

Two of the oldest businesses on the square will close, Crispin's 5 & 10 and Jump's clothing.
Russell J. Crispin opened his Plymouth store May 7, 1937, after he had established a similar one in Shelby two years earlier.
In the south side of the Square, it was the site of a former A&P market. He and his wife, with whom he was closely associated in the business, closed their Shelby store in 1955 and devoted their time here. After his death, May, 1970, Mrs. Crispin and her sister, Mrs. Lena Mae Freeman, have conducted the business.
They will remain open until their stock is sold.
Jump's have been in business since November, 1943, when Max Jump, who runs a similar store in Willard, bought the Ruth Clothing store.
Nate Rule, who had run a general store in Denmark near Edison, came to Plymouth in partnership with Harold Byrd in 1923 and opened the men's store where Elnor Taylor had her millinery shop.
Byrd left the partnership a few years later and moved to Cardington, where he opened his own store.

Rule was joined by his son, Bert, who had been a barber in Marion. He died in 1942.
The building occupied by Jump's has been sold to the heirs of the late Mrs. Ruth to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, New Philadelphia.

New bus bought for $8,858.43

Purchase of a new 66-passenger school bus was approved by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.
It accepted the bid of Heisler's, Inc., Willard, to furnish an International chassis at $5,133.56 and that of Superior Body Co., Lexington, of $4,079 less $400 trade-in allowance for a 1964 bus. Total bid with trade-in amounts to $8,858.43, of which 64 per cent is paid by the state department of education.

One other chassis bidder and four body bids were received Feb. 19.
The chassis bid was for $5,286.11 for a GMC truck. The bids were $3,872 less $300 trade-in by Thomas, $4,091 less $150 trade-in by Carpenter, $4,135 less $425 trade-in by Wayne and $3,924.41 less $222.61 by Blue Bird.
BETTIE SCHELLER was hired as substitute bus driver.

Herbert Heyl was assigned as player director at $200 in additional pay. Mrs. Vernon Moser, assistant custodian in Plymouth Elementary school, resigned for reasons of ill health. No replacement has been found.

Participation in a regional special education planning and service center at Bucyrus, to serve handicapped and psychologically disturbed pupils, was approved. School calendar was amended to take account of a change in annual meeting date by North Carolina, Ohio Teachers' Association, at Ashland from October to April. The Easter week recess will be reduced to Good Friday and Easter Monday and school will be dismissed on June 2.

A CONTRACT WITH Mansfield school district to rent the driver education simulator for 16 days at $75 a day was approved.
A change order was authorized by which Studer-Obinger, Inc., general contractor, at Ashland, will be refunded for $1,800 because it will be excused from finished seeding of grounds under construction (the board of directors can be done more cheaply either by FFA pupils or by Pioneer Joint Vocational school pupils). A second change order calls for $42 to be paid to Richland Electric Co. to install electrical outlets in the school cafeteria.

Construction bills were approved for $53,800 per $1,000. Plumbing and heating, $5,241; general construction, $9,400; high school addition, $11,245; elementary school cafeteria, $6,334.

The Voice of the Advertiser -- Life-style

The first of these life-styles is historical, founded upon the accumulated experience of our citizens starting with Puritan days. It has five characteristics: It is based upon a belief in God as expressed through organized churches preaching a Puritan ethic; it is patriotic, and has always sponsored a deep respect for the military; it believes that honest work is good for a man, and preaches allegiance to the firm for which one works; it believes in the sanctity of the family, respect for elders, and monogamy; finally, it adheres to conservative modes of dress, speech, music and ornamentation.

The new life-style rejects most of these precepts, and is thus an assault on all that older people hold most sacred. Starting from a positive interpretation of life (indeed, a most optimistic one), the new style preaches love, freedom, interdependence, personal responsibility and a radically new interpretation of society. Specifically, it ridicules the Puritan ethic as archaic and destructive. Saving money, hoarding against a rainy day, fear of what one's neighbor might think are seen as ridiculous intrusions on the individual's freedom. Christianity is no longer acknowledged as the primary belief.

