

School patrolmen asked to assemble here today

Calling all schoolboy patrolmen!

Principal Edward M. Kinsel will meet with all volunteer schoolboy patrolmen at 10 a. m. today in Plymouth Elementary school.

Parents are invited to attend.

These rules apply to pupils who walk to Plymouth Elementary school. Pupils living north of Trux street and east of Sandusky street should cross at Curpen's Jewelry store;

Pupils living south of Trux street and east of Plymouth street should cross at Kafnes' Drug store;

Pupils living west of Plymouth Street and south of West Broadway should cross at First Evangelical Lutheran church.

Bloodmobile asks for 125 pints again

Bloodmobile will be at BPOE, Willard, Sept. 10 from noon until 6 p. m.

Persons able to give blood are urged to do so. There has been a shortage of donors during the last several visits. Negative type blood is especially needed.

The quota has been set at 125 pints. Appointments may be made in advance or by walk-in.

FIRST CLASS MAIL WILL SURELY GO —

Post office ready in case of rail strike

Planes, trucks and buses will move air and first-class mail and move other classes of mail within the second zone (approximately a 150-mile radius) of Plymouth in the event of a nation-wide rail strike, Postmaster Raymond L. Brooks says.

He has received instructions not to accept mailings, other than first class, air mail and air parcel post, which are destined for points more than 150 miles from Plymouth, for the duration of the rail strike if it occurs. "We are prepared to handle any letter or parcel addressed to any point, provided first class or air mail postage is paid on the item," he says.

"Service will be temporarily suspended on second-class magazines and newspapers, third class matter, and fourth class parcel post packages addressed to points beyond the second class parcel post zone — extending 150 miles beyond the points of mailing — as part of the National Post Office Contingency plan for operating under a rail strike emergency," he added.

Brooks told mailers any emergency shipments, such as medicines or badly needed spare parts should be sent first class or air mail during the strike, if it occurs, and if the shipment demands delivery beyond the 150-mile limit. Perishable items, such as baby chicks and honey bees should not be mailed for the duration of the strike if it occurs.

Gary Utiss injured in four-car crash

Four cars were involved in a freak collision early Saturday morning in Bowman street road near the intersection of Route 603.

Gary Utiss' car went out of control on the slippery blacktop as he was driving to work in Mansfield. The car went into the ditch and bounced back onto the road in the path of George Lesko's milk truck.

Lesko was able to stop in time, but the car behind him, driven by Robert Heffner, Shelby, hit the rear of his truck.

The fourth car, driven by a Mansfielder, avoided hitting them by driving off the road into a field.

Utiss was the only one injured. He was taken to Willard Municipal hospital for treatment.

Oldest resident of Celeryville succumbs at 95

Celeryville's oldest resident was interred in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven townships, Monday afternoon.

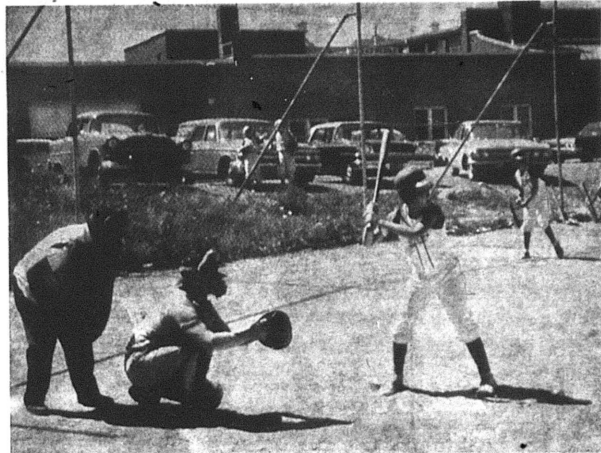

Mrs. Annagene Van Der Veen Newmyer, 95, died at her home Thursday.

She came to Celeryville from the Netherlands in 1902 with her husband, Wiegert. They were already the parents of seven children. Five more were born to them later.

