

Asks Richland county to be declared disaster area

Adverse weather conditions, resulting in inability of farmers to harvest corn and soy bean crops, have prompted Agricultural Conservation Service authorities to ask that Richland county be declared a disaster area.

County Agent Chester McGrew said a written report will be sent to the state ASC office with the request, so that farmers can obtain low interest loans to pay debts for the year.

"It's too wet to get into the fields," McGrew said. "And soy beans and corn have already begun to mold and mildew and in many cases won't be worth anything if they are harvested."

McGrew's report, prepared in consultation with county ASC leaders, shows only 10 per cent of the spring wheat crop has been planted, only 50 per cent of the ensilage crop was harvested and only five per cent of the corn crop is in. Quality of the ensilage was only fair, that of corn poor to poor.

"ONLY 20 PER CENT OF THE soybean crop has been combined. Its quality is also fair to poor.

A poor hay crop was noted in 1972. About 55 per cent was harvested.

Only five per cent of timothy and clover seed was harvested.

McGrew said silos are low and not enough corn is available to feed farmers over. If it can be harvested, he said,

"a lot of artificial air will be required to dry it out."

Because economic forced farmers into heavier equipment, the problem of getting into soft fields is magnified, McGrew said.

HE HELD OUT SLIGHT hope.

"If we get a good stiff freeze, the molding corn and beans will be arrested. This would give farmers hard standing in the fields, to operate picker-shellers and such. But if there is a heavy snow, the corn stalks may be bowed by the weight and therefore cannot be harvested."

McGrew estimates there are 25,000 acres of corn and beans will be arrested. This would give farmers hard standing in the fields, to operate picker-shellers and such. But if there is a heavy snow, the corn stalks may be bowed by the weight and therefore cannot be harvested."

$30 emergency call rate set for ambulance service

Amulance rates for village residents at $25 for invalid calls, $30 for emergency red light calls and $35 for first responding oxygen were set Tuesday night by village council in special session.

The solicitor was told to issue an ordinance covering the rates.

Trustees of Plymouth township were invited to meet with the council at its next regular meeting, Nov. 21.

For the time being, ambulance calls will be answered on the present Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock said.

Councilman James L. Jacobs, Sr., said that if this system does not work out, it can be changed later. A dispatcher has been considered, but the cost to the village is more than can be afforded.

Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock pointed out almost everyone taking the emergency care course is already connected to the fire telephone system and there is room to connect the several more who are not.

The council agreed the best belted steel tires should be purchased for the ambulance at a cost of not more than $50 a tire.

Councilman Edward O. Ramsey is to have the ambulance completely checked so that it will be in perfect running order when the service begins.

Jacobs said he has the names of three willing and capable citizens to serve on a board of public affairs.

Councilmen Donald E. Akers and Ramsey said they do not think reforming the board is the answer.

to the village's problem, even though a fourth administrator has left.

Councilmen Toy Patton and Frank Garber were in favor of changing the committee assignments so that each councilman has only one committee he alone is responsible for. Garber said each councilman should "stick to his own and not interfere with the others."

For many years each councilman has been assigned to two committees. The mayor made these assignments, which are in keeping with the present committee assignments: Ramsey, sewers; Hubert W. Akers, streets; Jacobs, fire; Donald E. Akers, finance; Patton, electrical, and Garber, water.

This will leave the park and the cemetery without a committee member, but the mayor said each has its own board of trustees and can take care of its own problems.

No expenditures of funds are to be made by any department without the approval of Clerk Delores Baker or the mayor.

The council agreed that some kind of supervision is needed in the overall running of the village. Donald Akers said the councilmen do not have the time to do this on a daily basis, so an attempt is to be made to find some kind of a supervisor.

Jacobs announced the Fate-Roach-Hoot Co. has given two storage batteries to the fire department.

This is another of the company's many gifts over several years.

Mrs. Butler dies in crash in Virginia

Mrs. Nadine Shambaugh Butler, wife of Shiloh's only physician, was killed Tuesday at 3:50 p. m. near Meredithville, Va.

Dr. Charles O. Butler, driver of the sedan, was injured. He was admitted to a nearby hospital with head lacerations.

Virginia state police said Dr. Butler was driving in interstate traffic about 3 miles south of Meredithville when he sought to overtake another vehicle. As he steered back into the right hand lane after doing so, he collided with the rear of a tractor-trailer rig. The impact spun his sedan around.

A civic leader throughout her residence in Shiloh, Mrs. Butler was a past president of Angelus Chapter, OES, and a past member of Shiloh Town & Country Garden club. She is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Richard Piers, of Lynchburg Falls, and son, John, Mansfield. There are three grandchildren.

She was a communicant of Sts. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic church, Atrica.

Her husband, a daughter, Mary Jane, now Mrs. C. Richard Babcock, Norwalk; a son, James E. Bellevue; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren survive.

The Rev. Francis McCarthy was celebrant of the funeral mass from the church Friday at 10:30 a. m. Burial was at St. Sebastian's cemetery, Bismark.

