

For mayor, for clerk

Her charges are serious and her arguments seem sound.

No one has come forward with any refutation of the charges.

It is plain to us that a change needs to be made. Which is why we believe a vote for Mrs. Paddock is a vote for decent, dignified conduct of municipal affairs for the next four years.

The more votes she gets, the stronger will be the message to those who have abused and thwarted her honest efforts.

The mayorship is not the only important office to be decided on Tuesday, but by a long shot.

That of clerk-treasurer is, to our way of thinking, the most important office in the village.

Don't take our word for it. Go to the Revised Code of Ohio, which spells out the duties and responsibilities of the clerk-treasurer.

Ohio established the office as an elective one, to be decided by the corporation as a whole, for good reason. It wanted an effective check on headstrong and arrogant councils. This is why the clerk-treasurer is the only officer of the village who can prepare a budget.

Mind you, the council can change the individual appropriations. But it can't change the sum of funds to be appropriated. Not without submitting the move to the approval of the electors, whether by referendum on initiative petition, by direct submission to the electors (as in the case of new or renewed taxation), or by referendum on recall petition.

The council can't pay a bill or spend a dime unless the clerk-treasurer certifies that funds are available. He -- or she -- is the clerk of the village, not the clerk of the council, and as such is available to all citizens. He is their "friend in court", as it were.

He is the official custodian of the village records, which are not in the best shape. There is a monumental task ahead for the clerk to reorganize the files and to place important records where they can be readily located and examined when the need arises.

Insofar as any of the public may have dealings with Mary Fate park or Greenlawn cemetery, the clerk-treasurer is the person to deal with. The cemetery records are now in process of reorganization and being brought current. The new clerk-treasurer will need to pay careful attention to them and see to it they do not again fall into disarray.

Three candidates have come forward for the office. Each is an estimable person individually.

Electors of the village should choose that candidate who by training, experience and degree of maturity can best assert the rights of the people, whether before the mayor, the council, the cemetery or park boards or whatever; can by reason of training and experience serve as auditor-controller of village funds, and can by the same circumstances conduct the office with dignity and respect, for the law, for the rights of the people, and the needs of the management of the village.

The question of one's sex, age or employment should not enter into the decision. It's rather a question of character, training and experience.

Since none of the candidates has actively asserted any pretension to the office, we leave the decision to the voter without recommendation. And in case anybody wants to know how we'll vote personally, let him step into the office and ask.

The state issue deserves support, if for no other reason than that it will save the state -- which means every citizen -- money. It would provide that newspaper notice, in lieu of mailed notice, is sufficient to inform citizens of proposed changes in the Ohio constitution and laws thereunder.

School candidates to air views

Plymouth Mothers' club will hear the three candidates for the Board of Education Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Plymouth Elementary school.

Four candidates, including the first woman ever to seek the highest office of the village since it was founded in 1815, aspire to the mayorship of Plymouth in Tuesday's general election.

Signs are that the outcome will be close. Three candidates, including the daughter of a mayoral aspirant, seek the clerk-treasurer's post. Incumbent Hugh W. Washburn, a restaurateur, who succeeded William Fazio as mayor a year ago when Fazio resigned to take a position near Chicago, Ill., seeks election in his own right. He was first elected as a village councilman in November, 1969, to a four-year term.

His opponents are D. Dudley Brumbach, a retired officer of the Air Force who was the first village administrator before he resigned Mar. 1, 1970; Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., first woman ever elected to a councilmanic post, which she won in 1967, and Harry A. Vandervort, a retired federal civil servant who previously ran unsuccessfully for clerk-treasurer.

Quentin P. Ream, assistant cashier of Peoples National bank, Theodore A. Ross, a salesman of computer services, and Linda S. Washburn, a student in Mansfield branch of Ohio State university, whose father is mayor, have filed petitions for clerk-treasurer.

James L. Jacobs, Sr., who formerly served as trustee of public affairs before that office was abolished, seeks election as councilman. He is unopposed. Two are to be elected.

