Three plots sold

Burnell J. Lewis bought 94.53 acres in Bloomington township from Fred Sutter, Richard county recorder reports. Hurl H. Gearheart sold Lot 336, Plymouth, to Joe F. Lillo.
 Noah Wallace sold 528/1000 of an acre in Cass township to Noah Wallace, Jr., and David P. Wallace.

Meef postponed

What was to have been a showdown between two JAC cross country teams was called off here Tuesday.

A wet track forced postponement of the Plymouth vs. Crestview meet. The Cougars loomed as the one big obstacle to an undefeated year for the Big Red, Class A champions in Ohio in 1971.

Red to face Crestline on road

Plymouth's Big Red eleven seeks to make it two in a row against Crestline's Bulldogs here tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The Blue and White is down this year but the question is, how far down? Crestline was beaten by a powerful Clear Fork squad Friday night, 19 to 6.

The Bulldogs defense to the ground attack of the Colts was unsatisfactory. Clear Fork gained 192 yards on the ground and passed six times, gaining 44 yards.

The Bulldogs couldn't gain on the ground and were forced to take to the air 19 times. They gained 60 yards that way.

IF PLYMOUTH'S PASS defense is what it ought to be, this could be a regular, if not a fluky, Crestline passer.

And in Tom Eller he has a seasoned and who won all-league honors last season.

The Bulldogs have a new coach and his system takes time to jell. One of the facets of it is that he likes to strike early. Indeed, in the first half of the opening period at Perryville, Crestline clearly dominated. Only two penalties on punts gave the Colts the field position that enabled them to tie the score before the period was out.

Can Plymouth's air game gain against Crestline? Will it be able to establish a groove, or, something it hasn't been able to do in three outings so far? Do most of all, can the defense contain Crestline's attack sufficiently to force the resort to the passing game? At this level of schoolboy ball, it is always easier to run pass defense than run passing defense.

Wilbur W. Wade dies at Mansfield of lengthy illness

Wilbur W. Wade, 51, 138 West Broadway, died Saturday at 4 a. m. in Mansfield General hospital of a lengthy illness.

Born in Shelby Mar. 4, 1921, he lived in or near there his whole life.

His wife, Edith; two sons, Charles, Plymouth route 1, and Wilbur W., Jr., at home, and three daughters, Lucy, now Mrs. David Perry, Shelby, and Louise and Susan, at home, survive.

Brother Paul McCregor, Florence, Ky., conducted services Sunday at 2 p. m. Mr. Wade was until his final illness employed by R. H. Honeyley & Sons Co., Willard, having previously been employed by AMF Corp., Shelby. A veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Church of Christ.

Burial was in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

This piggy bank shown by William R. Miller was found on the farm of his father, E. Beryl Miller, in Plymouth East road. It measures 62 inches in circumference and weighed 20 lb. 5 ozs.

A lot of puff, honest!

Planners move land use plan

Huron County Regional Planning commission approved and moved official adoption of the comprehensive plan text and map at the public use commission meeting Sept. 20.

This action will be certified to the member political subdivisions for their attention and guidance.

The commission discussed and voted to investigate the possibilities and advantages of a regional or metro-type park system to preserve and develop recreational and open space for public use.

A three-member committee composed of Mrs. Barbara Whitney, Mrs. Ervin Myers and Miss Peggy Cook was appointed to study it.

A report on proposed subdivision standards was heard and the idea of higher requirements for development near municipalities and lesser requirements for areas further out in distance was discussed.

Banner to buy Georgia firm in expansion

Banner Industries, Inc. will purchase for cash from Flite Treads, Inc., Atlanta, Ga., assets related to its aircraft tire retreading business. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Flite Treads is a privately owned manufacturer which retreats tires for commercial, military and private aircraft. The operation will continue under Banner's Thompson Aircraft Tire subsidiary, a leading producer and supplier of FAA-certified retreaded tires for aircraft.

Herbert Gordy, chairman of Flite Treads, will serve in a consulting capacity to the newly acquired operation.

Samuel J. Krasney, chairman and chief executive officer of Cleveland-based Banner Industries, said this acquisition broadens Thompson's geographic distribution of retreaded tires and will enable Thompson to provide better and faster service to the aviation industry.

