

School 'energizing' contracts awarded to three firms

Contracts to "energize" Plymouth Elementary school were awarded by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

Principal contract, in the amount of $41,800, which will later be revised to allow for a substitute costing an additional $3,050, was given to Capitol Aluminum & Glass, Bellevue. It is for installation of projected sash.

J&B Acoustical Tile Co., Mansfield, was awarded the ceiling contract at $10,942.

Richland Electric Co., Mansfield, was low bidder among six firms seeking the electrical contract. Its bid was $13,929.

Richard Farmer complained as a parent that temperatures in classrooms are too low.

He was told by Supt. John Fazzini that thermostats are set between 64 and 68 degrees in order to conserve on energy, in order to conserve on energy.

He said the administration and teachers believe this level is supportable by all pupils.

Classes will be suspended Thursday and Friday, Dec. 7 and 8, for elementary school pupils so that parent-teacher conferences may be conducted.

Bonnie Shigall and Phyllis Phillips were hired as substitute cleaners on the salary schedule.

The board voted unanimously to extend congratulations to the FFA soil judging team and its instructor, Keith Johnson, which won the first state championship in Plymouth history in this endeavor.

State and federal assistance is available to upgrade cafeteria facilities, Supt. John Fazzini and Administrative Assistant Douglas Staggis told the board.

Estimated total cost is $13,000, which includes a new van with which to transport food between the elementary school cafeteria and the high school. Bid procedures were awaited.

Local share of the cost is about 25 per cent.

The Ruth Ford Henry track fund, to which her friends and neighbors contributed in her memory, was finally liquidated by transfer of $63.10 to the general fund, in accordance with instructions of the state auditor. At one time, the cash balance in the fund exceed $7,000.

Council fails of quorum to discuss village finances

Only Councilman G. Thomas Moore attended a special meeting Monday evening called by Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock.

Notices of the meeting, which covered four items: discussion and passage of the long over due appropriation ordinance, to reach a decision on the proposed five year contract with Ohio Power Co., discussion and decision to be made concerning the proposed street sign and parking ordinance and what will be the tap-in fee to the sanitary sewer system after Nov. 1, 1980, were delivered Thursday.

The first items have been repeatedly tabled by the council because they seemed so time consuming.

The mayor called the meeting with the idea that all four items would be time consuming during a regular meeting of the council, deciding that an extra meeting was called for to take a "time" burden off the council's two meetings a month.

Monday afternoon Councilman David A. Howard called Clerk-Treasurer Raymond L. Brooks to say that four councilmen had other commitments and would be unable to attend the special session. He did not tell Brooks which members they were, however.

The controversy among the council is that Brooks's appropriation figures are much larger than anticipated revenues in the general fund.

With a balance Jan. 1 of $4,510.91, the fund has received a total of $91,821.87 in receipts from various sources, which include property taxes, intangible taxes, shared taxes, inheritance taxes, fines and such through Oct. 31.

Expenditures for the same 10 months have been $94,818.70 with a balance on Nov. 1 of $1,514.08.

The general fund is broken into three sections, ambulance, safety (police department) and service.

The ambulance fund started the year in the red with a deficit of $2,538.45. Receipts have been $9,890.29 for 10 months and expenditures were $9,910.97.

The bugaboo is the police fund, which was budgeted at an estimated $50,000 for 1978 when the budget was prepared for the county auditor's office in June, 1977.

Brooks in the 1978 appropriation said expenses will total $63,570.00 which is based on an actual cost of the department for 1976 plus increase of salaries and the percentage of the inflation rate increase.

Schools get $18,901.66

First payment of delinquent Penn Central real estate taxes has been made to Plymouth Local School district and Plymouth and Cass townships.

The schools got $18,901.66. Plymouth township was paid $91.94. Cass township got $1,405.88. Village of Shiloh was paid $421.17.

With still two months of the year to go, the department has had expenditures of $62,875.33 and has a deficit of Nov. 1 of $4,546.09.

Receipts in the fund for the first 10 months have been $61,032.56.

These figures prompted the mayor to warn the council several times that new sources of revenue must be found. This led to discussion of selling the electric distribution system, which has been tabled for the time being.

The electric fund is not doing much better. Its receipts for the first 10 months have been $225,530.80 with expenditures of $251,559.22. It is now $28,782.25 in the red. It began the year with a deficit of $2,753.83.