During the last few years, Mrs. Newmyer was confined to her home and one of her beloved activities was being able to hear the services of her church, the Christian Reformed, piped into her home.

Five of her children survive her. They are Mrs. Dena Van Zoest, Mrs. Trena Van Loo and Miss Marie Newmyer of Celeryville, Henry, Shelby route 3, and Mrs. Anne Opoteker, Kalamazoo, Mich. There are also 42 grandchildren, 81 great-grandchildren, and six great-great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted at 2 p. m. Monday by the Rev. George Ebberts from the Celeryville church.

CONNIVANCE was emphatically boys downed dads in two games denied Sunday, but it's fact that to benefit PML stadium fund.

It's over until 2963!

Shiloh's centennial ended Saturday night with a display of fireworks.

Thousands thronged the business section during the four-day celebration. They consumed 1,532 pounds of barbecue beef in sandwiches.

Main events began at 11 a. m. Aug. 21, when Mayor Keith Dawson proclaimed the day there were band concerts, awarding of prizes, a horseshoe pitching contest and little league baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clevenger of Union City, Ind., received the prize for being among the oldest Shilohans who had come the greatest distance for the celebration.

Lawrence Wager, Gerald Delgard, Kenneth Hall, Gene Oney and Troy Noble were the winners in the horseshoe contest. THURSDAY WAS "YOUTH day". A bicycle rodeo, pet show and costume show were held.

Thomas Rook and Mindy Reynolds were the bicycle rodeo winners. Pam Thompson and Dean Cline were runners-up.

In the "greasy-pole" contest, the winning members were Jody Howell, Junior and Larry Shepherd, Kenny Sexton and Bob Conley.

Pet and costume show brought out most of the village children.

Winners in this contest were John Pennell, son of the Robert Pennells, Berea; Gwendolyn Pry, daughter of the Everett Pry; Sharon Collins, daughter of the Edward Collins; Barbara and Michael Wagner, children of the Robert Wagners; Barbara and Lori Cuppy, children of the Howard Cupps; John, Mindy and Judy Reynolds, children of the John Reynolds; Timothy and Diane Nesbitt, children of the Delmar Nesbitt; Michael and Mark Duffey, sons of the Floyd Duffeys; Also Cameron Ridenour, son of the George Ridenours; James Music, son of the James Musics; Geraldine Weber, daughter of the Richard Webers; Kenneth Bushey, son of the Robert Busheys; Ned Rodman, son of the Ned Rodmans; Clara Garrett, daughter of the Alvin Garretts; Paul Beard, son of Mrs. Jane Beard, and Debbie Witchee, daughter of the David Witcheys.

The whole George Rinehart family received a prize. please see page five

$25,000 vehicle still not found

A $25,000 truck with portable feed grinder mounted on it is still missing from the home of Keith Dawson, Shiloh. The vehicle was reported stolen Aug. 21 by Mrs. Dawson, who said she heard the motor start but thought the driver was at the wheel.

Others surmised the departure of the vehicle was in the nature of a centennial prank. The centennial is over, Dawson observes, and he'd like to celebrate the return of his truck undamaged.

Some rules to be followed with pigskin

Now that the Cleveland Mets have shown us there isn't much to cheer about in the Lakefront Stadium — and we don't doubt Paul Brown is chortling with some glee — we would do well to turn to the home town team and expend in its efforts the cheers, hopes and small wagers that would otherwise be expended on that outfit in Cleveland.

The state athletic association has installed regulations which seem designed to protect the competitor from injury and to protect the member schools from the evils of competition out of size and class.

These are well intended, and we find no fault with them.

We would wish that a little more policing of the regulations would take place, so that the spirit, as well as the letter, of the rule that practices may not commence before a certain date can be enforced. We have seen too many open breaches.

That parents and patrons of these schools would countenance such flagrant disobedience does not speak well for either individuals or schools.

