Reptiles stolen at Shiloh

A Shiloh reported Monday theft of a menagerie, comprised of a mynah bird, a tarantula, two Tahitian box constrictors, a California king snake and a black snake, all valued at $469.

Ryland Church, who lives in South Walnut street, told Shiloh police the theft occurred Aug. 19. The bird and reptiles were taken from the breezeway adjoining his home.

And an officer of the Shiloh police department is offering a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the persons who threw a brick through the car parked in his driveway. Dale Keesy believes the vandalism took place Sept. 5 between 11 and 11:30 p. m.

On Sept. 2, Shiloh police investigated a report of a prowler in North street. An eyewitness told police a man about 20 years old was peeking into a window of a North street residence. He was said to weigh about 190 pounds and to have brown curly hair and be wearing spectacles.

Duane Owens, South Walnut street, reported to police his car was shot at with an air rifle while it was parked at Volsard Mfg. Co. He said it is the second time his car has been shot at in the past month. He estimates damages at $400.

An ordinance proscribes firing of an air rifle in the village. Since police have begun investigating this offense, partridges have been handed the guns to police.

Clarence Harris, operator of H&R Millwright Service, reported Sept. 4 theft of five 14-ft. log chains and five log chain binders from a trailer at his place of business. Total value was estimated at $269.50.

Consider how Chinese do it when picnicking next year

By Aunt Liz

Now that the picnic season is over for another year, I find out what the Chinese take on their picnics.

It is more like a full course Sunday dinner. Not the stuffed eggs, cold ham sandwiches, carrot sticks, potato salad, pickles and fudge bars fare that was considered a real picnic when I was growing up. This was the acceptable menu for such things.

Then age changes it a little. When we were in college, our picnic menu tended toward baked beans, wieners and (I should not say this, but it is true) scotch and cokes, mixed together. I am surprised we all survived that era. One of the guys, who is as middle aged as I am, still has several baked bean scars on his shoulders from the time a can exploded. Some one who obviously had not been a Boy or Girl Scout stuck it in the fire to heat and neglected to poke a couple of holes in it. It really blew.

I have often thought that our Army could have saved a great deal of money in some of our wars if they had used this method to rout the enemy. IF YOU THINK WE LIVE it up at picnics, those Chinese make us look foolish. They go all out. This recipe is a dream and you can eat it hot at home in comfort or cold with a bunch of files. Start with 12 chicken drumsticks. In a bowl mix up a fourth of a cup each of honey and soya sauce, two tablespoons of white vinegar and one of dark brown sugar.

Put the drumsticks into this. Be sure they are all covered. Cover them. It can marinate all night in the refrigerator, but should be turned occasionally. If you do not want to have to set your alarm clock to get up several times during the night, do it at room temperature for about five hours during the day.

Make a mixture of four tablespoons of flour, four of cornstarch and about a fourth of a teaspoon of salt in a flat dish, so you can roll the drumsticks in it to get them well coated.

They are then to be fried in a wok if you have one, or a deep fryer in four cups of peanut oil. That is kind of hard to find, but you could order it from a place in Plains, Ga.

THE CHINESE ARE great about serving thin, little slices of meats, and this recipe cooked, then cooled, works like a dream.

Start with about three pounds or a speck less of a nice chuck roast. Pick one that looks as though it will slice nicely and is fairly even in shape. Get out your Dutch oven, and put it in with a mixture of two cups of water, a teaspoon of star anise (you can find this in many stores if you look a little), three tablespoons of dry sherry (do not use what is called cooking sherry, it is soaked up with stuff you do not want for flavorings), three tablespoons of soya sauce, some sliced up ginger (here you can toss in some powdered ginger if you do not have the fresh), two cloves of peeled garlic, a teaspoon each of salt and sugar.

Cover it and bring to a boil, then turn the heat down and let it simmer away for about two hours. At least once, it should be turned over.

Take the meat out, but save the liquid. The meat can be refrigerated overnight. Slice it thinly to serve, and pour just a little of the liquid over it.

Miss Van Wagner wed to C. R. Wilcox

In a candlelight ceremony Aug. 21 at 6:30 p. m., Miss Barbara Kay Van Wagner became the bride of Christopher Ray Wilcox.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Van Wagner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wilcox, Lexington.

