, auditing classes, developing libraries and counseling pupils than in ordering supplies, politicking for bond issues and shuffling papers.
5. A part-time business manager of the schools, who could perhaps also serve as clerk of the board of education, ought to be engaged to deal with these matters. It's too much to expect a person who's essentially a teacher to be also architect, politician, accountant and fiscal comptroller, policeman and wetnurse. Most of them — at least those we know — do a poor job of it, and are ready to admit it.

Our new dictionary defines "high school" as "an institution above the elementary school level which prepares pupils for college and business."

It's time that objective be observed.

Honesty is $2 policy, boy finds

A Shiloh Junior High school pupil is richer by $2 because he is honest.

Richard Lahmon, eldest son of the Milton E. Mellotts, who live in Route 603 each of Plymouth, found Monday a woman's purse and $118 in cash.

He turned it over to police, who found it belonged to John Gayheart, Plymouth, whose reward was paid to the lad by police later Monday.

Bad check suspect confesses to theft

A 25-year-old Salyersville, Ky., probation violator arrested here Thursday on suspicion of passing bad checks confessed to police he broke into and robbed a tavern in Centertown, making off with about 25 cartons of cigarettes and about $14 in dimes.

Walter C. Trusty, taken into custody by Plymouth police on Plymouth Athletic field, admitted the theft while denying it was he who wrote a check for $30 on Willard United Bank in the name of a Delphi resident found not to exist. Jump's clothing store is the victim of the forgery.

Trusty was bound over to the Huron county grand jury Friday morning. He admitted being on Kentucky probation for passing bad checks.

He later waived grand jury action and was sentenced to 15 years in Mansfield Reformatory.

Trio wins state YFC music title

On the oft-proved theory of Sir Robert Bruce that if at first you don't succeed, try, try again, a trio of recent Plymouth High school girl musicians has finally won a state championship.

A vocal trio of Karen Huston, Anetta Dawson and Darlene Koser, which was prepared for these and similar READ THE ADVERTISER exercises by John Arndt, recently resigned vocal instructor in the public schools, was not daunted by lesser ratings in district and state contests sponsored by the Ohio Music Educators' association.

The group entered the Youth for Christ music championships at Big Prairie last week and vanquished a score of vocal and instrumental entries for first place and the coveted trophies with which they posed Monday.

All three are headed for college in the fall, Miss Huston to Taylor university, Up-land, Ind., Miss Dawson on a scholarship to Ohio State university, Columbus, Miss Koser to Ft. Wayne Bible college, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Wood-splitting wedge sheers, Ronald Mumea injured here

A freak accident in Jacobs Grove east of here sent a 26-year-old Plymouth volunteer fireman to a Toledo hospital for treatment of a penetration wound of the lungs Tuesday night.

Ronald D. Mumea, 45 Bell street, was struck in the chest by a silver which splintered off a steel wedge used to split timber for the 14th annual Firemen-Legion ox roast to be held Aug. 4-5.

The steel sliver entered the left side of his chest, narrowly missing the heart. He was treated locally, then taken to a Toledo hospital where doctors this morning are studying how the silver may be removed from the left lung.

Ox roast Aug. 4-5; sidewalk sale set

Two events which are staged yearly are set for the first weekend in August.

The 14th annual Ox Roast, sponsored jointly by the Plymouth volunteer Fire department and Elmer-Parapost, American Legion, will be held at Jacobs Grove Saturday night and Sunday, Aug. 4 and 5.

William Van Wagner will be general chairman with Ronald Mumea of the firemen, and Clinton C. Moore an. Carleton Ennet of the Legion, on his planning committee.

Plymouth merchants will have their sidewalk sale beginning with business hours on Friday, Aug. 3 and continuing through Saturday night.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, plan are being made by Edward C. Ramsey, Mrs. R. Earl McQuate, Mrs. Don Willet, William Miller, Don Leuning, Donald Vanierpool, Elton Robertson and Gerald Caywood.

