

Will JAC survive?

Freddies may leave league

Plymouth goes to Loudonville to open its Johnny Applesseed conference campaign tomorrow, underdog by two touch-downs.

The Redbirds were easy conquerors of Northwest last week and have an earlier victory over Hillsdale to their credit. The Loudonville defense has given up only one touchdown in two contests, that to Hillsdale.

The offense has produced 66 points in two outings. What's more, Loudonville is spilling for revenge. Plymouth upset the Redbirds here last season.

If Loudonville throws up any kind of defense matching that shown by Monroeville last week, the Big Red is in for a rough evening.

Its offense had plenty of opportunities during the first half against the Eagles but could not get a drive going. Only the aerial attack produced any yardage.

If John Conley is not ready, or cannot play up to his potential, Plymouth will be hard put to sustain an attack.

Conley received a painful injury at Monroeville, was treated in a Norwalk hospital, and did not play in the second half.

WHAT WAS WRONG AT Monroeville? Admittedly, the Eagle defense played splendidly. But it is also true that Plymouth's offensive line simply did not hit out. It was flat most of the time. It opened few holes and when it did, they closed rapidly.

Loudonville scouted Plymouth thoroughly Friday night. Jack Augenstein and two associates were there to diagram almost every play. They were tight-lipped about what the Redbirds may do tomorrow. Augenstein said, "You've got a good team but we think ours is at least that capable and probably better."

Fans attending the Loudonville game are advised by the state highway patrol to proceed east in Route 603 to Route 30, east in Route 30 to Hayesville exit, then south and east in Route 60 to Loudonville, turning at the traffic signal in Main street, proceeding across the bridge, turning right in Route 39 and proceeding up the hill to the stadium, which lies behind the high school. Game time is 8 p. m.

THE 1971 SEASON OF the Johnny Applesseed conference opens with four games and the possibility, if not the likelihood, this may be its final season as now constituted.

Fredericktown is underdog by 12, expected Thursday an invitation to join the Mid-Ohio league, together with Pleasant to make a 10-school league.

Supt. Kenneth Taylor said at Fredericktown no application has been made to join the Mid-Ohio and "no decision will be made to join another conference before September, 1972."

Mid-Ohio intends to start 1972 school competition at that time.

Discussions last spring among the eight schools comprising the JAC tended to establish a maximum and minimum enrollment for retention of membership in the league. This was aimed at Lexington and Ontario, the largest schools, and possibly at Plymouth, the smallest, although the other schools want to retain Plymouth's membership because, as an official puts it, "We feel we can always be competitive with Plymouth and will always win our share of games."

Half of the cost of pipe to install a water line to the Lonnie Caudill house in Route 61 was paid by the village.

Administrator William Forquer showed village council vouchers paid to Ashland Municipal Supply dating from Jan. 9, 1967, reflecting that the former Board of Public Affairs paid for half of the pipe used to install the water line to the Caudill home.

The bill was in the amount of $645, which Forquer said represented half of the cost of 1,290 feet of pipe at $1,328.78. The bill was paid by the board Jan. 19, 1967. He added the board paid a bill of $121,200 Jan. 26, 1967, for accessories needed for the installation.

The understanding of the council and the board of public affairs at that time was that the village would furnish water to the Caudill home, providing the pipe was paid by him.

The information may be valuable in proving the village's defense in the suit Caudill has lodged because of his water was disconnected when he refused to pay the sewer charge levied on all water users.

At councilmen, Mayor Hugh W. Washburn and the administrator are to appear in Huron county common pleas court Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Councilman Robert A. McKown, member of the finance committee, moved the police department have no overtime unless it is authorized by the mayor of a member of the police committee. The only dissenting vote was that of Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., who said the police chief should assign the working schedules to patrolmen.

McKown also moved that the annual police clothing allowance be paid to each member of the department semi-annually. This will eliminate unnecessary bookkeeping. All members agreed.

