

Pianists all!

Mrs. James Hawk is proud of her three pupils, Lynn Snider, 10; Kim Sammons, 13, and Tracy Keene, nine, who helped her in 'private' teacher certificate.

OMTA accredits piano teacher

Mrs. James Hawk, Plymouth route 1, is now accredited as a private piano teacher by the Ohio Music Teachers Association.

The OMTA certifies competent teachers in order to foster high standards of instruction in the areas of applied music and encourage professional advancement.

Mrs. Hawk is a graduate of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, and a former music teacher in Plymouth schools. She and her husband have two children.

Village can get $10,000 in CETA funding

Plymouth can receive up to $10,000 from Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds assigned to Huron county, Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock was told last week.

The village is requesting two positions for the police department, a patrolman and a dispatcher, and a certified water and sewer employee.

Because of the qualifications to be fulfilled in order to obtain the CETA money, the village was unable to obtain any from Huron county in last year's funding.

The village did use CETA money from Richland county last year. To date the village has not been informed by Richland county as to how much the village may request from it, the mayor said.

She added, "Having free federal money to fill jobs is a boon to a small community, but the way the program is administered, it hardly works out. It is almost impossible to find the right person for any needed position in the village. So far we have been actually 'stuck' with a couple of readouts that cost the village more in the long run than they were worth."

23 give blood at Willard

Twenty-three Plymouthites, including four new donors, were among 196 who contributed a pint of blood to the American Red Cross Bloodmobile at Willard Nov. 16.

New donors were Miss Linda Moran, Plymouth route 1; Gladys M. Johnson, Plymouth route 1; Cynthia Phillips, Plymouth route 1; and James Enderby, Plymouth route 1.

Other donors were Tracy A. Highlander, 28 Cleveland street, Shiloh; Carolyn A. Carnahan, Plymouth route 1; Jessie and Christine Furr, 139 Maple street; Wayne H. Strine, 145 Maple street; A. L. Paddock, Jr., 78 Plymouth street.

Also, Harris Postema, Plymouth route 1; Dorothy Snipes, Shiloh route; Inez Podgurski, Plymouth route 1; Marie J. Peterman, 138 1/2 Maple street; Christian Capelle, Plymouth route 1; Roger Carnahan, Plymouth route 1; Barbara Phillips, Plymouth route 1.

Also, James Mahi, 1001 Sandusky street; Timothy and Leonard Brannan, 209 Riggs street; William Chronister, 259 West Broadway; Ann Beardsley and Amy Robinson, 18 West Broadway; and Anita L. Riedinger, 61 North street.

Mail early, USPO urges

Because of the unprecedented mail volume generated by the 15-state United Parcel Service strike, the postal service has been compelled to advance its suggested Christmas mailing deadlines for domestic parcels and letter mail. Officer-in-charge for the Plymouth Post Office urges mailing of parcels by Dec. 3 and of greeting cards by Dec. 10 to assure delivery by Christmas.

Water's just fine!

EPA says tests show supply safe; certified plant operator ordered

A study of Plymouth's water supply by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency dated Nov. 5 shows no unsafe samples during the past year, adequate bacteriological sampling, fair chemical quality of the water, adequate capacity of the system, satisfactory monthly reporting, unsatisfactory operator certification and some deficiencies.

The EPA report requires the village to engage a properly certified operator and recommends the village join with Shiloh and Greenwich to hire one. Greenwich has already said it does not wish to do so.

Alternatively, the village may enter into a technical supervision contract for another year, submitting the contract to EPA for approval.

Suggestions made by EPA are that a self-contained chlorine breathing apparatus similar to that used by the fire department be furnished for the water plant, that chlorination of water be increased for 30 minutes prior to distribution, that maintenance of the storage tank, that another well be drilled or otherwise increase well capacity, to determine unaccounted water loss and to provide an acceptable means of waste disposal.

Councilman says water 'bad', lagoon neighbor protests hunting

Kenneth Eichelberry, acting head of Plymouth Ambulance service during the absence of Donald Vanderpool, who has gone to Florida for the winter, asked to purchase a chain saw for the rescue truck.

