

Sectional champions twice in a row!

Harriers win in sectional

Plymouth defended its Class A sectional cross country championship in Hedges park, Tiffin, Saturday morning by setting a new course record and swamping 14 opponents.

The Big Red will join the second place team, Riverdale, and the third place school, Hardin Northern, in the Class A district championships at Ottawa Saturday morning.

Ken Lucas flashed home in front of the pack in 10:15, 11 seconds faster than the record for the course set by Dick LaLong of Hardin Northern last year.

Mike Adams was sixth in 10:39, Ralph Noble 14th in 10:55, Barry Hamilton 17th in 10:57 and Steve Adams 20th in 11:05.

Plymouth scored 58, Riverdale 105, Hardin Northern 111, Bucyke Central 153, Fostoria 2, Wendelin 179, Seneca

East 183, Northwood 189, Bettsville 195, Upper Scioto Valley 245, Monroeville 265, Mohawk 266, Old Fort 276, Hopewell-Landon 297, New London 299 and Ottawa Hills 315.

Mrs. Lawrence seeks R.N. badge

A Steuben woman who was sentenced in 1949 to one to 20 years in the Ohio State reformatory at Marysville in the death of her three-year-old daughter has filed suit in Huron county common pleas court to regain her registered nurse's license.

She is Mrs. Patricia A. Lawrence, 31, whose father, Claude Wheeler, says she has been working as a nurse at Marysville for about a year. She was convicted of manslaughter.

The Voice of The Advertiser - In Huron county -

Huron counties will certainly wish to return the capable Mrs. Swanbeck, the grande dame of the Assembly, to another term. Certainly she's a grandmother. She is also vigorous and at the height of her powers, she has seniority and that means clout. Voters would be foolish to sacrifice it.

In the races for county commissioner, we have heard no convincing argument that either of the incumbents, Arthur F. Herner or Donald Robertson, should be turned out.

We sometimes have wished there were more complete disclosure of what the commissioners did and why they did it, but a careful and detailed investigation has satisfied us that the best interests of the county have always been paramount. Vote for Herner and Robertson.

No office should be the fief of one family unless its candidates are superior. The claptrap advanced by a carpenter, that the Freeman family has held the office of prosecuting attorney too long is just that. The argument alone is worthless unless it is shown that Bernard Freeman has not done a good job. He is no social lion and no publicity hound. He does his job efficiently and quietly and with great honor. He deserves reelection.

Sheriff Borgia is entitled to reelection if for no other reason -- and there are other reasons -- than that his opponent has not shown that he should be replaced.

In the race for treasurer, vote for Mr. Arthur, because of his broad banking and business experience. Mrs. Brown is a pleasant woman and a credit to her community, but unfortunately lacks experience of the quality of her opponent's.

R. Clark Hunter's service as clerk of courts in succession to the late Dana Call has been satisfactory. He merits election in his own right.

Two plots sold in school district

Roy Baird has conveyed 81 acres in Cass township to Mabel Baird, Richland county recorder reports. Michael T. Flynn acquired 75,100 acre in Plymouth township from Carolyn R. Flynn, the recorder reports.

Slover guilty of B & E charge

Walter S. Stover, 23, Plymouth, pleaded guilty in Huron county common pleas court Oct. 16 to a charge of breaking and entering a Willard beauty shop during September. Bond was set at $3,000 cash or $6,000 in property.

Kin of Mrs. Dorion, Mrs. Milliron, 68, dies at Crestline

Sister of Mrs. Dominic J. Dorion, Mrs. Arthur Milliron, 68, Crestline route 2, died in Crestline Memorial hospital Oct. 18 at 6:35 p. m. of a lengthy illness.

Born Mary E. Coon in Mansfield, Ill., she lived most of her life in and near Shelby.

She is also survived by her husband and daughter, Mrs. Berniece Sholays, Mansfield; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Dorothy Dean, Tiro; a brother, William Goin, Crestline; two sisters, Mrs. Roscoe Reynolds, in Florida, and Stella, Toledo; three grandchildren, four step-grandchildren and three step-great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Robert Whitcomb conducted services in Shelby Friday at 10 a. m. Burial was in Crawford County Memorial Gardens.