Richland countians will vote on a one-half mill levy to run for five years to benefit the Richland County Metropolitan Park district. A previous proposal has been twice defeated.

Three candidates seek two vacancies on Plymouth Board of Education in Tuesday's general election.

One of them aspires to succeed his father, now president of the board.

Red harriers win sectional, to race at Ottawa

Plymouth cross country team wallopped 12 competitors in the Class A sectional meet at Hedges-Boyer park, Tiffin, Saturday and stamped itself as a real contender for district honors at Ottawa Saturday.

Plymouth won second, third, sixth, 10th and 11th places for an aggregate of 52. Closest competitor was Elmwood with 116. Fostoria St. Wendelin had 118 for third.

Dick DeLong, Hardin northern, ran home in from 26 miles, 26 seconds, a new course record, breaking the old standard by three seconds.

Tim Nesbitt, in 10:37, and Jonathan, in 10:28, also broke the course record.

Ken Lucas was timed in 10:42 in sixth place, Brad Buzard in 11:03 in 10th and Mike Adams in 11:06 in 11th.

No Plymouth team has ever before placed in a sectional meet and no Big Red team has ever finished so high as this one. In addition to the five Red runners, the nine fastest runners in Saturday's competition won the right to compete in the district event at Killdare Country club, Ottawa.

J. F. Stambaugh, 'onion king', dead at 82

John F. Stambaugh, 82, the onion king of Ohio, was dead on arrival Saturday afternoon in Willard Area hospital, victim of heart seizure at his home, 240 East Main street.

Earlier in the day, he had attended to duties at John F. Stambaugh, Inc., the great onion and potato farm in Richmond township that he built to become a model of its type.

He was a prime mover in the establishment of the Celeryville Conservancy district, which built a flood control and irrigation reservoir that saved thousands of dollars and acres of muckland in southwestern Huron county. He served as its first chairman.

Mr. Stambaugh was born in Hardin county Jan. 27, 1889. He attended Harvard college, where he was a classmate of Walter Lippman, the international pundit. He had lived in Huron and Richland counties since 1939.

He served as vice-president of the National Onion association, which honored him in 1965 for a record production of 1,500 bushels of onions an acre. He cherished membership in Willard Rotary club.

Only one such establishment is affected, Hartenstein's Supper Club, Route 224 west of New Haven, whose proprietor, F. Robert Hartenstein, initiated the petition.

All voters may cast ballots on the general state question of whether newspaper advertising may serve in lieu of mail notice when laws, amendments to laws and amendments to the Ohio Constitution are required to be submitted to the electorate.

Villagers living in Huron county may vote on two issues relating to Sunday sale of spirituous liquors in New Haven township. One would allow Sunday sales between 1 p. m. and midnight and the other would permit establishments deriving 50 per cent or more of their gross revenue from the sale of food and other goods and services to do so.

Big Red cross country squad finished third in the Johnny Appleseed conference championships at Mansfield Oct. 19.

For the first time this season, Tim Nesbitt did not lead the Red runners. Jim Sutter, who took third place, finished in 10 minutes, 29 seconds, behind the winner, Mike Mitchell, Ontario. Nesbitt was 10th in 10:42.

COMMENTS AND ANALYSIS

Next Tuesday we will know how close this poll will be to the result of the election. To forecast an election here is very difficult for the experts. The trend expressed in the 95 votes cast here can very well be within the range of the final tally at the polls on Election day next Tuesday.

It will be noted that Vandervort's strength is holding and Washburn is making a good showing as the race comes to an end.

The estimated final vote for each candidate is as follows:

Paddock	168 votes	Brumbach	17 votes
Vandervort	84 votes	Washburn	151 votes

This survey shows Paddock winning by only 17 votes.

FIFTH PLANK

To obtain catalogues of surplus government materials listing power generating equipment, it is believed that the expansion of large electric power supply for the village should be constructed within the next two years. It is further believed that the expansion of large electric power producers will be sharply reduced by anti-pollution groups now gaining momentum against atom-powered generating plants.

