

Red to face unbeaten Redbirds

Plymouth is a decided underdog in its match with Loudonville tomorrow night. The Redbirds are unbeaten in Johnny Appleseed conference play and a victory tomorrow will assure them of at least a share of the conference championship.

The Voice of The Advertiser

On Nov. 7

Every Ohioan faces two proposed amendments to his state constitution in the general election Nov. 8.

Issue No. 1 is to amend the constitution to modify the procedures by which voters of a county may adopt, amend, or repeal a charter form of government.

We hadn't realized there was any problem and we doubt that such a problem in fact exists. If enough people in a given county want something new, or to get rid of something new that hasn't worked, the procedures are right there on the statute books and all they need do is follow them.

There has been too much amendment of the constitution to suit us and we shall vote a resounding "No" on Issue No. 1.

Opponents of Issue No. 2, which would remove the constitutional prohibition and requirement regarding prison labor and remove the constitutional restrictions on the sale of prison-made goods, argue that convicts will then compete with organized labor. The implication is that such competition would be unfair, both on economic grounds and on moral grounds. Why, they say, should a deviant be given the same or better opportunities to sell in the market place as one who behaves himself?

We'll vote for this amendment for the reason that convicts can't vote and so no legislator will be tempted to rig the rules to curry favor at the ballot box; for the reason that it costs more to keep a man in the penitentiary than a boy at Harvard, and we ought to find some sensible way to reduce those costs; and for the reason that an expanded market for convict-manufactured goods will put more convicts to useful work inside the penitentiary so that when they get outside, they may perhaps become contributing members of society.

Huron county voters, all of them, face three additional propositions. Each of them has to do with taxation.

A one-fourth mill levy to fund welfare expenses is submitted for renewal. There have been some changes in management of the Huron county welfare system that seem to have been for the better. Certainly no one would disagree with the statement that a welfare program, however modest, requires some funds. Vote for renewal.

The state has earmarked three-fourths of the cost of a training center for the mentally retarded at Christie Lane school at Norwalk. If the county will put forward one-fourth of the cost, this amounts to one-tenth of a mill to run for 20 years. It's cheap at twice the price and merits the support of everyone.

County commissioners are asking for an additional tax of eight-tenths of a mill to run for five years to fund construction and repair of roads and bridges. While we think there has been some mismanagement of the permissive $5 tax, we are satisfied that, in the absence of the enormous revenues that used to be forthcoming from license fees paid by Norwalk Truck Lines, and considering the inroads of inflation, this levy ought to be passed.

Richland county voters face in Issue No. 3 a proposal tax levy of two mills to maintain New Hope center, the treatment facility for the mentally retarded at Mansfield.

The proposal has more merit than demerit. Vote for Issue No. 3.

Voters in Plymouth must decide a local liquor option issue.

Shall the sale of malt beverages, wine and mixed beverages of the same types may be legally sold in Plymouth on other days of the week be permitted for sale for consumption off the premises on Sundays between 1 and 12 p.m.?

To the extent that such a change in rules will keep business in town, if indeed that's what it will do, we're in favor of it and shall so cast our vote.

title. Their final game will be with Ontario and ought to be a piece of cake. If Plymouth can win, it has a shot at half of the 1978 championship. It would then need to get by Crestview at Olivesburg on Nov. 3.

What exactly Coach Mike Warbel, in his fourth year at Loudonville, is trying to prove baffles most observers. Two weeks ago he kept his studs on the field for a long time, much longer than was necessary, to thump winless Lexington, 56 to 6. Last week he allowed his charges to kick the daylight out of Crestview, 46 to 6.

And he has the power to do it to Plymouth. Consider his tri-captains: Brent Peoples, split end and safety; Bill Spreng, guard and line-backer; and Rick Beans, 185-pound quarterback, who passed to two early touchdowns in last week's rout of the Cougars.

And in the backfield, there is Brad Brown, another in a long line of Brownings to wear the red and grey, and Tom Mumper, who scales 195 pounds.