Ross Sourwine, long villager, succumbs at 82

Ross A. Sourwine, 82, 26 Trux street, a retired metal player in the old Shelby Cycle Co., died Sunday in Shelby Memorial hospital of a lengthy illness.

Born July 14, 1890, in Greenwich, he lived here his whole life. A veteran of World War I service in the Army, he was a member of First Evangelical Lutheran church. He is survived by his wife, Rhoda; two daughters, Dorothy, now Mrs. Wallace H. Redden, Plymouth, and Mrs. Evelyn Sims, Mansfield; a son, Eldon, Akron; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

His pastor, the Rev. Ronald P. Graham, conducted services Tuesday at 11 a. m. from McQuate funeral home, Sunday in Greenview cemetery.

He was the owner of the water.

Philip Willett, once villager, dies at Newark

Formerly of Plymouth, Philip S. Willett, 75, died Oct. 10 in Newark.

He was ill a long time. He is survived by two daughters, Mary Alice and Thelma; two sisters, Florence, Canton, and Mrs. Theodore A. Wagner, Brooklyn, N. Y., and a brother, A. Edward, Sunnyside, Cal.

Burial was in Welsh cemetery near Newark.

EPA Chief Tells of Checks

No Hazard in Water, Ohioans Told

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohioans were told yesterday there is no need for concern about a 1971 federal report showing 94% of the state's water supplies were below public health drinking standards.

Dr. Ira Whitman, chief of the state's new Environmental Protection Agency, said checks since that time by the state—while fluctuating—have shown no health hazard exists at this time.

But Whitman cautioned

there is a chance of future danger if improvements are not made.

Whitman, EPA assurance that the EPA will have the additional funds and staff called for in the report.

"We're going to lick the problem," he said. The federal EPA report, which Whitman said Ohio requested, said 67 of Ohio's community water supplies failed to meet bacterial sampling standards "two or more months" in 1971.

BUT THE OHIO EPA director said the State Health Department has run periodic checks since that time which showed the bacteria count would have to get "much worse" to present a real danger. Whitman has been serving as deputy health director in charge of environmental programs.

The federal report said data were unavailable for 19% of the water supplies in Ohio. Whitman said the report involved mostly rural and urban supplies, and also listed many private water supplies which are under jurisdiction of city and local governments.

THE FEDERAL EPA said Ohio needs to spend a minimum of $600,000 a year for the state adequately to protect water supplies, and that it also should increase the size of its staff in that area.

Whitman did not confirm a figure of $600,000, but he said "with the advent of the EPA, we will have funds, ability, and staff to survey the water systems in Ohio properly."

IN ADDITION, Whitman

any provision for funds in Phase III of the sewer project to improve the existing interceptors. He said the main lift station in Route 61 needs renovation.

He said that if the screens and pit are regularly cleaned, there is no great a problem in maintenance. He was told to investigate the use of a private company to contract for the cleaning and also to inquire how much a pump would cost to keep the pits cleaned out. Because they had not been cleaned over a long period of time, he urged the work done and the charge was quite high. Jacobs suggested a compressor and suit be furnished employees to protect them while working the lift station.

Ambergue reported the sewer lagoons and the village water supply have been tested and meet all standards. He inquired if there is

The lagoons have not been cleaned since they were constructed. Ambergue said this should be done every three years or so.

Ambergue also suggested a charge for utilities be made against each separate city of the village, so that records may be kept accurately. Ramsey said the idea "is silly" since it all comes out of the same place. Other councilmen agreed that records should be kept so the village knows how much water and electricity are consumed.

The council passed a motion suggested by the mayor to support the village's three renewal levies and that of the school district.

She also suggested the please see page 6

Who's right?

"It's a mystery to me," said Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock last week, "nobody at any time has notified the village, so long as I have had any knowledge of it, that our water supply is not pure. We're known for some time that the question of its adequacy often arises, but there never has been any question of its purity."