Mrs. Fenton dies in California

For many years a milliner here, Mrs. Mary Lynch Fenton, an octogenarian, died June 15 at Los Angeles, Cal.

After cremation, her ashes will be interred beside the body of her brother, Will, at Canal Fulton.

For some years Mrs. Fenton was a trimmer. Late Mary Hays, Plymouth milliner, and then struck out for herself as milliner and ar supply merchant in the building now occupied by Eckstein's Hardware. For many years she lived in the north apartment of the house now owned by Mrs. Clyde J. Lash.

Mrs. Will Duffy dies in hospital of brief illness

For 60 years a fixture in New Haven township, 50 of them on the same farm in Rt. 224, Mrs. Elsie T. Duffy, 75, died in University hospital, Columbus, at 11 p.m. Saturday after a brief illness.

Born in Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. Duffy was a member of New Haven Methodist church, Easter Rebekah lodge, New Haven, and of Plymouth Chapter 231, OES.

The former Elsie T. Rank, she married William Duffy Apr. 4, 1908. They observed their 54th anniversary last spring.

Her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Claude Wilcox, Willard route 1; two sons, Harry, Willard, and Ralph, Saginaw, Mich., survive.

The Revs. Ernest Kollar and William Hamilton conducted a funeral service Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Donald H. Hamman dies in Cleveland

Only shortly after he was released from Shelby Memorial hospital for further treatment, Donald H. Hamman, 54, Shiloh, for almost two decades attendance officer for Richland county schools, died in Cleveland clinic Saturday.

Although his family knew his health was poor, his death was a surprise.

A 1927 graduate of Shiloh High school, Mr. Hamman lived in that community all his life. He was a part-time barber as well. From Sept. 1, 1943, he served as attendance officer of the Richland county school system.

A member of the Methodist church at Shiloh, he was also affiliated with Shiloh Lodge 544, Free and Accepted Masons.

Jane, a student in Bluffton college, and two sons, James D., captain-elect of the Plymouth High school football team, of which his father was a firm supporter, and John, both at home, and a brother, Lysle, Cass township farmer who is also a school bus driver, survive.

The Rev. Harland L. Dague, his pastor, conducted funeral services from the church Tuesday at 3 p.m. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Palbearers were Dale B. Kinney, Richland county school superintendent; Dale Reynolds, Woodrow Huston, Geo. Dieb, Edwin McBride and Paul Kranz, the latter all boyhood chums of Mr. Hamman.

Ponies victors 14 to 3

Nero Howard pitched Plymouth Ponies to a 14 to 3 victory over Greenwich there June 20, contributing a home run to his team's fifth straight victory.

He allowed only five hits and never was in trouble. Howard Wynn poked a triple for Plymouth. Howard fanned a dozen and walked only two in giving up five hits. Kramb tripled for the losers.

Ever Hear of FLAME GEOMETRY?

Look at one of your drinking glasses and notice how the lip, in most instances, is rounded to a smooth, safe surface. It has been made that way by using natural gas as a basic fuel in a delicate finishing process that involves industrial "flame geometry".

"Flame geometry" is regulating the size, shape, and stability of gas flames to perform exacting heating operations. When drinking glasses are heated by gas to the proper temperature the sharp edges flow into curved surfaces, and are set to a high polish... with rounded safe surfaces. Because gas is versatile, because it is controllable, there is virtually no limit to its industrial adaptability. Natural gas is now used for 26,000 separate industrial applications as a fuel, tool, and as a chemical raw material.

Yankees expand lead to two by tipping Tribe

Yankees extended their lead to two full games in PML play last week, but the big news was the first planned forfeit since the league was organized five years ago. Manager Sam Giorio was overcome with disgust at the disinterested play of his Cubs Thursday night and pulled them from the field in the third frame, with the Reds leading 13 to 0. The forfeit caused the score to revert to 6 to 0.

Yanks downed the Indians, 7 to 5, June 20, after the Tribe had whipped the Reds, 9 to 8. Standings as of Monday at 9 a.m.

