Big Red falls to Roughriders in overtime

The game was married by an accident to a Plymouth player. Matt Patrick crumpled to the floor with 4:46 to go in regulation play and after several minutes of attention was removed to Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk, by ambulance for treatment of his right ankle.

Plymouth took a lead midway through the second period and held on to it until 2:24 of the fourth period, when Ted Patrick scored two free throws and sent his team into a 63 to 61 advantage. Jeff Horn drove through the middle at 1:10 with a basket and, after Plymouth had called time with 52 seconds remaining, Horn added two free throws, having been fouled by Steve Tackett.

Jeff Ream broke the string by bagging a field goal and after another time out with 37 seconds left on the clock added another. Kevin Burke was awarded a free throw on a foul by Tackett, which sent him to the bench permanently, and he scored with it and added the bonus. Behind by four, Plymouth in desperation managed a field goal by Marty Carty. Horn had a chance to put the game on ice but missed the free throw. And with one second on the clock, Randy Neeley bagged a garbage shot that tied it at 69.

After a minute's rest, the two teams went at it again. Western Reserve sought to blow Plymouth out of the gymnasium. The Roughriders scored five points in rapid succession. Barry Holzmiller, who led the Roughriders with 24, nailed two field goals on corner shots. Patrick got the second of two free throws. Behind at 74 to 69, Plymouth sought to catch up. And catch up it did.

The Big Red ran off a string of six unanswered points to take a lead at 75 to 73. Ream scored a couple of free throws, Neeley added two more and then Ream fired another through the basket. The clock read 23 seconds. An instant later the Roughriders called for time out. When they came up the floor, Randy Pedersen obtained possession at the top of the key. He dribbled twice and fired for the basket. The ball went through cleanly. Plymouth called for time with seven seconds left but couldn't do anything more.

It ws the third defeat of the season by a Firelands conference team. Plymouth has a return engagement with Western Reserve here on Jan. 19.

Plymouth was outrebounded, 38 to 32. One sign of improvement was the number of turnovers, only 11. Western Reserve was charged with 13.

Teachers to get 11% pay increase

A strike of teachers in Plymouth Local School district was averted Dec. 20 when they and their employer, Plymouth Board of Education, reached agreement on a two year contract.

The agreement was ratified by the teachers Friday.

Miss Suzanne Farrar, principal negotiator for the teachers, said her colleagues are "happy; the compromises we made were good ones".

Vote of the Dec. 20 was 47 to 3 to accept the contract.

The new contract calls for a starting salary of $10,000, up from $9,500. Miss Farrar said that until state law compelled Plymouth district to raise the starting salary for the holder of a baccalaureate degree to $9,500, the base pay of $9,350 offered by Plymouth district was the lowest in northern Ohio.

The figure of $10,000 in 1980 will rise to $10,750 in 1981.

Only a few new teachers are hired each year. The key to the new contract agreement is that experienced teachers will also receive commensurate raises.

The board of education will pay 100 per cent for medical insurance up to a maximum amount, but teachers won't know what that level is until July, Miss Farrar said.

Teachers who drive their own vehicles on official business will be reimbursed at the rate of 22 cents a mile. The present figure is 20 cents.

Miss Farrar acknowledged the package amounts to an 11 per cent increase across the board, seven per cent of which is in salary.

Plymouth Education association at first demanded $10,200 for first year teachers and $11,000 in the second year of the contract.

A strike that would have begin yesterday had been threatened by the teachers, who charged that the board and its negotiators had used stalling tactics since the negotiations first began in November, 1978, and after an impasse panel had made recommendations to the board, which recommendations were endorsed by the teachers.

Miss Farrar added that teachers had begun to prepare a reduction in force program, by which teachers would know in advance what is the likelihood of their retention if the board were forced to reduce expenditures.

$122,000 accepted to end law suit

An out-of-court settlement of $122,000 was approved by village council during a special meeting Thursday to end the lawsuit pending with the American Empire Finance Co., the bonding agent for Quentin Alderman Co., Inc., the sewer contractor who defaulted in completing the installation of the sanitary sewer system.

The council acted on the advice of Village Solicitor Robert A. McKown, who frankly said he recommended the settlement rather than any further legal entanglements that would cost the village much more if the suit went to a jury trail in the district court in Cleveland.

McKown carefully pointed out that after Alderman defaulted and left the village without completing the installation of the sewer system, the bonding company did take over and put its own money into it. This he said amounted to close to $200,000.

During a meeting on Oct. 14, 1975 in Cincinnati when McKown, Mayor Elizabeth Paddock, Eugene C. Gerken, the engineer for the project, met with Louis Gilligan, who represented the bonding company, it was determined that the project should be finished. Gilligan said "we have a mutual interest in getting the contract done as fast and without interruptions for the people".

He then said the bonding company was willing to forego the $80,000 in retainage held back from the payments to Alderman, which represented a 10 percent fee on each statement presented to the village to assure the work would be completed. This amount was used to complete the system. This was done by McDaniel and Co., Amherst.

The mayor said she thought if the suit did go to trial, which she also wished to avoid because it would be so time consuming, the village would most likely win, but the cost would not be worth it.

The one item which is not resolved is the individual claims of numerous residents for damages which they say were caused by the sewer construction.

These claims will have to be presented to the insurance company of Alderman. He had been obligated to take out full insurance coverage.

The settlement of the village's suit is that the construction company was bonded by American Empire to complete the job within 365 days, which it failed to do. The council had at one time extended the date for 60 more days but by then the contractor simply walked off the job.

By the time that McDaniel and Co., began work in the Beelman street are to finish the system, prices had risen so that the original contract price could not be met. This is where the retainage sum was used, to which the bonding company agreed.

In the final stage of the sewer construction, a sum of $60,000 was borrowed from the First National Bank of Mansfield. Half has been paid back and the village will most likely be able to settle the other half once the money is forthcoming from the bonding company. Legal fees to Squire, Sander & Dempsey, Clevelan, and to McKown will have to be paid. Neither has submitted bills so those amounts are unknown at this time.

PJVS to seek one mill tax

Pioneer Joint Vocational school will try for a third time to obtain fresh tax money during a special election in March.

Its board of education voted Dec. 17 to seek one mill of taxation, which is eight-one hundredths of a mill more than what was sought in 1979. The request then was for 92/100 of a mill, of which 42/100 was renewal and one-half mill was fresh taxation.

If the levy is approved in March, it will be effective indefinitely. It will produce, at present valuations, $851,000 a year.

In the meantime, Pioneer intends to borrow money to meet expenses until the levy is approved. If it is approved, the district may by law borrow up to 50 per cent revenue that would have been generated by the tax during 1980, had the voters sanctioned it.

This would about match the loss of the 42/100-mill levy that was defeated in November.

Mayor, councilmen resign at Shiloh

Shiloh's mayor and two councilmen resigned Dec. 12.

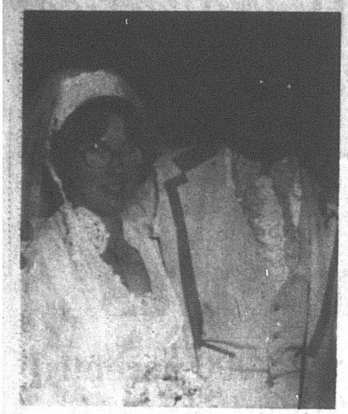

Mayor Grady McDonald, just elected to another term (he was unopposed), said he will be forced to resign as of Dec. 31.

When he did so, Frank Cline, president pro tempore of the council, resigned that office (law requires that a president pro tempore be chosen during the first meeting of the new year) because he doesn't want to be mayor. Councilman Harry Foster resigned because he doesn't like the new members of the council.

No action was taken on any of the resignations.

McDonald will be required to submit his resignation in writing. So will Foster. Cline's resignation was written.

5th graders win again

Fifth grade Vikings won their third straight Christmas tourney at Friendly House, Mansfield, downing Jimmy's Cafe, 26 to 4, in the championship game.

Steve Hall scored 10 points.

With Ream, Red downs Danbury

The difference was the return of Jeff Ream, who led all scorers with 29 points. He did not play earlier because he is enrolled in a minimum of classes here. He attends advanced studies on the Mansfield campus of Ohio State university.

Plymouth had to come from behind in the second half to do it. The Big Red trailed at the half, 30 to 26.

The Big Red did it with superior shooting, by outrebounding the Lakers, 29 to 22, and by making fewer mistakes. Plymouth was charged with 20 turnovers, Lakeside with 25.

Trojans trounce Red

After Plymouth tied the score at 2 to 2 early in the first quarter, the Trojans maintained a comfortable lead throughout the first half. They led by eight points after eight minutes and by six at the half. Plymouth outscored South Central in the second period, 18 to 16.

Each team scored 18 points in the third quarter, when Plymouth drew to within three points at 46 to 43. But then the Trojans strung together eight unanswered points and it was all over but the shouting.

Some of that shouting came on the next play, when the referees made a colossal mistake.

Steve Tackett steamed under the Plymouth basket with a lay-up that rolled across the hoop and fell to the floor. South Central was whistled for a defensive foul. The officials ruled the ball fell through the hoop – anybody could plainly see that it did not – and Tackett stepped to the line for the penalty shot. He sank it and the three point play put Plymouth within eight. A bucket by Jeff Ream just before the horn cut the lead to six at the end of the third period.

The Trojans simply ran off with it in the final eight minutes. They outscored Plymouth, 26 to 12, getting the last 10 points of the game without response from Plymouth.

South Central shot exceptionally well on its floor. Its record was 34 successes in 64 tries, 53 per cent, with field goals and 12 baskets in 18 attempts from the penalty line. The Trojans excelled on the boards, where they took down 58 rebounds, 20 more than Plymouth. And they committed 18 turnovers.

For its part, Plymouth shot much less well. The Big Red fired for field goal 83 times and scored with 26, a record of slightly more than 31 per cent, and it meshed eight of 13 free throws.

The Big Red also committed 18 turnovers.

Todd Smith, who put on so many offensive moves that mothers in the stands were clutching their daughters, led the Trojans with 21 points, matching the output of Plymouth's star, Jeff Ream, playing his second game of the season.

South Central had three other players in double figures. These were Bill Schulz with 12 and Doug Fidler and Tim Hall with 10 each.

Marty Carty scored 16 and Randy Neeley 12 for the Big Red.

Wolf seeks county post

Richland county's director of elections will resign that post to challenge incumbent Commissioner Richard McFarland for the GOP nomination as county commissioner.

"If I didn't think he can be beaten, I wouldn't be running," Wolf told The Advertiser. "I intended to run two years ago but accepted the opportunity to serve as director of elections."

Wolf said he thinks the county ought to computerize its services at once, particularly in the auditor's office, and suggests that until a fully computerized data processing system is established, the county ought to investigate whether it can share the system used by Mansfield.

Mayor Eric J. Akers will be present to discuss the affairs of the village.

Elmlinger to seek another term

Elmlinger, a Democrat, was elected recorder in 1976.

During his first term, Elmlinger was responsible for developing a gradual updating and improvement program for the indexing and recording of deeds and other legal documents filed with the office.

By extending office hours, Elmlinger made the office more accessible to the public. The recorder's office is open longer than any other office in the courthouse.

Elmlinger, working with other county officials, was instrumental with the creation of the Huron County Microfilming center. The Microfilming center provides microfilming service to the county offices. Elmlinger serves as director of the center.

Elmlinger graduated from Seneca East High school at Attica in 1973, and attended the Firelands branch of Bowling Green State university. Prior to his election as recorder, Elmlinger was employed by Sherwood Medical Industries in Attica.

Elmlinger, who grew up in the Sherman township area, was elected township trustee of Sherman township in 1973 at the age of 18. He served as trustee from 1974 to 1977.

He is a member of the Ohio Recorders' association, Northeastern Ohio REcorders' association and Farm Bureau.

Bell accedes to mayorship at Shiloh

Charles Bell is Shiloh's new mayor.

He succeeds Grady McDonald, reelected in November only to resign in December owing to "work obligations". It is understood by The Advertiser that McDonald also contemplates moving out of Shiloh, which would make him ineligible to serve as a village officer.