One report issued by a federal agency said Plymouth and North Fairfield water is bacteria-laden to the point where it won't pass federal inspection. Reports regularly filed with the state have shown the water purity to be well above minimum standards.

North Fairfield's mayor also complains of "the left hand not knowing what the right hand is doing."

Both mayors question the practice of broad-siding a community before it is warned of its please see page 10

EPA: Two Area Towns' Water Bad

Plymouth, North Fairfield Water Bacteria Said High

Following a 12-month check of 150 Ohio community water supplies, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) says 36 communities—including North Fairfield and Plymouth villages—failed to meet public health water drinking standards.

"FAILURE TO MEET the bacterial standards indicates the drinking water is a potential carrier of infectious disease," according to a report released Thursday. "Such a situation is a serious potential health hazard and calls for prompt corrective action."

Although the water samplings were taken more than one year ago, Plymouth Village Administrator Kenneth Ambergue said he was not aware the village's drinking water supply had failed to meet federal standards.

The Plymouth official said he was not prepared to take action on the water issue. "I can't do anything about it until I know what the problem is," Ambergue commented.

In contrast, North Fairfield water department superintendent Harley Reed said his village officials were informed last July of the poor quality water.

said Reed. "It's not that ours (manganese content) is going up, it's just that the standards are going down."

Despite notification several months ago about the water problem, Reed said the EPA has offered no suggestions to correct the problem.

"UNTIL THEY CONTACT us, I don't know what to do," he commented. "I don't have any idea how it can be corrected, but I don't think it can without a filtration bed."

The federal EPA study was made at the request of Dr. John W. Cashman, director of the Ohio Department of Health.

Of the 812 water community supplies, only 150 were used in the study because no data was available on 19 per cent, and the remainder failed to do adequate bacterial sampling.

In 1971, Ohio spent $210,000 for its protection program. The report recommended a minimum annual budget of $600,000.

"Staff limitations, particularly in district offices, have prevented the Ohio Department of Health's water supply unit from fulfilling its responsibilities," the study said.

The report also charged the state Department of Health has been reluctant to issue orders for correcting water supply deficiencies.

"Primary reason for this appears to be the lack of specific regulations and design—and water quality required—and lack of well oriented legal aid and assistance in preparing cases for action," the report said.

Dr. Ira L. Whitman, director of the new Ohio EPA, said protection of drinking water will be of top priority for his agency.

"We are grateful to the U.S. EPA for evaluating the Ohio water supply program," he said. "With planned staff expansion, we will be able to take necessary action to better assure safety of our water supply."

The study also found that "over 50 per cent of the trailer parks, camps, schools and swimming pool sanitation programs have not been evaluated since 1968. St. Paris, Williamsburg, Lockland, Greenview, London, Trenton and New Carlisle.

Count Dracula nailed headpieces to heads of impolite guests

By AUNT LIZ
 Since this is the season of spooks, the story of the spookiest of all is plain timely.
 Just about everyone has seen on the late, late show an old movie about Dracula. In its day it was down right terrifying. I can remember, when I was about eight or nine, seeing it on the stage. It was really horrifying and for months I was almost afraid to go to sleep.
 The original story of Count Dracula was written by Bram Stoker about 1888. Since then it has been republished and even today sells about 50,000 copies in paperback a year, which makes it a real classic of all the thriller type novels.
 Two Boston college professors have been delving into how Stoker came to write his book. The setting is in central Rumania, where Stoker never set foot. But somehow he managed to portray the atmosphere of the place completely. They have now discovered through careful research that he was an Hungarian scholar of the University of Budapest, Arminius Vambery, who told him about Vlad Tepes, who lived in the 1400's. His nickname was Dracula, son of the local dragon. As a local ruler, he really ruled. There is a story that at one time some visiting dignitaries from another country said it was not their custom to remove their headpieces, so he promptly had them nailed right to their heads.