Athletics are rightly placed under control of school boards and administrators. Booster clubs function well, when they are kept in hand, and the local one has been wisely managed.

Nevertheless, it is useful for every supporter of the team, as well as its players and coaches, to keep in mind some clear objectives, deviation from which should not be tolerated by anybody:

1. The purpose of the game is to teach to participants the values of team play, sportsmanship, sound physical conditioning and the application of thought processes to the strategy and tactics of football.

2. A score is kept for obvious reasons: all players like to win. But winning at the price of a player's health or a school's good name must not be tolerated.

3. Although the team depends upon spectator participation at the ticket window to pay its expenses, unseemly and improper behavior by spectators — which must include harum-scarum running around and scuffling along the sidelines by children who have ben sent to the game because their parents seek inexpensive baby-sitting—must be discouraged by ejection, with refund, of the offenders.

4. Strict control of sideline followers, preferably by insisting they remain in the stands, or at least a reasonable distance — which we construe to be 20 yards from the sideline, is essential, from a public relations standpoint (let's face it, the game must be "sold" to many who are unfamiliar or unenthusiastic about it, because the team needs that support, too), from a safety standpoint, and from a teaching standpoint (how are we to impress upon the young what good manners are if we permit the old to misbehave?).

5. Above all, schoolboy competition is a GAME, among boys, not yet men, who have much to learn. A distinguished gentleman who on Aug. 16 observed his 101st birthday, was once asked why, in a contest between his team and Princeton university, he did not send in a substitute to notify the quarterback of a weakness detected in the Tiger defenses by the coach. "Because," said Amos Alonzo Stagg, "the rules committee deprecates the use of a substitute for this purpose."

One could ask no more than to detect this emphasis in every schoolboy game.

Edna Ross bride of Shelbian there

Miss Edna May Ross became the bride of Ward J. White at 4:30 p. m. Friday in the chapel of Shelby's First Methodist church.

The couple exchanged their vows before the Rev. Stanley Shoemaker.

The bride wore a chocolate brown linen suit designed along straight lines. Her accessories were white to match her large white lace hat. She carried a white Bible with red sweetheart roses arranged on top. Her only piece of jewelry was a gold locket, which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Letty Ross.

Her maid of honor was a classmate, Miss Sara Lindsay. She wore beige with brown accessories and a small tangerine colored hat.

Michael White was his brother's best man.

The couple is at home in Shelby, where he is employed by the Ohio Seamless Tube Co. Mrs. White is a 1963 graduate of Plymouth High school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ross.

Mr. White graduated from Shelby High school in 1960. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold White of Shelby.

Ashland, Ky., who taught in Plymouth High school last year, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barrit-house.

The Richard Lowerys of Pittsburgh, Pa., visited their parents, the Joe Rebers and A. J. Lowerys, over the weekend.

Among the guests at the Moore-Camiscioni wedding Saturday morning in the Most Pure Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church in Shelby were the Jerome and Laverne Moores, Mrs. P. W. Thomas and Mrs. L. D. Berkes of Shelby. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore of Shelby.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnes and Karen spent Monday at the State Fair in Columbus.

Mrs. Lenna Beaver, who was a patient in Shelby Memorial hospital, entered the Good Shepherd home in Ashland Tuesday.

Many after seeing that remarkable photo at The Advertiser no doubt may like to read a column that's crystal clear to Christian Scientists everywhere, although absence of words is no barrier. Grass roots in particular may see a point when they note that indisputable column written by the Omnipotent with a medium of worthwhile light.

THANKS DEPT.: One greatly appreciates consideration shown by all youngsters, school age or otherwise, and more so by many rail-roads who contribute to a project without reservations. A Big Boy upstairs may see fit to smile upon those who wish to elevate their minds.

FRIENDS: Do not over-supply them with strong drink, then abandon them to the highways of harm.

QUESTION: Will our nation be in a greater muddle after yesterday? I hope not.