The acquisition brings to Banner a diversified aircraft tire retreading facilities now operated by Thompson Aircraft Tire. The company's other aircraft tire retreading operations are located in San Francisco, Miami, New York and Belgium.

Red bombs sink Loudonville for first conference victory

Plymouth came on strong in the second half in Mary Fete park Friday night to win a richly earned 12 to 6 victory over Loudonville in the first Johnny Appleseed conference game of the season.

The play is that such a disappointing crowd turned out to see it.

It was Band Parents' night and while a new stands across the field was formally opened for the first time, nevertheless there were seats to burn in the main bleachers.

The Big Red spotted the visitors a score with just 10 seconds left in the first half, after thwarting Loudonville on fourth down at the Plymouth three and after itself running out of steam by fumbling away possession at the Redbird 20 midway in the second period.

FROM ITS 20, LOUDONVILLE marched 80 yards in 11 plays, the last two aerial shows that produced the score.

The Redbirds advanced to the Plymouth 38, whence Dick Taylor got eight on some hipper dipper. On first down, the visitors passed. Plymouth was called for pass interference and Loudonville had the ball at the Red 15. With 20 seconds on the clock, Jim Hartschorn threw to Bob Donelson for the touchdown. The run for PATS was short.

The first half was all Loudonville and the Redbirds seemed to be on their way to victory. They had racked up 10 first downs, 118 yards rushing, 49 yards passing and had lost no fumbles. Plymouth, on the other hand, had only four first downs, the first one with slightly over eight minutes left in the half, 65 yards rushing, none passing and had lost one of three fumbles.

It was Plymouth's opportunism that forced the issue.

Loudonville lost a fumble at the visitors' 48 early in the second half. Plymouth could not ad-

Here some demoralizing penalties struck Plymouth.

The first was a motion penalty that nullified a penalty that nullified a sneak by Ray Hughes that just missed scoring.

After Carter had made two off left tackle, Plymouth was socked with three straight penalties, one of them for 15, two for five. The latter were deserved. The referee called illegal shift. Two Red backs were moving at the same time, a condition that generally developed when an inexperienced team tries a new formation.

It was proper justice that it should have been Hughes, who was the culprit on both occasions, and one must be equally thankful that the pass defense wasn't further tested. Loudonville put the ball up only 11 times, completing six.

Donelson is every bit of what's said about him. He carried 15 times for exactly 100 yards. Kim McFarland, a big full-back, did well also, getting 59 yards on 17 carries.

Plymouth was not without its hero. In addition to Hamman and Hughes and Carter, they included Strohm, Rich Stover and Jor Woodmansee.

Clear Fork sets new stadium for 1974 play

By THE OLD TIMER
Clear Fork's football field will be moved from the downtown Belleville site to the new high school site in Route 95 east of Belleville for the 1974 season.

Architects have been engaged to plan for new school facilities at the latter site, to include enlarged athletic locker rooms.

And against the recommendation of the superintendent, Clark Lees, the board of education approved spending $1,113 for a new gymnasium scoreboard for the Colts.

CRESTLINE is staging a community festival next weekend. Police advise Plymouth fans attending the Big Red-Bulldog game in Crestline stadium to approach the city from the west, via Route 50N, turning right at the church and proceeding south to the end of the street, thence left and across the railroad tracks to the stadium.

THE ENERGY CRISIS IS THREATENING YOUR WAY OF LIFE

Offshore Blockade threatens the Economy and Environment

The Gulf of Mexico covers over 372 million acres. There's great fishing in its waters. There's also a lot of natural gas and oil locked in the earth at its bottom.

Unfortunately, unusual concern about the effect of offshore drilling on the environment is blocking further development of the Gulf as a valuable source of energy. And the blockade is forming at a time when America must have adequate supplies of energy to protect both its environment and its economy.

The federal government has leased some of this offshore land, important quantities of natural gas and oil are being supplied from wells drilled in the Gulf. However, as production in these fields declines, new areas must be developed to replace the old ones.