The new 25 per cent rate increase went into effect last month but, because of a shortened meter reading period, shows hardly any reflection in revenues.

The electric reserve fund balance is $75,503.17. The cemetery fund is above water. It had receipts of $13,471.62 with expenditures of $12,512.18.

The water fund has receipts of $43,926.59 and expenditures of $68,582.43. It also has a deficit balance, which will be offset next year when the Boy dies of injuries in collision

The 10-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Bloodheart, Shiloh, Warren Quiggle died Saturday afternoon while undergoing surgery in Mansfield General hospital for injuries received earlier in a two car collision at Route 96 and Ganges-Five Points road.

He was a pupil in Auburn school, Shelby, and a member of the Shelby YMCA.

He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Quiggle, Shelby.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Shelby and burial was in Oakland cemetery there.

recent 25 per cent increase is billed for several quarters.

The sewer fund had receipts of $149,884.16, which is not wholly a true figure because $60,000 of that amount was borrowed to finish the repairs. These amounts are included in the 10 month expenditure of $88,921.80.

The park fund is in good shape with receipts of $3,537.15 and expenditures of $3,286.51. It began 1978 with a balance of $1,035.44 and has a balance as of Oct. 31 of $1,385.08.

The fire department began the year with a balance of $6,908.82 and has spent $1,193.76 this year. The small amount of spending in this department is because the members have spent their own funds, which they made during last summer's festival.

'Bad News Bears' ripoff, says O. T. in disgust

By THE OLD TIMER

It isn't often The O. T. feels that a dramatic performance about athletics deserves, or is worthy of, his public notice.

But Sunday's performance of "The Bad News Bears Break Training" is an exception. God pity the poor kid who sat up to see it.

Man and boy, The O. T. has been around sandlot baseball for over 50 years. These include several recent years of intimate contact with players of the eight-year-old to 13-year-old group that purportedly comprised the Bears lineup.

The language used by these kids was right out of the gutter and certainly not like anything The O. T. has ever heard on any sandlot diamond, which includes three continents, six countries and about a dozen states. It may be that in California young kids speak that way, in which case something's wrong with California (a contention The O. T. has had for some time) but they certainly don't anywhere else.

That any bunch of parents anywhere, whether in California, Ohio or Idaho, could be conned into the notion that a half-witted grounds custodian (and it was in poor taste to depict such an employee so harshly) would be escorting a dozen youngsters halfway across the nation in a gaily-painted van in which there was barely sufficient room for five boys, let alone a dozen, beggars belief.

Or that the financing was so flimsy. One boy asked for "$75 or $80" for the trip. Two young brothers asked for "$4 for the two of us."

That nobody looked into the lending of the van, or to whom the van belonged, or whether it was adequately insured, baffles us. The boys knew the van had been obtained under specious circumstances. Yet when they ran afoul with the law in Houston, there seemed to be no effort to ascertain that the van was pinched.

Much of this, perhaps, can be listed under dramatic license, to make the show go. What killed the golden goose, so far as The O. T. was concerned, was the climax of the fourth inning.

The Bears allowed two Toros to get on base. The coach called them and conferred with the pitcher, the third baseman and the first baseman. He conferred with the first baseman to secrete the ball in his mitt and to try the hidden ball trick.

When the pitcher was next seen, he had his throwing hand in the glove and was taking the windup position.

Now everybody knows that in whatever kind of baseball you're talking about (and this was billed as "junior baseball"), as distinguished from Little League, which doesn't allow a runner to lead off, no pitcher is permitted to address the mound, or be within several feet of it, unless he has the ball in his possession. To do so is to balk.

Yet the denouement of the show was that when the Toro runner stepped off first base, the little first sacker nailed him and the Bears were out of the inning.

By this time they'd lost us. The manner by which the Bears managed to win, 6 to 5, in the bottom of the fourth was so childish that even a six-year-old would turn up his nose in disgust.

Don't take your kids to see "The Bad News Bears Break Training". It's a ripoff!

Big Red improving, Colts favored in JAC

Don't expect Plymouth's Big Red basketball to challenge for the Johnny Appleseed conference championship in this, its last season before bowing out of the league.

Plymouth is a charter member of the conference. Clear Fork, a Class AA school that participated in the regionals last season, has some of its star players back and Terry Gordon has them geared up to win.