The Redbirds ranked second in Region 6 after six weeks and are undefeated after eight games. They've surmounted some obstacles, such as Class AAA Medina and Class AA Clear Fork, West Holmes and Cadiz.

What must Plymouth do? Obviously, contain the Loudonville offense--which means Beans, Mumper and Brown--and establish an attack of its own. The big Red simply doesn't have a running back of Mumper's size or of Brown's speed. Beans is a better than average passer. He carries a 23.05 yard completion average into tomorrow's game.

If something should happen to Beans, the Redbirds don't have another on the bench with his skill or experience.

Plymouth will go into tomorrow's match healthy and determined. A year ago, when the Redbirds wound up with a poor season, Plymouth was the victor, 30 to 21. Came time is 8 p.m.

Best route to Loudonville stadium: Proceed in Route 603 to Route 30, turn south in Route 60 at Hayesville, proceed to Loudonville, striking Route 3 at edge of village. Continue in Main street and across bridge to traffic signal. Turn right in Route 39 and continue to third street on left. Turn left to stadium, which is behind the high school.

Mark Lewis, 12th grader, tackle and placekicker, serves Big Red offensively and defensively with some distinction. He'll be at tackle on offense at Loudonville tomorrow, when Plymouth seeks to put first blemish on Redbirds' unbeaten record.

Sister-in-law of Mrs. Robert Rhine and cousin of Mrs. R. Gordon Brown, Mrs. Joe McQuay, Tuscon, Ariz., was among guests at the Browns' 50th wedding anniversary celebration Sunday. She watched the Browns drive up in Model 1936 car. Mrs. Mary Bower, Atlanta, Ind., was also among the Browns' guests. Thomas Newmeyer, son of the Herbert Newmeyers, was released Oct. 18 from Willard Area hospital. Mrs. Thomas Garrett was released on Saturday. Mrs. Maxine Cole was admitted Sunday.

Kin of villagers dies in fire at Greenwich

The tragedy that has stalked the family of Randall Barney struck again Sunday.

A fire that may have been caused by an exploding gas furnace took the life of the Barneys' year-and-a-half-old son, Bobby, at Greenwich. The Barneys lived in Plymouth until the end of the spring. It was here that their daughter, Shanda, was stricken with a strange and mystifying ailment that necessitated treatment in Columbus and in California.

The fire started Sunday about 9 a.m. The baby died of smoke inhalation.

His mother, Carol, 22, was taken with her daughter to Willard Area hospital. Mrs. Barney received second degree burns of the face, back, hands, arms and lower chest. Her child has blister burns.

Another son, Randall, Jr., three, burned the bottoms of his feet.

The boy's father, 25, said he was asleep on the couch of the trailer at 60 Townsend street when his wife yelled from the bedroom. She was in bed.

with Randall, Jr., and Shanda.

Barney said he shouted to his wife to get the children out of the room. She smashed the panes with her elbow and forced the two children through the window. But flames had already engulfed the room and she could not save her son.

The dead boy was born in Shelby in June, 1977.

He is also survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lavon Isaacs, Plymouth, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Barney, Atwater, Cal.

Elder Buddy W. Carry conducted services from Little Rebecca Baptist church south of here Tuesday at 2 p.m. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Nov. 1, 1980, magic date

Nov. 1, 1980, is the magic date for the Village of Plymouth.

Village council decreed during a recessed meeting Tuesday this date is the final time for all householders and businesses to connect to the sanitary sewer system.

The council approved the final inspection report, which the Farmers Home Administration submitted to the village in writing on Friday.

Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock told the council Eugene C. Gerken, engineer for the project, suggests July 1979, as the final date. Councilmen James L. Jacobs, Sr., and Michael Taylor said that was too short a time. At the moment there are only four contractors under bond to do the tap-ins. These are Leroy King, Harry B. Forquer, Earl Fidler and Gregg Sheek, who is an employee of Schodorf Plumbing & Heating.