The couple exchanged their vows and rings before the Rev. Ralph Lambert in First Christian church, Shelby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Pandora satin-tina gown with a scoop neckline edged with ruffles that created cap sleeves. A yellow satin ribbon underlined the bodice with Venise lace. A soft edged the flared skirt, which ended in a chapel-length train. A Juliet cap sat back on her head, from which veiling fell in three tiers. It was edged with Venise lace. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement.

Mrs. Garland Coover, Shelby, matron of honor, wore a lavender dotted Swiss designed with ruffled edged shawl. A single row of ruffles accented the bodice and the edge of the full skirt.

Miss Karen Farnwalt, mid of honor, wore yellow. The bridesmaids, Mary Lou Gardner, Mansfield, and Jamie Jacobs, wore gowns of red and white, respectively.

Gary Schroeder, Lexington, was best man. The bride's brother, William L. Van Wagner, 2nd; the bridegroom's brother, Todd Wilcox, and Gary Palacky, both of Lexington, ushered.

After the ceremony, guests received bridal scrolls from Julie Ross and Jane Heydinger, Miss Brenda Sheriff, Mansfield, registered guests at the church.

A reception took place at Elmer-Parsel Post 447, American Legion. Guests were assisted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Wilcox, Tiro, and Miss Joann Wilcox, Loudonville, and Miss Mary Jo Hass. Miss Pamela Garrett and Miss Nancy Heydinger were at the gift table.

Miss Glorioso bride here of J. A. Sutter

Miss Sharon Glorioso and Jeffrey A. Sutter were married Aug. 27 at 7:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

The couple repeated their vows and exchanged rings before the Rev. George M. Koerber, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Henry Edelenbos.

The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore J. Glorioso. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Sutter, Mansfield.

Before the ceremony Max Caywood played the church organ and Cindy Crissman, soloist, accompanied herself on the guitar.

Bouquets of pink carnations and daisies decorated the altar.

Mr. Glorioso gave his daughter in marriage and the parents lighted special candles.

The bride's gown was of cream satin with a sheer organza overskirt applique with lace and embroidered pearls. A lace stand-up ruffle edged the neckline with a bib of lace extending down the front of the bodice. Lace edged the hem of the skirt and train. Borders of lace also outlined the full-length veiling which fell from a small headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of pink roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Roland Tolliver, Orlando, Fla., was matron of honor. The bride's sister, Kristina Glorioso; the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Brad Crowover, Mansfield, and Mrs. Pamela Roberts, Shelby, were bridesmaids.

They wore blue print chiffon gowns over light blue satin. Ruffles accented the necklines and hems of the sleeveless gowns.

Their bouquets were of pink carnations and daisies.

Janeta Heydinger, New Washington, the bride's cousin, was the flower girl. The bridegroom's nephew, Ryan Crowover, was ring bearer.

Thomas Luck, Fredericktown, was best man. The couple's brothers, Michael Glorioso and Daniel Sutter, and Nick Jordan, Mansfield, ushered.

Mrs. Glorioso wore a jade green chiffon gown fitted at the waist with long panels.

Mrs. Sutter chose a pink crepe gown with a sheer cape.

Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

A reception took place in Elmer-Parsel Post 447, American Legion. The bride's table held a tiered cake baked and decorated by her aunt, Mrs. William

The teams tied, 8 to 8, last season. Plymouth has not beaten the Trojans for five years and the signs are that it will be tough to do so tomorrow.

On defense, McFarren will make four changes. Steve Endicott will play at tackle, Mike Messer, a transfer from Madison High school, at end, Ray Gullett, a letter winner, at corner back and Marty McKenzie, another letter winner, at safety.

Boy burned by friend

A 15-year-old Plymouth schoolboy was painfully burned on the leg Friday afternoon when a young friend poured gasoline on his trousers and then lit a match.

Ronald Cook, son of Mrs. Ruth Cook, was treated by a local doctor and thereafter, when he went into shock, taken to Willard Area hospital, where he is still a patient with second and third degree burns.

He, his brother, Dennis, and a neighbor, Mrs. Robert Lynch, swore in affidavits given to police they saw the incident.