My being confined to a hospital bed with a bad case of the shingles has prevented me from hearing any RUMORS FOR THE MILL, nor are there any QUESTIONS FOR THE BOX.

KNOW YOUR CANDIDATE

This photo was taken in Mansfield in 1950. I had served as county service officer with the veterans relief office, Veterans representative in the Ohio State Employment Service and superintendent of the Richland County Children's Home at Mansfield.

I resigned as superintendent of the Children's home and applied for a position in federal civil service at the Shelby depot. I was hired as the secretary of the civil service establishment board, which required supervising and testing hundreds of applicants for federal positions at the depot during the Korean Conflict.

In the first 15 months I certified and hired more than 1,200 people for positions then open. It was during this period that I became personally acquainted with so many people in this area.

When the depot was phasing out in 1958, I was transferred to San Bernardino, Calif., where I was retired in 1967.

My wide experience in accounting, supervision and public relations well qualifies me to act as your mayor in Plymouth.

Your support will be greatly appreciated.

advises Auntie, who didn't!

By AUNT LIZ

Did you ever tuck away a recipe some kind person gave you, then forgot you had it, only to find it again a couple of years later, with no name on it? Since about everything has the same stuff in it, but in varying proportions, it can be kind of hard to figure out just what it should look like. Let this be a great lesson. Should you jot down a new recipe, be sure to put some kind of name on it and the kind of pan it requires. This will save a certain amount of washing dishes to find the type of pan it belongs in.

In the wrong type of pan, the results can be edible but not servicable.

While cleaning out our overly stuffed recipe drawer, this little gem was found, on a recipe card, too, which indicates that someone very seriously wrote it out.

Because of what was in it, there was simply no question, it had to be a spicy little cookie.

It wasn't.

It ended up in kind of a large glob. The dainty little spoonful simply ran right together and since they could really be cut into pieces and were more caky than cookie, we tried once a- gain. That time a large baking dish was used and it worked.

So grease one up and have it ready. A cookie sheet with sides coming up will work, too. The pieces will be that much thinner than in a regular large size glass dish.

Cream a half cup of shortening with a cup of brown sugar, add an egg and a fourth of a cup each of milk and sherry. Mix thoroughly.

In another bowl mix one and two-thirds cups of flour with a bit of salt, a half teaspoon each of baking powder, baking soda and cinnamon. Then add a tablespoon of instant coffee.

Mix with the other mixture until truly blended. Add a cup of chopped walnuts and one of choco- late bits. Bake at about 375 degrees until a tooth- pick comes out clean.

ONCE THEY COME OUT of the oven you will recognize that they are bars and really should be frosted. Any kind of powdered sugar frosting will do, but very little.

Unfrosted, they are peachy to use under a spoonful of ice cream, preferably coffee flavor. You can stick a cherry era.

Since this is cookie bak- ing time, so little people have something to munch on after school, molasses cookies can go a long way because you can get so many out of one recipe.

A few weeks ago some- one told me he had been served one and was simply amazed that they were home made and so good. I cannot remember who it was now, but at the time I thought, "Where have you been all these years, and with whom, if you haven't been eating decent home made cookies?" It was rather shocking.

Mix up a third of a cup of brown sugar with a fourth of a cup each of butter and shortening. Add an egg, a half cup of molasses and a fourth of a cup of milk. Then

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir: The past five or six weeks the council has published articles saying what it has done to better the community. What has it done? What has it done is routine matters. The village has employees who are being paid to do this work. What is so spectacular about this accomplishment?

A few members of the council have behaved shabbily. Is it because they object to a woman on the council? Is it because she reports the truth and reports what is said at the meetings? If there is nothing to hide, then why all the fuss? Or perhaps it is because she reported a council member was in arrears on a utility bill. Tell me how he could get away with this for so long a time? Any other citizen would have been penalized with a delinquent bill.

To publish all these "accomplishments" gave me the impression of a childish, immature, argumentative group. The meetings must be like a threatening circus. This is the impression I get after reading about this childish bickering that goes on. The reference made by one of the members about women was degrading to the women of Plymouth. I hope he doesn't forget that women vote.