Lutherans to hear Springfielder

Mt. Hope Lutheran church will hear the Rev. William H. Knoderer, director of public relations of Oesterlen Home for Children, Springfield, today at 8 p.m.

The public is invited. The topic of his illustrated talk is "Where the Church Cares Lovingly for Children." It tells the story of Oesterlen's new venture in caring for, treating and rehabilitating emotionally disturbed children.

A fellowship hour will follow the program.

Flower show sponsored by the Shiloh Town & Country Garden club, Saturday afternoon, drew many entries and visitors.

On account of the dry weather, few had quantities of flowers in bloom.

Those receiving blue ribbons for roses in arrangement were Blanche Claes, Mrs. Frank Dossou and Genevieve Gundrum.

Mrs. Maud Ruckman won first prize on an arrangement in a blue container.

Blue ribbons were also awarded to Mrs. J. J. Ailer for her driftwood arrangement, to Blanche Claes for arrangement in cup and saucer and to Vera Hopkins for arrangement in a teapot.

Mrs. Nevin Border won first prize on an arrangement in an antique container.

Mrs. Frank Dossou got a blue ribbon for arrangement in a lamp and Mrs. Bryan for arrangement with candles.

Mrs. Hugh Boyce received a blue ribbon for her yellow arrangement and Betty Hamman for a lavender arrangement.

First prize on the vegetable and fruit arrangement was won by Betty Hamman and that in an animal container by Mrs. Boyce.

Blue ribbons were awarded to Betty Hamman for her arrangement using a Biblical figurine and to Cindy Hamman for her junior arrangement. Mrs. Ailer's corsages took first prize.

First prizes were awarded to Mrs. Boyce for her single violet, to Ella Moser for her double violet, to Mrs. Bryan for a pansy, to Ollie Ziegler for a tea rose, to Vera Hopkins for centuria, to Mrs. Orville Gullett for cactus, to Mary Forsythe for vines, to Mrs. D. G. Cunningham for climber rose, to Mrs. D. G. Cunningham for floribunda rose and to Mrs. Ailer for delphinium.

B Square club accepted an invitation from Mrs. Carl Rindfuss, living near Bucyrus, for the June meeting.

Mrs. Rindfuss is formerly Mrs. Edna England, once a resident of this community.

There were 11 members and six guests present, including Mrs. Charles Lake, from Tennessee.

Mrs. Howard Sloan presented the program.

Mrs. Mary Forsythe will be hostess for the next meeting.

Mrs. Grace Schlereth, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harris, Hillsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schlereth and children of Mansfield were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boyce Sunday.

White Hall club will meet with Mrs. William Myers Tuesday.

When the Get-to-Gether club met with Mrs. Glenn Brinson of Shelby, there were 12 members and two guests present. Cards were addressed to be mailed to sick persons.

There was discussion on the Richland County Farm Women's Tea to be held in Plymouth Methodist church, Tuesday, July 10.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Kranz.

Mrs. and Mr. Albert Hamman and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hamman of Mansfield were dinner guests Sunday evening at the Roscoe Hamman home.

More than 50 persons were present for the Bloom reunion Sunday at Seltzer park, Shelby. Those from Shiloh who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seaman and three children and Sarah Shepherd, Mrs. Marion Baker, her daughter, Janet, and Ted Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo McQuillen were in Columbus Sunday. Their daughter, Darlene, returned home with them after a week at Girls' State, at Capital University.

At a recent meeting of the Loyal Daughters at the home of Mrs. Gloyd Russell, it was decided to discontinue meetings until September.

Shiloh Fire department was called Saturday to the home of Harold Company, southwest of Shiloh in Bowman Street road, where a wheat field was burning.

Origin of the fire is unknown. Firemen controlled the fire before it spread too far.

Shiloh Pals 4-H club met Tuesday, with Barbara Daup, with 14 members present.

Health talks were "Plastic Bags Are Dangerous" by Carolyn Seymour and "Smoking" by Joyce Fulk.

