$10,000 loss in blaze

Two Californians visiting Plymouth lost the house of Ray Baldrige in Fire 603, Cass township, fire, on Friday and stopped at the next house to summon Shiloh - Cass - Bloominggrove Fire department.

A wood-burning stove had overheated and fire burned in the siding.

It was ironic that the fire alarm was conveyed by Baldrige's high school classmate, John Tracy, 14, son of the fireman, who was charged with reckless operation, fleeing an officer and refusal to submit to a breathalyzer test.

He will appear Monday.

Councilman Jacobs's resignation because of health tabled

Resignation of James L. Jacobs, Sr., as councilman effective as of Sunday, was tabled by four council members Tuesday night.

Jacobs, who is completing a fourth year term, will expire Dec. 31, said his health is poor.

He retired from Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., during the summer because of ill health.

He served a full term and part of another as trustee of public affairs and was serving in that capacity when the old board constructed the village hall. His job was abolished when the village adopted the village administrator system.

In the absence also of Councilman Michael Taylor, who is vacationing, the four remaining councilmen, Ervin and David Howard, G. Thomas Moore and Edward Ramsey, quickly went through the annual reorganizational meeting.

David A. Howard was reelected president pro tempore of the council.

Council meetings will continue to be conducted on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 7 p. m.

Wayne E. Strine was again appointed fire chief and David A. Howard was appointed V. Ellis was appointed to another six year term as a trustee of Greenlawn cemetery.

A snag was struck, however, when Mayor Elizabeth C. Paddock recommended that Village Solicitor Robert A. McKown's contract be renewed for another two years. It expired Dec. 31.

David Howard said he thinks McKown only wants a one year term. Since McKown was not present, no action was taken on his appointment.

For the first time in many years, the council passed the annual appropriation ordinance at its first meeting of the year.

Clerk Raymond L. Brooks said the figures for each fund are fairly close to the 1978 figures, which were approved in December.

Total expenditures are $681,727, the exact figure the budget commission returned to the village last summer of what the village can expect in revenues for this amount.

$105,783.19 goes to the general fund, including $78,913 for police protection, $13,650 for fire protection and $6,908.17 for ambulance service.

Gifts, coins missing

Perry McKenzie reported to Plymouth police Dec. 25 that his house had been ransacked over the holiday weekend.

Christmas gifts plus jewelry and coins were taken. The break-in is still under investigation.

Open house set Sunday

The Rev. and Mrs. John H. Hutchison, Jr., and their children will welcome members of the parish and friends to their informal open house on Jan. 4, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m.

National Bank of Mansfield for 90 days will be submitted at that meeting.

Collections for electric services during December amounted to $19,047.58, about $430 less than the bill due to Ohio Power Co. Ramsey suggested perhaps another rate increase of 10 per cent should be applied.

Long haul Saturday!

Big Red basketballers have a tough weekend ahead.

Tomorrow they go to Bellville to tackle the once-beaten Colts, who stand at the top of the Johnny Appleseed conference standings with a perfect slate. Clear Fork is favored by 10 points.

And on Saturday they go to Dalton in what will be the longest haul for a Plymouth team in any sport since the end of World War II.

Dalton lies east of Wooster off Route 30. Best route: Proceed east on Route 603 to Planktonville, turning south in Gangesville. Points road to Route 13. Continue south to Route 30. Turn east, continue through Wooster about 15 miles to flashing light indicating Dalton. Turn left, signs adjacent to school are west side of the street.

Here's annual report by mayor on state of village

Pursuant to Sec. 733.41 of the Revised Code of Ohio, I submit herewith the annual report of the mayor on the state of the village.

I am sorry to say that I do not find it good. As of Dec. 31, 1978, the village was unable to settle a loan of $15,000 to benefit the general fund and it has been renewed. I confess that I cannot now see any time in the near future when the note can be paid.

If these words and phrases seem familiar, there is good reason: for the phrase eight in the date, they are exactly what I reported to the council on Jan. 3, 1978.

We have made some progress financially during 1978, but unfortunately not where we need to make progress. We have not relieved any of the pressure on the general fund. Presumably, the electric fund and water fund will within a short time be producing sufficient revenue to meet expenses, commitments, to reserve funds, and a small balance. I am hopeful that this will prove to be true. It is the demand upon the general fund, and most particularly the need to settle its debt, that cause me to lose sleep.

I explored on Jan. 3 last the several avenues by which the village can resolve this problem. I regret to say that the council has not been able to do any of these. To refresh my memory, I will repeat for the council's benefit what they are: an additional tax levy (and the people have already shown they will not hold still for one such), a village income tax (which is patently unfair, because fewer than one fourth of the wage earners in the village will pay for services extended to all of the citizens), and sale of the electric distribution system (which has become more valuable in terms of dollars during the last year because its revenues have been arbitrarily increased).