He joined the College of Marietta staff in 1968 and was assigned as head track coach, assistant football coach (he dealt with the defensive secondary of the Pioneers) and associate professor of physical education.

It is understood that plans to develop the remainder of the slightly more than eight acres sold to the bank will be announced next month.

Enderbys buy Caywood house

Mayor's glad court abolished but foresees more cost, bother

Delighted that a U. S. Supreme Court decision eliminates mayors' courts as such, Plymouth Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock is nevertheless concerned that the alternative system will cost us a lot more money.

Paddock said Nov. 14 the court decision "has to be eminently right, maybe not for the reasons that were given in Mr. Justice Brennan's majority opinion, but certainly for good reasons. No person should be willing to be policed by one not trained in the law and no person not trained in the law should presume to be able to give another a completely free pass."

But the cost of doing otherwise will be high for villages in which there is no county jurisdiction.

"At Norwalk," she said, "abolition of the mayor's court merely means that the city has to send its police officers to another building to appear as witnesses, and they can be summoned quickly in an emergency. In Plymouth, cases will have to be laid either in the Shelby Municipal court or the county court at Willard. An accused has the right to face and accuse the police officer must be at hand if the court wishes his testimony. To send that officer to either Willard or Norwalk is a waste of money. It is without police protection for that period or to assign a substitute. Either way, it will cost the village more."

Persons accused and arrested before either court are up to be inconvenienced, she believes.

"So far as I know, neither court sits at night, whereas the village's mayor's court always sits at night. This means that accused persons will lose pay to appear in court."

Persons who are or believe themselves to be innocent may choose to pay the "waiver" rather than lose time of work to contest the case. This is not good aliphed testimony.

The new system, which requires implementation by the General Assembly, will probably result in a more efficient police force, the mayor believes.

"Some mayors, and I may have been guilty of this, may have tended to accept aliphed testimony or incomplete documentation of the alleged offense because they knew and respected the police officer involved. It isn't likely to be that way with the court at Shelby or Willard, presided over by a lawyer. Arresting officers will need to pay special attention to the documentation of the offense and will need to articulate in presenting the evidence in order to obtain a conviction. It will be a test of the department's training to note the number of non-convictions.

"I don't think the main burden of Justice Brennan's majority opinion, occurred in by six other justices, is very valid."

"I can't speak for other mayors, but when I conducted my court, I had absolutely no regard for the fact that the maximum fine would enrich our treasury. I tried to make the punishment fit the crime and I am sure that the courts will continue to do so."

Mrs. Paddock said she thinks the new media have done a disservice to the public by not reporting "the full text of the opinion on the day it was released, in which leaves thousands of people hanging, wondering where they stand."

And until she sees that opinion, she says, and/or until the state attorney general or the General Assembly issues a clear-cut ruling, she intends to operate the mayor's court as before, guaranteeing any who question its constitutionality the continuance necessary to do so.

Banner notes banner quarter

Net income of Banner Industries, Inc., parent firm of Fate-Roach-Hoot Co., for the first quarter ended Sept. 30 increased over 30 per cent from year-ago results, the company reports.

The Cleveland-based moor freight company, supplier to the aircraft parts aftermarket, and manufacturer of water and waste pollution control products, production process systems and material handling equipment, reported net income totaling $589,734, compared with $440,462 for the same period.

On a per share basis, earnings for the first three months this year amounted to 13 cents compared to 10 cents in the comparable period last year.

Net sales and revenues for the three months ending Sept. 30 were $1,179,700, an increase of 29 per cent over the $1,463,789 of the first quarter last year.

Samuel S. Krasney, chairman and chief executive officer, said the prospect for the year in progress is good. He said based on the first quarter's results and the immediate outlook, the company looks to better the record revenues and earnings for the first quarter can be expected to be the company's least productive terms of sales and earnings for the current fiscal year.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1972, Banner earned $2,307,346, or 50 cents a share, on revenues of $68,542,503.

Mr. Krasney said that the gains for the three months ended Sept. 30 reflected both internal growth and the acquisitions completed after the first quarter of last year.

He said major contributions to the increase in sales came from the company's aircraft parts aftermarket and water pollution control products, which could account for over 20 per cent of the current year's sales.

Banner acquired Thompson Aircraft Tire Corp., a leading supplier of retreaded and new aircraft tires, this past April. It and the company's Banner Aircraft International, a supplier of aircraft replacement parts, serve commercial airlines as well as military aircraft needs. Banner also purchased Golden Anderson Value Specialty Company, Inc., at the beginning of the second quarter.

Anderson was combined with Banner's Patterson-Ludlow division and is engaged in marketing components for water and waste pollution control systems.

Mr. Krasney said the company recently reached an agreement in principle with Chase Manhattan Bank and two other participating banks for a revolving line of credit of up to $4,200,000 for its Commercial Motor Freight subsidiary.