Barbara Daup gave a demonstration of a blind stitch and Sheryl Blankenship on the hemstitch.

Next meeting will be July 3rd at Blanche Arnold's home, reports Cheryl Hamman, news reporter.

Re-dedication of Mt. Hope Lutheran church, which has recently undergone important improvements and repairs, will take place at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, July 1.

The Rev. Nevin B. Stover, a former pastor here, will be guest speaker.

The services will be preceded by a basket luncheon at 1 p.m.

John Edward Raiser, 82, Franklin township, died Saturday at Shelby Memorial hospital.

He was a member of the Ganges United Church of Christ.

His survivors are a son, Charles, Franklin township, and a daughter, Mrs. Ronald Martin, West Sacramento, Cal.

Services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from McQuate Funeral home by the Rev. H. B. Grimm. Burial in Fairview cemetery, Galion.

Annual ice cream social of Plymouth Grange, with proceeds to support its community service projects, will be staged at the Grange hall in Rt. 98 Saturday from 5 p.m.

A full menu with homemade ice cream goes on sale at that hour.

Planning committee consists of the John Littles, the Frank C. Fenners and Mrs. Gladys Laser.

Mrs. Reynolds, 62, dies in Florida

Mrs. Dewey Reynolds, 62, Englewood, Fla., died Friday of a heart attack at the office of her physician. Most of her married life was spent in Shiloh. She went to Florida a few years ago because of her health.

Services were conducted Sunday in Englewood.

Her survivors are her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Doris Russell, Macon, Ga., and Mrs. Eileen Reynolds, Shiloh, and two sons, John, Shiloh, and James, Plymouth.

The Rev. James H. Nichols will conduct a funeral service today at 2 p.m. from McQuate Funeral home. Burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Suzie sez:

It takes a trip out of Ohio to see what a fine place the Buckeye State is.

I went to what Pop calls West-by-God Virginia last week. Now I know why he says it is God's country. The people wouldn't have it, God had to take it. I never realized that West Virginia is bigger than Texas — if you flatten it out. We went around some curves that were so sharp you could look out the front window of the car and see the twilight coming around the bend.

I never was so glad to cross a bridge as when we drove from Parkersburg to Belpre. Even though they have fixed it so that West Virginia owns more of our river than we do, it was a pleasure to get back in Ohio.

OUR PASSENGERS ARE people who love language and use it very well. They spoke some languages I don't understand for a good part of the time, and this pleased Pop, because he had a chance to use some of his foreign language that was in danger of becoming rusty.

Then they turned to English. I copied down some of the differences. They are really funny.

The best way to show the difference is this:

In American English, one would say, "I cleansed myself with a face cloth, took up a spool of thread and while listening to Lawrence Welk's theme song I mended a run in my stocking. My bangs hung in my eyes and I put the pitcher of lemonade on the TV. Pop snapped his suspenders and looked out into the yard. He sent for a flashlight and in his sleeved undershirt he went out to see if his vest and his sleeveless undershirt were still hanging on the line. He wore his sneakers. He found the quilt hanging on the line and took the broom to frighten off a stray dog. When he came in and tried to call his office, he found the line was busy."

In English English, it goes like this: "I cleansed myself with a flannel, took up a bobbin of cotton and while listening to Lawrence Welk's signature music I mended a ladder. My fringe hung in my eyes and I put the jug of lemonade on the telly. Pop snapped his braces and looked out in the garden. He sent for a torch and in his vest he went out to see if his waistcoat and his singlet were still hanging on the line and took the brush to frighten off a stray dog. When he came in and tried to call his office, he found the line was engaged."

E. B. Miller celebrated his 61st birthday at a coffee and cake party yesterday morning.

The Wayne H. Strines are leaving today for a 10-day trip to Annapolis, Md., where they will visit their son, Wayne, stationed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Teal and their two daughters, Knoxville, Tenn., visited the Vincent Taylors and Harold Teals last week.