Patrolman James Reffett suggested the department should be reimbursed for clothing worn during scuffles while on duty. The council agreed with him and said the mayor's court should cover the expense from its funds.

COUNCILMAN FRANK R. STARTER said he and Councilman Edward O. Ramsey studied the two proposals made to the village to lease sections of the Lagooon site as a source of gravel and determined there is not enough there to make it commercially profitable.

Spilling to fight, he was arrested

Because he resisted arrest by Patrolman Robert Seel, Frank Nestor spent Monday as a patient in Shelby Memorial hospital, where 10 sutures were needed to close a wound he received during the scuffle.

The incident occurred in Bob's Cafe, where Nestor provoked a disturbance among patrons. He will appear in Mayor Hugh W. Washburn's court Oct. 21 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

51 registered to vote here

Fifty-one new registered voters in Plymouth and 45 in Shiloh were recorded Sept. 14 by Richland county board of elections.

Police on trail of three suspects in fire at bridge

The names of three young persons believed to have set fire to the 97-year-old covered bridge south of Rom on Aug. 10 are the subject of common gossip here and throughout the three-township area.

But Richland county sheriff's deputies stoutly refuse to reveal them officially.

They say they have questioned more than 200 persons and have driven as far as Knox, Ky., 31 miles below Louisville, to question suspects.

Deputies say they have talked to a young man and his wife who crossed the bridge at about 2 a. m. on Aug. 10, saw the bridge ablaze, but did not report it for fear "we'd become involved."

Whether a new bridge will be constructed on the site remains moot. The county has no funds available and an effort is being made to obtain federal support in obtaining at least a temporary structure.

What is there can be used by the village, they said. Cather also recommended that when any is removed, it should be taken from the rear of the site to avoid an unsightly appearance from Route 61.

Ramsey said the vehicle check by the police department is two-thirds complete and it will be ready by another meeting.

The administrator said the first employee hired under the Federal Emergency Employment act began work Tuesday morning.

He is Terry H. Wendland, Mansfield, a Marine Corps veteran, who holds a sewer license in Virginia. Under Ohio regulations, however, he must attend the state sessions to obtain an Ohio license.

He also holds a water certificate, which will require the same state requirements here. His salary is $5,280 annually, which comes from federal funds. Forquer said that once Wendland completes the Ohio requirements for the sewer and water licenses, his salary would be increased or would be funded.

Before he went to England in July, Solicitor Joseph F. Dush in writing asked the council not to act against Caudill since Caudill's attorney had notified Dush that legal action might be pending. The termination of Caudill's water service on Sept. 2 was in opposition to the solicitor's advice.

Through his attorney, Henry E. Young, Norwalk, Caudill argues that failure or refusal by his sewer charge should result in a lien against his property and if not paid when due should be collected in the same manner as other municipal corporation taxes.

Richland county Auditor Norman L. Wolfe has consistently refused to accept any certification of such delinquencies for application to an collection from the tax duplicate.

The village notified Caudill by letter on June 21 that he was delinquent in the amount of $164.70 in sewer charges. Caudill admits in his petition that he refused to pay such sewer charges because his premises are not connected to the village's sewer system.

Since such sewer charges constitute a lien against his property "by operation of law and can be collected as other municipal taxes are collected, plaintiff is to this extent a taxpayer of the Village of Plymouth," the petition states.

Caudill asks judgment of $1,000, $500 in compensatory damages and $500 in punitive damages.

Would you believe bathroom with turtles, sea fans in tub?

By AUNT LIZ
So summer has come to an end, and what do we have to show for it all? Not much, really, except for lots of strawberry jam and elderberry jelly and a kitchen which very definitely is a rather purplish blue. It is a lovely shade, but our kitchen was meant to be more green. It will take months to get it cleaned up.

It has been a time of very serious mention. It didn't work, so that is that, which is sad, because we were trying to figure out how we could make a real nice one while everyone else was having egg nog on Christmas eve. We tried freezing mint in water and in a plastic bag. The flavor was all there when they were deshaved but they did look like they had been through a good frost -- dark and limp looking. It was heart-breaking.