For the first time in my memory, which goes back to 1954, the village starts a new year with an appropriation ordinance that details exactly the penny what we plan to spend for each specific purpose of the village. I shall insist that the clerk-treasurer present his monthly report to the council in such fashion that the drain on each appropriation shall be shown on a monthly basis, together with an average monthly expenditure for each appropriation, so that the council can quickly gauge how each fund stands, and whether action should be taken to transfer appropriations from the general fund from one account to another. I remind the council and the clerk-treasurer that the village has been in serious violation of state law in the past by making payments for which there did not exist sufficient appropriation.

The price that the citizens of Plymouth pay to live and work here is higher than at any time in its history. Although the property tax has been diminished, the cost of essential services has risen enough to offset the decrease in property taxes. The steady advance of inflation has eaten into the amount of service or benefit that accrues to the citizen for what he pays.

Therefore, during 1979, in my judgment what this council should strive for is to improve the quality of life with minimal increase in the cost to the participant. It will not be easy to do this.

Let us consider. The state of street repair is poor. Many streets that were disrupted by sewer connections that were repaired after the fact are now in a sad condition. One need only drive down Maple street to see that this is so. Although we have authorized the expenditure of a large sum of money on our water system, the quality of water delivered to the household often leaves much to be desired. Some of the complaint derives from deficiencies within the sewerage, a fact which is difficult to get across to householders. It is nevertheless true that the deficiencies of the system in the first place were what caused the complaints that we receive today. The duty of the village is clear: for whatever fee the household pays to receive water service, that service must be of unexceptionable, not to say optimum, quality.

It is more or less a joke that we appropriate $34,000 for street maintenance and repair. It is not enough. We have put off too long the resurfacing of streets. The order of the OPEC countries to advance the price of raw petroleum by 14.5 per cent before October with streets. It is obvious, advance the price of asphalt by at least that much and more probably 20 or 21 per cent. Our needs for asphalt products during 1979 will be much, much greater than during 1978, when, owing to shortage of funds, we were not able to meet our current needs for street repair.

How shall we finance these needs? There are three avenues of approach. The first, to which I have referred, is to pay for them from current revenues. It is clear that we cannot do so. The second is to seek assistance from Huron and Richland counties. I have been in close touch with the commissioners of both counties, including those who recently took office, and I am disappointed to tell you that we cannot expect any relief there. The third is to make assessments for improvements. State law prohibits assessment for those streets where assessment has been previously made. We have three such streets. It is obvious that we must resort to assessment to effect some street repairs. The political decision as to which streets shall be so affected will tear this community apart, but we must all face up to it. We must also bear in mind that to assess requires the engagement of professional engineers to prepare plans and specifications, all of which will add to the expense of the project. The quality of life in Plymouth is directly affected by the condition of its streets.

The village administrator is hereby directed to record the amount of electric current consumed by each village service unit to charge the service administratively for the value of the service at the lowest published rate.

I shall ask the council to revise present procedures so that free electricity to non-village services, such as the swimming pool and the Midget League, shall be terminated. Those who use services should be required to pay for them. The argument that Midget League baseball and swimming prevent juvenile delinquency is meretricious; the juvenile delinquents with whom the village has been involved are too old for Midget League baseball and do not take a bath, let alone use the swimming pool.

The village must expect during 1979 that its access to supplementary funds with which to engage additional personnel will be restricted. I have already been informed by the Richland and Huron county administrators of CETA that this will be so. I have always felt guilty about how the village uses CETA funds. The Congress never intended that this money be used to furnish services that otherwise should be paid for by the village. The intent was to furnish training for otherwise unemployable individuals so they could find a place in society. In spite of this, the village of Plymouth has thumbed its nose at the intent of Congress and taken money under false pretenses. Most of this money that we have used has been in the police department. I am sure that the village has paid for a police dispatcher, a position that never has been in the police concept of police management in Plymouth. Those who have served over the past 25 years as police dispatcher were neither professional, permanent nor wholly satisfactory. It is obvious that the village has paid for a contract with the sheriff of Huron county to answer the police telephone when the office is not manned. This can be done by a leased telephone line to Norwalk. The sheriff will charge us nothing. The cost of the lease I estimate to be $1,500 a year. CETA refuses to appropriate money for this purpose. If it is necessary to do so, I will donate my salary as mayor to fund this procedure, and I call upon the council to undertake this action at once.

I have not been pleased that the revenue sharing funds have been expended for other than capital improvement purposes. Expenditure of these funds have unfortunately been used for purchases that should have been paid for by the earnings or savings of the several funds involved.