Brownies attend Shelby day camp

Plymouth Brownie Scouts attended day camp at Shelby last week.

Mrs. J. Benjamin Smith, Mrs. Paul Rinner and Mrs. William Van Wagner assisted Shelby Scout leaders during the week.

This week intermediate scouts are attending day camp at Camp Ninian near Mansfield. Mrs. Kenneth Echelberry, Mrs. James R. Broderick, Mrs. Roy Carter and Mrs. Richard Fackler are accompanying them and working on the camp staff.

Nine members of Troop 198 are working as program aides for the two camp sessions. They are Martha Carter, Ruth Ann Patton, Mary Ann Keiffer, Anita Taylor, Debbie Hoffman, Grace Shelly, Cheryl Levering, Pamela Myers and Betty Jo Vanderpool.

Mrs. Rowland, 42

Mrs. Mary Ann Rowland, 42, who lived in Auburn township southwest of here, died Friday in Galion Community hospital.

Born Jan. 15, 1920, in New Washington, she is survived by her husband, O. Gene; three sons, Delwyn E., Larry E. and Warren W., all at home; her mother, Mrs. Louise Kanney, New Washington; a sister, Mrs. Sylvester Bishop, New Washington, and three brothers, Walter and Albert Kanney, Chatfield, and William Kanney, New Washington.

The rosary was recited at McQuate Funeral home Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. William Conces was celebrant during a funeral mass at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church Monday at 10 a.m. Burial was in Hannah cemetery, Crawford County, south of here.

GC decorates tower

Little Garden club planted the flower beds at the water tower with small marigolds Friday afternoon.

Members working on the project were Mrs. Orville Gullett, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Paul Koontz, Mrs. Nevin Border, Mrs. Powell Holderby and Mrs. Duane H. Hunter.

Petunias in the planters at the entrance of Mary Fate park, which were torn out by vandals a few weeks ago, have been replaced.

Four blue ribbons were won by club members for entries in the Attica and Shiloh Garden clubs' flower shows. Mrs. Holderby's arrangement of tiger lilies won at Attica and the early American arrangement made by Mrs. Border won that class at Shiloh. Moss roses from the garden of Mrs. D. G. Cunningham took first place in that class and a rubber plant of Mrs. Gullett also took first at the Shiloh show.

Red ribbons went to Mrs. Holderby for an arrangement in copper and to Mrs. Gullett for a rex begonia plan at Shiloh. In the same show third place ribbons were given to Mrs. Holderby for her arrangement in a tea pot, to Mrs. William Miller for an arrangement of small daisies in a lamp and to Mrs. Thomas DeWitt for lavender flowers in a crystal container.

Honorable mention at the Shiloh show was given to Mrs. Gullett for a houseplant class, to Mrs. Holderby for her arrangement in an antique container and to Mrs. Roy Hatch for her roses in a white vase.

Mrs. J. A. Morrison received a third place ribbon for her flowers arranged in a blue vase at Shiloh. Honorable mention was given to Stephanie Morrison and Suzanne Paddock for their entries in the junior division.

Class of '37 reunites

Donald Fox, who now lives in Milwaukee, Wis., came the greatest distance Saturday night to attend the 25th reunion of Plymouth High Class of 1937.

Class members and their spouses dined at Cornell's. Class color of blue and white were carried out in the flower arrangements and small boutonnieres presented to each guest. Robert Nimmons of Wapakoneta was master of ceremonies for the short program after the dinner.

Fifteen of the 28 in the class were present. They included Clea Lasch, now Mrs. Max Smith; Wayne Gebert, Robert E. Hunter, Isabelle DeVier, now Mrs. Robert Corneil, Charles H. Dick, Charles Hockenberry and Lucille Echelberry, now Mrs. William B. Ross, who still reside here; Violet Van Buskirk, now Mrs. Verne Cole, who lives in Shelby route 3; Richard E. Coe, Norwalk; Mrs. Clarence Lakota, Christine Guadagnino and Charles R. Payne, who now live in Mansfield; and Mrs. John McCready, the former Agnes Rae Anderson Talmadge.

