Council passes income tax, 4 to 1, on first reading

A one per cent municipal income tax ordinance was approved on first reading. June 20, with one dissenting vote, that of Councilman Ervin Howard. His brother, Councilman David Howard, Councilman David Howard, was absent. The ordinance would require quarterly payments of the tax to a newly created department of taxation. Section IV of the ordinance says "Every individual taxpayer who resides in the Village of Plymouth but who receives net profits, salaries, wages, commissions or other personal service compensation for work done, or errore the profits of the profits of the profits, salaries, on such net profits, aslaries, on such net profits, salaries wages, commissions or othe wages, commissions or other municipality, shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this ordinance of the amount so paid by him or in his behalf to such other municipality. We can all thank our lucky stars that last week was in June and not January.

Weather forecasters are saying that what we are getting now is following a winter pattern.

Man hurt at PML field

A bizarre accident at Weber field Friday resulted in hospitalization of a local man with a compound fracture of the back.

A short circuit in an electrical connection above the bleachers caused sparks, which started Harless Glisson, who fell backward off the top jier of the bleachers onto his back.

He was taken to Willard Area hospital by ambulance.

The Voice of The Advertiser -

Three cheers

for form-in-vial

Everyone should take note today that the county health department is inaugurating a special health program that beats the socks off anything we've heard of

Under the leadership of our friend and neighbor, Dr. Howard Sparks, the department is distributing forms to be completed and vials to be stored in the refrigerator just in case. In case of emergency, when even the most seasoned person is apt to be excited and not react quickly and properly to the need of the hour.

The form lists the name of one's doctor, his preferred hospital, data respecting one's insurance, medicare number, medicaid number, whom to call in event of an emergency and special medical conditions that might guide an ambulance attendant or hospital emergency

The vials are for the storing of the data, which certainly won't be harmed if kept dry, albeit chilled in the refrigerator.

The best part of it all is that it's free. No fee is collected, no sales pitch goes with it save this one: it makes good sense to participate in the program. The expense of doing so is minimal and not fiscal in Emergency personnel - ambulance attendants, firemen, policemen, those who respond to electric power and telephone disruptions - will be informed of the likelihood that the vials are stored in refrigerators and to search for them if the stricken person cannot respond to

Dr. Sparks knows his job as well as anybody and he doesn't need any suggestions from us about how to do it.

But there's one idea that has merit, we think, that the department may not have looked into. It is that Boy Scout and Girl Scout and 4-H organizations can be pressed into service to carry these forms door-to-door, so that the whole county can be covered in one fell swoop.

At a time when fuel shortage is about to

At a time when fuel shortage is about to afflict all of us, we certainly must insure that emergency vehicles and their personnel always have enough fuel to move instantly. We can't afford wild goose chases, such as might occur when a stricken person is unable to respond to verbal inquiries by the ambulance or doctor. The ambulance personnel will feel a lot better if they know for certain that they've collected all the data that're available to treat the person quickly and safely.