Favorite dish of Milan, Italy, touted as good provender

By AUNT LIZ
There is nothing like looking for a bit of paper and going through all the cookbooks you own. Since I am getting Thanksgiving time, I was hunting for the recipe that I remembered about 1936 or 1937 for a very special turkey. It took something like two weeks of scoting around the countryside to gather all the ingredients, but we won. It was cooked, and was very delicious, even though it was an extremely oddball recipe. The guy who devised it, a well-known writer, took novelist back in the 1940's, did it as an experiment in between marlinets, and he really came back with a winner. Maybe by next week, I will find it.

But I did find all sorts of bits of papers with recipes scratched on them which I had forgotten we had. This is exactly the way one is written. . . 2 pkg. saffron, little onion, little beef extract broth - rice. Brown rice avec poco marg. & saffron. Let sit 20 min. - 1 hr. Then finish in acqua bolito (broth in it). Fortunately I can still translate it, and am already to try it again. The big catch is that saffron is about impossible to buy, but last week I did find some. In fact, I had already written my own daughter-in-law to look for it in the nice large store she shops in, which has a complete row devoted to strange and exotic things that the foreign students at Southern Illinois eat. Should you like to know where I found it locally, I will tell you.

ACTUALLY THIS IS A recipe for a rice dish made famous by the city of Milan in Italy. They have been eating it with great regularity now for about 400 years, so this is quite a proven recipe. You must use real, long grain rice, however, not the quick kind. Start with two cups of it, which you saute for five minutes or so in three tablespoons of butter in which a finely chopped onion has been cooked until it is yellowish. Stir it together, and watch as it cooks.

In another pan, dissolve about eight threads of saffron (that is the way it comes) in two cups of boiling chicken broth. Have more broth on hand in case you may need it. Add one cup of the broth to the rice and cook until the rice is tender. You may have to add more broth, but two cups should do it.

Add more butter before serving, and sprinkle very generously with grated Parmesan cheese. This rice dish is really good with small shrimp mixed in it.

It should be eaten immediately when it is cooked, but it can be kept while in a casserole in an oven. But it should not be too dried out.

A daughter was born in Mansfield General Hospital Nov. 9 to the Robert Laney's, Shiloh.

On a small square block of wood with beveled edges, and three inches each way, a small bunch of gaily colored straw flowers was stapled, thented with a small velvet ribbon in a contrasting color.

And in order to hang it up, there was a small, attractive little hook screwed on the top edge.

We will offer as many general banking services at the Drive-In as can be efficiently handled with the facilities and the personnel available without undue delay in traffic flow.

Since our main product is service and because the new facility was constructed for the convenience of our customers, the following banking hours will be observed at the DRIVE-IN office:

In conjunction with opening of the Drive-In office, a change is being made in the banking hours of the main office. Effective December 1, 1972 the main office banking hours will be as follows:

MONDAY - TUESDAY - THURSDAY 9:00 A.M. TO 3:00 P.M.
CLOSED ALL DAY WEDNESDAY 9:00 A.M. TO 2:00 P.M. and 3:00 TO 6:00 P.M.

SATURDAY THE WALK-UP WINDOW AT THE MAIN OFFICE WILL BE OPEN ONLY ON FRIDAYS FROM 2:00 TO 3:00 P.M.

We are pleased to offer the new DRIVE-IN facility for the use of our customers and trust you will find it both useful and convenient.

We suggest you retain this announcement to refer to when you need to know our banking hours.

A proud tradition . . .

We've sought to serve our customers with diligence and honor for most of this century. Now we have expanded our facilities to offer more convenience to you, the customer, by erecting and equipping a new and modern drive-in branch that will afford you a. Convenient times to do your routine banking -- cashing your check, making your deposit, paying into your Christmas club (and the 1973 Christmas club is now open and eager for your participation!), making a payment on your car or real estate or chattel loan, and such other banking services as are routine and capable of execution on the spot;

b. A convenient way to do it -- you won't have to get out of your car!

c. A trained group of competent banking staff to meet your needs when you need them to be met!

The faces are not new. The bank is not new. Only the building and location are new. You'll get the same, long-established, efficient services of Peoples National Bank, which is proud of its long tradition of sound banking and pleased that it is able to offer this new, modern addition to that tradition and those services.

Farmers to feel new tax pinch

Owners of farm land or land used for farming may find they'll soon be taxed out of business.

The Ohio Supreme Court ruled Nov. 15, in a suit filed by Park Investment, Cleveland, that all land of whatever description must be uniformly taxed on the basis of "actual or market" value, rather than "current use."

At the same time, the court upheld an enactment by the General Assembly postponing until 1977 the deadline for the 88 Ohio counties to comply with orders for uniform property tax assessments.

The decision was unanimous in both cases.

The Board of Tax Appeals has adopted regulations requiring that all property be taxed at 35 per cent of current market value. What is that current market value? Plainly the court believes that where a piece of ground abutting a municipality has likely value for residential development, it must be taxed on that basis even though it may be in use for farming.

What's ahead? All property in such category must be reappraised.

So must all properties generally, to comply with the order that by 1977 all tax assessments shall be at the rate of 35 per cent of actual market value.