This is the 32nd year of the village's travail with a sanitary sewer system. The system has now been accepted. The citizens during 1979 and 1980 will be put to very considerable personal expense to connect to the sewer. The village should make every effort through its administrators and its sewer department to cooperate with each citizen so that the connection of each household will be as painless and as inexpensive as possible. Nevertheless, each household should be reminded of his obligation to furnish to the village a sketch or drawing of the connections of his sewer to the lateral, showing locations, depths, gradients, sizes of conduits and such.

Litigation concerning the sewer contract still hangs over our heads. I have at my own expense testified under oath at Cleveland as regards the complaints of the bonding company. I have striven to comply with the subpoenas of the attorneys for the plaintiff. I am sorry to say that some of the records, notably including the minutes of this council, cannot be found. The council has affirmed that it is anxious to compose the suit without a trial. The solicitor is pursuing this course. I would remind the council that there are a number of householders with grievances against the sewer contract who cannot expect relief from the bonding company. These persons, and I am one of them, will need, and are entitled, to obtain relief somewhere. Will this be the manner of the defalcated contractor? Will it be the village? If it is the village, will the council please tell me how to pay for it?

The village also faces a lawsuit filed by the widow of a volunteer fireman who died in the course of duty. The village solicitor has already remarked that he thinks it is a pity that the village has some of its employees leaves much to be desired. He implies that the lawsuit derives entirely from an investigation needlessly ordered by a member of the council and acquiesced in by a complacent employee of the village so that others were innocently involved in a private investigation of the record which was stupidly made public.

What all this boils down to is that we need more money to operate if we are to preserve, let alone improve, the quality of life in Plymouth. There is only one way to do so. It is to sell the electric distribution system and to invest the proceeds in federal treasury notes, the interest on which will provide us with about $130,000 a year. This will repair a good many streets.

There has been some talk of reviving the planning commission. I am astonished that the council has not done this homework. I invite the notice of the council to Sec. 713.01 of the Revised Code and to Ord. 10-60.

It may be noted that appointment of members to the planning commission is made entirely and wholly by the mayor without confirmation by the council. I am loath to appoint anybody to the expired terms unless the council disposes of the comprehensive zoning ordinance submitted by me in 1972. My reason for this is that I think it impossible to encourage civic-minded individuals to serve in such capacities without some reasonable assurance that their efforts will be seriously considered by the legislative body.

I am confident that the apparatus now established to deal with a common disaster, such as a heavy snow or a tornado, is effective and need no implementation by the village. Consultation with the safety forces and the executive echelon of the village was had before the apparatus was established. Professional training of the participants has been completed.

It is to be hoped that this apparatus in efficient operation will overcome the tendency of some of our citizens to panic. Such panic during the blizzard of Jan. 26, 1978, was a greater problem than the removal of the snow.

For my part, during 1979 I intend to commit my most vigorous efforts to the following:

1. To work hard with the council in composing differences of personalities so that energies expended on animosity can be conveyed to amity, for the good of the village. It will be helpful if the council will forget that I am a woman. It will be helpful if the council will consider the appointment of a woman to the next vacancy, which has already occurred.

2. To encourage the development of the retail community, in which the village has so much money invested, with a view toward improving the quality of life of the village. Since I came here 25 years ago, 41 full-time businesses have passed out of existence. They have been succeeded by only nine.

3. To reduce the fixed costs of the village by examining the possibilities of a better and cheaper group hospitalization contract that would be controlled by an elected delegate of the village of Plymouth.

4. To refine the fiscal processes of the village so that any citizen at any time may know where we stand and how we stand there.

I will say again what I said a year ago: There is nothing wrong with Plymouth that a little sensible tinkering cannot cure. I pledge my best efforts during 1979 to see to it that this is what occurs. I need your help. I reach out to it. I shall be gravely disappointed if you deny it to me because I am a woman, because I am the wife of the newspaper editor, or because I do not, in some instances, at least, wholly agree with you.

From the sublime to the ridiculous in five days is what befell Plymouth's girls basketball team at New Washington Dec. 21.

The Big Red played poorly and was beaten by Buckeye Central, 54 to 26.

Plymouth did not shoot well—only 17 per cent from the field—and never once went to the foul line.

There was some complaint about the refereeing, "but that wasn't what beat us," said Coach Deborah Pruner. "We just didn't play well."

If Red Cross hadn't trained young Lars Aleskien in lifesaving techniques, last summer Adam Gauthier just might have ended up one more drowning statistic. (Adam's alive and well today thank you, and in the first grade in Manitowish, Wisconsin.) We're not asking for medals (Lars is the one who deserves those). But we do need your continued support. Help us. Because the things we do really help in your own neighborhood. And across America. And the world.

Adam Gauthier counted on us.

We're counting on you.

Here's How: The fireplace chimney draft will draw heat out of your home, so keep the damper closed when not in use. Or block the opening with a removable panel of plywood or fiberboard. Don't let dollars go up the chimney.