 A really evil man governing in a land filled with old legends of vampires that sucked blood of living people so they could carry on their nightly forays made him into a legend, long forgotten until the young novelist came along. The two researchers from Boston have discovered the castle that friend Dracula ruled from. It is perched high on a mountain and was not too easy to get to at the time. Now it is being developed into a tourist attraction by the Rumanians.
 No doubt, by next year there will be advertisements for a real Hallowe'en tour to the place. THE INGENUITY OF man is so amazing. Nothing is ever left as it is, it simply becomes another place to visit.
 The weather getting brisker and the holidays are just ahead, putting just about everyone in a festive mood. Just consider this recipe for a family gathering or a buffet for friends.
 It is for a large ham that will serve a great many. Start with about 10 pounds of ham. Make deep slashes here and there.
 Then mix a cup and a half of bread crumbs with a teaspoon of cinnamon, a half teaspoon of nutmeg, a fourth of a teaspoon of cloves and three-fourths of a cup of pistachio nuts. Salted or not, it makes no difference. In another bowl, mix two thirds of a cup of seedless raisins with six dried, pitted prunes and four dates, all cup up in some port -- just to cover.

 Mix the two well, then stuff the mixture into the slashes in the ham, way in. Rub the ham with a mixture of brown sugar with cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Add some port or sherry to the pan, cover well and bake at 350 for about two and a half hours, basting as you go along.
 And for those lucky people who have venison to cook, Cumberland sauce should be made for it. So far as I know, this is an old recipe going back to the Colonial period, but I am quite sure that on the frontier some of the ingredients were impossible to get.
 Mix a third of a cup of orange juice and redcurrant jelly with three tablespoons of lemon juice. Cook for a few minutes until the jelly is about melted. Then add, while beating quite vigorously, a teaspoon and a half of Dijon mustard and three cups of port. Then add some very thin strips of lemon and orange rind and let it all stand overnight, but do not refrigerate.
 This is the civilization's answer of how to take the wild taste away, a real refinement since no one hunting deer back in the 1790s or so ever saw an orange or a lemon. Let us face facts, the good old days were not so tasty as they are today. Granted we are eating faked-up foods and staying alive on new medications, but we are far better off and enjoying it more.

Give blood to others. As you would have them give them you and yours.

Steven Courtright, Miss Miller marry in church rite here

Steven Courtright took Miss Ariene Miller as his bride in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in a ceremony performed by the Rev. George Koerber. She is the daughter of the Robert W. Millers, Willard, and is a beautician in Nancy's Beauty Salon.
 He is a son of the Marvin Courtright, 75 North street, a 1967 graduate of Plymouth High school employed by Plymouth Electric, Inc.
 Mrs. Vance C. Hoffman, Jr., was organist. Autumnal flowers decorated the altar.
 The bride was attired in a full-length white crepe fashioned with small stand-up collar outlined with gold and white ribbon, leg-of-mutton sleeves and wide ruffle at the hem. Her husband was of starched lace, front which fell a bouffant, veiling of shoulder length. She wore a gold bracelet, an heirloom belonging to her mother and she carried autumnal colored chrysanthemums and yellow rosebuds.

 Miss Mary Katherine Shirey, New Haven, maid of honor, was similarly attired, save in yellow. She wore a yellow ribbon in her hair. She carried autumnal colored chrysanthemums in a nosegay.
 David Courtright was his brother's best man.
 Daniel Courtright ushered.
 Mrs. Miller watched from a front pew in a brown knit with a silk screen sleeveless coat. She wore a corsage of colored chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Courtright was attired in a brown crepe with white collar and cuffs. She also wore chrysanthemums.
 The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Lanning, North Olmsted, wore aquamarine.

After a honeymoon in Nassau, Bermuda, they will reside at 171 1/2 West Broadway.
 The Millers will receive well-wishers of the couple at their home at 717 Ash street, Willard, on Nov. 5.