Bell accedes to the post because he was elected by other councilmen to succeed Frank Cline as president pro tempore. Cline resigned in December as president pro tempore because he doesn't want to be mayor.

A replacement for Bell must now be chosen by the council before 30 days from the date of Bell's accession to the mayorship. Bell's term as councilman expired Dec. 31.

Councilman Harry Foster, who also resigned, albeit verbally, in December because he doesn't "like the new members of council", said with Bell as mayor he would reconsider and withdrew his verbal resignation.

The council began 1980 with two new members, Mrs. Audrey LeMaster and Richard Tallman.

Bell, father of three, is employed by United Telephone Co. in Mansfield.

C. D. Rish dies at 58 in hospital

Former member of Plymouth Board of Education and husband of its incumbent treasurer, C. David Rish, 58, Shelby route 4, died Thursday in Mansfield General hospital of a brief illness.

He was found to have a malignancy of the lymphatic system only a short time ago.

Born July 21, 1921, in Hardin county, he lived most of his life in or near Crestline, Shelby and Shiloh.

For the past 16 years, he owned and operated the Roto-Rooter Drainage Service for Richland county.

He was a veteran of World War II and a member of Garrett-Riest Post 503, American Legion, Shiloh. He was also a member of United Church of Christ at Ganges.

He is survived by his wife, nee L. Jean Garrett; a son, Thomas L., Shelby; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellen Starbuck, Hilliard; two sisters, Maxine, now Mrs. Robert Frye, Mansfield, and Mary, now Mrs. Victor Funtjar, Columbus, and three grandsons.

The Rev. David Sipes conducted services from McQuate-Secor Funeral home Sunday at 2 p.m. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Board elects Echelbarger as president

D. M. Echelbarger, Plymouth route 1, serving his first term as member of Plymouth Board of Education, was chosen as its president for 1980 during the annual reorganization meeting Friday.

He replaces Mrs. Roger Pugh, who was elected vice-president.

Echelbarger is married to the former Carol Cobb. Employed by Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., he is the father of two children.

Mrs. Pugh and Larry O. Vredenburgh, elected in November to four year terms, were sworn by the Rev. Arthur Hamman in the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. C. David Rish, recently bereaved.

Members will be paid $20 a regular session.

Regular meetings will be conducted on the second Monday monthly at 7:30 p.m.

An executive session was conducted to consider applications to succeed the late Richard L. Horton as principal.

Akers says in first report —

Blame for the village's fiscal difficulties was placed squarely on its council by its new mayor, Eric J. Akers, in his required report on the state of the village delivered in writing and read aloud on Jan. 2.

"If council is to charge the present or past clerk with the horrifying condition of the books, then I would specifically challenge each council member here before Dec. 31, 1979, to free yourself for the liability of apparently going along with that disgrace".

On two occasions in the last 30 days, an examiner of the state auditor's office has characterized the village books as "inauditable".

Instructions were given on Dec. 3 to Clerk-Treasurer Raymond L. Brooks to ready the records for examination on Jan. 3. Instructions were issued by Cofoid High, New Washington, state examiner. Brooks said he has compiled.

The problem with the village books is that bank balances have not been reconciled with account balances as they appear in the village records.

In 1977, a state examiner, Francis Casselman, balanced the books, which were in terrible disarray, and instructed the then clerk, Anita M. Riedlinger, to make fund transfers so that the bank balances and the account balances would be identical. On three occasions, the then mayor, Elizabeth G. Paddock, inquired of the clerk whether the transfers had been effected. She was assured that this had been done. When Miss Riedlinger resigned in March, 1978, she told the council in writing that she had been vindicated by the state examiner and that she was turning over to her successor a clean set of books. The council accepted this statement.

Brooks was an appointment of the mayor, as allowed by law, not requiring the confirmation of the council. He had been for 17 years clerk of Plymouth township and for 20 years postmaster.

Faced with demands to meet current expenses of the village, a static rather than a dynamic flow of moneys from the county treasurer, owing to disarray in the county auditor's office, and increased outlays voted by the council (notably for salaries increases that were never funded), Brooks went to reserve funds to meet ongoing expenses. It is these funds which show substantial book balances that are not reflected in cash accounts in the depository.

As of Dec. 31, Brooks's regular monthly financial statement shows the electric fund in the red by $84,864.54, equivalent to 325 per cent of one month's average revenue of the electric system, the water department in the red by $37,018.25, equivalent to 1,000 per cent of a month's revenue; the general fund in the red by $59,143.95, and the safety equipment fund in the red by $386.32.

The council was reminded, between 1974 and September, 1979, on 11 occasions by the mayor that revenues did not meet expenses, specifically in the electric and water departments. The council submitted on two occasions a new three mill operating levy to fund police services. These were overwhelmingly defeated.

Mayor Akers challenged the council in his annual report to justify whether the recently enacted income tax was "to get us out of hock or to be used as a perpetual source of income."

He accused the council, by implication, of an act of bad faith and suggested that as an act of good faith it ought to reduce the term of the income tax to not more than three years, instead of the five years as enrolled in the ordinance.

The council met in extraordinary session Sunday at 4 p.m. to decide what bills will be paid and which will not be paid.

Akers also called for, within the next 60 days, an increase in utility rates. He did not specify by what amount.

Finally, the mayor said, unless councilmen find services offered by the village unsatisfactory, he seeks permission "to delay the status of the same until another meeting... because of negotiations which I believe will come up shortly." He did not elaborate.

The mayor urged the council to help straighten out each fund. Councilman Michael Taylor said the council did not have the technical knowledge of bookkeeping to do this and suggested the village look for a qualified accountant to assist the clerk. The mayor did not think it would be legally possible to do this, since no provision to pay such a person existed in the current pay ordinance and said since he had appointed three members, namely Councilman Mrs. Allan Raymond, chairman, David Howard and G. Thomas Moore, to the finance committee, they should be responsible for the rechecking of the accounts.

This committee will also oversee the debt retirement of several accounts, financial development and long-term planning.

The new mayor went back to the revised ordinances of Aug. 7, 1941, to set up a new committee system. He said they were outmoded and would serve as a temporary guide until action to update them is done.

The second committee, with Moore as chairman, David Howard and newly elected Dean A. Cline, will be public service. This will include the overseeing of the electric, water, sewer, park, cemetery and street departments.

Public safety committee comprises David Howard, chairman, Mrs. Raymond and Taylor. It will oversee the police, fire and ambulance departments, along with planning for zoning.

Fourth committee is that of village rules and administration, which the mayor likened to a "watchdog committee". Ervin Howard will head it with Cline and Taylor.

During the Jan. 2 meeting, council approved a temporary appropriation in the amount of $13,132,922 to run the village for the first three months of the year.

Broken down by departments the amounts are $21,500 for police, $3,800 for fire, $2,000 for ambulance, $2,400 for streets, $14,909.73 for sewers, $11,709.76 for water, $73,409.73 for electric, $1,200 for general services, $1,400 for the cemetery, $4,500 for the department of taxation.

No provision was made for the park since it is inactive during the winter months.

No action was taken to hire a solicitor. Robert A. McKown was not present at either meeting. The mayor is to inquire if McKown will consider another contract. He has served the village since January, 1972.

Thursday night the council agreed the village will pay the hospitalization for another two months for James Neeley, who has taken an indefinite leave of absence because of ill health. Neeley has exhausted his sick leave and attempted to come back to work for several weeks.

Mrs. Caywood dies at 60

Mrs. Gerald W. Caywood, 60, route 61, died Sunday.

She was found in her home and taken by ambulance to Willard Area hospital, where she was pronounced dead of heart seizure.

She had been in poor health for some time.

Born Janice E. Lyberger in Ganges, she lived in Shelby as a young woman.

After her marriage to the late Mr. Caywood, who died in 1977, she lived here. When he went into the Navy in World War II, he was a partner of Dan Hohler in the grocery business. After the War, the Caywoods operated the business, known as Plymouth Cash Market, first in Sandusky street and later in East Main street, until they closed it. Both Caywoods were thereafter employed by Plymouth Foodland.

Mrs. Caywood was active as a Brownie and Girl Scout leader over 20 years ago.

She was a member of First Evangelical Lutheran church.

She was also a member of Plymouth Chapter 231, OES, which conducted memorial services at McQuate-Secor Funeral home Tuesday night; of the auxiliary, Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion, of which she was a past president; of Esther Taylor Bricket Tent 87, DUV, Shelby, of which she was a past president; of the auxiliary, VFW, Upper Sandusky; of the Richland unit, American Cancer society, and of the Richland County Salon, 8 et 40, Mansfield.

She is survived by two sons, Max A., Plymouth, and James D., Vermilion; a daughter, Kimberly, now Mrs. Kenneth Roethlisberger Shiloh; her mother, Mrs. Minnie Lybarger, Shelby; two sisters, Evelyn, now Mrs. Chester Troxell, and Naomi, now Mrs. Paul Dubuc, both of Shelby, and four grandchildren.

Her pastor, the Rev. Ronald Atkins, conducted services yesterday at 11 a.m. from the funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made, at the family's wish, to her church.

Here's mayor's annual report

TO THE RESIDENTS OF THE VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH, MEMBERS OF COUNCIL, GUESTS, I BRING YOU GREETINGS:

By law, the executive officer of this municipal corporation is required to give a report on the affairs of the village. Kindly consider the following as satisfying that requirement. Also consider that contained herein are recommendations I deem proper in the operation of this corporation, at the present time. As we continue through this year, I hope to make further recommendations.

As a body politic, our municipal corporation is not so dissimilar from a corporation organized and operated for profit. Yet the word profit as contemplated by private corporations does not carry with it the same connotation when applied to a municipal corporation. If you accept a reasonable interpretation of the word profit as used by a municipal corporation to mean that increase in services offered and capital assets acquired for the betterment of the town, and therefore the residents and others who come to the town, then we can and should assimilate our village as a corporation.

In the 70's and at this conclusion, it appears that our village has shown a misdirected profit for the expense we as residents have paid. Also if the financial position of this corporation is so nebulous as I believe, we should consider a drastic change, either in personnel or organization.

I believe that the major capital asset acquired for the betterment of the residents of the village has been the sewer system. Twenty years ago we were forced to engage in an endeavor, not our choosing, to install a sanitary sewer system for the village. I believe that it is complete.

During that time, many problems arose which engendered an animosity in the residents against the mayor, council, and other employees — much of that animosity malaligned.

Because of a lack of basic fundamental objectives needed by any governmental entity, our Village has taken a serious turn toward the unrestricted and overemphasized concept of buy now — pay later.

To be specific, we are engaged in a concept quite akin to "deficit spending" Instead of "buy now, pay later", we are now involved in the concept of spend now, tax so as to pay for what we spend, after we have spent it. This is not only dangerous, it is, by our corporation, illegal. As a municipal corporation, we are by statute prohibited from spending any public funds unless they are properly received, and properly authorized.

At the present time I am aware of two long term debts: the present bond payments which are assessed on the tax duplicate, and the sewer loan. Neither of these can be eliminated from any long range planning of finances of the village. With these, we must live and accept them as fact.

It is the short term unexpected or emergency, and even common, expense that is the prime area of concern. Expenses such as auditor fees, workers' compensation fees, attorney fees, and just plain increase in supply or labor cost that was reasonable but now is intolerable, have worn the village to a frazzle.

The corollary has not been the case. Our charge for services has with reluctance increased. It should have been increased four years ago and our present problem would not exist, if it exists at all.

My specific recommendation is to increase charges for services within the next two months.

I believe our village has developed a lavish attitude toward spending. Our resources are limited yet our expenses are never ending. Unless the electors agree we must reduce our expenses to equal our income. If that means reduction in service so be it. We must live within our means.

Other than contingent funds such as inheritance taxes, mayors court fines, etc., we are bound by the tax monies received from the county auditor. Our total receipts from taxation of real property was approx. $35,000.00. Our expenses far exceeded that figure. Apparently to defray the expenses over which our tax money is being used, we have instituted an income tax. Will this alleviate the problem? If it does, then was the tax enacted to get us out of hock or to be used as a perpetual source of income? I propose that as a sign of good faith, council amend the income tax to be effective for no more than three and preferably two years.