FOOTBALL: May be fine when scholastic achievements are first and ambitions of booty are held back. Perhaps less fags will do the trick.

LEGISLATURE: Will there be several worthwhile proposals put through the hopper?

METALLURGY: Shall the brass shine bright in the City of roses?

CONVALESCENCE: Those who furnish the necessary after-care in all hospitals should be properly compensated, not alone those who wish to manipulate the ventures of a growing city. Just stop and think; dentists and other professions furnish their own buildings and equipment and no doubt pay taxes on them. They never seem to use certain facilities scot-free.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Harkness and son, John, Cleveland, were here for the centennial. Mr. Harkness is thought to be a son of the late Bart Harkness, a resident here many years ago. He lived in the first house in Mechanic street.

Ralph Hunter of Cleveland came Saturday in search of former friends and school mates. He had with him seven or eight pictures of schools and organizations of former years which he had come over. These were especially enjoyed by the older people.

Sir:

Many times, after the bunting and the flags of a celebration have finally ceased to wave, the committees in charge may or may not remember to thank the members of the Fourth Estate who made it possible for these banners to take the breeze in the first place.

With this thought in mind and before the last balloon has popped in the hands of the sobbing holder of its barren stick, we of the Shiloh Area Centennial organization want to go on record as heartily thanking you for the magnificent publicity you gave us.

For without this generous coverage in your pages, we could never have hoped for such a successful anniversary commemoration.

Thanks again for your splendid cooperation in helping us to attain this goal.

Yours truly,

Look for the Big Red to have a fair football season.

Chances are the local entry can't win the Johnny Appleseed conference, which on the basis of pre-season efforts belongs to Clear Fork, with 22 lettermen and more horses than Saratoga race track.

If the Plymouth eleven can win five, the season would be a good one. It is assumed Coach Richard Carpenter's club has the wherewithal to defeat Black River, Crestview, Loudonville and Northmor, with the possibility of taking Colonel Crawford.

It seems likely Fredericktown, Ontario and Crestline have too much for the Big Red.

It is a green and somewhat undermanned outfit that Carpenter will field this year.

He has only seven lettermen back. None of these is an outstanding player.

With eight days remaining before the first one, Carpenter is likely to select Eric Akers, left-handed junior, as his quarterback, with Phil Fletcher halfback and Mike Ruckman.

Philip Ramey weds Miss Bores in Monroeville

Martha Louise Bores and Philip Ramey exchanged marriage vows before the Rev. George Schmitt in Monroeville's St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church Saturday morning.

The church altar held bouquets of gladioli and pom-poms. An organ prelude of nuptial music was played by Miss Patricia Tyler.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. The bouffant skirt fell in tiers to the floor, the back ending in a chapel train. Tiny pearls and sequins trimmed the Sabrina neckline of the fitted bodice. Long lace sleeves ended in points at her wrists.

A SMALL CROWN OF pearls and sequins held her finger-up veil of French illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only jewelry was a small gold cross which her mother wore on her wedding day.

A sister, Miss Marilyn Bores, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Loretta Ramey, the bridegroom's sister, Sharon Rudolph and Joyce Williams.

All the attendants wore street-length gowns of powder blue chiffon over taffeta. The bodices were of lace, and the balloon skirts had bows in back.

Their small circular veils were held by a matching blue taffeta French bow. They carried nosegay bouquets of red sweetheart roses with white daisies.

JERRY BERTKE, SHELBY, was Mr. Ramey's best man. Ushers were Gail Datch, Ray Gross and Larry Lasch.

The wedding dinner and reception followed in the Knights of Columbus hall in Norwalk.

Assisting the guests were Virginia Seisel, Peggy Diebert and Joyce Sturgeon.

The young couple are spending their honeymoon in Florida. They plan to live at 20 Hamilton street, Monroeville.

The new Mrs. Ramey is the daughter of Carl Bores and the late Mrs. Bores. A Monroeville high school graduate, she is employed by Norwalk Thermostat Co.