Vote FOR the 4/10-mill levy renewal for the mentally retarded
 Huron County Council for Retarded, Eugene Fast, New London, President

WHY DID THE RICHLAND COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION ENDORSE GEORGE SAUTER?
 For the first time, the Richland County Bar Association has endorsed a candidate for public office. This was no popularity contest -- the members of the Bar Association could have endorsed both candidates for Probate Judge -- or they could have reached a decision not to endorse either one. The Attorneys in Richland County voted by secret ballot on the two candidates, evaluating them on many points, including integrity, moral courage, legal ability and experience. Because George Sauter achieved over an 80% ranking from his fellow attorneys, he alone qualified for this important endorsement.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU AS A VOTER?
 You do not have to take the word of the Bar Association. If you are a conscientious voter and believe the judgment of our Probate Court is an extremely important position, you'll want to get as many facts as possible about both candidates. We hope you do. If the men who work with the law and the courts daily have seen fit to give George Sauter this important endorsement, it should give you some needed background and added confidence to reach an intelligent decision on November 7th.

An active law practice and extensive court experience should be a prerequisite for any candidate for a judgeship. Since graduation from law school, George Sauter has spent more than 20 years building a successful law practice, including an excellent record in trial and appellate courts. Only George Sauter has the background, knowledge, experience and qualifications that place him in the rightful position to move into judgeship. Say "yes" to George Sauter on November 7th.

Floor pass defense costs two TDs at Lexington

Minutemen romp to 24 to 0 conference victory

Plymouth's airumbrella leaks. So badly, in fact, that Tony Dellanides threw 149 yards of passes through it at Lexington Saturday afternoon to lead the Minutemen to a 24 to 0 conquest of Plymouth in a Johnny Appleseed conference game.

Save for the first period, Plymouth never was a factor.

Lexington got on the scoreboard with 4:17 left in the first half, after each side had battled to a scoreless first period.

Indeed, Plymouth put on its best offensive show of the afternoon midway in the first quarter, taking possession at its 20 after a touchback and driving to the Lexington 26 in 13 plays before running out of downs.

Two passes accounted for 21 of the 54 yards. A POOR PUNT, COMING off a snap that trickled on the turf and made into the teeth of a biting wind, carried only 25 yards to the Red 25 and set up the first Lexington score.

Yogi Durbin got home for the final yard after he had contributed a 12-yarder off right tackle.

Lexington required only six plays to negotiate the distance to the end zone. Gregg Ammons, a splendid young placekicker, booted the first of three extra points.

Lexington was to score again in the first half again in the first half on a freak play that got off after time had expired and was the result of a mental lapse by the Red pass defense.

Plymouth had penetrated to the Lexington 22 when, on third down, Kim Carter's pass was intercepted by the Minutemen set off pay dirt. From the Lexington 40, Dellanides threw six straight passes.

Plymouth did not mount a pass rush against any of them and Dellanides, who is only a fair passer, had plenty of time to unload.

Even so, on fourth down, his pass was incomplete and Plymouth took over at its 55.

Jeff Wentz intercepted Carter's pass at the 50. A pass interference call against Ron Foreman on the last play of the half gave the Minutemen a life, since another play must be run if the defense is guilty of an infraction.

Everybody in the park knew Dellanides intended to throw. And throw he did. Straight toward Wentz at the goal line.

Mike Hamman had a clear shot at interception but elected to bat the ball instead. When he did so, it caromed into Wentz's arms and he fell over the goal line.

Ammon's place kick was anti-climactic.

EVERYBODY DID ABSOLUTELY NOTHING in the last half.

Indeed, its offensive line, a poor thing all season, simply could not do much with the inspired Lexington defense.

The visitors gained only 21 yards on the ground and 44 yards in the air throughout the second half.

After Hughes' pass was intercepted by Ammons late in the third period, Lexington set off from its 20. Durbin tickled 26 yards off right tackle and Scott Coulter, the principal Lexington ball carrier this gloomy afternoon, and Durbin collaborated in fetching the Minutemen to the Plymouth 13.

After two passes to the end zone were incomplete, Ammons set up at his 20 and split the goal posts.

THE MINUTEMEN weren't finished. Early in the final period, they took a punt at their 40 and got an 11-yard run-back.

From the Red 49, Lexington moved 40 yards in five plays, the last one a throw from Dellanides to Rick Compton that covered 11 yards. Compton's 14-yard shot through left tackle set this one up.