If you accept that the services offered by the village are adequate, then I ask you to permit me to delay the status of the same until another meeting. I ask your leave on this matter because of negotiations which I believe will come up shortly.

Finally, I must state what I believe the main problem of an affair of our village: its books. How has the village been run for the last two and ½ years? Numerous errors exist on the books of the village that I believe any person in this room could detect with reasonable inspection. If we must blame one person for the error, we may be a bit unfair. If council is to charge the present clerk or past clerk with the horrifying condition of affairs in which the books of the village are, then I would specifically challenge each member of council to free yourself from the liability of apparently going along with that disgrace.

How can you approve an additional tax when you don't know where your deficits lie, and how much they are?

If our constituents will accept what has in the past occurred, then my specific recommendation is:

1. For the members of council tonight to specifically examine each account and if you agree with the balances, then approve payment of bills from each account.

2. If you don't approve payment from all accounts, inquire of the appropriate official responsible for said account, and if no proper explanation is received, consider bringing or bring charges of mis-mal-or non-feasance in office or other appropriate charges.

It is my firm belief that the condition of the village is poor.

It is my firm belief that we must stop, determine where we are and then go to the people seeking what they see as a solution. If they give us their support, then we must live within our means or terminate the corporation.

Cougars down Plymouth, 77-70

Plymouth's Big Red was unable to stand prosperity here Friday night, made too many mistakes in the fourth period, and succumbed to Crestview's last ditch rally, 77 to 70.

Plymouth seized the lead in the second period and held on to it until slightly less than two minutes remained in the game. Then the Cougars strung together six unanswered points and it was curtains for the home forces.

Plymouth went into the final eight minutes with a 52 to 52 lead, which it soon relinquished after the last quarter began. Fred Simpert, who scored 22 for the Cougars, bagged two field goals and Mike Greshner added a field goal and a penalty shot to go with it, establishing a lead of 58 to 53 for the visitors.

Matt Patrick shot two free throws and after a Cougar time out with 5:50 left, Jeff Ream scored with a field goal. Stimpert countered with two free throws, whereupon Marty Carty threw one in from the right corner. After Stimpert canned two more free throws, Ream retaliated, at 4:40. Brad Postema, a late replacement, when Randy Neeley was forced from the floor in the third period on account of five personal fouls, shot of the end line to make it 64 to 62 in Plymouth's favor. The clock read 3:59.

Stimpert wasn't through by any means -- he scored 14 of his 22 points in the final period -- and at 3:39 he canned a field goal to tie it again. Lyle Chronister and Patrick traded baskets and with the score knotted at 66, Ream scored with the front end of a one-and-one. Eight seconds later Ream was back on the scoreboard with a field goal and Plymouth had a lead of three points at 69 to 66.

But Rick Rader fored one in from a distance to cut the lead to one. It was here that Crestview put it away. Stimpert stole the ball from Ream and went in untouched. Thereafter he shot four successive free throws on two fouls and at 24 seconds, Plymouth trailed by five at 74 to 69. Patrick added a field goal and Greshner got another before time ran out.

What defeated Plymouth was that it made too many mistakes in the final quarter. The Big Red was charged with eight turnovers, the Cougars with only one.

Overall, Crestview turned the ball over nine times, Plymouth 24. The Cougars outrebounded the Big Red, 38 to 33.

Town's 'grande dame' will be 99 on Jan. 25

Mrs. W. C. McFadden is Plymouth's "Grande Dame". She will celebrate her 99th birthday anniversary Jan. 25 in Crestwood Care Center, Shelby, where she has resided since she fell in 1976 in her home at 54 Plymouth street.

Born Mabel Patterson on Jan. 25, 1881, she was the daughter of early settlers, Eugene and Mary Elizabeth Reynolds Patterson. The family home was the farm in Route 603 east of here which eventually came into the Hamilton family.

At one time the Pattersons owned property in Trux street and later Mrs. McFadden inherited it. It originally was owned by Abraham Trux, the founding father of the village, which was then called Paris.

The original plot of 305 acres was purchased by Trux under a land contract and the deed signed by President James Monroe May 16, 1821. Mrs. McFadden still has the original papers. The property is now owned by Alfred Parkinson, 3rd.

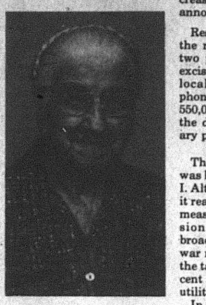

The late Mr. McFadden, who died in 1940, ran a garage here for many years.

Because her father had served in the Civil War, one of her chief interests was Esther Taylor Bricker Tent 87, Daughters of Union Veterans which she served in many offices.

Her church, the Plymouth United Methodist church, of which she has been a life member, also occupied her time. She was a tireless participant in all of its activities.

She also has been active in the American Red Cross over the years.

And what would she like for her birthday present? Exactly 99 birthday cards!

MRS. McFADDEN

Fazzini to retire Apr. 1. as superintendent; PHS principal hired

After 15 years as superintendent of Plymouth Local School district, John Fazzini, 53, will resign Mar. 31 and go into retirement.

He came here 20 years ago to be principal of Plymouth Elementary school, having been executive head of Rosewood school near Urbana in Champaign county.

He subsequently served as junior high school principal before succeeding C. Todd Strohmenger in July, 1965.

Fazzini's letter of resignation was read to Plymouth Board of Education Monday night. It was accepted with regret.

His story of success is right out of the American mold. The son of immigrant parents, he was raised in Clarksburg, W. Va. He dropped out of high school to fight in the Navy during World War II. Whn he was mustered out, he obtained his diploma and went to Salem college, Salem, W. Va., from which he obtained the baccalaureate degree. He holds a master's degree in business administration.

Married, he is the father of three grown daughters, two of them married. The Fazzinis have a grandchild.

James Craycraft, Lucas, who has been a secondary coordinator in the office of the Richland county superintendent, was given a contract to be high school principal. His contract expires June 30, 1981. Craycraft is already on the job. He succeeds Richard L. Horton, Jr., who died of an accidental gunshot wound in December.

The cost of the tortuous negotiations leading to a new contract with teachers was revealed when two invoices were presented for payment.

The first, that of John Drotnik, the arbitrator, is for $1,197.44, of which the board must pay half. The other half will be paid by Plymouth Education association.

The second, that of Ohio School Boards association, is for $5,258.60, all of which must be paid by the board. The president and vice-president of the board, Don M. Echelbarger and Mrs. Roger Pugh, voted nay.

Although Fazzini has had a strong hand in preparing an evaluation instrument for a superintendent and other administrators, he won't be around to be subject to the instrument adopted Monday night.

The board also adopted a job description for the superintendent.

Adoption of a new board procedure policy was put off until next month.

Mrs. Pugh voted nay on adoption of salary and fringe benefit changes for certificated and non-certificated employees. She argued that the salaries and benefits of the superintendent and the treasurer should be separately negotiated between these employees and the board.

"If they're doing a good job, let's pay them for it. If they're not, then we can do something about it," she said.

A revised negotiations agreement between the board and PEA was approved.

FHA was authorized to conduct an all-night cooking program in the high school Jan. 25.

High school athletic program was approved to conduct indoor track activities.

Pioneer Joint Vocational school asked the board to appoint a local chairman for its campaign to obtain approval to obtain approval of one mill in fresh taxation for operation purposes, to be balloted on in March.

Paul Kaufman, Ashland county teacher, will be the resource person on Monday when teachers meet on Martin Luther King day, a holiday for pupils, to discuss approaches to discipline. Teachers will meet at Shiloh from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Soup labels sought to aid school costs

Pupils in Plymouth Elementary school with the help of the Parent-Teachers Organization are saving Campbell soup labels.

They are redeemable from the company and the money will be used for school equipment.

Feb. 22 is the deadline. So far about 6,500 have been turned in. The class that turns in the most will receive a prize.

The PTO at its last meeting was thanked by the teachers for the gifts contributed to each classroom.

The next project will be a spring bazaar.

Parents are invited by Mrs. Billy Young, membership chairman, to attend the next meeting Feb. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the school building.

The meal was prepared by the men to show their gratitude for the auxiliary's help in fund raising projects.

Hospital notes

Mrs. Walter Tackett was admitted Sunday to Shelby Memorial hospital.

Miss Blanch Leddick and Mrs. Lloyd Lippus, Shelby, were released Jan. 7 from Willard Area hospital.

Mrs. Floyd Sheely was released at Willard Jan. 8.

LaRue Gullett was admitted at Willard Friday and Mrs. Alfred Parkinson, Jr., released that day.

1% cut in bills for 'phone

General Telephone Co. of Ohio customers will save some $2.2 million on their telephone bills this year because of a scheduled decrease in taxes, the firm announces.

Responsible for the drop is the reduction from three to two per cent of the federal excise tax charged on all local and long distance phone calls. The company's 550,000 customers will get the decrease on their January phone bills.

The 12 per cent tax first was levied during World War I. Although repealed in 1924, it reappeared as a temporary measure during the depression in 1932, then was broadened in 1942 to meet war needs. During the 1950s the tax was reduced to 10 per cent and and repealed for all utilities except telephones.

In 1970 a federal law was passed that required annual one per cent reductions in the tax until phased out completely. The "temporary" tax will become history in Janu-a will become history in January, 1982.

Councilman David Howard, beginning his third year on the village council, proposed Tuesday night 11 suggestions to have a more efficiently run village.

They will involve much paper work on the part of Police Chief W. Robert Seel and James C. Root, village administrator.

Howard wants detailed reports of all expenditures of their departments monthly and that nothing except out of pure necessity to run the village will be purchased.

Clerk-treasurer Raymond L. Brooks was also instructed to give more detailed reports of each item billed to the village, a complete, broken-down itemization of all sources of income and a reconciliation of expenditures against the annual apropriation ordinance, appropriation ordinance, which must be formally passed by Apr. 1.

Howard read 11 items that he wished the council to pass as one resolution.

The 10th item was to request an immediate audit of the village books.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said it would simply be too costly at this point for the village to ask for an audit until the village itself had made the books "auditable". Brooks said he has made much progress in tracing accounts to the last audit, which brought the books up to the end of June, 1977.

Somehow mysterious things keep cropping up, like a savings account Brooks was not aware of until last November, when he said the council had instructed him to deposit 10 per cent of collected electric money, five per cent of water money and $480 from the sewer fund on a monthly basis.

The mayor apparently was not aware of this account, and asked the clerk to run down its history. The account was originated in the name of William A. Hamilton, who served as clerk from 1972 until 1974.

Howard's 11 items were reduced to 10 when the council agreed to delete the 10th one asking for the audit.

The mayor said it would be wise to pass each item as a separate motion. Howard disagreed. Nevertheless, each was voted upon.

And all council members, Mrs. Allan Raymond, Michael Taylor, David A. and Ervin Howard and Dean Cline, approved each item.

Besides the detailed paper work required for the council's consideration, the other items include that village vehicles should not be used for personal use and none should leave the village except for emergencies and approved village business.

David Howard said he has had numerous complaints from citizens that employees were using the vehicles for their own use.

Mayor Akers asked if he could document it. Howard admitted it would be difficult to do so.

Each department is to study how it can cut its costs. The mayor challenged the police chief to run his department on $60,000 a year after Mrs. Raymond, who serves on that committee, said a study of income and costs in 1979 showed the 1980 budget would have to be cut for the department.

Seel's answer was, "Impossible". He continued to say he has made some changes and has come up with a savings of about $900 annually.

Taylor, who also serves on the committee, suggested some scheduling changes could be made, which might be a savings.

A contract for one year is to be offered to Robert A. McKown, who has served as village solicitor since 1972. The mayor and Moore suggested a two year contract, all the law allows, but David Howard thought McKown would be more pleased with a one year contract, which would not tie him down.

Howard also suggested the solicitor be present at all council meetings, including special meetings.

Moore made the suggestion, which was accepted, that as in the past Jon Schafer and Neil McKown, the solicitor's associates, be hired as assistants at no salary and would be able to fill him for if he is unable to attend a meeting.