He said the fire chief, Judson A. Morrison, authorized James H. Cashman to update the equipment. Eichelberry said that such a saw was on inventory but had been "borrowed" by village employees and never returned. He also said a jack borrowed by Police Chief Robert L. Meiser is missing.

Prices will be obtained for the saw before the council takes any action. Eichelberry said an ambulance training course is being set up by the Shiloh ambulance service to begin the first part of January.

Councilman John Ray complained the village water has "something in it". The mayor read the report received last week from the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, which made its annual tour of the water plant. It stated the village water is adequate but recommended that more chlorine be added before the water goes through the softening process.

The EPA recommended Plymouth join with Greenwich and Shiloh to obtain the services of a qualified water and sewer consultant, since all three villages have the same problems. The mayor said Greenwich's Board of Public Affairs claims it has solved the problem for Greenwich. A meeting will be arranged with Mayor Grady McDonald and the Shiloh Board of Public Affairs.

A request was made by Strine, who remained for the rest of the meeting, that the council enact legislation to allow hunting at the water plant and sewer lagoon sites.

The mayor read a letter from Dennis McKown, who resides north of the lagoon site, in which he complained of the hunting and threatened legal action if the council does not stop it.

The mayor said she asked the police department to request the Huron county sheriff's department to watch the site. She asked the council if it wished local police to patrol it, since it is out of the corporate limits but is village property. No answer was received.

It was then suggested an ordinance be enacted to prohibit hunting and trespassing on both sites. Solicitor Robert A. McKown said he thinks such an ordinance already exists. He will study it to determine if it is worded strongly enough so that such violations are severely punished.

The Eldon Burketts were guests of their children Sunday in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary, which fell on Tuesday.

The A. L. Paddocks, Jr., will join the Donald E. Akerkes to dine today in Sandusky.

10 arrested in Public Square

A deputy sheriff has been in the Public Square over several days enforcing drug and liquor laws.

Deputy William Spogness of the Richland county sheriff's office has, according to a spokesman for his department, "made about 10 arrests."

It is apparently his intention to file the complaints in Shelby Municipal court, whose clerk said Monday "we know about them but nothing has been filed yet."

Vilager sues for $105,525

James Kilgore, 49 Sandusky street, is plaintiff in Huron county common pleas court in a suit seeking $105,225 in damages from a Norwalkian and the proprietor of a bar in Willard.

Kilgore alleges that on Feb. 17 of this year, he was cut in the throat with a knife or other sharp instrument by Chester A. Collins, Newark, in The Sportsman Bar, 7 Myrtle avenue, Willard, operated by Stephen A. Fox, also a defendant.

Kilgore says in his complaint that Collins, "in a drunken and dazed condition," during the early morning hours, walked to a booth where Kilgore and a friend were sitting and "violently and forcefully assaulted and cut Kilgore's throat."

Kilgore states in his complaint persons tending bar at the time continued to allow Collins to drink before the assault, despite the fact Collins was intoxicated as early as 10:30 p.m., when Kilgore first entered the bar.

Kilgore claims permanent injury to his throat. He sues for loss of wages as well as permanent injuries on five separate counts.

Scrimmage set

Big Red will scrimmage Shelby there Saturday at 10 a.m.

Public is invited. Admission is free.

Twelve freshmen have survived cuts by Coach Dave Dunn and will undertake the season.

Players are Mike Brannam, Chris Brown, Bob Hall, Jim Keene, Mike Kimble, Doug Miller, Randy Neeley, Jeff Ream, Gary Reno, Harvey Robinson, Harmon Sloan and Jerry Wheeler.

Two plots sold in school district

Eugene Ryan bought 13.36 acres in Blooming-grove township from Alvin H. Garrett, Shiloh, Richland county recorder reports.

Joseph J. Scott bought 113.74 acres in Cass township from Isaac L. Wallen.

Newsy notes . . .

Jack E. McQuate, Muncie, Ind., will spend the holiday weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl McQuate.

Salvatore J. Glorioso was taken by ambulance from the fish fry at Fret-Farad Post 447, American Legion, Friday night to Shelby Memorial hospital, where he was admitted.