There are many women in this town who have the integrity and intellectual capacity to see that our council should be less argumentative and noisy and give us more proper action.

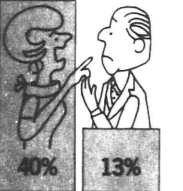

Advertising your fears of accomplishment was a bit buffoonish. Why pay for this? Is it the taxpayers' money, is that a sad waste of money.

Thank you for listening.

Lexington makes fewer errors to defeat Big Red, 14-12

Victory usually goes to the team that makes the fewest mistakes. Which is what happened Friday night in Mary Fete park, where Lexington's Minutemen managed a 14 to 12 defeat of Plymouth in a Johnny Appleseed conference contest.

SJHS downs Madison South

Shiloh Junior High footballers took a 22 to 6 contest from Madison South Junior High school in Mary Fete park for their third win against a single loss.

Tailback John Gullett led the offense with 76 yards on the ground, including two touchdowns. A 15-yard TD pass from Wally Gawronski to Brad Turson produced six points in the second quarter. The same passing combination netted the extra points.

An alert defense led by Todd Root, Reuben Garcia and Jay Haver nailed the Ram quarterback for a safety in the fourth quarter to round out the Big Red scoring.

Haver also intercepted a pass to set up a first quarter score.

Jim Conley and Turson performed nobly as defensive ends in turning the visitors' running attack inside.

Last week . . .

Here're results from last week:

Edison 7, St. Paul's 0; Fredericktown 28, Crestline 9; Loudonville 20, Clear Fork 14; Ontario 57, Crestview 0; Lexington 14, Plymouth 12; Mapleton 27, New London 12; Black River 16, Western Reserve 12; Monroeville 25, South Central 0.

three. Plymouth lost two passes by interception, Lexington only one. Plymouth failed to convert on two tries for PAT, Lexington succeeded twice.

Admittedly the wet ball affected the play. But neither of these teams is a high caliber outfit and it is doubtful if on a dry night either would set the world afire.

Lexington has the superior offense, which is another way of saying Plymouth's offense isn't much.

And in Greg Ammons, a big placekicker, the visitors showed an accurate booter who produced two PATs, one in the first period and one in the last, that were the margin of victory.

Plymouth had a golden opportunity with 2:58 remaining to win a tie. Behind 14 to 6, the Big Red blocked a Lexington punt and recovered deep in Minutemen territory. A 15-yard penalty for clipping set the Big Red out to the Lexington 35-yard line. And Plymouth went into a paydirt in seven plays, one of them a dramatic 18-yard completion by Larry Taylor to John Conley on fourth down.

Taylor's pass on third down was good for four yards and the score, Conley snatching it out of the hands of a defender. Plymouth lined up and chose its best power play for the PAT try, but Conley was stopped far short.

EVEN SO, PLYMOUTH had one more chance to score but fumbled it away.

An outside kickoff was recovered by Lexington. Unable to make first down, the Minutemen punted. Ray Hughes let the ball strike him in the chest and he fumbled it, Lexington recovered, and three plays later the game ended.

It was such mistakes as this that demoralized the Big Red.

Another mistake -- the failure to stuff a hole in the left side of its line -- cost Plymouth a touchdown on the third play of the game. Eben Cock-ley went inside his right tackle for 60 yards to score. Lexington's drive covered 68 yards in three plays after the kickoff.

Plymouth's first TD came by accident and a mistake, as well.

Passing from his 42, after the second of three successive five yard penalties, Tony Dellandies hit Mike Bowers at the Red 10. But the flag had fallen and Plymouth was saved.

On the next play Dellandies fumbled the handoff. Jim Curright picked it up and sped 40 yards to the end zone. Bill Van Wagner, on the second of four carries this wet and slippery night, could not make it over the final stripe for the PATs.

Statistically, Lexington was ahead by halftime, although each team had three first downs. The Minutemen had gained 33 yards on the ground and lost three fumbles. Plymouth had 40 yards on the ground and 34 through the air with two lost fumbles.