McKown will be paid the same as before, $1,800 annually, $300 for expenses and $60 an hour for extra legal work, plus his public retirement.

Alvin Kelly, village income tax director, told the council that by now all forms have been mailed out and they are simple to follow if the directions are carefully read.

He said the backbone of the tax was the withheld money by employers, which will be in by Jan. 31.

He also said the Plymouth Post Office is chalking up a "first". It will be one of the earliest to withhold from postal employees, owing to a new federal regulation.

The major yield of the tax will come Apr. 15, when all taxes are to be paid.

Kelly asked the council how it intends to enforce the regulations of the income tax ordinance. He pointed out that in a nearby city, violators are summoned into the mayor's court.

He wanted an answer before he felt his department needs to take any action.

Mayor Akers asked Kelly if his department could handle most problems alone. Kelley said he wasn't sure. This will be done before turning over to the mayor's court any tax evaded.

The board of review for the department still needs to be appointed. It will be a three member team, one appointed by the mayor, one by the council, and the two will then choose a third member.

Even though the income tax has been in effect since Dec. 9, the previous mayor had not made an appointment since her term was ending.

Although there was no serious discussion, villagers can look forward to an increase in electric rates again. Root said it had to be because Ohio Power is increasing its rate to the village. He also said the water rates need an upward adjustment.

Money or no money, Ervin Howard said now that the village is home free from two health problems, it should honor its promise made last spring to employees to increase their health care program.

Bucyrus overpowers Plymouth, 89 to 62

He who rules the backboards usually wins the game.

Which is what occurred here Saturday.

Bucyrus outrebounded Plymouth, 51 to 29, and outshot the Big Red in every period to walk away with an 89 to 62 victory.

The score was 20 to 17 after eight minutes. Randy Neeley contributed seven points in the first quarter to keep Plymouth within striking distance. Meanwhile, the ace of the Redmen, Page Watts, was scoring 10 on five buckets.

Watts continued to score well in the second period. He collected eight more, en route to a 24-point total.

Dave Hone, second high scorer for the visitors, also scored eight points in the second period, at the end of which Bucyrus led by 45 to 29.

Plymouth never was to get closer.

After the intermission, Neeley and Steve Tackett kept Plymouth on the scoreboard with six points apiece but Bucyrus was getting balanced scoring. No less than six Redmen flickered the scoreboard as the visitors posted 21 points, five of them on free throws.

After 24 minutes, Bucyrus had taken 58 shots at the basket and canned 30 of them. With second line players on the floor, the Redman got off 36 shots in the final period, making eight.

Neeley was high man for Plymouth with 22. Jeff Ream, who had an off night, and Tackett had a dozen each.

When the visitors got a field goal by Watts and a free throw by Ken Spiegel early in the second period, the momentum that seemed to be turning Plymouth's way late in the first quarter had suddenly changed. Although Tackett canned two penalty shots, Bucyrus responded with six unanswered points. Neeley scored a field goal and then the teams traded buckets until Bucyrus pushed the advantage to 41 to 27. Neeley bagged a hook shot, then Watts and Mike Barciz scored field goals to leave it at 45 to 29 at the half.

Counting the last two goals of the first half and what Bucyrus did early in the second half, the Redmen strung together 12 unanswered points before Neeley threw in a rebound.

By this time it was out of reach.

Plymouth made fewer mistakes than usual. It was charged with only 16 turnovers. Bucyrus had nine.

Two major claims raised workers' compensation payment

Why are workers' compensation charges assessed against the village so high?

The Advertiser has completed a study in depth of the whole situation, which has exacerbated some members of the village council.

The answer: exceptional claims of a local nature against the state-operated fund, which already charges municipalities a high rate because of high claim activity.

What do these amount to?

The Richland county auditor deducts from payments due the village the amount of workers' compensation premiums determined by the state. During 1977, the amount of $7,615.67 was assessed. It was withheld during 1978. During 1978, the amount of $10,762.07 was charged. It was withheld during 1979.

Officials in the Ohio Bureau of Workers' Compensation told The Advertiser that premium rates are fixed by it in proportion to the number of claims that arise during the previous work-years. In some industries, the level of claims is low because there is minimal risk to workers. In others, and in particular municipalities, the rate is higher.

The base rate is $4.43 for each $100 of payroll. Plymouth's rate was computed at $8.20 for each $100 of payroll. The period during which claims affect this rate is 1974-77.

Why, then, is Plymouth's rate so high, higher than any municipality in the country?

Because there are two major claims against the village's coverage.

The second of these was the death of Mark Didion, a fireman, on Dec. 19, 1977, when a water tank truck overturned in Ripley township. Its cost to the fund is projected at $75,000.

The first of these is the full disability claim of James E. Reffett, a police officer, who said he was injured when he sought to quell a fight in a local bar. It was filed in 1976. Its cost to the fund is projected at $75,000.

"The two claims creating the current penalty modification of the Village of Plymouth will continue to impact on its risk's premium rate for the next three years (1980, 1981 and 1982)," the Bureau says. "After that, barring additional serious claims, the village's risk should be relieved of the high penalty modification and have it replaced with a credit modification."

In addition to Reffett and Didion's widow, 10 lesser claims, only one of them for more than $1,000, were submitted and settled during the period used by the Bureau to compute the premium risk. Total claims against the fund during this period amounted to $155,801, of which $150,000 is owing to the two major claims.

Reffett in addition is receiving a full pension from the police and firemen's dependency fund. This dates from Sept. 2, 1976.

From Jan. 1, the rate to participate in this fund is 15.7 per cent for employers and seven per cent for employees. On Mar. 1, the latter rate rises to 8.5 per cent.

Mrs. Robert L. Meiser, widow of the late police chief, who died in March, 1978, participates in this fund as a surviving widow.

From time to time, the village has been notified that a review of Reffett's claim will be conducted. During 1978 and 1979, the then mayor and Police Chief W. Robert Seel represented the village at the hearings. At no time was village input sought by the examiner.

At the last hearing, on Mar. 21, 1979, Reffett's claim for workers' compensation for the period Feb. 26-July 1, 1979, in the amount of $2,006.46, at the rate of $111.47 a week, was authorized.

No record can be found in the village hall that any of these claims was submitted to the village council.

The former mayor says that on several occasions she inquired of the penultimate clerk whether she had executed any such claims. She was told no claims had been executed. After the death of Meiser, the penultimate clerk admitted, she had on his order signed applications for claims by Reffett. Her signature appears on these claims at Columbus.

Procedure in other municipalities in Huron and Richland counties is that village clerks deal with the claims and process them administratively after the work supervisor certifies that injury warranting claim has occurred.

5. Clerk shall submit monthly a list of all expenses, a detailed account of all income, an accounting of all levy funds, and a detailed statement of balances in appropriated funds, showing receipts and expenditures.

Red beaten at Crestline

Crestline seized an early lead and held onto it throughout Tuesday's contest there and walked away with an easy 71 to 59 victory over Plymouth.

It was the Big Red's 11th defeat of the season and assured a losing season. For the Bulldogs, it was their fifth win against eight losses.

Plymouth scored the first points on two free throws by Randy Neeley, who scored 33 for the night. But Crestline came right back to tie, then to take the lead, which grew to as much as seven points before the quarter ended.

No. 24 on Big Red team that seeks revenge over Lucas hero tomorrow is Steve Tackett, whose scoring average has risen of late. He played quarterback on the football squad. An 11th grader, he is looked upon to form nucleus of Plymouth team that loses its two big guns in June.

Eleventh grader Marty Carty comes of a basketball family. His late brother Mike was an outstanding player for the Big Red. Carty is smaller, not quite so fast, and not so good a shot as his brother. But he's equally dependable. His floor play has shown improvement since Christmas.

Plymouth put it all together for the first time this season here Saturday and rallied in the last three minutes to avenge an earlier one point loss in overtime to Western Reserve.

The score was 70 to 62. Plymouth won it at the foul line, since both teams scored 26 field goals.

He bagged 18 of them in the first period, when he scored five field goals and eight free throws. He missed one penalty toss.

The Roughriders tied the score with 28 seconds left in the third period and the fourth period began at 50 to 50. The Big Red moved out in front on two field goals by Neeley, only to see the visitors tie it with a shot from underneath by Jeff Horn and a jumper at 6:07 by Carl Gerber, who played half of the third period and the rest of the game with four personal fouls.

Jeff Ream fired one home at 5:52, only to be matched by Darion Wolf. Ream meshed two free throws at 4:30 but Ted Patrick threw one in off the end line. Ream sent the Red ahead again at 3:59 but Barry Holzmiller, Western Reserve's big gun and leading scorer at 27 points, was Johnny-on-the-spot with a bucket at 3:22.

It was the visitors' last gasp. Plymouth strung together 10 unanswered points, while the Western Reserve coach was screaming at the referees, a father-and-son team from Tiffin, and the Roughriders had had it.

Neeley scored two field goals, Marty Carty got one, Steve Tackett fired one in at 1:30 and was fouled by Patrick at 1:23 and awarded one-and-one. He bagged the first one. Rob Smith scored the last point with the first of a one-and-one opportunity.

Plymouth outshot the Roughriders from the field, in the sense that its shooting percentage was better. The Big Red fired 59 times and made 26, the Roughriders 62 times and made 26. Plymouth had more opportunities from the foul line, 25, making 18. The Roughriders had 18 and made 10.

Plymouth outrebounded Western Reserve, 35 to 27. The visitors made fewer turnovers, 10 to 13.

Gerber scored 21 for the losers. He was the only other player in double figures.

Ream started slowly and wound up with 14, the only other Big Red player in double figures.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

On tax delinquencies

Elsewhere today we report real estate tax delinquencies in Plymouth Local School district.

There are some observations that are germane.

One is that it's too bad that we cannot see all the tax delinquencies in the whole district at one time. Those in Crawford county, if there are any, are reported at a different time than those in Huron county, which we have all seen and which The Advertiser faithfully reported, and those in Richland county. It will perhaps be ever thus.

Another is that while the amount due is not staggering, it is larger than has been the case in the immediate past. It is probably a reflection of the times. Inflation is eating up the incomes of a great many more folks than was the case, say, two years ago. The major part of the $7,516 reported delinquent in Richland county will be paid to the schools, if and when it's collected. And the schools need the money; less so now than, say, five or six years ago, before the General Assembly adjusted the school funding formula, but nevertheless, they need it. And they need it no less than the delinquent taxpayer (although we haven't spoken to but two of them, we surmise that the delinquency is more intentional than otherwise, because of short-term fiscal crisis in the family).

A third is that some who're on the public payroll are delinquent. There should be, there is, no excuse for this. He who draws from the public till is honor bound to pay his debts to it promptly.

A fourth is that there are some delinquencies that need not exist, for the simple reason that the taxpayer didn't avail himself of relief prescribed by law. Among these is the Homestead Exemption provision, which grants to taxpayers of age 65 or more with limited income a tax forgiveness of substantial proportions. The Richland county auditor says that during 1979, 1,872 persons in the county with incomes of up to $5,000 received a tax reduction of $320,623.26; 2,062 persons with incomes of between $5,000 and $9,000 received a tax reduction of $263,204.36, 310 persons with incomes between $9,000 and $10,000 received a tax reduction of $40,819.58, and 479 persons with incomes between $10,000 and $15,000 received a tax reduction of $650,929.54.

In the meantime, peer pressure may induce the delinquents to pay up. Which is as it should be. And which explains why the law requires the treasurer to publish these delinquencies. Time was, not so long ago, when there was no publication.

New committee chairmen of the church council, First Evangelical Lutheran church, are, from left, Robert Smith, Max Caywood, Mrs. William F. Flaherty, Glen Hass and Jack Courter.

Larson declines a third term

Rex Larson won't seek a third term as common pleas judge of Richland county.

He said this week he will retire from the office at the end of his term.

Larson was elected prosecutor in 1960. He had previously run for treasurer of Mansfield on the GOP ticket in 1949. He was defeated. He served as prosecutor until he was elected judge in 1968. Born in Mansfield, he is an alumnus of Ohio State university. He is a graduate of the college of law of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Larson is the second GOP office holder in the courthouse to say he won't seek reelection.