During the last few months we somehow acquired more star boarders in our house. One Siamese kitten and one beautiful baby tiger kitten which some horrible person must have tossed out a car window on a back country road, where she was found. Its poor little face was all cup, but after a few days she was like new and really discovered the comforts of soft pillows and comfortable places to sleep.

It is terrible to admit that one is unable to cope with three cats and one well-behaved dog, but that is what happened. It got to be too much. They all greeted me at the back door with their tongues hanging out, expecting dinner immediately. Then whenever I made a move in the house, all four followed me. Since they were not completely house trained, this created problems . . . like on your hands and knees scrubbing where they made a large mistake because they got in the wrong rooms.

If this is the life of the typical housewife, you can guess what we have to say for it. Even having a couple of kids around was easier than all the wildlife.

There has been one bright spot, though. A friend of ours has written a book, and very nicely sent a copy of it. It is beautifully and really humorously written. Read it for yourself. It is called "Invitation to Joy" by Eleanor Searle Whitney. She has been able to look back on her life, which had many joyous moments and many plain heartbreaks, with a confidence which only comes from finding herself and peace.

She has had the chance to see our country from one end to the other, which most do not have. It was a quirk of fate that she came from a small town as the daughter of the local doctor and ended up marrying into one of the nation's richest families. She tells of going with her father in his buggy to treat patients -- and he not only let her help but needed her help -- so as a child she saw more of life than most do. By the time Eleanor was a teenager, she almost could carry on as a full-fledged doctor from watching and listening to him describe it, but the best part was her description of the bathroom in her mother-in-law's cottage on the Whitney estate on Long Island. She may not agree, but I thought it was wonderful.

Until their house was finished and she and her husband moved in, which finally came about when World War II was finished, they set up housekeeping in what had been an art studio. Her mother-in-law, Gertrude Whitney, born a Vanderbilt, is one of our country's outstanding sculptresses. I cannot resist quoting from her book about the bathroom: "Our bathroom was a sea fantasy, entirely dark emerald green with lumpy walls representing waves. The steps down into the large sunken tub were covered with raised figures of crabs and turtles and the sides and bottom of the tub area painted with fish and sea fans. Light under glass in the tub made bathing like an underwater Jules Verne adventure."

Eagles claw Plymouth

Long runs, interception lead to 20 to 0 victory

Monroeville's stout defense led the Eagles to a richly merited 20 to 0 victory over Plymouth Friday night.

The Eagles completely thwarted the Big Red offense and struck for two long-gainer touchdowns in the first period and an electrifying 56-yard run-back of an intercepted pass as time ran out. Monroeville outgained, outblocked, outkicked and outfought Plymouth in this one, the first success Monroeville has ever had over Plymouth.

The Eagles struck the first time after a Red mistake. Tim Christian intercepted Larry Taylor's pass and ran it to the Eagle 22. A 15-yard penalty against the visitors gave Monroeville first down at its 37. Charley Poths hit left tackle for 10, Bob Wilhelm was thrown for a three-yard loss and then Marc Jones belted off right tackle for 56 yards and the first score. He completely out-ran the outmanned Red secondary. Poths fumbled the PAT try and was short. The clock read 5:39.

Slightly more than three minutes later, Monroeville struck again. This time on second down Poths cracked through left tackle, turned in and then wheeled to his left and sped down the west sideline untouched for 46 yards.

Jones added the PATs. PLYMOUTH WAS COMPELLED to play catch-up football from this point but it did no good: the Red bench called every play and its offense simply could not get off a dime. By the end of the half, Plymouth had ball control — 38 plays to 22 — and seven first downs to only five for the Eagles. The visitors had gained 68 yards on the ground and 70 through the air, for a total of 138, only four less than the Eagles had collected entirely on the ground. Monroeville could not connect with a single pass throughout the game.

