Tax rate goes down slightly

... but still highest!

Tax rate for year 1972, payable in 1973, is down slightly but still the highest in Richland county, Huron county, Crawford county, Ashland county, Erie county or Seneca county.

The figure is $60.80 for each $1,000 of tax valuation. What this means is that a householder with a dwelling having a market value of $25,000 will pay $547.20 in taxes during 1973 ($467 less the 10 percent rollback). And if he were to rent the house, allowing for three per cent of valuation a year for maintenance, but nothing for interest or earnings, he'd have to charge $109 a month.

Sir: As a member of the Plymouth High school cheerleading staff, I would like to share with you some of my feelings. What are cheerleaders for? They are to help boost team spirit. But how can a cheerleader boost team spirit when there is no cooperation with the fans of Plymouth High school? Then, in turn, the team won't really care if it wins or loses, thus pulling down spirit more and more.

We have tried everything to boost team spirit. Everything from hanging signs to playing the fight song. But nothing seems to work. The only people who seem to respond are the cheering section, which adds up to a small minority of Plymouth High school pupils.

Anyone, half of us dread going out on the floor to do "Two Bits" and really isn't much fun when you're jumping around and people in the bleachers look at you like what am I supposed to do?

When a member of our team fouls out or even gets put out, why not give them a hand? He tried his best and there's no more he can do!

When we think about this it makes us feel like we've failed. There just isn't anything else to do!

I fell the people of Plymouth should respect their team and back it 100 per cent!

Sig Big Red Forever

New Haven township taxpayers will pay at the rate of $53.40 if they live in Plymouth Local School district, at the rate of $46.10 if they live in Willard City School district. Of this, $3.80 is for tuition purposes.

Shiloh taxpayers will pay at $57.10 for each $1,000 of valuation.

In Cass township the rate is $53.40, in Bloomington $55.70, in Plymouth township it's $54.

Exemptions drop tax duplicate

Twenty-three homestead tax exemptions that reduced taxes by $9,244 were accorded to Plymouth during 1972 and district properties lying in Huron county, Auditor Kenneth W. Reed reports.

Valuation of exemptions was $2,910 in the village and $2,000 in New Haven township.

House to rise in Route 98

Abundant Living Homes will construct a three-family dwelling in Route 98, Plymouth township, a building permit issued by Richland county stated.

Two left $51,601

Estate of Frank W. Dawson, veteran Cass township farmer, has been inventoried in Richland county probate court at $51,405.

Estate of Harry Postema, New Haven, amounted to $20,156, Huron county probate court records show.

Sewer system pump faulty

Councilman Edward O. Ramsey said Jan. 2 that the sanitary sewer system isn't working as it should.

Ramsey reported the wiring in the sewer lift station is being checked and is attempting to get gauges, which have been out of commission for some time, working so that sewage flow can be measured.

After the council heard the mayor's annual report, in which he strongly suggested that the office of village administrator be filled, Councilman Frank R. Garber suggested that Thomas Baker be put on a six month probationary contract for the position. Jacobus and Councilman Donald E. Akers were in agreement, provided Baker passes the water and sewer examinations to qualify as an operator, which the state is demanding of the village.

The council also agreed that another employee with electrical background and experience be found to assist Baker with his added duties.

The mayor said one application for a position in the village electrical office has been received with a salary demand of $12,000 annually.

Garber said "this is too much, people will not stand for it."

Rook quits school board, Mack reelected president

Timothy E. Rook, at 21 the youngest person ever elected a member of the Plymouth Board of Education, resigned effective Jan. 1.

He said "personal considerations" forced him to quit. He is a married student in Heidelberg college, Tiffin.

The resignation was accepted unanimously.

R. Harold Mack was re-elected president by the board in a brief organizational session. The Rev. Arthur Hamman was chosen to preside, to succeed Richard D. Fackler.

Second Monday of each month will continue to be regular meeting night. Fourth Wednesdays designated for special meetings when needed.

AN EFFORT TO INCREASE salary of board members from $10 to $15 a month was defeated when the four members present split their vote, 3-1, in favor of the new motion, which was seconded by Ivan Hawk.

Mack and Fackler voted against. Fackler's motion to retain the present rate of $10 died for want of a second.

The board sped through agenda item 25 in record time of 78 minutes.