But what's happening? The Department of the Interior's most recent lease sale, involving the Gulf of Mexico, was blocked in court by environmental groups concerned with the possibility of oil spills. We share this concern for the environment. The reality must be faced that producing petroleum in ocean waters poses potential problems. However, the record shows that over the years, the industry has developed its ability to drill for and produce this much needed fuel without permanent environmental damage.

Since 1947, over 14,000 wells have been drilled in federal and state waters. In these 25 years, only three oil spills have been large enough to attract widespread attention. Evidence to date indicates that even these three accidents resulted in no lasting harm to the environment.

It's time to balance our nation's urgent need for energy with the need for a clean environment. The growing energy crisis is the most serious problem confronting America today. Our nation must have adequate supplies of clean energy to solve all of its other major problems. Unless we act quickly to correct the situation, it could have a devastating effect on our economy: create widespread unemployment, a lower standard of living and a higher cost of living.

It is urgent that the government lease more offshore acreage for oil and gas exploration. Lease sales must be held more frequently with greater areas of land involved. Leases in the Gulf of Mexico must be granted on a minimum of 450,000 acres annually through the balance of this decade, if there is to be any hope of holding production of natural gas from that area at its present level.

You owe it to yourself, your family and your community to voice your concern about the problem. Write to your Senators and Representative. Tell them to act now to prevent the energy crisis from becoming a national disaster. They're responsive to your wishes when you make them known.

Library adds book about wit, George S. Kaufman

For nearly 30 years the wit of Broadway's stage, George S. Kaufman didn't speak much, was afraid to drive a car, take a plane or touch a doorknob, and chased women, married and single, honorable and dishonorable. But he was also a brilliant contributor to the arts and theater of America. His associate, Howard Teichmann, has written an intimate portrait which is available in Plymouth branch library.

Garden clubs set fall meeting at Mansfield

Richland County Garden clubs of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs will conduct their fall meeting Oct. 11 at Kingwood Center, Mansfield.

A fall flower show will be featured. Specimens including berried shrubs, berried vines, dried flowers and dried pods will be displayed. Theme "Nature's Bounty" will be used for the arrangement section. Classes for the arrangements are "Food for the Family," "Fallowen," "Thanksgiving," "Thanksgiving," "Christmas," "The Latchstring is Out," "Food for the Birds" and "Open House".

Oral judging will be conducted in the morning for the flower show. Mrs. Dean Hamman, Shiloh, will preside over the business meeting.

During the afternoon session Charles Applegate, Kingwood Center, will talk on "How to Store Bulbs for Winter." Reservations for the catered lunch are to be made by Oct. 9 to Mrs. John Stima, Mansfield route 1.

Larry Shields weds at Willard

Grandson of Bruce McQuown, Larry Randolph Shields was married Sept. 16 at 2:30 p.m. in First Presbyterian church, Willard, to Miss Diana Lynn Funk. He is the son of the late Wilbur Shields, Plymouth. She is the daughter of the Corwin Ross Funks, Willard.

The Rev. Richard Bower ceremony in a setting of white gladioli, lavender pompon chrysanthemums and purple star-flowers arranged around a gold cross, lighted by a seven branched candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in acetate splendor trimmed with pearly Alencon scalloped lace, fashioned with peek-a-boo oval neckline and sleeve cut-out. Scallops encircled the Empire bodice. The skirt was trimmed with crescent lace. A detachable chapel-length train was of imported Alencon lace. She wore a Juliet cap of lace from which was suspended a face veil.

She carried a white chrysanthemum with lace streamers. The flower was tied with the handkerchief carried by her mother when she married. Miss Laura Lou Rickel, Lynhurst, maid of honor, was dressed in purple lace bodice styled with bishop sleeves and orchid chiffon skirt. She carried a lavender chrysanthemum.

Christopher Coppus, Fostoria, was best man. Timothy A. Funk, Westerville, and Steven Funk, New London, ushers.

The bride's grandparents, the Ollie Rows and Mrs. Amy Funk, and his grandfather were honored guests.

An alumna of Willard High school, the bride attends Bowling Green State university. The bridegroom is a graduate of Memorial High school, St. Marys. He attends Tiffin university.

A lawn reception took place at the bride's home. They will live in Tiffin.