The class also included Edward Babcock, who lives in St. Louis, Mo.; Clara Elizabeth Kemp Peckham, Beaverton, Ore.; Paul E. Fenner, Columbus; Dorothy France Zimmerman, Mansfield; Leroy Briggs, Willard; Nary Dana Turson, who is now Mrs. John Mackey of New Philadelphia; George France, Mansfield; LaDonna Maxine Myers, who is Mrs. Robert Bachrach; Gerald Caywood; Jeannette Hamilton and Helen May Noble, who is Mrs. Kenneth Springer, all of Plymouth.

Mrs. Forest Poole of Mansfield, the former Evelyn Garrett, who was unable to graduate with the class because of illness, was also among the guests.

Two members of the class, Greta J. Keeler and Clyde Lasch, have died.

"Won't you take the time that I didn't?"

"I am a polio patient. Up until about a year ago, I kept pretty busy as an electrical engineer. Too busy, I might add, to take my polio shots when they were available to me. Take a good look at me. Then go out and start your polio shots fast. Polio doesn't give anyone a second chance."

A message from the Treasury of a free people

You, too, can help put down a threat to freedom

Uncle Sam has had some pretty conscientious help in the "freedom department" over the years.

Some of the best-known contributors were an expert horseman named Revere . . . a group of amateur stevedores who made iced tea in Boston Harbor . . . and a party of revolutionaries who created an unsplitable nation under the shadow of a cracked bell.

Today the freedom which those patriots won for us is being challenged. And freedom will always need brave men to defend and preserve it. Men and women, like you.

You can do your share toward defending freedom by buying United States Savings Bonds today. The dollars you invest this way go right to work for your country now, as well as for your future.

How about buying a $50 Savings Bond (the most popular size) next payday? The cost is only $37.50.

Best known for his midnight ride to Lexington, famous patriot Paul Revere also designed the first Continental currency, the first official seal of the Colonies, and the state seal of Massachusetts, still in use today.

Folks you know and how they've spent summer days

Janet and Louise McIntire, daughters of the Robert L. McIntires, left Sunday for Evanston, Ill., where both are enrolled in the summer session of Northwestern university. Last week Miss Ann Uible of Cleveland was their houseguest. She was their classmate at the Laurel school, Cleveland.

Marcia MacMichael attended the performance of Art Linkletter in "Father of the Bride" in Columbus Sunday with Mrs. Ray Kessler and her son, Wayne, Shelby.

The Thorr E. Woodworths and Robert N. MacMichaels spent Sunday at their trailer at Anderson Acres on the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Compton and their children, Northfield, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bettac, Sunday.

Miss Delores Bettac has been reelected treasurer of the Hill City chapter (Mansfield), National Secretarial association.

Miss Florence Danner and Mrs. W. E. McFadden attended the 13rd department convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans in Columbus last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Forquer of Cleveland visited here Friday.

William Miller and G. Thomas Moore and their sons attended the Cleveland Indian - Washington Senator games in Cleveland Sunday.

Dan Carter arrived Sunday to spend two weeks with his parents, the Roy Carters. He has been at Ft. Dix, N. J., for his basic army training and will be assigned to Ft. Devens, Mass., for duty.

Mrs. Omar G. Burkett was hostess at a picnic supper for their children and grandchildren Tuesday in honor of Mr. Burkett's birthday.

The James Doneses of Columbus spent Sunday with her parents, the Edward B. Curpens.

Mrs. Donald Fetters, Miss Mary Robertson and Miss Jean Church visited John

Fetters in Charleston, S. C., last week.

The Frank R. Garbers were guests of the Jack Hasselbachs in Fremont Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Ellis attended the alumni banquet of Greenhigh High school Saturday night.

The Wesson Smiths of Port Clinton were guests of the R. Harold Macks Sunday.