It authorized purchase of a new 66-passenger bus GMC chassis supplied by Aber's Garage, Ashland, at $5,464 and body by Superior Body, Lexington, at $4,266.30. Total trade-in of $1,665.50.

There were two other chassis bidders and one other body bidder.

Next lowest bid was $1,006.00 higher.

Mayor lists nine goals for 1973

This report is submitted in compliance with Sec. 733.41 of the Revised Code. I am happy to report that in my judgment, the condition of the village is good, with signs of improvement. There are some accomplishments to point to during 1972 and some recoverable failures, for the most part because I did not succeed in the wide field of leadership. There are still some problems to overcome.

These problems, in the order to which I attach importance, are:

1. Employment of a village administrator.
2. Careful study of the water system, which is outmoded, difficult to repair, demanding of more skillful technicians than we have been able to assign to it, and barely adequate for our needs.
3. Equally careful study of the electric distribution system, an assessment of its worth so that we can adjust the electric reserve fund balance to meet 10 per cent of its whole value, adjustment needed because there is too much meddling by the council and by the citizenry. The administrator is properly responsible to the mayor. If the administrator is to be criticized, that criticism falls properly upon the mayor and should be taken there, not to the administrator. I attach the highest priority to the hiring of an administrator and have some plans to present a nominee to the council very soon.
4. The committee system of the council, which is time-honored in its tenure, has not worked as well as it can or should. Perhaps the suggestion that only one councilman be assigned to a single committee has merit. We shall watch the developments carefully. The system will work only if the councilmen are different sources of support.
5. I shall propose to the council next month a program by which the needs of the water system shall be examined by it and by those who pay for it, its subscribers. It is obvious that our water plan needs a fresh infusion of money and repair. Should we do this on the old terms or should we change systems? Does it make sense to invest fresh money in an outmoded system if it will not meet our needs? Do we need a different system of water treatment? These are the questions which I believe the council should be asked to answer. I shall endeavor to determine what course we ought to follow before we consider how to execute it and fund it.
6. The water system ought to pay for itself. I shall take a poor attitude toward any program to benefit the water, electric or sewer systems that does not pay for itself from revenues of the system concerned.
7. Steps have been taken to have a complete study of the electric system made by a competent agency. This is long overdue. The system ought to earn enough each year that it can pay for its normal repairs and modifications without refunding in the form of bond issue. Rates should be adjusted upward only if there is need. But when there is need, the adjustment should come before the need is acute. The ambulance service should move toward training a staff of employees so that each is capable of routine emergency repair so that we need not resort to expensive, sometimes not readily available, non-municipal assistance. I count this an important duty of the new administrator. The sanitary sewer bids are ready to be let. I think the council ought to know about the tremendous amount of paperwork involved in complying with the requirements of the federal government in this matter. The clerk of the solicitor have been of material assistance to me in such compliance.

We have put off street repairs for two years because we thought the streets would be torn up by sewer installations. Now we are certain this will be so during 1973. Nevertheless, we must make plans to renovate streets and to have the funds available to do it.

The zoning and housing code is ready to submit to the council. There were no funds to pay for typing it; this situation has been overcome and the code will be submitted very shortly.

I shall be delighted if the present staffing pattern of the ambulance service worked out to the benefit of all but I am fearful that we shall have to resort to unusual techniques to recruit and train a competent staff of sufficient size. We may be compelled to insist that the fire department be trained and assigned to the work.

Our park survey committee to be expanded so that they will appeal to those who cost us most in dealing with deviant conduct. Additional tennis courts in the park would be a step forward. If they can be lighted for night use and also prepared for use by other purposes than to improve the quality of life in Plymouth by capital improvements of a lasting and important nature.

Red beaten by Clear Fork, Mapleton

It was billed as an inter-scholastic basketball but it would have taken an enormously perceptive person to recognize that "basketball" part.

But the fact is that Clear Fork, by scoring 12 unopposed points midway in the fourth period, defeated Plymouth there Friday night, 70 to 57.

The contest was marred by poor play on both sides, poor shooting by the losers and over-poorer by the winners, the fouling out late in the third period of Plymouth's ace rebounder and an inexcusable number of turnovers.

Coach Les Hauenstein lamented before the game that his Colts weren't having much luck.

This proved to be true in the first period, when the Clear Fork team lost seven basket-hangers, shots that rolled on the floor but simply wouldn't drop.

PLYMOUTH FORGED A three point lead after two periods and held a comfortable seven point advantage early in the third period before it came apart.