Mr. Ramey is the son of the Lyle Biddings of Plymouth. A graduate of Plymouth High school, he has reenlisted in the school, he has reenlisted in the Marine Corps and is stationed at Camp Le Jeune, N. C.

start cooking. It's made of three parts, a regular meat sauce, a medium thick bechamel sauce, and the pasta, which may be bought in packages. The latter can be made from scratch, and we would be very happy to loan our pasta-making machine. It was one of the first household purchases we made in Italy. It's more essential to the smooth running of an Italian kitchen than a can opener is to the American.

TO MAKE THE MEAT sauce, start with a large, heavy skillet, melt a good sized chunk of shortening. As it melts, generously sprinkle salt, pepper, basil, thyme, oregano, two bay leaves, marjoram and a dash of peppercorn. A little of this latter goes a long way. Several cut-up cloves of garlic may be added, but that's a matter of taste.

As it all melts together, lean over and sniff. If it's a delicious fragrance of everything blended, it's right. A sixth sense is necessary at this point. If in doubt, shake in a little more of each.

Brown two good-sized onions which you have already chopped into very small pieces. Really brown them, but they must be watched carefully for they will burn easily. An Indian friend once told me that we didn't get the good flavor from onions because we didn't take time to cook them. Then add two pounds of a good grade of ground beef. It needn't be the choicest, the middling grade does well.

After it has browned, add a small can of concentrated tomato paste. I refuse to give any free advertising, but this brand which begins with C is the one to use. Add two to three cans of water and let it simmer for several hours. It may be necessary to add another can of water.

At the end of the cooking, if you happen to have them handy, mushrooms may be added. If they are fresh, plan on a little longer cooking so they are done.

THE BECHAMEL SAUCE is nothing more than a dressed-up white sauce. If I remember correctly, it is the first thing you learn in cooking classes.

For four cups of liquid, which is half milk meat broth of a beef base, melt a quarter of a pound of margarine with a good sprinkle of nutmeg (butter is tasty, but it actually is too rich for this). Quickly add eight tablespoons of flour which, if you are fussy, you out in a little dish ahead of time. Stir it in as quickly as possible with a wooden spoon. Add the liquid, which has been thoroughly heated. Stir while adding, so the sauce is smooth. You may use a little less liquid than you have prepared. The sauce should be fairly thick. It will thicken a little on its own within a few minutes. Add more milk if it looks too thick. When finished, rinse it off in a colander and start to put the three together.

These amounts will fill two square glass baking dishes or one long one.

SPREAD A SMALL amount of the sauce thoroughly on the bottom. Carefully place the pieces of pasta so that a single layer is made. Cover with a layer of meat sauce, then spread a layer of the bechamel over it. Next scatter thin narrow strips of mozzarella cheese over the layer and dot with small cubes of ordinary American cheese.

Cook three-fourths of the pasta. A whole package is too much. It is quite long, so we break ours in half as we drop it in the boiling water. It takes a good half hour to cook.

Start all over with the pasta and go through the same routine until you are at the top of the dish. End with the cheese layer.

Cover with foil and either bake until it is thoroughly heated or store it away in the refrigerator until you are ready for it.

It's a mess to make and takes a lot of pans, but the nice thing is that once it's composed, it's done.

Before this casserole became so popular in this country, it was what I suppose would be called an at-home dish for your family. I do not remember ever seeing it on any menu in any restaurant the whole time we lived in Italy. We ate it the first time in an Italian home and our hostess very nicely came for one day and told our houseboy how to make it. She didn't tell us the name of it, so it was always called the Signora Leale's pasta.

Later, when we moved to Ethiopia and settled into our mud house, the day arrived when I marched to the kitchen in the backyard to show our cook how to make it. That's when we discovered what it was called. He proudly announced that he was an old hand at it and whisked me on my way.

Since measuring spoons and cups were not in general use in either country, it simply has to be made by a little guessing.