William F. McKee, incumbent prosecutor, earlier said he will step down.

The incumbent sheriff, Albert O'Neil, who was appointed to succeed the deposed Thomas Weikel, will seek election on the GOP ticket. He has not so far any Republican opposition.

Three Democrats have come forward to seek their party's nomination for sheriff.

One is Lieut. Richard Petty, commander of the Ashland post of the Ohio Highway patrol, who will resign his office to campaign. He lives near Bellville.

Another is Steven Francis, police chief at Bellville.

A third is Roger Zimmerman, Mansfield.

Incumbent Recorder Richland Orewiler, a Democrat who succeeded his father in the post, has filed his nominating petitions. He will face opposition in the June primary from Edward C. Blauser, manager of a finance company in Mansfield.

Cook sells ad business to Kilbane

Sale of Cook Poster Service by David E. Cook to Thomas P. Kilbane has resulted in the formation of Kilbane Outdoor Advertising, as of Jan. 1. Kilbane also purchased the southern market area of Hart Advertising. Both companies served North Central Ohio.

Kilbane was formerly executive vice-president of Ohio Outdoor Advertising. He is a member of the Lorain County Regional Planning commission and is president of the Avon Lake Board of Education, in addition to serving on the Lorain County Joint Vocational School board.

He has served as president of the Sandusky County Ad club and is active in the Sales & Marketing Executives of Lorain County. A member of the Elyria Rotary club, he also belongs to BPOElks and the Knights of Columbus.

He and his wife, the former Marcia Jean Dopke, have five children. Karen is a student in Miami university, Oxford. Thomas J. and Susan attend Avon Lake High school. Michael is enrolled Learwood Junior High school and Sheila, the youngest, is a fourth grader in Erieview Elementary school in Avon Lake.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kilbane are graduates of Loyola university, Chicago, Ill., and now reside in Avon Lake.

First 22 days of withholding income tax for workers in the village will produce payments of about $4,700 to the village treasury by 5 p.m. today, the Department of Taxation estimates.

By mid morning Tuesday, 17 settlements had been received, comprising $2,353. The department estimates there are 35 employers whose returns must be filed by closing hour today.

The department further estimates withholding payments will amount to about $6,000 a month when the system is in full operation.

Bad news: tax bills in mail!

They must be paid by Feb. 27 to avoid penalty.

Griffith says the tax bills show the complete bill for the whole tax year but only half of the bill is due now. Tax bills may be paid in person or by mail to his office in the courthouse at Mansfield or at any bank in the county.

Ardeth L. Chupp, treasurer of Huron county says real estate tax statements for the first half of 1979 were mailed yesterday.

Final date for payment without penalty will be Feb. 28.

The taxpayer will have a new style tax bill. In order to process the bill, the right side or stub must be returned with payment. The left hand side of the bill may be retained for personal records.

Dawson kin, Ward Stuckey, succumbs at 78

Brother-in-law of Mrs. Walter C. Dawson, Ward V. Stuckey, 78, Bloomville, died suddenly Jan. 22 after being admitted to Bucyrus Community hospital.

He was a retired farmer, a member of the Lykens Conservation league, the Fireside council of the Crawford county Farm Bureau and chairman of the ASCS of Crawford county.

He was also a member of the Baseline United Church of Christ, where he taught the adult church school class.

He is survived by his wife, Julia; three brothers, Carl and Herbert, Sycamore, and Forrest, Melmore, and a sister, Gladys M. Stuckey, Melmore.

Funeral services were conducted in his church by the Rev. Fred Zimmerman Friday afternoon.

Burial was in St. John's Baseline cemetery.

Mrs. Ward wins divorce

Divorce was granted in Huron county common pleas court to Bonnie Brooks Ward, 48 Woodland street, plaintiff against Michael D. Ward, Columbus. Custody of a minor child was granted the plaintiff. Defendant was ordered to pay $66 weekly in alimony.

Girl twin dies at 11; ill briefly

She was ill only briefly.

Born May 27, 1968, in Mansfield, she was a twin. She was a sixth grader in Johnny Appleseed Middle school and was a member of a church school class in First Wesleyan church.

She is also survived by her parents, the John Carmels; her twin, Nila Regina, and another sister, Rozanna Marie, both at home; a half-sister, Linda Johnstone, Columbus; two half-brothers, John Carmel, Jr., in Missouri, and Louis Carmel, Omaha, Neb., and her grandmother, Mrs. Sylvia Rutan, Mansfield.

The Rev. Eugene Jordan conducted services at Mansfield yesterday at 1 p.m. Burial was in Mansfield cemetery.

Mobile home tax due

Mobile home owners are reminded that the deadline for mobile home registration is today at 4 p.m.

Red letter day: income tax due

Today is a red letter day as never before in Plymouth history.

The village's first municipal income tax, amounting to one per cent of the wages and profits of every person working here, will be enforced from today.

What is means is that by 5 p.m. income tax withheld from wages of employees must be paid to the Department of Taxation in the village hall.

Each employer who hires one or more persons on a salary, wage, commission or other compensation is required to withhold one per cent of the gross payment in trust for payment to the village in accordance with a schedule set forth in the enabling ordinance.

Employers are liable for the tax whether or not it was in fact withheld.

Penalty up to $500 for each offense is provided for in the ordinance for delinquency or willful failure to withhold or pay the tax.

Business, professional and individual returns have been mailed. These are due Apr. 15, for taxable income earned or net profits from Dec. 9 through 31, 1979. One fourth of the estimated tax declared for 1980 is also due on that date.

Mayor's objection turned down, clerk meets payroll

Over the objections of Mayor Eric J. Akers, village council agreed to allow Clerk-Treasurer Raymond L. Brooks to meet the village payroll due last Friday. Only councilman David Howard agreed with the mayor and voted nay.

Meeting Thursday night in a special session devoted to the payroll and to the hiring of a solicitor, the council took Brooks's word that he would be able to have funds available even though the utility and general funds are in the red. The mayor said he would be able to transfer the money from the mayor's account. That would help to meet the payroll of $2,305 for the police department, which is paid from the general fund.

Brooks said that utility fund collections would be adequate to pay the other employees.

After an executive session with James C. Root, village administrator, three motions were passed: the newly installed time clock in the village garage used by the utility employees is to be removed, all employees are to punch in on the clock in the village hall, and only the hours actually punched on the time cards by the clock will be paid.

Terry Jump, head electrician, and Councilman Michael R. Taylor engaged in a heated discussion over the fact the utility employees will now have to take the time to go to the village hall to punch in and out. Taylor said the second time clock was an "illegal purchase" by Root.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore said Root was within reason for purchasing the clock and that this action was eroding Root's authority.

The mayor told the council that Robert A. McKown, who has served as village solicitor for eight years, wishes to give up the position because of the demands the council had spelled out as to his duties.

The council had said that the solicitor should appear at all meetings, both regular and specially called sessions, and that all his opinions are to be in writing.

The council in the past has almost totally relied on the solicitor for its actions.

The mayor said he is aware of three attorneys who had shown an interest in taking on the position and would talk with them, along with the rules committee interviewing them.

Moore said the village should think twice about the demands required of a solicitor since the village could not continue without one and suggested that McKown's previous contract be offered again to him.

Councilman Mrs. Allen Raymond said that any candidates for the position should be well versed in municipal law.

A decision about hiring the solicitor is to be reached this week.

The 25-year-old brother of a Shilohan was killed Friday when his parachute became entangled with another at Ft. Hunter-Stewart, near Atlanta, Ga.

Pvt. Michael J. Sanders, Shelby, and another soldier died in the freak accident. Wind blew the parachutes together and the shrouds became entangled.

Born June 1, 1954, in Fostoria, young Sanders was an airborne ranger assigned to 1st Ranger Battalion, 75th Infantry Regiment. A 1972 alumnus of Shelby High school, he was a member of Most Pure Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church.

He is also survived by his parents, the Donald J. Sanderses, Shelby; three brothers, Jeffrey, Jenson Beach, Fla.; James, a student in the University of Akron, and Airman Philip, USAF, Charleston, S. C., and his grandparents, Mrs. Pauline Boff and the Joseph Sanderses, all of Fostoria.

Smallest. . .

Rob Smith is a 10th grader, the smallest player on the Big Red squad. He's been a starter of late, his coach obviously seeking to develop a playmaker over the long pull. When Smith shoots from outside, look out! He competed with the cross country squad and was a letter winner.

Matt Patrick has been in and out of the Plymouth lineup all season, more out than in, of late. But on Friday night he was a significant contributor to the Big Red's victory over Lucas with four important buckets in the last period. Patrick is an 11th grader.

Cougars fall to matmen

Plymouth recorded six pins en route to a 43 to 23 victory over Crestview there Jan. 22.

James Jamerson, Jeff Burrer, Gary Blankenship, Doug Miller, Dale Moorman and Pete Daron scored pins.

Bigger days?

Scott Mowry looks forward to bigger and better days as a Plymouth basketballer. A 10th grader, he plays guard, has started some games, figures importantly as the seventh or eighth player on a quintet that's won only four games and lost 11 and hopes to extend its streak to three at Crestview tomorrow.

112-pounder

Pete Daron will wind up his schoolboy career as a wrestler at the end of this season. He's been a factor in the mat fortunes, and misfortunes, of Plymouth since he was a freshman. He grapples in the 112-lb. class and recorded an important pin against his Crestview opponent at Olivesburg Jan. 23. He was in action at Northmor yesterday.

Ream scores 37 points, Red defeats Lucas

Jeff Ream scored a career high 37 points against Lucas here Friday night and the Big Red won its second consecutive game, 72 to 66, but it was Matt Patrick who won it for the home forces.

Patrick scored four buckets in the final period to keep Plymouth just a step ahead of the visitors.

Both teams shot exceptionally well. Plymouth fired for field goal 52 times and made 29 of them. And it missed only two of 16 free throws. The Cubs shot 59 times, made 25, and missed nine of 27 free throws.

The teams were tied at 16 after eight minutes, Randy Neeley having scored eight points on four buckets and Ream just four on two baskets. Ream went to work in the second quarter. He scored 14 points, 12 of them on field goals, missing only three shots at the basket.

Plymouth led by four at the half, 34 to 30, and came out smoking at the beginning of the second half. Ream knocked one in at 7:10, whereupon Lucas got three quick buckets to tie it at 36. Plymouth answered with six unopposeds points and after the teams exchanged baskets, the Cubs went on a rampage. They scored eight unanswered points to take the lead at 46 to 44 and finished the period ahead by three at 50 to 47.

Steve Tackett bagged a field goal to start the fourth quarter. Steve Kern countered with one of his own. Ream fired a jumper to cut the lead to 52 to 51, whereupon the dependable Neeley scored from underneath at 5:31, sending the Big Red into a lead it never gave up. Lucas was to call three time outs before the final buzzer but Kevin Bright couldn't get his forces together enough to thwart the fourth Plymouth victory of the campaign.

Dan McGugin and Ream exchanged buckets. So did Robin Boone and Neeley. Ream snared two free throws, having been hacked by McGugin. The redoubtable Boone, who led Lucas with 21 points, shot a field goal at 2:27 and went to the line for two shots at 2:16. He missed both. The second would not have been good because there was a lane violation.

Here Patrick hit the nets again, making it 65 to 60. Rick Hardin, the Cub quarterback in football, shot two free throws, Patrick having guarded him too closely. Ream retaliated, at the expense of Ted Stone. Then Stone scored two free throws, fouled by Ream. Patrick's goal brought the total to 70 and with 41 seconds left, Lucas again called time. Tackett shot two free throws and all Plymouth had to do was be patient. Boone threw in a rebound and Neeley went to the line and made the first of a one-first of a one-and-one situation to endit all.

Neeley wound up with 15 points. Two other Cubs were in double figures, Stone at 12 and McGugin at 10.

Plymouth outrebounded the Cubs, 34 to 30. The Cubs were charged with 17 turnovers, Plymouth with 22.

About grandchildren, bathing with same!

By AUNT LIZ

There is nothing like spending a few days with grandchildren who do not know you are their grandmother.