Dave Hofferber's shot with 43 seconds left in the third period sent the Colts into a one point lead that they never gave up.

His success made it 43 to 42.

But with the score 54 to 50, midway in the fourth period, the Colts ran off 12 straight and Plymouth was dead.

It had been dying for some time, what with two starters fouled out and three others in extreme foul trouble, the Big Red bench is several cuts below the starters.

Plymouth tried 63 shots from the field, Clear Fork a stupendous 94. The Big Red missed eight free throws, the Colts 17. Plymouth had 27 turnovers, 15 in the first half. Clear Fork had 22, 14 in the first half. The winners outrebounded Plymouth, 44 to 30, but McPherson had 15.

ton Saturday night.

It did not take the ball to the basket.

It did not shoot well.

It did not defend satisfactorily.

Worst of all, it showed up for the game.

Result: Mapleton, badly beaten by Monroeville the night before, won an easy 78 to 59 non-conference victory over the Big Red.

The Mounties led all the way. Plymouth played them about even in the last half, when the winners scored 35 and the losers 34. But Plymouth's play in the first half allowed the Mounties to forge into a substantial lead. Mapleton went to the half-time recess with a 17-point advantage.

Ron Ross, one of twins, collected 19 to lead the Mountie scoring. Ken Myers had 18 and Ted Iceman 14. Phil Biddinger, the Mounties' quarterback in football, supplied 10.

Ray Hughes was high for the Big Red with 20. Chuck Willford kicked in with 12 and Jor Lasch with 10.

Once again the propensity of key players to collect fouls hurt Plymouth. Craig McPherson was compelled to sit out some of the third and fourth quarters because he had four fouls.

What this team lacks most of all is consistency. It rebounded well enough. Plymouth took down 48 rebounds, 19 of them by McPherson, against Mapleton's 43. But it does not shoot well overall. Plymouth was 25-for-72 from the field and only nine of 17 from the foul line (Mapleton's figures were 29-for-70 and 20-for-29, respectively) -- and it makes too many mistakes on defense, the same ones over and over.

Want to build fire in a waterfall for measly $600-$700 a year?

By THE OLD TIMER

Nobody who watched the football presentations of late December and Jan. 1 can fail to understand that intercollegiate athletics is a business, a big one, designed to produce a profit, and therefore seized of all of the evils as well as the virtues of the capitalist system.

Which means, in fact, that each of these young men is a simon pure amateur by title only.

This is not necessarily to denigrate the fact but rather to seize the opportunity to point out how a young man gets into the system and what his school must do to prepare him to do so.

His school? Of course! How many boys reach intercollegiate athletic competition without first experiencing interscholastic competition. Much as one may deplore the fact, it is nevertheless true that a substantial number of boys would drop out of public school without the opportunity to participate in interscholastic athletics.

So if a boy wishes to seek fame and fortune via athletics, he must do so by fitting himself into the established system. AND TO DO SO, THE NCAA has ruled, he must first submit to one of two aptitude tests decreed by law and custom, the ACT or the more prestigious and difficult SAT. This is what is called "projection". A boy must attain a specified level in the test he takes to "project" scholastic achievement at a minimum level. That level varies from school to school. In the Big Ten, it's a 1.8 grade-point average based on a 4.0 scale. In the Atlantic Coast conference, it is 1.6 on the same scale; the rule of thumb is an aggregate of 800 on the SAT (1600 is perfect).

South Carolina dropped out of the ACL because it felt it could not recruit athletes of a winning calibre at that requirement; ergo, it is not now subject to the rule and may recruit -- and play -- boys having a lower projection.

Almost all schools worth their salt are members of the NCAA, whether college or university division. High school boys who fail to take one test or the other at a prescribed testing center on an assigned date forfeit one year of intercollegiate athletic eligibility. It is axiomatic that not all boys participating in high school athletics are sufficiently motivated to prepare themselves to take these tests. Which is what guidance counselors are for.

Guidance counselors don't neglect athletes. But neither do they coddle them. So it falls upon the coach to prompt his charge to sign up for one test or the other and to report to take it at the designated place and time.

NOW A COACH doesn't have to do this. But coaches are more often than not rated not only by how many games they've won but also by how many of their boys are cutting it for Old Swah or wherever. (Indeed, guidance counselors are often rated by how many of their pupils made it to Yale, Harvard and Princeton.)