Taylor said there would not be enough time for so few contractors to do all the connecting without working overtime and causing inspections to be done after regular working hours.

Taylor also said that the tap-ins will be expensive and the two contracts will give families the chance to plan for it in their budgets.

Persons who have made arrangements with a contractor must complete a form in the clerk's office, pay a $50 tap-in charge and a $10 inspection charge. The inspections will be made by Village Administrator James C. Root.

Those who do not complete their tap-ins by the specified date are liable under Ordinance 8-73 to monetary penalties.

Council members refused to budge from their last offer to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., which is for a five per cent increase in rates over a five year period. The company is seeking an 11 per cent increase.

Robert Simmers, representing the company, was asked to again take the village's offer back to Mansfield. If it is not accepted, the village plans then to take its case to the Public Utilities Commission.

Leaves which are properly bagged and left at the curb will be picked up on Nov. 7 on the Huron county side of the village and on Nov. 8 on the Richland side.

Plymouth youngsters will be trick-or-treating Tuesday from 6 until 7 p.m. Councilman Ervin Howard argued for it, and his brother, David, joined him.

DeMolays set holiday party for youngsters

Youngsters through the third grade are invited to a Halloween party by Independence Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Monday from 6 until 8 p.m. in the Grand Hotel Post 447, American Legion, Trust street. Admission will be one item of canned food, which the chapter will use for its next project. Plymouth Lions club and the Legion will assist during the evening of games and serving of refreshments.

There will be prizes for those who come costumed.

William Hudson, master treasurer of the chapter, is general chairman.

Banner buys coal plant

Purchase of a coal processing plant at Jenkins, Ky., from Forest Coal Co. and entry into an agreement with Kinemotive Corp., Farmingdale, N. Y., to operate it jointly, are announced by Banner Industries, Inc., parent firm of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

Purchase price was not disclosed. The deal includes the right to large reserves of coal, go waste material remaining after coal is washed and a railroad siding served by the Chessie System, Inc.

Banner assigned the share of management of the new purchase to Banner Energy Corp., of which Miles W. Christian is president.

Banner said it intends to begin operating the Jenkins plant in a few weeks and to complete construction of a hopper within a year.

Banner Energy Corp. now operates a plant at Bruceville, near Vincennes, Ind. It expects to have two more such plants in operation by July.

Red wins sixth Lexington victim in 24 to 0 rout

Plymouth scored the first three times in got its hands on the ball in Mary Fate park Friday night and coasted to an easy 24 to 0 victory over winless Lexington.

It could have been a real rout but Coach Mike McFarren mercifully inserted his scrub team midway in the third period, after the Big Red had a comfortable lead.

The scrubs played well and gave some hope that next season's team may not be so bad after all.

Plymouth was handicapped somewhat by the retirement of Gary Reno, who said "football's not fun for me any more". Lexington kicked off and Plymouth marched 69 yards in 12 plays for its first touchdown. After the second play in the drive, a 15-yard penalty against the Minutemen on a face mask violation helped Plymouth materially. Mike Berberick and Jim Wallace contributed heavily during the drive, but it was a 14-yard pass from Jim Robinson to Terry Tash that produced the score. The throw came on fourth down, after a third down pass fell incomplete. Gary Holt kicked perfectly for the PAT, the first of three he was to contribute during the game.

The visitors could not gain in their series after the kickoff and they punted 21 yards to the Plymouth 49. A 32-yard pass completion gave the Big Red possession at the Lexington 12, but on third down Plymouth picked up a procedure penalty of five yards. Berberick's shot to the right gained eight and Plymouth was mired at the seven on fourth down. Wallace kicked a perfect field goal.

Lexington couldn't move in the next series after the kickoff and punted. Plymouth went to work at its 32. On third down, Robinson passed 29 yards to Tash and Plymouth was at the Lexington 35. Eight plays later, John Ross was in the end zone, having bucked home from a yard away with 7:00 left on the clock in the second period.