THANK YOU
I wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Butler, the staff at Shelby hospital and all our friends and relatives for the lovely flowers and cards received during my recent stay at the Shelby hospital.

Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Strohmenger capture top awards in flower show at Shiloh Entries by Mrs. J. E. Bryan and Mrs. C. Todd Strohmenger in the Shiloh Town and Country Garden club flower show were chosen "best of show".

The club's show in Mt. Hope Lutheran church Saturday was its part of the centennial celebration.

Mrs. Bryan's outstanding entry was in class 8, "Rich and Thrift". It was a weathered trunk and branches of an old tree. Greens and roses were growing from its crevices. A small bird's nest was placed in one niche of it.

Mrs. Strohmenger, a member of the Plymouth Garden club, entered an antique lamp in class 3, "Memories of the Past."

It was a square box with held a candle. For the show a

The Thomas DeWitts were hosts to Peter Kirkoff of Stuttgart, Germany, and the John Fates of Mansfield at dinner Thursday night.

Louise McIntire returned from Boston, Mass., Thursday night to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. McIntire.

The Russell Easterdays of Medina spent the weekend with the J. Harris Postemas.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Godare, Bay Village, were Sunday dinner guests of the William R. Millers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Echeberry and son, John, spent Sunday at East Harbor.

A parcel of land in Plymouth village has been sold to Arthur Jacobs by Henry VanderBilt.

Raymond Pugh gets directorship

Former Plymouth resident, Raymond D. Pugh has been elected to the board of directors of Citizens National bank in Shelby.

He is a vice-president of Shelby Business Form, Inc., where he began work in 1923.

Mrs. Pugh is the former Dorothy Hills, Plymouth. They are the parents of three sons.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pugh is the brother of Mrs. Whitney J. Briggs.

ASC committees to choose three from nominees

Three regular members and two alternates will be elected as Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation community committeeman by written ballot.

The ballots must be returned to the county ASC office by Wednesday.

Eligible voters include farm owners, tenants and share croppers if they are eligible to take part in any of the programs administered by the ASC committees.

Nominees for Plymouth township are Virgil Baird, Edward Cooks, Kenneth Egner, Oliver Fairchild, Frank Fenner and Peter Klemm.

Nominees for Cass township are Joe Ballitch, Donald Barnes, Frank Dawson, Henry Halk, Ronald Howard, Earl Huston, Paul Kranz, Bud Lynch and Paul McGregor.

Nominees for Bloominggrove township are W. J. Huston, Edward Kinsel, Norris Latimer, Clarence Snyder, Raymond Wells and Raymond Wolford.

Nominees for New Haven township are Lester J. Berberich, Ferli L. Buckingham, Howard R. Cummings, Gene E. Hollinger, Ernest R. Myer, Duane E. Slessman, Henry K. Stein and Wilbur Wyandt.

small brown pottery pot filled with small black eyed susans was placed in the center.

It was brought to this country by Mr. Strohmenger's great-grandfather from Germany.

The accessory with it belonged to Mrs. William Miller. It was an old carved pipe with a long stem. Carved into the bowl of the pipe is the date, 1718. The unusual pipe is the type tavern keepers rented to their customers for an evening's smoking. Pieces of the long stems were broken off after each user, so the next smoker would start with a fresh end.

RIBBON WINNERS IN THE arrangement classes were Mrs. Hugh Boyce, Mrs. Harold Ross and Mrs. R. E. Russell, class 1, for their dried arrangements depicting "Memories of the Past".

Class 2 winners, "The Log Cabin", were Mrs. Russell's arrangement in a wooden pedestal container of a tall yellow gladioli with small zinnias and marigolds; Mrs. Bryan's arrangement of galliarda and Mrs. Duane Hunter's entry of a wooden wheelbarrow filled with bright yellow zinnias and variegated lavender petunias.

Second place in class 3 went to Mrs. Robert Gundrum for her gold coin glass bowl of yellow-orange flowers. Mrs.