We see them so seldom, and they are so little that they simply cannot remember who we are. Somehow we did survive this last holiday visit. It took a couple of days for them to accept us. Then, unfortunately, it was time to leave again.

One, right off the bat, and I think it was simply to test me out, said, "I will take a bath with Grandma." So off we go to the tub. Granted, it was slightly crowded, but we did manage, and I very graciously asked if she would like her back scrubbed off, and what an answer, "I will ask for assistance if I need it." So there I sit in all that hot water, thinking, "Well, Liz, do your own back."

Then a day or two later we got to the next little granddaughter, and she did not want a bath but wanted to watch Grandma take one; this is basic with small animals, they like to be clean and it is plain important to them. So with a great audience, Grandmother takes a bath.

Grandchildren are really like lovable little puppy dogs. They want pure love and it comes in various forms. Hugs and kisses really do not amount to too much, it is how do you read a book like Mommy does. They brought out books that I know they had heard so many times, but the big test was, would it sound the same?

Actresses the world has known through the ages, always they were people who proved themselves as adults, but do not ever underestimate the acting ability of a two-year-old. They are naturals and right to the heart. One minute they are angelic and the next something more devilish than an ordinary adult can believe.

Any grandmother can go on and on about beautiful grandchildren, but they were really only part of our holiday.

There were so many other little things during the week that really made it for us.

Perhaps it may sound silly, but when you are stranded in the airport in Peoria, Ill., for two hours, what do you do? Peoria I had heard about, and never did I think I would spend so much time there. Our plane lost its brakes somewhere along the line, so we had a two hour wait while the airlines changed everyone around, thank heavens for that.

We spent the two hours in the local watering hole of the airport, which was the only place to waste time. What was the fun of it all is that two young men were at the next table and we started to talk. They worked as bargemen on the Mississippi and were on their way home to Kentucky and Arkansas. Their stories of what they did each day were really fantastic. One was a 19-year-old who had worked his way up to first mate, which is good in any water language, and because he did not take the union benefits, he was hauling down $250 a day.

Perhaps that is why we have to pay so much for everything we buy.

I just sat there and listened to the two of them talk away. You could not have found two friendlier guys, and I thought, they have their lives and would never believe how we live in a small community and exist. Their life was or is that great river, which is hard for us to understand. Like thousands before them, they want to master it, and no one has. There are words to a song we all know how the river keeps going and going. Perhaps those two guys are the real pioners of today while the rest of us think there is simply nothing left to pioneer about.

There really is if you were among the lucky people to get a food processor this holiday.

They are dreams and plain fun. In seconds you can cut up things which would normally take hours. It is the best adult toy to come out in years, so if no one gave you one, rush out and give yourself a present.

Five named by Lutheran church council

Committees were named last week by the council, First Evangelical Lutheran church.

These are Robert Smith, pastoral relations; May Caywood, worship and music; Glen Hass, property; Jack Courter, finance; Mrs. William F. Flaherty, Christian education. Smith will also be chairman of the youth committee.

Mrs. F. J. Buzard, president of the council, is chairman of a special social activity planning committee.

First such activity will be on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20, when soup and salad will be served.

Catechetical class will conduct a retreat at Camp Mowana Saturday, leaving from the church at 10 a.m. and returning at 6 p.m.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

On interest in education

Consider that 65.1 per cent of our local tax dollar goes to support our schools (and let's not make any mistake about it: we don't support our schools so much as those who don't live in the district support them, in the ratio of about $3 to $7.) Perhaps we all ought to look more carefully into the performance of the schools.

The General Assembly is considering a bill to require proficiency tests of candidates for diplomas. If they don't pass the tests, they don't get diplomas.

And already the educational establishment is assailing the move, which is no more than what other states have done or are beginning to do. The argument is that some pupils simply can't pass a proficiency test and it is wiser to let them go through the motions, to graduate them, to send them out into the world. Otherwise, the argument continues, the pupil will simply stay in school forever.

These arguments in one forum come on the heels of an announcement of a survey made by the Board of Regents. It showed that freshmen in state institutions require remedial reading and mathematics to a number that is embarrassing. In some institutions the levels were higher than in others (and in one, notably, the figures were zero; a wire service said "this occurred because of special adaptions to the admissions process") but they are nonetheless disturbing. Why? It's obvious. If the best prepared of our young people are deficient in such basic equipment as reading and mathematics, what of their classmates and peers who didn't go on to college?

For our part, we have long felt that a basic shortcoming of our system is that we allow pupils to select what courses please them, rather than what's good for them.

The wire service report referred to above states that most high schools require three years of English (why only three?) and one year of mathematics.

Our rationale is this: if it is worth while to teach John English and mathematics, then it is equally worth while to teach Fred English and mathematics, in the same volume and content, consistent with his capacity to learn.

Simultaneous with these discussions, another report deals with discipline in the schools. It suggests that access to drivers' licenses be denied to those who disrupt school discipline. Professional school people argue that, "since we don't have the issuing authority, why should we be saddled with the denial of licenses?"

We don't think this argument necessarily holds water.

And we're in favor of proficiency tests as a condition of issuance of a diploma, so long as we can have some input as to the content of the test.

Because, as we've so often said, education is too important to leave to the professionals.

20% electric rate increase to take effect immediately

An increase in electric rates of almost 20 per cent was passed Tuesday night by the village council.

Since the bills for January are in the mail, the increase will begin with the next billing period.

Ohio Power Co., from whom the village purchases electrical power at a wholesale rate, was granted a rate increase of 13.9 per cent by the Federal Power commission. The company had originally asked for an increase of 21 per cent, and apparently the banding together with 12 other municipalities which also purchase at the wholesale rate saved Plymouth about seven per cent.

Administrator James C. Root showed his displeasure about it by saying the village had not been notified the rate increase had been granted and he discovered it by checking the January bill from the company.

A meeting of the municipalities involved took place in Wapakoneta Jan. 19, but Plymouth was not represented.

Root estimates the electric fund has lost about $8,000 in the two months involved in rates and the fuel adjustment clause.

The new rates will leave the first 100 kwh at the present rate, but all over 100 will be billed at 4.8 cents.

Alvin Kelley, village income tax administrator, told the council about $3,000 has been collected on withheld taxes from persons working in the village.

He estimates the Apr. 15 collection, a quarter of withheld taxes, taxes from individuals and estimated payments by businesses for 1980, will come to about $25,000.

He urged the mayor and council to appoint a board of review. The mayor appoints one, the council one, and the two chose a third member.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said he has his choice in mind and urged the council to use its committees in deciding its choice.

Kelley suggested that the word "shall" be changed to "may" in the wording of the section of the income tax ordinance pertaining to enforcement of the rules of the ordinance.

His reasoning is that the meaning would be tighter for enforcement of violations and not allow any leeway.

He said it is not fair that most people will adhere to the ordinance and pay their taxes on time and a handful not. During his study of municipalities which have an income tax, he found that enforcement was not actively acted upon.

First reading was given to an ordinance establishing the salary for the director of taxation at $5 an hour for not over 35 hours a week, with all fringe benefits the pay ordinance now calls for. annunance now calls for. Annually this will amount to $9,100.

The position of deputy director was established at an annual salary of $501.

Kelley's position was temporary to set up the tax system and provision had not been made for a permanent position and salary.

Mayor Akers said he is talking to several people about filling the position of clerk-treasurer and will consult with the rules committee before he makes a definite appointment.

By resolution the council formally accepted Raymond Brooks's resignation for the best interest of the village and with regret.

Akers said the state examiner was here Monday and still did not find the village books adequate. These are now balanced through Dec. 31, 1977.

The mayor and Root have been working on them and believe that in two weeks they will be up to date. The examiner is to return in 30 days to check. If he finds them satisfactory, the village may then request an audit.

The mayor said he will welcome any help from any citizen in straightening out the village records.

Councilman Ervin Howard, chairman of the rules and administration committee, said two candidates for the village solicitor had been interviewed, Richard Wolf, Ashland, and Lee Shepherd, Shelby.

He said the committee's choice was Wolf, who is a member of the Ashland college faculty and is the law director for Ashland.

The position is to be offered to him for an annual retainer of $1,200, $35 an hour for any excessive work, if he is willing to attend from 10 to 12 meetings a year.

Chamber to hear experts

In cooperation with Mayor Eric J. Akers and members of the village council, representatives of the Committee for Economic Development for Ohio will attend the meeting of Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce Thursday at 8 p.m. in Charles Rhine armory.

President of the chamber, Dr. James Holloway, said this week there is "a great possibility of a restuarant opening in the village in the near future."

Newsy notes . . .

The Marvin Courtrights were hosts at dinner Sunday to the Julian Barbiers, Leipsic.

Seven clerks in 10 years: is it a record?

Plymouth may hold the record for changes in the position of village clerk-treasurer.

In the last decade, seven have filled the position.

The late J. Phillips Moore, father of Councilman G. Thomas Moore, resigned his council seat in the fall of 1969 to take the position when Mrs. Harold Lippus resigned to spend the winter in Florida.

He held it until the summer of 1971, when illness forced him to retire.

Mrs. William Wheeler, who had been the utility clerk under Mrs. Lippus but at that time was not in the village employ, was appointed to fill the last six months of Mr. Moore's term.

Quentin R. Ream was elected to a four year term beginning Jan. 1, 1972.

After three months, he resigned because the work was too time consuming along with his regular duties as an employee of the then Peoples National bank.

Mrs. Delores Baker was appointed by the mayor to the position. She resigned after one year in office to take a better paying position.

The utility clerk, Mrs. Barbara Hass, filled the position until the present mayor, Eric J. Akers, received his law degree from Ohio Nothern university.

He served until the end of 1972, when he began practicing law in Ashland.

It was at the time he took office that the annual salary for the position was raised from $4,500 to $5,000.

After Akers left, William G. Hamilton was appointed to finish Ream's four year term.

He served the remaining two years and ran unsuccessfully for reelection. He was defeated by Miss Anita Wiedlinger, who was the village utility clerk.

Raymond L. Brooks, retired postmaster, was then appointed and was the only candidate for the position in November, 1979.

He signed his resignation Friday, when it was requested by Mayor Akers.

Crestview clinches first BFVC title

Crestview scored 13 unanswered points toward the end of the third period in a Blackfork Valley conference game there Friday and defeated Plymouth, 89 to 71.

Until that point, it was an exciting game that featured splendid play on both sides. From the outset, it was the sensational Fred Stimpert, who wound up with 31 points, the game high, versus Plymouth's two guns, Randy Neeley and Jeff Ream.

But Neeley was held scoreless in the third quarter, restricted to four shots at the basket, and Stimpert matched the eight points that Ream achieved.

Plymouth stayed close to a team whose shooting was remarkable. The Big Red trailed by four after eight minutes, having matched the Cougars basket for basket, and by six at the half. It was in the third period that Plymouth faltered. Its defense collapsed. The Cougars managed 16 shots at the basket and converted nine of them. Plymouth's offense wasn't up to the task. It got 20 shots and made only six. So Crestview went into the final quarter with a good lead, at 63 to 48.

Despite the best performance of the year by Steve Tackett, an 11th grader, in the final eight minutes — he scored 10 points — Stimpert returned to action after a rest midway in the period and scored nine points. Crestview outscored Plymouth in the last quarter by three.

Neeley, ever dependable, kept Plymouth in the match in the early going with 12 points in the first eight minutes and four more in the second.

Ream, meanwhile, was slow to get started. He was limited to four shots, with just one success, in the first quarter. He warmed up thereafter. In the second period he got eight shots and canned three of them and added two free throws. His point total for the night was 22, high for the Big Red. Tackett's total of 18 was a career high.

In all, Plymouth got off 76 shots and made 32 of them. It missed only two of nine free throws.

The Cougars used their home hardwood to utter success. They fired 67 times and converted 37 of them. They missed seven of 22 free throws.

Save for the third period, when Plymouth committed six turnovers, the visitors were relatively error free. They were charged with one in the first period, two in the second and three in the fourth, for a total of 12, a season-low.

For its part, Crestview made only 10 turnovers.

Rick Rader scored 17 for the winners, who had eight players hit the scoreboard.