Fred Nimmans, who is staying with his son, Robert, in Wapakoneta, visited with friends here Saturday night.

Mrs. B. L. Waddington celebrated her 85th birthday Saturday. Her neighbors surprised her with a card shower for the occasion. She is recovering from burns on her shoulder which happened accidentally last week while she was canning cherries.

The Donald Cunninghams were hosts at a family party Sunday in honor of the 42nd wedding anniversary of his parents, the D. G. Cunninghams, which will be on June 30. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Briggs and their children, Miami Beach, Fla., who spent last week here with the elder Cunninghams and left Sunday night to visit his parents in Cleveland; the Thomas Cunninghams, Columbus, the Donald Brookses, James Cunninghams and Guy Cunninghams, Jr. This is the first time in eight years that the family has been together. There are now 32 in all.

The Gerald W. Caywoods attended the 25th reunion of the Shelby High school class of 1937 at Greenlawn near Crestline. She was one of the 73 members of the class. Another member, Robert Oates of Shelby, son of the late Nellie Fleming Oates, brought a scrap book in which his mother had made a collection of clippings of all the class members.

Presbyterians . . .

Holy Communion will be observed during the 10 a.m. service Sunday at the First Presbyterian church.

After the service, the George Roberts family will be hosts to the senior choir and their families at a swimming party and cookout at their home in Route 98.

Any member who wishes to donate toward the purchase of music holders for the junior choir is asked to call Mrs. J. Raymond Willet, its director.

An ice cream social will be staged July 10 on the lawn of First Presbyterian church by its Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brooks are chairmen of the event. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. of a menu, which will include sandwiches, baked beans, salads, cakes, pies, beverages, and homemade ice cream.

Methodists . . .

Announcement was made Sunday at the annual Methodist conference at Lakeside of the granting of a local preacher's license to Malcolm Brook of Shiloh.

Wyandt class . . .

Mrs. Ralph D. Ream was hostess to the Nora Wyandt class, First Presbyterian church, at her home Tuesday night.

Members held a white elephant sale during the evening.

As a special summer project, dresses are being made to be sent to a children's home this fall. Each member is sewing at home.

WSOS . . .

WSOS will join with the church school to stage a combined church picnic July 10. Further details will be announced next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Dann, East Chester, N. Y., became the parents of a son, Michael George, June 19. The mother is the former Katherine Searle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George J. Searle, Sr., of Plymouth and Dr. Bradenton, Fla., is the step-great-grandmother.

An 8 lb. 5 oz. son, their second boy and third child, was hospitalized early Tuesday to the born in Willard Municipal hospital early Tuesday to the Thomas Rhines.

Bowmen set shoot Monday

Huron Valley Bowmen will have a 14-target shoot Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the archery range.

A weiner roast and hamburger fry will be held afterwards. During the meeting committees will be appointed for the statewide meet, which will be held here Sept. 1 and 2.

Sunday Robert Kennedy and Harvey Robinson took part in the shoot sponsored by the Mohican Bowhunters near Mansfield.

The hospital beat

Mrs. I. E. LeBarre was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Saturday night.

Mrs. William Forquer was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Thursday.

Lutheran Faith

To have faith is to trust.

Here's an example:

In a past generation, Blondin walked across Niagara Falls on a tightrope. One of his friends was once asked if Blondin could carry a man on his back while crossing the Falls.

The friend's answer was yes. But when asked if he would get on Blondin's back and allow Blondin to carry him across the Falls, his answer was no, adding, "I believe Blondin can do it, but I don't trust him."

Lutherans not only believe Jesus Christ can be their Lord, they trust Him—moment by moment—as their Lord.

Sketch

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

Despite the enticements of out-of-town shopping, two Plymouth residents continue to do theirs here, even though it cost them a lot of money to do so.

Harry Chronister is the latest to find this out. His name was drawn as winner of $100 in the downtown merchants jackpot at Norwalk. He wasn't registered, so he didn't get the money.