Neither team produced any fireworks in the third period. Plymouth punted 27 yards to the Eagle 27, where a 15-yard setback put Monroeville in the hole at its 14. Plymouth pushed to the Eagle 16 but on fourth down Ray Hughes' shot off right tackle was short of the required yardage.

Wilhelm intercepted a Taylor pass aimed at Jim Cutright early in the fourth period to interrupt a Red drive. Monroeville drew a red flag and set out from its 29.

IN 18 PLAYS, THE Eagles were knocking on the Red door. At the Plymouth six, a Monroeville fumble trickled into Taylor's hands and Plymouth had stopped the Eagle march.

Time was running out and with less than 50 seconds on the clock Plymouth set out to obtain respect. It did so by going through the air, the only way Plymouth was able to gain on Monroeville all night. Taylor completed two straight, for 12 yards to Bill Van Wagner and for 21 yards to Kelly Clark. On first down, from his 41, Taylor dropped back for one final effort. Time had expired when Bob Ackerman intercepted at the Monroeville 44 and he ran unhampered down the east sideline to paydirt. Wilhelm's boot for the PAT was blocked.

Monroeville richly deserved to win this one. There were many Eagle heroes, but none so important as Jones and Paul Clark, who played a whale of a game on offense. So did Cliff Smith.

Jones did all that was asked of him and more. He is a player of first calibre and is entitled to all his honors.

Fall is Nature's time to plant grass seed!

Why not beef-up your lawn by having a "seed-in"?

Best way to add new life to a skimpy lawn is to plant grass seed right into the existing turf. A dependable choice would be FAMILY which, over the years, has been Scott's best selling brand. This is a blend of bluegrass and fine fescues that does well both in full sun and partial shade.

Article No. 4

Just what has the Plymouth Village Council been doing?

We believe that we have made major improvements in streets and sewers. The second and third phase of the sewer improvement program will proceed more slowly due to assistance by the federal government. The council is expediting this as fast as possible. We are confident that all streets are in better condition now than they have been in for many years. The following is a list of many worth-while improvements accomplished during the past 2 years of our present council.

SEWERS

1. We rebuilt approximately fifteen new catch basins, cleaned all interceptors, and cleaned all catch basins.
2. We have paid off a $40,000 note against the Sewer Fund that was created in 1965.
3. We have received guaranteed government assurances of approximately one million dollars to put in phase 2 and 3 of the Sewer Program.
4. We installed heating equipment in the Sewer Plant to prevent freezing, such as occurred before.

STREETS

1. We resurfaced and chipped nearly every street in Plymouth. We did extensive street repair on 28 miles of streets.
2. We upgraded the parking lot, cleaned it up and removed unnecessary equipment.

3. We obtained $5,000.00 State Issue #1 Funds to improve the traffic light system to meet state specifications, and will complete it as soon as the state gives us the go-ahead signal.
4. We have placed many new traffic control signs around Plymouth.
5. Snow removal and keeping streets free of ice has always been promptly taken care of.

Next week article #5 will cover the 4th of July Disaster storm, the Fire Department and the Police Department.

The Bible Answer To: WHY YOUNG PEOPLE DROP OUT?

One thing that young people are very good at is spotting phonies and fakes. Much of their rebellion feeds on their disenchantment with adults and parents that live a lie. David Wilkerson, in one of his books, tells of a sailor he met who, as soon as he got off his ship, changed into hippie clothes. Mr. Wilkerson asked him "Why" and this is what he said. "My mom and dad used to go to church and work in community affairs, but it was all fake - they didn't care how they acted in private, as long as they looked respectable. They tried to see me that kind of life and it just made me sick. My hippie friends may not be respectable, but at least they're honest. If they're bums, they're honest bums."

Young people look at the seemingly successful middle-aged adults with their new cars and homes and then notice that these same people take pills to relax, more pills to get up and end the day with a pill to sleep. So, youth come to the conclusion why fight your way up the ladder of success just start where the adults end - popping pills. Young people are fed up with the phonies of a money-centered culture that can't bring inner peace. They are proving what Jesus said is true, "... life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."