Ammons' kick was a gain good.

Plymouth had its second golden opportunity to score late in the game, having advanced from its 40. A 35-yard pass from Carter to Hamman off the shotgun formation contributed to the drive, which brought the Big Red to the shadow of the Lexington goal posts. But with fourth down at the six, Carter's throw to Hamman was dropped.

Lexington simply ran out the clock.

This may have been the Big Red's last chance to win one this year, because it's all uphill and icy from now on.

Mayor asks council --

council consider a burning ban, which she said may be pushed by the state, which will set the penalties, and would be collected in outside courts.

The council showed its disapproval of a bill sent by Urban Livengood, Jr., for the first plan he made for the Square under lease 1 funds. The mayor pointed out that his new plan came up with less parking space than a previous one and he knew that was the main problem. He sent a bill for $1,239 for a plan which the council scrapped and is now preparing another. Inquiry is to be made to see if the village has a signed contract for his services.

When Councilman Edward O. Ramsey complained about the cost of running the village, the mayor pointed out that for the first nine months of this year, the police department has cost roughly $7,700 more than in 1971 for the same period of time, but the salary of Police Chief Robert L. Meiser was paid although he was on sick leave and had four weeks' vacation, which accounted for five months of his being paid and not working. She also pointed out that all members of the police department are getting more money this year than last and that over $600 was paid on the radar gun, a bill carried over from 1971.

Lutherans to mark Reformation Sunday

First Evangelical Lutheran church will observe Sunday the 455th anniversary of the Protestant reformation.

The 1:30 a. m. Reformation Sunday service will begin with a pipe organ arrangement of Martin Luther's "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," played as a prelude by Mrs. Charles Ness, organist. A professional will begin with the processional hymn, "All Hail The Power of Jesus's name!" It will include both the senior choir and junior choir and these soloists and crucifer: Gregory Ryan, crucifer;

William Burkett and Duane Anderson, torch bearers; Clarence Vermillion, flag bearer; Michael Dick, book bearer.

During the service there will be a gospel procession, when the crucifer, torch bearers, book bearer, and the pastor proceed from the sanctuary into the nave, among the people, symbolic of the good news being brought to God's people.

When the pastor announces the holy gospel, the congregation rises in reverence for Christ, and hear His gospel read by the pastor.

The senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Ronald F. Graham, will sing the anthem "My Faith, It Is An Oaken Staff," accompanied by Mrs. Neas.

Junior choir, also under the direction of Mrs. Graham, will sing the anthem "Amazing Grace," accompanied by Mrs. James C. Root.

Service will be chanted by both the pastor and the congregation.

Junior choir will rehearse today after school, senior choir at 7:30 p.m. Finance committee will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Protection...

We once had a subscriber who had never lived in the town, did not know anyone in the town and had only been in the town several times in his life. He was interested in our town because an aunt had died and left him her home. He wanted to receive the paper to read the legal notices so that he could comply when his property was involved.

Yet some people living in the community completely ignore the only legal source of information on laws, which affect their lives, their pocketbook, their actions, and literally change their life in some respects from the cradle to the grave. This newspaper is the only legal source you have for obtaining that legal information which you can use to protect yourself.

State laws may be enforced by local police but an ordinance establishing a new village law cannot be enforced unless that ordinance has been published twice in this newspaper. A new tax levy or a renewal tax levy may not be placed on the ballot for your vote unless the amount of the tax, the length on time of enforcement and the use of the tax money are published in this newspaper. A township zoning ordinance or a village zoning ordinance cannot legally be enforced unless that complete ordinance, including a map, have been published in this paper. Often legal notice of hearings and public meetings must be published in this paper before actions at those meetings are legal. The village, township and school district are all required by law to publish their notices in this newspaper.

A newspaper must comply with numerous restrictions set forth in the Ohio Revised Code before it can meet the requirements for legal publications. For example a newspaper must publish editorials or it does not meet the requirements defining a newspaper and cannot be permitted to print legal notices. Even the charges to be made for publication are set by the State of Ohio.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse. That's why you should protect your interests by studying the legal notices which appear in this newspaper—they affect your life.