The new life-style affords no place for patriotism in the old sense, while respect for the military has been replaced by contempt -- a direct consequence of the Vietnam war and the confusing distrust system which we are threatened with invasion. enormous numbers of the new-style people would volunteer to defend her, but to the same people the idea of going to Vietnam to fight in an undeclared war for uncertain principles is repugnant and must be opposed.

Those who follow the new life-style have a deep respect for work, but only if they initiate it and understand its utility. In their homes you will find women baking bread in the old manner and men building the furniture they need. Respect for industry, profound respect, and hand trades like carpentry, electrical repair and automotive overhaul are dignified as arts -- the more basic the job, the more acceptable. Many young men with long hair work incredibly hard as welders, truck drivers, day laborers and hospital attendants. Why they avoid the respectable white-collar job which their fathers tried so hard to land. They hold great corporations in contempt.

Problems of the family are discussed endlessly by the new-style people. Many of them, especially girls, at first reject traditional marriage as a pattern of life (although they may accept it later on). Children are treated with special love, as are the pets one invariably finds in the new-style groups. Love -- the capacity to relate to other human beings, and the willingness to make concessions to them -- is one of the noblest ideals of the new group. When marriages do result from long association in their free and easy world, they are apt to be good. As for sex, chastity is never mentioned. If you are attracted to some one, say the new-style people, do something about it, get it out of your system, and then see what permanent values may result. -- James Michener

"Kent State Campus Under Fire" in Reader's Digest, March, 1971

It's difficult to say if the foregoing is the whole truth. We suspect it's quite near it, in any case. Anyone who's raised a couple of teenagers knows that most of it rings true.

What gives us cause for some alarm is this: what are we doing as citizens who foot the bill for public education to equip our children to cope with the new life-style?

Make no mistake about it: some of it is going to last. What part of it will stick only time will tell.

But it would be tragic indeed if we fail to teach our children in such ways that they are able to cope with any new life-style that may eventually prevail and at the same time be able to survive in relative harmony with the old life-style.

And does it not go without saying that our young people learn some of the new life-style in the public schools?

The suit was laid last week in Richland county common pleas court.

Franklin Delano Seppena, 23, Plymouth, arrested by state high patrol Mar. 6 on a charge of drunken driving, pleaded no contest upon arraignment in Huron county common pleas court that day.

He was convicted, fined $200 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and caused to forfeit his operator's license for 30 days.

His car hit the rear of one driven by Kenneth C. Springer, 22, in Route 61 north.

A passenger in the Springer car, Bernice Allen, Willard, was taken to Willard Area hospital by McQuate's ambulance for treatment. She was released.

Reed takes over as county auditor, noting growth 6% pay raise set for school staff

Kenneth W. Reed became Huron county auditor Monday.
He was elected to the office Nov. 3, 1970.
Reed has been chief deputy county auditor since 1939 and acting county auditor for the past four years.

He notes a few of the many changes that have occurred since he began to work in the auditor's office in March, 1939: Huron county tax duplicates have increased from $44,598,820 in 1939 to $179,749,970 in 1970. Total real estate and personal tax collection has increased from $91,821 in 1939 to $7,394,977 in 1970.

Average tax rate in the county has increased from $12.60 for each $1,000 of valuation to $43.80. All millage above 10 mills (10 per $1,000, statutory millage) has been approved by a majority of the voters, and in effect the voters have taxed themselves $33.80 per $1,000.

(There are 19 townships, as there were in 1939, but school districts have declined from 19 to seven in 1970.)
Population of Huron county has increased from 33,700 to 49,387. New legislation enacted by the general assembly and new functions performed by the auditor's office have resulted in quadrupling of work from 1939 to 1971.

Charles R. Walker dies suddenly
Carl R. Walker, 70, Greenwich route 2, died Saturday evening in his home of heart seizure.
He was a retired employee of Akron Standard Mold, Greenwich; a member of the American Legion there, of the Shiloh Masonic lodge and of Adario Methodist church.
Born in southern Ohio June 7, 1900, he is survived by his wife, nee Elsie Dosson, formerly of Plymouth in The Advertiser, and two sisters, Mrs. Fae Chappelier, New Lexington, and Mary. The Rev. Donald Collick, his pastor, conducted services Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. from McQuate Funeral home. Burial was in Adario cemetery.