Lexington, a Class AAA school, is always tough. Basketball is a veritable religion in Lexington and the Minutemen of 1978-79 don't intend to do less well than their immediate predecessors.

Taken on performance at the annual preview here Friday night, the Colts and Lexington must be regarded as the class of the league.

Loudonville and perhaps Ontario, both Class AA teams, will be average to slightly better than average.

Crestview is a dark horse. Jon Daup's program is coming along but hasn't reached fruition.

Keith Diebler is the greenest coach in the league and his program has less tenure. But the Big Red performed creditably in the preview, losing by a single point to Crestview, with no 12th graders on the floor, and by a single point to Lexington, with all the horses in action.

Plymouth met Monroeville, with a new coach and a new outlook after a dismal 1977-78 season in which the Eagles won only a single game, and that ever deadly rival St. Paul's, only to succumb to the Flyers in the sectionals, here, last night. Plymouth was favored by eight to win its first game.

Diebler obviously looks to Terry Tash and Mike Berberick to handle the back court for most of the way, in part because he doesn't have anybody else, in part because they are the most experienced hands available for the job.

He looks for Ron Schuller to show great development over last season. Jeff Ream is the stalwart of the front court. Randy Neely's shooting "has improved a lot over last year". Diebler says, "and I look for him to help us out."

The 11-man squad, including these five, also includes Greg Gillum, Jim Wallace, Jerry Wheeler, Harvey Robinson, Chris Brown and Gary Reno.

Robinson is the greenest and also the tallest. Gillum and Wallace will complete their schoolboy careers this season, as will Schuller, Neely, Tash and Berberick. This leaves only five experienced hands for the 1979-80 season.

Forecast for the JAC season: Clear Fork, Lexington, Loudonville, Ontario, Plymouth, Crestview. Forecast for the Big Red: nine-and-12.

Here's apple pie to end all pies!

By AUNT LIZ
Guess what is coming?
That happy day when you get all the essentials instead of all the luxuries you really want.

This year I got a new typesetting machine in advance. Everytime I look at it, and it is beautiful, I really want to kick it.

Don't feel badly that you are not getting something from that really famous department store in Dallas, which always makes headlines every year with its Christmas catalogue. Most of what it has is already sold.

Somewhere I read that a happy Arab simply bought out the fur department. There was quite a bit to buy because little nothings of furry things go all the way up to something like $150,000. This would even amaze the animals who are involved. I am sure. They probably through their life times just considered themselves little old minks and sables who were looking for food and gals.

Now that Thanksgiving is here, we can all legitimately start for the next holiday, but everyone cheats. They are buying during the year. There is nothing like Christmas shopping at the summer sidewalk sales, and I bet most families have it all under control right now. Husbands do not read calendars very well, so they are the ones who really have to rush out at the last minute.

This can result in the wrong sizes, the wrong flavors of perfumes (the poor guys are really helpless--any other time they think they know all the answers.) It is not that I think men are dumb, sometimes they just kind of miss the boat. They do try.

Help them out by giving them a list of desirable things and be sure to throw in the real extras of what you really want.

Any husband will have a ball checking out such a list and give you most likely the last item that is within reason. Just start with the crown jewels of England and let him work downward... to maybe something like a crock pot that you would really like.

And from now on, you must soften up such characters. You know the old saying about the tummy. Do any of you who might read this know where that started?

Right now it is not only a matter of softening up a tummy, it is also a matter of staying within reason, budget-wise.

With apples in season and a lot of people have them, try this.

You can make a really nice pie crust of your own but a frozen one will work just as well. Bake it as directed.

Then cut up about eight to 10 apples, which will make 10 cups' worth. Put only six cups of them in a saucepan with a half cup of sugar and a fourth of a cup of water. Cover and cook over low heat until they are soft. Stir a little. When ready, beat them with a wooden spoon so the sauce is smooth.

Then in the baked pie shell spread this mixture over it. Mix the left over four cups of apple slices with teaspoon of lemon juice and strategically place each slice over the sooped-up apple mixture in the pie shell so it is attractive.

Sprinkle about a fourth of a cup of sugar over it all. A little nutmeg and cinnamon if you like it will add more flavor.

Then you bake it for about a half hour at 350 until the top apples are done, take from the oven, put under the broiler for a few minutes to brown.

Meanwhile, melt up about four tablespoons of apple jelly, and when ready to serve, pour that over it all. It can be bare, but if you have guests, add some whipped cream mixture.