Lexington's go-ahead touchdown with 9:21 remaining in the game came after a bizarre occurrence.

The Minutemen set out from their 41 after a punt by Conley and in 10 plays made first down at the Red four. Here the Plymouth defense buckled down and threw the visitors back to their eight. On fourth down, from his five, Dellandies threw to Bowers for the TD. But Lexington was detected in offensive pass interference in the end zone and Plymouth took over at its 20.

BUT NOT FOR LONG. On second down, Taylor fumbled the handoff and Mike Clapper, who recovered three of the Plymouth fumbles, picked the ball up and ran to the Red one.

On the first play Rod Fritz bolted home with the second score. Ammon booted the PAT and Lexington held a 14 to 6 lead.

It is too bad that Taylor had to be the goat. He was consistently frustrated as defensive end. Time and again the Minutemen offense pushed him out of the play and the off tackle rush went through his position. And two fumbles were charged to him, as well as one of the two pass interceptions. Taylor is a better ballplayer than what he showed Friday night.

It was a rough contest, one contestant from each side being ejected.

Protection . . .

We once had a subscriber who had never lived in the town, did not know anyone in the town and had only been in the town several times in his life. He was interested in our town because an aunt had died and left him her home. He wanted to receive the paper to read the legal notices so that he could comply when his property was involved.

Yet some people living in the community completely ignore the only legal source of information on laws, which affect their lives, their pocketbook, their actions, and literally change their life in some respects from the cradle to the grave. This newspaper is the only legal source you have for obtaining that legal information which you can use to protect yourself.

State laws may be enforced by local police but an ordinance establishing a new village law cannot be enforced unless that ordinance has been published twice in this newspaper. A new tax levy or a renewal tax levy may not be placed on the ballot for your vote unless the amount of the tax, the length on time of enforcement and the use of the tax money are published in this newspaper. A township zoning ordinance or a village zoning ordinance cannot legally be enforced unless that complete ordinance, including a map, have been published in this paper. Often legal notice of hearings and public meetings must be published in this paper before actions at those meetings are legal. The village, township and school district are all required by law to publish their notices in this newspaper.

A newspaper must comply with numerous restrictions set forth in the Ohio Revised Code before it can meet the requirements for legal publications. For example a newspaper must publish editorials or it does not meet the requirements defining a newspaper and cannot be permitted to print legal notices. Even the charges to be made for publication are set by the State of Ohio.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse. That's why you should protect your interests by studying the legal notices which appear in this newspaper—they affect your life.

Sir:
In today's society, one of the more prominent objections to members of the new generation is that of irresponsibility. Many people claim that today's young are asking for something for nothing, and are unwilling to carry their load. Personally, I take strong issue with this objection. I know far too many young people like myself who are extremely concerned with today's society and the direction in which it seems to be going. I personally feel that one of the most important aspects of America's society today is that of education. Public education has become necessary in today's world. Any necessity, especially one as significant as education, can not be met halfway. We can not afford to take short-cuts in the instruction of today's young people. Their education must be a totally worthwhile experience through which not only they, but all those around them as well, will profit.

Public education in today's society is a cooperative effort. Not only should the community aid in supporting their children's education, but that education and its institutions must be supported by the community as well. A half-way education serves no one, least of all the student and his community. On the other hand, a rounded education repays the community by not only giving the students the knowledge which is essential to education, but also by giving them the initiative to use their new-found knowledge. If this is accomplished, the community investment has been a profitable one. Otherwise, the taxes which the community has spent, the levies which it has passed and the values which the parents have instilled in their children become worthless. In short, education is a vital and total part of a young man's development. We can not afford to gamble with their public education.

It is because I believe in these principles that I have chosen to run for the school board. People in my generation do care, and many of us do believe in working within the system to carry our share of the load. With the support of the members of this community, that is precisely what I intend to do to carry my share of the load.