Lions club hears retired publisher

Ernst L. Henes, past president of the Ohio Newspaper Association and publisher at Wellington from 1924 to 1970, spoke last night to Plymouth Lions club after dinner in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

The dinner was prepared and served by James G. Russell and A. L. Paddock, Jr.

Henes went to Wellington from Ashtabula, where he was working on a newspaper, with a partner, Paul Powell. Later he was Henean's governor, 13th division, Ohio Kiwanis clubs, last year. He is secretary of the Wellington Shade Tree commission, a director of the Spirit of '76 museum at Wellington, and vice-president of the Wellington New Spirit committee.

He went from Amherst to serve in France during World War I. He is a Methodist, a Mason, a member of the Eagles, of the American Legion and of the VFW, each of which he has served as an officer.

He is married and the father of a married daughter, a married son and a bachelor son. The sons are twins.

Here's text of proclamation

Here is the text of President Ford's proclamation designating Nov. 25 as Thanksgiving Day:

"Traditionally, Americans have set aside a special day to express their gratitude to the Almighty for the blessings of liberty, peace and plenty that have been bestowed upon a grateful nation.

"The early settlers of this land possessed an unconquerable spirit and a reliance on Divine Providence that remains a part of the American character. That reliance, coupled with a belief in ourselves and a love of individual freedom, has brought this nation through two centuries of progress and kept us strong.

"As we cross the threshold into our third century as a sovereign and independent nation, it is especially appropriate that we reaffirm our trust in Him and express our gratitude for the unity, freedom and renewed sense of national pride we enjoy today.

"Now, therefore, I, Gerald Ford, President of the United States of America, in accord with Section 6103 of Title 5 of the United States Code, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 25, 1976, as a day of national thanksgiving. I call upon all Americans to join on that day with their friends and families in homes and places of worship throughout the land to offer thanks for the blessings we enjoy.

"Let each of us resolve this Thanksgiving Day to make the coming year one in which our every deed will reflect our constant gratitude to God. Let us set a standard of honor, justice and charity against which all the years of our third century may be measured.

"Let us make this Thanksgiving a truly special one.

"In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-fifth day of October, in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred Seventy-six.

"Nineteen Hundred Seventy-six, and of the independence of the United States of America the 201st." (signed) Gerald R. Ford

You don't have a cable car? Make a vegetable custard!

By AUNT LIZ

There was a birthday Nov. 14 that we overlooked.

It was the 20th of our great interstate highway system, begun in 1956 as an eight mile job west of Topeka, Kan.

Those beautiful roads with no stop lights can really get you where you want to go in a hurry, but they are dull, especially at this time of the year, when you cannot see the holiday lights and decorations.

Still, it is all a great feat for our country to have 38,000 miles of such roadway. It should have been finished in 1972, but here it is 1976 and there are still 4,600 miles more to go, and guess who is paying for it?

Someone told me last year that about 10 years ago a freeway in a good size city cost about $1 million a mile and now it is up to something like $8 million.

The roads have changed ways of living, and there must be some good when someone can whip along an interstate for a vacation that takes only a few hours versus maybe a day.

Way back in 1966, a senator from Montana said "The cloverleaf is becoming our national flower."

Getting around a large city is certainly made easier and less time consuming, but some cities are still a little old fashioned.

I do not believe that under any circumstance would the city of San Francisco ever give up its cable cars. They are so-called cars. They are scary to ride, but get you where you are going, and rather quickly too.

They were the idea of Andrew Halliday, a Scotsman, who was aghast at seeing a four-horse team sliding backwards down the city's steep hills. If you use wheels, then, you know how steep they are.

Mr. Halliday said cables could get the trolleys up and down very efficiently, which no one believed. But he had perfected the use of cables to haul gold ore out of the mountains.

The first run of the cable car was on Aug. 1, 1873.

The guy chosen to take it down a six block hill took one look downward and quit on the spot. Mr. H. took over and the downhill run was a great success.

For a whole they had eight lines going, but today they have dwindled to three, and there is barely standing room on any of the cars.