R. M. Heyde took third with an old porcelain gas lamp with a trailing philodendron. She used a wooden figure of a knight as an accessory.

In the next class, "Early American", Mrs. Harry Light's arrangement of spikes of purple and white took the blue ribbon. A milk glass mug filled with small lavender chrysanthemums entered by Mrs. Russell was second. An arrangement of Peace roses by Mrs. Bryan was third.

Mrs. Maud Ruckman took first place in the class 5 with her tall clay bottle of slender vines and purple edged blossoms. Mrs. R. W. Gundrum's arrangement of wild sweet peas and Mrs. Raymond Bevier's wicker covered bottle with small canna blossoms and a large canna leaf received red ribbons. Honorable mention was given to Mrs. Evelyn Gundrum for her coral zinnia in a small brown jug and to Mrs. Robert Blackford for her dahlias with canna leaves.

A UNIQUE CLAY CONTAINER, a piece of field tile, filled with purple and white petunias by Mrs. Dean Hamman, took first place in class 6. Second went to Mrs. Frank Dason for her rubrum lilies in a brown pot. Mrs. Powell Holderby was third with an arrangement of rusty orange zinnias.

Class 7, an arrangement made in a fruit or vegetable, was won by Mrs. Hugh Boyce. Mrs. Harold Ross's scenic arrangement of stone and driftwood with small figures of squirrels, Mrs. Ruckman's driftwood with dried flowers and Mrs. Holderby's castor bean leaves with driftwood were the winners in class 8.

Class 9 winners of the mass arrangements went to Mrs. Mary Forsythe, Mrs. Blackford and Mrs. Russell, who used an assortment of garden flowers in all colors. Mrs. Dean Hamman received honorable mention.

Arrangement of Herbs in class 10 were won by Mrs. Hamman and Mrs. Ross. Both used mint, dill, and mustard along with other herbs.

Winners in the specimen classes were Carol Ann Myers, asters; Janet Geogozia and Mrs. Ruckman, Bells of Ireland; Mrs. Roy Hatch, Mrs. Judd Stone and Mrs. William Miller, dahlias; Mrs. F. E. Reynolds, delphinium; Mrs. R. E. Russell and Mrs. Robert Forsythe, geraniums; Mrs. Russell, gladioli; Miss Grace Miller, Mrs. Harry Light and Mrs. Esther Payne, lilies; Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Thomas DeWitt, Mrs. Don Light and Mrs. Edna Dick, marigolds; Mrs. Evelyn Gundrum and Mrs. Bonnie Pry.

In class 11 for roses, Mrs. Dean Hamman won the blue ribbon with a Chrysler Imperial. Red ribbons went to Mrs. Blackford for a miniature floribunda and to Mrs. Harry Light for a New Yorker. Miss Grace Miller's Pink Radiance was third.

The Plymouth, O., Advertiser, Aug. 29, 1963 Page 7

MRS. BONNIE PRY, EV- erett Pry, Jr., and Mrs. DeWitt took the ribbons in the snapdragons. Mrs. Dean Hamman, Everett Pry, Jr., Mrs. DeWitt, Mrs. Don Light and Mrs. Russell were winners in the zinnias.

Mrs. Hugh Boyce's unusual almost black sunflowers, which she also used in her winning arrangement, and Bee Light's large pansy were the ribbon winners in the unclassified group.

All-Jersey milk supplies extra calcium to make new teeth stronger

A temporary tunnel in your youngster's toothline doesn't help appearance. But if enough All-Jersey milk pours through the gap, the permanent tooth that replaces it will be sound as a dollar.

The most important food element for healthy teeth is calcium. All-Jersey milk supplies more calcium than any other natural milk of the same cream content. That's why your child should drink at least a quart of All-Jersey milk daily.

Mothers, remember that while proper mouth hygiene is desirable for sound teeth, proper eating habits are even more important. Start serving extra-nutritious All-Jersey milk. It costs not one cent more than ordinary milk.