Thank you,
Timothy L. Rook

The bride's mother, Mrs. D. Karl McGinty, chose a pale blue crepe with blue lace trim, to which she added beige accessories and a wrist corsage of white carnations. A wedding dinner was served to the bridal party in the Donald Grimmer home, Church street, Galion. A reception took place for 200 in the Baker home in Millsboro road. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with double rings and a dove, lighted by yellow candles, was served. Debbie Grimmer and Robin McKee, the bride's granddaughters, served punch. Pamela Grimmer, another granddaughter, registered guests. The couple will live in Millsboro road near Galion, where he is engaged as a carpenter.

IT IS TIME TO SPEAK UP!

I am no less honest nor qualified than any of my opponents.
Please consider my qualifications:
Educated in public schools, St. Paul, Minn.
Attended College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minn., two years.
Attended University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., two years. Degree of bachelor of science conferred in June, 1940.
Employed by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., St. Paul, Minn., as account supervisor, 1941-1944.
Served in U. S. Marine Corps Women's Reserve, finance department, as payroll clerk and deduction comptroller, 1944-46. Honorably discharged in June, 1946.

Since 1954, business and advertising manager of successful weekly newspaper (increased to two such newspapers in 1955, to three such newspapers in 1963), with important duties in meeting and dealing with the public, supervision of personnel and as reporter of public activities at all levels -- boards of education, village councils, boards of public affairs, cemetery boards, park boards, boards of township trustees, with a special knowledge of how they operate and/or are supposed to operate within Ohio law.
Since Jan 1, 1968, have served with diligence and effectiveness as village councilman, with important duties on the police and fire and cemetery and park committees.

I am a member of the American Association of University Women, of the Daughters of American Revolution and of the American Legion.

I manage a family (now depleted because my two children have all but completed their education -- paid for by me and their father from the profits of the business I have managed since 1954 -- but still including one husband, one dog and two cats) and a household.

I have donated over 2,000 hours of volunteer service as Gray Lady in Shelby Memorial hospital out of a sense of duty and accomplishment.

I have a program. It is, in part, the same program on which I campaigned in 1967 and which I have been prevented from even having the courtesy of debate.

- It includes but is not limited to:
- a. A fairly rigorous housing and zoning statute for the village, with enactment of a building code. I submitted a draft proposal for the council's consideration.
 - b. Improvement of sidewalks.
 - c. Revision of the traffic pattern in the Square, which everybody can see has not been a success.
 - d. Sound and thorough planning (which is almost too late) to obtain a safe, adequate water supply in the years to come. This may mean considering an upland water reservoir and a change in the system of treating water. But it's no secret that we are painfully short of adequate water.

This program can't be executed without the cooperation of everybody, specifically including the council.

Win or lose, it is time to heal differences. It is time to assert the concept of mutual respect, and with politeness and tact to make full use of the talents of everyone, public official and private citizen, to make suitable progress for the village, which has too long stagnated.

I pledge to every citizen that this is my aim and intent.

I shall regard every vote for me as an endorsement of this aim and intent and, further, approval in principle of my program.

I shall appreciate each and every vote on Tuesday.

The Bible Answer To:
IS SINCERITY ENOUGH?

One day when I went to brush my teeth I picked up the shaving cream by mistake I was sincere but SINCERELY MISTAKEN? I am sure there have been times in your life when you have been sincerely mistaken.

These incidents demonstrate the fact that sincerity is not enough. WE MUST COUPLE CERTAINTY WITH SINCERITY. The Bible warns, "There is a difference that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." (Prov. 14:12) Too many people feel because they are sincere in life and in religion they will come out all right in the end . . . but they are SINCERELY MISTAKEN.

Dear friends you must be absolutely sure regarding where your eternal soul will spend eternity.
THE BIBLE is the only absolute certain place to find certainty in this all important matter. The Bible says in 1 John 5:11-12 "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He that hath the Son hath the life, and he that hath not the Son hath not life."
The Bible makes it absolutely clear. The person that puts his complete trust in the Son, Jesus as their personal Saviour "HATH LIFE" and he that hath not the Son of God "HATH NOT LIFE."
All others are SINCERELY MISTAKEN!