IF YOU HAVE NEVER ridden on one, then get in your car and take an interstate out west and get on one. They are fun. And so is making something special to take to a holiday family gathering. This is not exactly an economical recipe but should serve at least 10 and if the rest of your family brings their share, perhaps even 12.

Boil two and a half pounds of potatoes until just tender. Cool, peel and slice.

Have a half cup of minced onion ready to cook until golden in about three tablespoons of butter (use margarine). Then add a cup of chopped and well-drained dilled pickles.

In a casserole make layers of the potatoes with the onion and pickle mixture and grated cheddar cheese (you should plan on about two cups of cheese).

When everything is used and in place, beat three eggs, add to a cup and a half of milk. Throw in some salt, like at least a teaspoon, some pepper and about a quarter of a teaspoon of nutmeg. Pour this all over the potato mixture. Then sprinkle the top with more cheese.

It has to be baked in a pan of water because it is chemically going to develop into a custard and should go for about 45 minutes at 350 until it sets.

It may be prettied up with slices of pickles and pimientos, which will really make it look like a holiday dish.

Harnessing energy used to be simple.

Years ago, most energy needs were met by what you had in your right arm. Or by something you kept in a stall, in your barn.

Today, meeting energy needs is a gigantic undertaking. And a complex problem. Because the need is still growing.

Even conservative estimates tell us the demand for electricity alone will double in the next 15 years.

Just keeping up with this increase is going to be tough. It's going to take new facilities. But major facilities take from five to ten years to build.

And a lot of money. Building a power plant today, for instance, costs five times what it did 15 years ago. And it was costly even then.

Besides that, everyone knows how the price of fuel used to generate electricity has skyrocketed since 1973.

But, while we continue to make every effort to hold down our costs in meeting your future energy needs, there are some things you can do to help conserve that energy and keep your costs in line at the same time.

By using your electricity wisely. Insulating your home properly. Checking into more energy efficient appliances and systems, like the heat pump.

And by understanding that the generation of electricity is a costlier and more complicated process than it used to be.

When you get right down to it, the best way we know to harness the energy we all need for the future is by working together today.

Ohio Power Company

Working together is the only way.

Is Thanksgiving only a holiday from work, only a family gathering, only a dinner of roasted turkey? We don't think so. Join with us in giving thanks for peace, for security, for a free enterprise-democracy and all the other wonderful things which are a part of our American way of life. We give thanks for the thousands of neighbors and friends whom it is a privilege to serve in a variety of ways.

DEAR FRIENDS and NEIGHBORS:

Our 1976 Plymouth-Shiloh Community Chest opens its annual drive October 9th thru November 13th. We hope you will work as hard this year as you did last year to reach our goal of $5,000.00.

That is a lot of money for a town this size, but really, our children are worth a million times that amount, aren't they? If we can help them through another year safely, it is worth the price.

Please just fill out the enclosed card and receipt, of course write your check, (folding money is acceptable) insert into pre-addressed envelope and mail. That is all there is to it, but, do it now before you forget.

To save 13¢ you can drop your envelope in the night depository at the Peoples National Bank or the First National Bank of Shiloh. Your stub is your receipt and your donation is tax-deductible. There will be a follow-up house call later in the drive.

If you "Donate at Work," please ask your employer to send your donation to your community chest. The community chest funds are being divided among local organizations. See that your money comes home where you receive the benefit of your donation.

The following agencies are worthy of your help:

SHILOH JR. HIGH BAND PARENTS
GIRL SCOUTS
SALVATION ARMY
PLYMOUTH-SHILOH SCHOOL LIBRARIES
CHRISTY LANE SCHOOL FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN
NEWHOPE SCHOOL FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN
PLYMOUTH-SHILOH BOOSTER CLUB
PLYMOUTH-SHILOH RECREATION INC.

SHILOH LITTLE LEAGUE
PLYMOUTH MIDGET LEAGUE
PLYMOUTH LIBRARY
MARY FATE PARK
PLYMOUTH POOL
PLYMOUTH BAND PARENTS
CANCER FUND
BOY SCOUTS

Sincerely,

Douglas Dickson, President
Officers and Directors

LAST CALL!

Drive closes this week —