Mrs. W. E. McFadden earlier lost a larger sum for the same reason. An inexcusable and unpardonable gremlin crept in to the advertisement for the New Haven church social last week. The church will not, of course, serve beer. The word has been corrected to read "beef". And to prove the mistake wasn't intentional, we had it "ice cream" instead of "ice cream". The publicity, says J. Harris Postema, will probably redound to the profit of the social, with which helpful development the staff will certainly take no exception.

THE EDITOR'S BUT with beef sandwiches, in which he was swiftly thrown and pinned, has prompted newspaper colleagues through out the state to poke fun at him and some to commiserate with him.

Two of the latter bear repeating. A publisher who requests anonymity relates how his Girl Friday took an item on the telephone and translated it from her notes. Come Thursday, it appeared in the newspaper thus:

FOR SALE: The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church have discarded clothing of all kinds. They may be seen in the basement any day after 6 p.m.

Another publisher, who says "either don't tell where this is from or change the name", sends us a clip from his own esteemed journal. We chose the latter course and have altered the name so that the innocent are protected.

The first ad ran:
FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Phone 958. Call after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Jones who lives with him cheap. The next week the editor published this correction.

We regret having erred in R. D. Smith's ad last week. It should have read: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Jones who lives with him after 7 p.m.

Somewhat bloody, but unbowed, the editor was compelled to run another correction the next week. It said:

R. D. Smith says he has received several annoying telephone calls because of an error we made in his classified ad last week. His ad stands corrected. FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Jones who loves with him.

Finally, Smith took things in his own hands, our friend relates. In the fourth week, he published this disclaimer.

I, R. D. Smith, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958. The phone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Jones. Until yesterday, she was my housekeeper.

NO MATTER HOW COME—place they've become, sonic booms startle the average citizen. Mostly, perhaps, because they seem so real, so close and so final.

Watchers of the Cleveland-Washington baseball telecast heard one, out of the idiot box.

2nd Lieut. Thomas E. LaRochelle, information officer of the 164th Tactical Fighter squadron, stationed at Mansfield, says this area is frequently crossed by "extremely fast B-58 Hustler bombers headed for Bunker Hill Air Force base, near Peru, Ind." And he denies, for the most part, that his colleagues in the 164th can be responsible for the booms. The F-84F jet fighter bombers aren't capable of a sonic boom, says Lieut. LaRochelle. But they're always willing to trace the source of the damage, if the data aren't classified.

Like shells? Library has definitive study

"The Shell Book" by Julia Ellen Rogers has been purchased for Plymouth Branch library by the board from the memorial fund.

A virtual goldmine for shell collectors, it is highly illustrated for easy identification.

Other new books now available to borrowers are "You Can Survive the Bomb", advice on how to prepare for a nuclear attack; "30 Stories to Remember", a collection of short stories edited by Thomas B. Costain and John Beecroft; "Understanding the Great Philosophers" by Henry Thomas; and "The Natural World of Louise Dickenson Rich.

New novels are "Fia Fia" by James Ramsey Ullman, "David" by Frank G. Slaughter, "The Tightening String" by Anna Bridge, "The San Franciscans" by Niven Busch; "The Glass Dove", a story of the Ohio underground railway, by Sally Carrighar; "The Gold Seekers" by W. R. Burnett; "The Grass Lovers" by Ronald M. Deutch; and "Hornstein's Boy" by Robert Traver, author of "Anatomy of a Murder".

In memory of Clair Forakker, who died 10 years ago,
 June 7, 1952.
 Memories are treasures no
 one can steal.
 Death is a heartache nothing can heal.
 Some may forget you now
 you are gone,
 But we shall remember,
 No matter how long.
 They say time heals all sorrow,
 And helps us to forget.
 But time so far has only proved
 How much we miss him yet.
 God gave us strength to fight
 it,
 And courage to bear the blow
 But what it meant to love him,
 No one will ever know.
 We miss his love, his cheery ways,
 Please God just let him know
 That we down here do not forget;
 We love and miss him so.