Brother of Mrs. Mary Hawkins, Plymouth, George E. Ritz, 64, Milan, died of heart seizure Thursday afternoon.

He retired Jan. 1 from the state highway department and previously was employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.
Born in Orrville, he had lived in Milan since 1951. He was a member of Zion Lutheran church, Huron.

His wife, Gertha, three sons, two daughters, 16 grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Neva Christ, Willard, also survive.

The Rev. Thomas Wabber conducted services Monday at 1 p. m. at Milan. Burial was in Milan cemetery.

A new salary schedule according an average six per cent wage increase for certificated and non-certificated employees over the next two years was accepted by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

The new contract climaxed 50 hours of negotiation between the board and Plymouth Education association, the sole bargaining agent recognized for teachers.

The new schedule calls for a base pay of $6,250 for an experienced teacher with a bachelor's degree. This is a boost of $250 over the old rate. It amounts to about four per cent. At the top of the pay scale, the increase is about eight per cent. The holder of a bachelor's degree may advance to a salary of $8,687 after 13 years.

IN OTHER CATEGORIES of certificated employees, these wage scales apply:
For 80 semester hours and more preparation, base pay of $3,000, rising to $7,312 after 12 years.
For 90 semester hours and more of preparation, percentage of the base salary paid to an inexperienced teacher with a bachelor's degree. The employee's salary scale is computed on that basis. In the future, salary negotiations may only turn on two points: whether the base pay of the inexperienced teacher with a bachelor's degree should be adjusted and whether the index factor should be changed.

For the master's degree, base pay of $7,062, rising to $10,312 after 14 years.
Non-certificated employees have been similarly dealt with.

Base pay for secretaries will be $2,375. If full employees is $265.62 a month for inexperienced staff, rising to $437.50 after 12 years. Substitutes will be paid $1.80 an hour. Custodial and maintenance workers will be paid $4,937.50 to start, rising to $5,937.50 after eight years.

After a year employees start at $2,344 and may rise to $2,687 after six years.
Transportation employees start at $2,375, if fulltime, and $1,188, if half-time, and may rise to $2,562 and $1,281, respectively, after two years.
Clerk-treasurer's base pay is $6,000, rising to $7,000 after five years.

Did Jump err in licensing of bondsman?
Did Huron county's ranking Republican err when he helped to issue a license as bail bondsman to a convicted felon?
A Cincinnati newspaper reported last week that Harry V. Jump, Willard, now deputy clerk of the senate, then deputy director of the state insurance department, and his chief, Fred B. Smith, issued on July 17 a bondsman's license to Edgar L. Shroy, a convicted felon, attorney who served a sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary after conviction in a multi-million dollar racketeering case.

Poston said he knows pressure was applied to Jump, who said he had received inquiries about Shroy's application from Rep. Chester Cruze, R-Cincinnati, but denied he was pressured.

Huron county's official population in the 1970 census was 49,587, up 4.8 per cent from the 1960 figure of 47,326, the Bureau of the Census reports.

Spartans oust Big Red, 76-59

St. Peter's delivered a sound beating to Plymouth in the Class A sectional tournament at Malabar High school Friday night.

At one time the Spartans led by 23 points in trailing to an easy 76 to 59 victory.

St. Peter's won because it outshot Plymouth and outrebounded the Big Red.

In two big men, Bill Spognardi and Tom Cross, dominated the boards, notably in the second half.

THE GAME WAS CLOSE for 16 minutes. The Spartans held a lead of three points at halftime, thanks to a Plymouth spurt triggered by Don Foreman, who threw in three successive baskets. But neither Foreman nor the rest of the Plymouth team was worth much after that drive, which brought Plymouth to within two of the Spartans, and how St. Peter's took Plymouth apart in the third period was a sad sight.

Would Plymouth have prospered by applying a press? The Big Red has had more press in its pants than on the court all season and there was no valid reason to suspect that it could present one now. Nevertheless, some Red fans were howling for one.

When a press of sorts was applied, it was too late.