Lexington managed its initial first down with 6:08 remaining in the half. But that was all it could get and it punted dead at the Red 16.

For the first time in the game, Plymouth was unable to mount a sustained seven plays to cover the 68 yards.

It was here that McFarren inserted his scrubs. Some of them contributed handsomely, notably Scott Harris, James Jam-drive and on fourth down Ross punted 39 yards to the Purple 38. It was Plymouth's only punt of the night.

A pass interference penalty against Berberick gave Lexington possession in Plymouth territory at the 34 and the Minutemen drove relentlessly toward the Red goal.

With time running out, and after two pass completions, Lexington stormed on fourth down toward the goal line. A fumble there was recovered by Plymouth as the buzzer went off.

During the first half, with 26 plays, Lexington managed only 26 yards rushing and just 44 yards passing, with five completions in six tries. Plymouth, correspondingly, had 111 yards rushing and 75 yards passing -- three out of five -- in 38 plays.

The Big Red scored for the last time the first time it got possession in the second half.

The Big Red kicked off and intercepted Lexington at the Red 32. Scott Baker nailed the ball.

Berberick got 11 and Ross 12 in the drive to the end zone, which required

That magic night is Something has.

When I was that little,

The mothers planned to, maybe 25 of us, and on the way home I helped soap windows. Someone soaped ours, and my father took the law in his own hands and made me

wash off every one of them.

That did it, never again
did I soap a window.

Seven attend district parley

Seven members of the auxiliary, Garrett-Rest
Post 303, American Legion, attended the district
conference at Shelby
Oct. 4.

These were Mrs. R. Eugene
Russell, Mrs. H. R.
Nesbitt, Mrs. John He-
deen, Mrs. Harry Seaman,
Mrs. Howard Noble,
Mrs. James Huston and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Fifty-nine members
have paid dues, the membership chairman, Mrs.
Hedeen, reported Oct. 17.
Dues should be paid to her
by Oct. 31.

Junior auxiliary has elected Anita Seaman
president, Rhonda Mc-Donald, vice-president,
Pamela Shaffer secretary, Amy Adkins treasurer, Janelle Miller
chaplain, Cheryl Shaffer
news reporter, Jenny Adkins sergeant-at-arms.

Actually that is the last Hallowe'en I really remember. It was a lost holiday until we came to Ohio.

For years a local men's club, and at all exists,
sponsored organized costume parades which are great. The kids have fun, and even some adults enter into it and have a ball.

This still continues but a lot of communities have lost it, and the Trick and Treat night that the really little ones love.

It is a shame that somehow it has been spoiled. In the last two weeks two people for whom I have great respect have looked me right in the eye and have said they know it is true that some characters will go out of their way to put pins, razor blades and even inject drugs in the treats.

This I cannot believe.
That any human being would even bother to go to so much effort to do such a thing to some little cherub who holds a bag out and rather feebly, says,
"Trick or Treat."

What really turned so many communities off
was that they planned their special nights on different dates, which made it very convenient for other towns to descend on them for their special night.

Sewers accepted

Final acceptance of the sanitary sewer project is dated Oct. 5.

Mayor Elizabeth C.
Paddock received Saturday the acceptance executed by Glendon D.
Deal, Farmers Home administration engineer.

He wrote, "The last of the restoration work has been completed. All sewer lines have been repaired where problems were indicated with the last televising. In the case of Brooks court, the repair contractor attempted to make needed repairs at the first location and discovered that there was not a problem to repair.
After this experience it was determined that possibly the entire line
should be videotaped
again and this tape examined before any further excavation work was done. The videotape that was made indicated that there was not sufficient work to be completed to justify excavating. The only discrepancy shown in the videotape was that in two areas approximately one inch of water was standing within the sewer line. Due to the quicksand and water in these locations, it is doubtful that relaying the line would improve the situation. After viewing the tape and inspecting the sewer line restoration, we are satisfied that the construction is now completed. Now that the actual costs are known it is time to begin the negotiations with the bonding company for a final settlement on this project."
