Old friend submits idea for stone-free lawn —

Throw ice cubes to prevent cats from poaching on birds!

By AUNT LIZ
What kind of world be like without people? That just may be answered sooner than we realize if things keep on going the way they are. But so long as we have people around, we may as well enjoy them.

We are so very fortunate to know the interesting ones. Every now and then, though, they do something completely out of character, like one dear friend we have. She loves birds and naturally hates cats with a passion. There was a time when she would toss small rocks (she refers to them as stones) at them to get them out of her yard. Then when she moved, the grass, she had to pick up the stupid things. Now they have acquired an ice cube-making refrigerator, so she pelts them with ice cubes, which is more practical. This can be called getting two cats with one ice cube. And her lawn gets a little extra water this way.

It's the everyday people who keep life gay and interesting, but every now and then you read of someone who has gained fame in his own way, and you really wish you had a chance to know him.

There are two which I read about in the last couple of months who sound like really nice people. One has gained fame by photographing animals. This person started out on a high school paper taking pictures, went on to college and got a degree in marketing. Still, taking pictures was more intriguing.

One night, while walking home from a class, a meow was heard and there was a homeless kitten which was taken home and used for a model. That did it.

This person simply became famous and this is the answer. "For an article on exercise, a women's magazine asked me for a photograph of a cat sketching. I had seen my cats sketch many times, but I had never noticed when they did it."

"After a day of watching, I recognized their habit pattern: In a nap, she would stand in her basket, yawn, take two or three steps out of her bed, and then stretch. Since cats are creatures of habit, all I needed to do now was to move her basket into the studio, arrange my lights and wait for her to go through her normal motions. She obliged and I made the required photograph."

"I've photographed cats eating and cats sleeping, cats with dogs and cats with rats. Cats with expressions that seemed to register surprise, fear, stupidity, contentment, happiness and sadness. Cats with expressions that seemed to register cats looking in mirrors and cats smelling flowers, cats busy typing and cats carrying kittens. And on each assignment I think I've learned a little more. Cats are perhaps the most photographed animal in the kingdom."

THAT IS ONE OF THE PEOPLE. Have you noticed that I have not mentioned if it is a he or a she? That is to make you guess, and I'll bet anything you are wrong.

The second one came from a poor family, worked through college, managed to eat and got a job.

Ohio sets tax aid for filing quarterly

A concentrated educational and taxpayer assistance program aimed to increase compliance in the filing of individual quarterly estimated personal income tax returns is announced.

Noting the second individual quarterly estimated return is due on or before June 15, Commissioner Robert J. Kosydar said his department will have tax agents located at three points in Richland county from June 1 through June 15 to provide taxpayer assistance.

The commissioner said the added emphasis with respect to the filing of quarterly returns is being made as less than one-half of the estimated quarterly taxpayers filed returns for the first quarter due Apr. 15.

In most cases taxpayers required to file quarterly estimated returns are professional people, such as physicians, lawyers, and dentists, private contractors, small business operators and domestic help.

Kosydar cited one instance in which estimated returns may be required of which taxpayers could not be aware. This involves one with regular employment, on which the tax is being withheld, who also has a second job on which no tax is withheld. Although the tax is being withheld from the taxpayer's principal job, the income from the second job with no withholding could place the taxpayer in a higher tax bracket, thereby increasing his tax liability to a level where an estimated return would be required, Kosydar explained.

Consultants will be at the courthouse June 1, 2, 5-9, 12-15 from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.; Mansfield Square Shopping center, June 3 and 10, to 9 p. m.; Richland Mall Shopping center, June 1-3, 7-14, 1 to 9 p. m. daily, 1 to 5 p. m. Saturdays.

for a small company in New York in 1951, which said, "Build us a computer!"

Back then, they were hardly known and this is what that person said to say about it.

"I had never seen one before, hardly anyone else had. So I just had to figure out how to do it. It was a lot of fun -- when I wasn't terrified."

That was the first one. Later others came, which were made for United Airlines and the American Stock Exchange.

Can you think of knowing two more fascinating persons? Both love what they are doing and do it well. The first, who also has done the beagle on the medium size dog biscuit box we buy, is a guy named Walter Chandoha who lives somewhere in New Jersey.

The other is Evelyn Berzozin -- that is her business name, she is married to a consulting engineer -- and now heads her own firm, Redactor, which manufactures automatic editing typewriters.

You would think their roles would be in reverse, wouldn't you? A guy who loves animals and a gal who knows mathematics keenly. It's the what's happening all over the countryside. You might as well get used to it all. You cannot win.

FOR A RATHER LIGHT spring supper, it has become more fashionable serve very little. The catch, though, is it should be just a little filling. With a salad, some celery and carrot sticks and sherbet, crab tarts can be a main course.

It will look like more to eat if you serve in three courses, tarts, salad and sherbet.

The things are rich. The party is made with three ounce package of cream cheese, one stick of butter (a quarter pound) and a cup of flour. Mix it up like pie crust with everything at room temperature. Line a ramekin or little bowl with the pastry. These can also be made very small and can be served with drinks first.

The filling can be brewed up ahead of time, also. Either use six ounce package of frozen crabmeat or a seven and a half ounce can. Should you live some place like Cyprus, maybe, you can have the crabmeat fresh, then you guess the amount. Mix it up with a tablespoon of lemon juice, a fourth of a cup of finely cut celery, two finely minced green onions (include the green part, too), a half cup of grated sharp cheddar, a dash of Worcestershire and Tabasco sauces and salt and pepper.

Bake at about 350 until the tarts are golden. The cheese will melt and cause it to thicken. You can do the same with shrimp. There should be enough for six nice servings.