Chris Jackson bagged a shot just after the start of the second half, although Plymouth controlled the tip, as it did at the beginning of each quarter. The Big Red couldn't connect in its drive and Spognardi's shot followed by Cross' free throw gave the Spartans a 34 to 25 lead that Plymouth never could overcome.

At 6:15 of the third period, Plymouth's Jim Curtright banked one off the board to make it 34 to 27. Jackson countered with an arching shot and then Curtright and Brad Ream collaborated on a five-point play that brought the Big Red to within four.

But Tom Lepouttre converted a rebound and the Spartans had reestablished a lead of six that Plymouth never could close.

Early in the fourth period St. Peter's swelled its advantage to 20 points and later to 23.

Mick Frye, son of the resigned Spartan coach, Bob Frye, was the chief scorer for the winners. He bagged 25. Curtright and John Conley, who was only eight of 23 from the field and committed seven errors, had 18 apiece for Plymouth.

The Spartans shot for field goal 61 times, Plymouth 65. St. Peter's missed 12 free throws. Plymouth 28. The Spartans took down 42 rebounds, Plymouth 41. Thirteen turnovers were charged to the winners, 19 to Plymouth.

Potatoes and pasta plenty popular

By AUNT LIZ

From just about everything one picks up to read, one could assume the whole nation is on some kind of diet.

They are all cheating. Statistics (and we are a nation of such things) now show that Americans are eating potatoes and spaghetti like they were going out of style.

The potatoes first: consumption went from 108.4 pounds a year in 1960 to 118.2 in 1969, the last year it was counted.

Another interesting sideline to this gorging is that eating fresh potatoes (the kind you peel yourself) dropped to 64 pounds a person a year, from 85 pounds.

Frozen potatoes took a big jump from 6.6 pounds in 1960 to 24.5 pounds in 1969.

I WOULD GUESS THAT it is the most popular item on the menu of any drive-in or snack bar, which is understandable, since their menus are limited compared to a full-fledged kitchen restaurant.

On the other hand, I am willing to bet that even the restaurants which serve regular, substantial meals probably are serving more French fries than ever before.

Not so long ago I happened into such a restaurant for a cup of coffee just as a junior high school buzz out for lunch hour. About 35 girls dashed into the place. There wasn't a male in the bunch, which seemed strange, because the girls were all attractive.

What they ordered for lunch floored me (my generation gap is showing): French fries and a Pepsi or Coke. Only one girl had a bowl of soup and one a hamburger.

If this is their standard lunch during the school year, you can see who is eating all the potatoes. So maybe there still are dieters.

ADMITTEDLY IT IS much easier to heat up a box of frozen Tesser Tots or something like that than starting from scratch. And I am in full agreement with the mother whose four-year-old son was trying to help her market and brought her a package from the shelf, whereupon she immediately said, "Oh, no, honey, go put it back. You have to cook that!"

If you are not cooking for dozens and dozens, this is really an easy way to fix a tasty dish that you can call your own. It is a rather proven recipe, too, being 990 years old, first published in 1581 in a cookbook by Max Rumpolt called "Ein Newe Kochbuch."

Peel the potatoes, cut in small pieces, boil, drain and dry in a cloth. Put in a baking dish with a little milk and small pieces of cooked bacon. Simmer until it is nice and hot.

Now for the spaghetti: consumption increased 10 per cent from 1969 to 1970. Americans ate 1,542,991,660 pounds of it in various forms.

THIS MOST LIKELY can be traced to the rise in meat prices, since it is an adequate substitute and so many dishes can be prepared that take very little meat and cheaper kinds of it.

It is estimated that each person in the nation ate 7.5 pounds last year, which does not seem like very much - considering there are 365 days to a year and you serve it at least once a week to your family. So the only consolation to this is that some people are eating more than their share and maybe some haven't discovered how really tasty spaghetti can be.

If you are a non-pasta eater, try this and see if you like it.

Cook the amount you need of what is called vermicelli, which is quite fine but has enough body to it, rather than the very finest types. While it is boiling, melt some butter in a sauce pan.

Four it over the pasta and lavishly sprinkle with grated cheese. Mushrooms and bits of left over cooked ham can also be put in the melting butter to make it a terrific meal.