Fifth grade Vikes also won the first round title at Friendly House by whipping Jimmy's Cafe, 32 to 13.

You'll find gold in soup recipes!

By AUNT LIZ

There is nothing like getting up at the crack of dawn, managing to reach the kitchen without turning on any lights because you are "saving" like mad, and somehow get the radio on and find out that during the time which has already finished in the other half of the world, gold has zoomed upward again.

Right now it is something like $800 an ounce, so after three cups of coffee, it is time to amble upward to a tub and get dressed and brush your teeth. So you open your mouth and think, "I've got it made".

Just about everyone my age has at least one gold crown. We acquired them most innocently. We trusted our dentists. They would say, "open", and we did, and in went the gold.

I am sure they did not realize what millionaires they were creating. They simply got us stretched out in their really comfortable chairs, and went to work, doing what they thought had to be done.

So we are really worth a real mint.

During the last few days I have given great thought to going back and asking to have it all dug out so I can turn it in for pure cash.

Two things are stopping me from it. The first is that it will hurt too darn much and it would simply not be polite to ask your favorite dentist to undo what he thought was so good. Actually, those reasons should be reversed, but every body knows I am a plain coward about such things. So does our dentist.

The thing is not really to be joked about. Perhaps there are too few of us left who can remember what happened in the German concentration camps. Fortunately, we lived here and only read about it all. And then years later, we met up with some of those people who had lived through those camps. And the way the world seems to be going this week, at least, there just may be more like them. It is great to be an American and merely read about them, but what if it is us?

Meantime, while we are watching the world go by, we are munching away on something. It is a real game. A few weeks ago I bought something that was 89¢ and over the week-end bought another package of the same stuff, only for $1.11! At this rate, all munching is getting to be impossible, if not sinful.

About now, I am of the opinion that people are simply getting plain tired of discussing prices of this and that and are really looking forward to a really good blizzard, which will furnish conversation for days.

Still, three years later, I can vividly remember two really bad winters and they are among my favorite things to talk about. Fortunately, we were among the very lucky who did not suffer because of them.

But it is that season to start thinking of what you will eat when really snowed in.

A pot of homemade soup is great and if you can prepare it just when a storm hits, but it is more efficient to simply stock up on a bunch of canned soups.

The combinations can be fantastic, and you can fast become a real gourmet cook, if your can opener is working.

Try St. Patrick's soup, a can of cream of spinach and cream of mushroom. Just follow the directions on each can, and dump together in a pot.

Then there is something a good restaurant will charge several gold fillings for, called Oyster Soupe Louisianne. You are paying for the French accent there.

Should you have two cans of the oyster, throw in one of cream of mushroom, and you have Soupe St. Martin.

The good thing about these combinations is that even though they are really better hot, you can eat them cold in case you have nothing to cook with.

If Red Cross hadn't trained young Lars Aleckson in lifesaving techniques, last summer Adam Gauthier just might have ended up one more drowning statistic. (Adam's alive and well today, thank you, and in the first grade in Manitowoc, Wisconsin.)

We're not asking for medals (Lars is the one who deserves those). But we do need your continued support. Help us. Because the things we do really help. In your own neighborhood. And across America. And the world.

Staggs hired to succeed Fazzini as school head

THE PLYMOUTH Advertiser

Vol. CXXVII — 128th Year, No. 57 Thursday, February 14, 1980

An Independent Newspaper Published Every Thursday at 14 East Main St., P. O. Box 168, Plymouth, Ohio

A 33-year-old alumnus of Eastern Kentucky university, Richmond, Ky., was hired by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night to be superintendent of Plymouth Local School district.

He is Douglas Staggs, who came here on June 18, 1977, as administrative assistant.

Staggs was accorded a contract that begins Apr. 1 and ends July 31, 1982. He will be paid 180 per cent of his earned salary if he were teaching.

Staggs holds a master's degree in education from Bowling Green State university.

He was principal of Mapleton High school in Ashland county before he joined the Plymouth staff. Prior to that assignment, he was for two years principal at Centerburg High school, where he was a teacher of social studies.

Staggs is secretary of Plymouth Lions club.

He and his wife are the parents of two children. They reside at 328 Trux street.

His appointment came after the board was closeted in a brief executive session. The actual hiring was done by candlelight, probably a first in the history of Plymouth school district. The village electrical system failed at about 8:50 p.m. and did not resume power for 42 minutes.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Well done, Mr. Fazzini!

A 30-year career in public education, 20 of them in Plymouth, will soon come to an end for John Fazzini, who will retire Mar. 31 as superintendent of Plymouth schools.

He brought to his job an enthusiasm for education and an absolute genius for money management. His manipulations of the budget and the appropriations resolution alone kept the schools afloat until, happily, the state bailed us out. Which is not to say that we're home free! Far from it.

The appropriations approved Monday night, of just under $2.3 million, are five times what they were when he came here.

He has served us well, as elementary teacher and principal, as junior high school principal and as superintendent.

He is deserving of his retirement. Further, he is deserving of the plaudits of every man Jack of us, especially now that he is recovering from a bout with surgery.

He was and is a good citizen, a gentleman, a good husband and father, and a good neighbor, a dedicated public servant.

What more can man say about his fellow man?

A chance to mend ways

Elsewhere today a celebrated entertainer points out that five per cent of the people contribute 100 per cent of the blood that's needed to keep us going.

That's a national average. It's not the fact here.

Fact is, recipients of blood having Plymouth mailing addresses have, in the past 10 years, been given 6,200 per cent more than has been given by donors of blood having Plymouth mailing addresses.

We all have a chance to mend our ways.

The Bloodmobile will be here Feb. 29, from noon to 6 p.m., at Plymouth High school.

All of the blood donated to the Bloodmobile is given FREE to anyone who needs it. Not only in the 74-hospital region whose blood donor service includes Plymouth, but throughout Ohio, the other 49 states, and in most foreign countries.

While the visit of the Bloodmobile is organized and sponsored by the Lions club, participation in it is certainly not limited to Lions and their families. Every effort is being made to extend the benefits of the blood bank system to everybody.

Can't we at least look after our own?

Appropriations of $2,258,665.03 for 1980 were approved by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

They include $1,071,597 for the teaching staff, $141,423 for special instruction, $92,452 for vocational training, $92,452 for vocational instruction, making a total of $1,305,472 for all instruction; $73,425 for pupil support services, including the guidance program and some equipment replacement; $140,021 for general administration, including the salaries of the superintendent and his staff and support of the county board of education; $124,478 for school administration, including principals' salaries and pay for their staffs; $51,150 for business support services, including salaries of the treasurer and her staff and fees due the county auditor; $266,812 for operation and maintenance of plant services, $190,084 for all support services;

Also, $5,344 for extracurricular activities, $1,000 for interest on short term loans, $16,866 for tuition to other districts, and $45,509.03 for contingencies and transfers.

Mrs. Kathleen Green, high school home economics teacher, was accorded maternity leave of six weeks, beginning Mar. 3.

In the absence of Supt. John Fazzini, who underwent abdominal surgery at Willard, the administrative assistant, Douglas Staggs, reported the discipline committee met Jan. 30 with 19 members. Another meeting is intended, Staggs said, and some changes in discipline policy may result.

Daniel Donoghue, elementary vocal music instructor, was accorded permission to use a school bus to transport fifth graders to Tiffin on Feb. 24 to hear the Heidelberg college concert choir.

Authority was accorded the superintendent to apply for funding for a new school bus and, if it is approved, to advertise for bids.

Fazzini was hired at his hourly rate to be a consultant during his leave period at the termination of his contract. He will retire Mar. 31. His leave begins Feb. 26.

Huron county board of elections was given permission to use Charles Rhine armory as a voting booth site on June 3 and Nov. 4.

Dedication of the new building at Shiloh will take place next month, probably on Mar. 23. A speaker will be sought.

Candidate for sheriff drops out

The number of Democratic candidates for sheriff of Richland county decreased by one last week.

He would have faced Roger Zimmerman, formerly a lieutenant in the Mansfield Police department; Jackie Rhodes, who is a member of the party's central committee, and Richard Petty, formerly commander of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Ashland.

Francis said he is quitting for two reasons: he has three growing children who need the full-time attention of a father and the demands of campaigning would conflict with the needs of his job and family.

On the other side of the political fence, Paul Baumberger, a veteran GOP wheelhorse who once ran for commissioner, and who was going to do so again, said he'll seek the party's nomination to be recorder.

He said he heard Commissioner David McGinty give a speech and was dissuaded from running against him. There remained two choices: to run for recorder or to run for treasurer. He chose the former. The incumbent, Richard Orewiler, a Democrat, will seek reelection, but not without opposition.

Fuses out, lights out 42 minutes

If you missed your favorite television programs Monday night, it was because three fuses went out in the sub-station in Birchfield street.

The outage occurred about 8:50 p.m. and continued for over 40 minutes while village utility workers made the repairs.

It is suspected it was caused by a malfunctioning of the Ohio Power lines that serve the village.

Mrs. Dungan, kin of villager succumbs at 79

Born Louise Echelberry in Republic Nov. 21, 1900, she was the child of William and Anna Freesman Echelberry. She was a graduate of Republic High school and of Tiffin university. She was a former teacher and social worker in Akron and in Seneca county.

Prior to taking up residence in Dubois in 1973, she was assistant to Dr. Roland Silverman, a member of the Republic Women's club, a member of the American Field Service in Seneca county, a charter member of the League of Women Voters and a member of the Seneca County Historical society.

Her husband died in 1929.

She is also survived by a son, Cameron D., Brockway, Pa.; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Council delays action on plan to pay help advanced by mayor

It was that it would be necessary to meet the next night.

The meeting was purposely called by Mayor Eric J. Akers to discuss two points, those of paying the village payroll, which is overdue since Friday, and the discussion of hiring an accountant to go through the village financial records to set them aright.

The mayor finally concluded the meeting by saying he will attempt to get a written opinion from another lawyer concerning how the council can authorize payment of the payroll since the funds which it will be paid from show a deficit, and who can be authorized to draw the checks.

No action was taken on the hiring of an accountant because of the problem of where the money would come from to pay such a person.

Akers told the council he had been informed by the auditor's office that federal revenue sharing money could be used. This account showed a balance of over $13,000 on the Dec. 31 financial statement issued to the council by the former clerk, Raymond L. Brooks.

Akers contended throughout the almost two hour meeting that it is illegal to pay out of deficit funds, which would be the case to meet the overdue payroll since the general, electric and water funds are definitely in the red, no matter what arithmetic mistakes exist in the village books.

He suggested that $10,000 be borrowed against anticipated income tax revenues to meet this payroll and possibly the next one.

He also suggested that each fund start as of now with a zero balance plus the added income tax money to tide it over and any tax money coming in (mainly to the general fund) and utility collections. Then, he said, gradually begin to pay off the past deficits over a period of time.

The mayor said he is reluctant to appoint a new clerk who would walk into a bad situation and did not want a new person to be put in the position as the former clerk, who was allowed by the council and former mayor to pay funds from deficit accounts.

He said he had urged the council members to pitch in to help with the books and only two responded.

Ervin Howard said it is the council's duty to have nothing to do with the books and it is up to the clerk to do so. The former mayor had also requested council members to check through the accounts of their committees several months ago, but they did not see the need to do so.

When it was apparent that no positive action was forthcoming, Councilman G. Thomas Moore said, "There is no point in just sitting here and getting no place", and said he had another meeting to attend.

Councilman Mrs. Allan Raymond agreed and said there should be a way to authorize the payroll on Tuesday. She made a motion to do this, which was seconded by Moore.

The Howard brothers did not agree. They wanted to recheck the time cards of the last payroll with James C. Root, village administrator, and Police Chief W. Robert Seel to make certain they are accurate. This was to be done last night.

Councilman Dean Cline concurred with their argument, which brought Mrs. Raymond to say if Root authorized his employees' time cards, he was within his right as the village administrator, since he had the authority to spend up to $2,500 without council approval and that his payroll did not equal that amount.

One sticky subject emerged concerning the employment of a patrolman from part-time to full time. The Howard brothers felt they should have been consulted. The mayor said this was up to the police chief and mayor, with which Moore agreed.