Parade set for goblins Tuesday night

Plymouth Community club received a $10 contribution last week from Sheriff John Borgia, Huron county, for the annual Halloween parade to begin Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. in the Square.

Prizes will be given in groups beginning with pre-schoolers through adults. Clider and doughnuts will be served. Donald Vanderpool, Willford and Harrie Postema and John Pazzini are the Community club members planning the event.

Anyone wishing to take the emergency victim care course Wednesdays at 7 p. m. in the Plymouth Fire department may join the class now. It is open to anyone even though he does not wish to join the Plymouth rescue squad.

Robert Carrett has further details. Deadline for entries in the arts and crafts show to benefit Willard Area hospital Nov. 4 must be in place in Willard Junior High school between 6 and 9 p. m. Nov. 3. The show will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

A small percentage of cost of items sold and rental of space will be used for the cardiac-intensive care unit, a project of the Newcomers club of Willard.

Among items for sale will be original paintings, hooked rugs, knitted and crocheted items, holiday decorations and gourmet foods.

Huron county sheriff showed "The Welcome Stranger" to first, second and third graders here Monday.

Michael Stevens escaped and 9 p. m. Saturday morning when his car went out of control north of Shiloh and into a ditch.

He was headed north in Shiloh-Norwalk road. The mishap is under investigation by the Richland county sheriff's department.

Police Chief and Mrs. Robert L. Meiser and Mrs. Alan Heydinger, New Washington, spent Sunday with the Thomas Meisers, Westerville, and watched their 12-year-old grandson, Robert, play in a football game to which he contributed two touchdowns.

His children, Eldon G., Plymouth, and Evelyn, now Mrs. William Buzzard, are heirs under the will of Omer G. Burkett, former councilman and trustee of Mary Fane park. Value of the estate is estimated at $21,000.

pending action. Whenever we have failed to meet state standards in matters of sewer control and such, Mrs. Faddock said, "the proper authority notifies us in accordance with due process guaranteed by the federal and state constitutions, and we take steps either to show them where they're wrong or to comply with the order to avoid punitive action. I resent, and I think every resident of Plymouth resents, such untoward action without any warning of any kind and I have taken this matter up with the federal government to see if we can rectify matters."

In the meantime, the village plans no action until one agency or the other issues a firm order.

Mrs. Veronda Bolen was admitted to Willard Area hospital Friday.

Mrs. Ruth Owens was taken from the home of Warren Barnett, Walnut street, to Willard Area hospital Monday morning by McQuate's ambulance.

The ambulance took Mrs. Alfred Parkinson, Jr., to the same hospital in the afternoon. Mrs. Gilbert Waddles was admitted to Willard Area hospital Sunday for tests.

Also admitted to Willard Area hospital over the weekend were Mrs. Marie Neeley and Mrs. Dakota Ayne.

Sunshine's Wholesale Tire Co.

This large store has 8,960 square feet of floor space and will permit us to buy tires by the truckloads, which means that we are able to sell tires at WHOLESALE PRICES -- and we will do just that!

First big load is pulling in here!

FUN! EXCITEMENT! At our opening week beginning November 1st! Win this beautiful porker (and we show front and rear views), still on foot, just by guessing its weight! Yes, the closest guess to its weight will win it!

All of this will be cut and sliced to your specifications and delivered to your freezer -- IF you are closest to the correct weight! Put your estimate in from November 1st to November 4th.

A beautiful 8,960 square feet!

One of the biggest buildings in this area open for sales!
We are fortunate to have as the manager of this store my brother, Clester Inmon. Come on down and rock the prices down!

Cles says, "Let Sunshines No. 1 and No. 2 sell you a car and let me sell you tires. Mentioning cars, any car with a Sunshine sticker on it will get you a GUARANTEED DISCOUNT from already low wholesale prices -- GUARANTEED! You won't have to go to Norwalk or Mansfield any more -- not at our prices!"