THUS IN ADDITION TO teaching the game, wrapping the injuries, babying the prima donnas and placating the angry parents, dealing with an angry and independent press, striving to win at all reasonable costs and teaching some discipline or other -- it may be the simplest subject in the curriculum -- he must also, for career protection, encourage those of his players capable of cutting it at a higher level of competition to aspire to do so. Sometimes it's like building a fire in a waterfall.

And all this for a measly $600 or $700 a year!

TREASURE SPIRITUAL GIFTS

It is good to note that young people -- a surprising number of them -- have not fallen for the doctrine of the "debunkers" and the disciples of "realism," who preach that sentiment, love and idealism are believed in only by "squares" and "cornballs". These young people have held fast to their spiritual gifts while the so-called realism has turned out to be degeneracy.

They see a mocking bird putting on a mimicry performance and their idealism is strengthened. They watch a beautiful sunset and get spiritual reassurance and faith in their love. They watch a jet plane maneuver in the sky and their spiritual gifts are awakened.

They attend church and receive joy from it, a joy that enables them to laugh at problems and face them with courage. Other spiritual gifts such as a sense of humor, enables them to laugh at troubles and cares and to overcome them. In short, their church life and their ideals enable them to have a bright and cheery outlook always.

Rhythm band was Yuletide treat

By AUNT LIZ

There is nothing like going away from it all for a few days.

It makes what we have here that much more precious. We have our nice backroads to drive over and when you meet another car, which may be every other day, you wave because you know the driver. New York City is not like that. No one waves gaily. They do wave, but in great protest. We watched a smallish truck try to turn off Madison onto 45th street. There was a mall truck parked, and the driver could not quite make it, so he backed for a better start, right into a nice new green Vega, leaving a large dent. He tried it a second time, and still couldn't make it, so back he went again for the second large dent, made it, and took off. There was a large amount of fist-waving over this little maneuver. And it was not happy.

It was a great vacation with a little of everything, but the very best was a very special concert just for us.

If you have never heard a real rhythm band composed of some real instruments, a few waste baskets and other various things that can make a sound, then you have not lived all the way. Our mother plays the tamborine in one, and with only a piano accompaniment, it was excellent. Frankly, it was fantastic. They do it for fun, but I think they could really do better with a good agent, and end up on TV and with hotel and nightclub engagements. They are really missing the boat, but they are all so beautiful, snug and warm.

I don't know when I have seen so many happy people in one place. It was so heartwarming. Can you imagine 85 women who have all lived varied lives living together? Of course, they must have their differences, but they all gather together and work together. It is really ideal. It is the answer to our great national problem of where do people go when they can no longer keep house for themselves. I do not mean to be unkind, but this is a thing we all face.

Being a privately owned place, it is kept up by the various chapters, and last year -- this I am guessing at because I really did not ask -- each OES chapter in New Jersey made a beautiful quilt for each room. As we went down the corridor to meet everyone, the first thing I looked at was their quilts. They were pure masterpieces. And being rather enterprising, I am now suggesting they make us one. THE GREATEST CITY in the world is kind of like a small town, really. We stopped for a cup of coffee in a small restaurant in the farm district near the bus station. I happened to pick up the check and went to pay it, and the man who took it obviously must have owned the place. He gave me sort of a double look -- we were strangers -- just like it happens here when some strange person walks in.

And if you think local streets are bad, you should see the side ones in New York. They really need repairing and resurfacing, but with a constant flow of traffic over them, I do not see how they can be done. It would cause havoc to close off even one street for a day.

The best meal we had the whole time was the lunch in the Metropolitan Museum. Say all you will about all the restaurants in New York, that was good. It was a cafeteria where you chose your food and carried it to tables set around a large pool filled with old Greek things spouting water, which was very picturesque. We saw their famous Rembrandt, which cost something like three million. It is lovely, but still, knowing what Toledo has, the Metropolitan has great competition. They do have some of the really great things of the world, but we are very lucky that we have such a place filled with so much so close by. THIS RECIPE CAN make you feel you are eating in a glorious museum, and it is simple. Start with a package of white cake mix. Add four eggs, a half cup of oil and water. Mix, then add a half cup of sherry and a small package of vanilla pudding mix. When this is all mixed, throw in a little less than a cup of nuts and bake according to the package directions of the cake. Put your pet frosting on it, or a glaze of lemon and powdered sugar.