Mrs. Raymond suggested the matter rest until the village hires a solicitor and let that person decide.

If the council agrees to borrow $10,000 against income collections which Alvin Kelley, the income tax administrator, estimates will bring in about $25,000 on Apr. 15, how much will be left of that particular collection when the expenses of setting up the system are paid?

At its last regular meeting, the council voted to hire a permanent director at an annual salary of $9,100 plus fringe benefits, which will bring the cost close to $12,000 annually. This is about one tenth of annual anticipated revenues.

Police busy during January

During January, Plymouth Police department answered 114 complaints and assisted other law enforcement agencies in nine instances.

Twelve traffic summonses were issued and one non-traffic summons.

The department investigated two collisions and assisted in four cases of missing persons.

The cruisers travelled a total of 4,279 miles and used 765 gallons of gasoline.

Three fires occupy PFD

Plymouth fire department answered three calls over the weekend.

The first occurred Friday evening when a wood burn evening when a wood burning stove apparently started the blaze in the garage of the Daniel Hockenberrys in Mulberry street.

The building is a total loss. It is estimated that about $10,000 in tools were lost, but the truck in the garage at the time was saved.

The second call came Sunday at 1:45 a.m. when Charles Huston, who was driving the Shiloh ambulance, saw flames in the state highway garage north of the village in Route 61 and turned in the alarm.

On Monday at 7:20 firemen answered a call to the Dennis home in London East road. This was a chimney fire from a wood burning stove.

Earnings down, Banner says

A sharp drop in earnings during the second quarter of its fiscal year is reported by Banner Industries, Inc., parent firm of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

Reason: tonnage declines in its motor freight operations.

Record performances were recorded by the aviation aftermarket and products-for-industry (which latter includes PLW) groups.

Net income for the quarter was $383,708, or nine cents a share, as compared with $1,217,918, or 30 cents a share, a year ago.

For the six month period ending Dec. 30, sales were $100,274,549, net income was $1,422,445, equivalent to 35 cents a share. By comparison, a year ago the figures were $87,400,861 and $2,683,980, equivalent to 67 cents a share. Net income for the past six months is affected, the company says, by an extraordinary income item of $405,000 in the form of an insurance settlement. This amounts to 10 cents a share.

Cadet Holt wins honors at USAFA

Cadet Holt, Class of 1980, is now entitled to wear the distinctive insignia of a silver star encircled by a silver wreath. The silver star represents academic achievement and the wreath symbolizes military achievement.

To be eligible for this honor, cadets must be in the upper third of their class as evaluated by their peers. They must also achieve a semester grade point average of at least 3.0 on a 4.0 scale.

To be chosen to the superintendent's list is the highest honor a cadet can be given for academic and military proficiency.

Steven Shuty has been chosen to the dean's list at Tiffin university for the first semester 1979-1980. A minimum of 12 semester hours of credit plus a cumulative average of 3.50 for the preceding semester is required.

A 1977 alumnus of Plymouth High school, Shuty is a junior majoring in higher accounting. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shuty, Plymouth route 1.

OSU entry closing for June graduates

New freshman applications for the Mansfield campus of Ohio State university will continue to be accepted when an expected "hold" is put on applications to the university's Columbus campus, it is announced today by David W. Kramer, dean and director of the OSU Mansfield campus.

OSU admissions officials are alerting high school counselors about the Columbus campus application deadline, which is scheduled to be effective Friday, Feb. 22.

"We are delighted with the enthusiastic interest in Ohio State" said James F. Loucks, assistant vice-president for registration services. "But we also must remain within a state mandated undergraduate enrollment ceiling for the Columbus campus". Because of the large number of new freshmen applications for the Columbus campus, Loucks noted, OSU cannot guarantee admission to everyone who applies.

"Admission to the Mansfield campus or one of OSU's other regional campuses for the summer or autumn quarters offers an option to freshmen who cannot be assured of admission to the Columbus campus," Kramer emphasized. Other options available to freshmen include being placed on a waiting list for possible admission after May 1, the date by which previously admitted freshmen must confirm their intention to enroll, attendance part-time and after 5 p.m. at Columbus, and renewal of their application for winter or spring quarters, 1981.

Information concerning admission for students interested in getting started at the university may be obtained by calling the Mansfield campus admissions office, 755-4226.

Loucks said that the university will continue to accept applications from prospective graduate and professional students, as well as transfer students at all levels.

Plymouth scored the first three points in the Friday night massacre at Bellville but that was all she wrote.

The Colts overcame that lead with 6:21 on the clock and strung together 12 unanswered points. They needed no more but they kept the pressure on, although Coach Terry Gordon used every player whose name appeared on the scorebook (and all but two of them scored), and walked away with an 86 to 48 victory.

To the surprise of no one, it was Doug Ute who led Clear Fork. He scored 27 points. He was particularly devastating in the third period, when he bagged 13 of his total.

The winners on their home floor were sensational in their shooting. They tried 12 free throws and scored with 10. They shot for field goal 75 times and succeeded with 38. Going into the final quarter, they were 30-of-53. Their performance tailed off in the last eight minutes, when less experienced players were on the floor.

While the Colts were showing a packed house how the game ought to be played, Plymouth was disappointing itself and its handful of fans.

The Big Red shot for field goal 62 times and scored with 19. It missed eight of 18 free throws. Whereas Clear Fork was charged with only eight turnovers, Plymouth had 18. And the Colts with superior height and better positioning on the floor simply dominated the backboards.

The two big guns of the Big Red, Jeff Ream and Randy Neeley, were all but shackled. Ream scored eight points in the first half — three field goals and two free throws, on six shots at the basket — and Neeley was held to just six, on three field goals with eight shots.

A birthday anniversary only reminds one of what was

By AUNT LIZ

There is nothing like having a birthday anniversary and much more fun when you are simply turning five.

What it really does is to invoke memories of the past. Like how we could buy a quart of real whipping cream for a dollar. Cream so rich, you had to scoop it out. For years we rode the gravy train of knowing individually owned cows who produced very gaily. The one thing was that you did have to produce your own quart jar for exchange. Then, one by one, the happy animals retired.

This little memory came up over the weekend when I made a big dish of bread pudding, and we are happily eating it with that artificial stuff.

Our life style has really changed. Some say for the worse, but I think for the better. Microwave ovens, garage doors that open, ice makers, garbage disposals, you name it, and some of us have them. Even though we use very few canned things, our electric can opener is about our most prized possession. I have never forgotten the afternoon, hot, too, that I struggled to open 10 cans of the largest size of baked beans before I could even get going on a roaster for a midget league picnic. It took me over two hours to get the darn things opened with a hand gadget. By the last can, my thoughts and language were completely unprintable.

Then we are in the throes of saving energy. Being normal human beings, we realize we must. First, because it must be done. Secondly, to save us moola. Perhaps that should be reversed. We can freeze to bits, but it is a little hard to explain to a nine-year-old cat (she does not really understand time) and to a happy go-lucky dog who loves pure comfort.

Poor Tillie, the cat, simply roams around the house looking for a register which is emitting heat. Sometimes she hits the jack pot when the furnace turns on.

As for that dog, who is a fairly good sized cocker, he perches on the back of the chair I sit on. Frankly, he takes up more than just the back, most of it, and I perch on the front end and am fast acquiring a real dent you can guess where.

Not only are we trying to save on heat, gasoline, you name it. We are trying, especially, on food. But one still must eat. It is one hobby that will never go out of style, but what is happening is that some things one simply cannot find nor buy anymore. Here it is veal.

I realize most people can live without it, but it is a nice change. You can find it here and there, expensive, but if it is the right cut, it can be economical. I have one recipe that will make a pound go for about eight servings and at five something, that is not bad. However, this recipe would never work in Denver. Can you believe in that land of cattle out there it is $11.49 a pound?

This is where you have got to experiment a little. We found a beautiful recipe that requires veal. After staring at it for a couple of hours, I figured there had to be a way.

It was probably not perfection, but very tasty and edible.

Defrost breaded veal patties, which are inexpensive. Dip them in egg, then coat them with a mixture of parsley flakes, a clove of minced garlic, some Romano cheese, salt and pepper. You have to guess at the amount, but use what looks adequate to do as many patties as you need.

Stash them in the refrigerator for maybe an hour. This assures that the stuff sticks.

Coat a skillet with a little olive oil, and cook the patties until they are golden. Remove, drain the pan of the oil, pour in a little Sauterne and lemon juice, put the patties back in and simmer for a few minutes.

Rainbow Valley . . .

"Blood on the Mountain," a new color film, will be shown in Charles Rhine armory by Rainbow Valley Chapel Sunday at 7 p.m.

The release of Bob Jamison from Colorado State Penitentiary triggers an escape by his former accomplise, Jim Hawker, "Hawk", as he is known, forces another inmate, Billy Hartman, to accompany him on a quest for revenge that leads to the kidnapping of Bob Jamison and his wife.

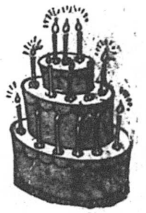

A chase by the police climaxes at the Royal Gorge where the hostages are forced into the cable car in a desperation move. The conflicts of human emotions and the interruption of human plans are woven into a tapestry of man's rebellion and God's forgiveness, against the backdrop of the Sangre De Christo (Blood of Christ) mountains of Colorado.

Presbyterians . . .

Members of the Women's association, First United Presbyterian church, will meet at the church Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Each member is to bring a dozen cookies to take to shutins.

"Everything you've always wanted to know about inflation, but didn't know who to ask..."

Here in this booklet are things you need to know about the causes of inflation — and what you can do about it. The booklet is FREE. For your copy, just write "Dollars and Sense," Pueblo, Colorado 81009

We can all beat inflation if we just use our dollars and sense.

Ad Council — A public service message of The Advertising Council and The U.S. Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and Treasury. Presented by this newspaper.

Bill Cosby tells why Red Cross needs your type of blood.

"Every day of the week, there's somebody who needs your type of blood.

"But the thing about blood is: it doesn't keep very long. Which means we've got to keep the supply coming constantly. Donors are needed every day.

"Sorry to say, there are never enough donors.

"In fact, five people out of every 100 are doing the whole job. That's right, five percent of the people give 100 percent of the blood that's donated.

"If you're between 17 and 66, and generally healthy, you can help change all that. And your one blood donation can help up to five people to live.

Keep Red Cross ready.

Our Job.

The Ohio Power Company's philosophy of service was first formally stated in 1934. This understanding of our job has not changed through the intervening years. It is still our pledge to the public and the creed of every employee.

"Our job is generating electricity and getting it to where it's used. We're in this business because it is concerned with the supply of a fundamental requirement of modern living, because it's an honorable one, because we like it, and because we want to earn a living at it.

"We aim to give one kind of service to everyone... the best that's possible. That means supplying our customers with what they want when they want it. It means being courteous at all times and maintaining attractive, easy to do-business-with offices.

"It means doing everything we can to keep complaints from arising, and it means prompt and fair handling of those that do.

"We are a citizen of each community we serve and take an active part in its affairs. Like any other citizen, we want our neighbors to think well of us. Besides, it makes good business sense. We prosper only as the community prospers, so we help it thrive in every way we can.

"Such is our job as we see it. We are trying to do it well and to do it better all the time."

We give it our best.

Shiloh couple killed when struck by train

A young Shiloh couple was killed Friday at 4:50 p.m when its car was struck at the London West road crossing by a Conrail train.

Lynn E. Cole, 28, 15 Prospect street, and his wife, Vickie A., 24, were taken to Mansfield hospital, where they were pronounced dead on arrival.

State highway patrol said Cole was westbound in London North road when he drove into the path of the train, which was northbound. The engineer, Marion B. Decker, 55, North Olmsted, told patrolmen he sounded the engine's whistle for 3,000 feet om advance of the crossing.

Patrol said Cole apparently did not see the approaching train, because there were no skid marks at the site. The car was thrown into a ravine at the northeast side of the right-of-way. No electric signal operates at the crossing.

Dr. Milton Oakes, Richland county coroner, was called to the scene.

Cole was a life resident of Shiloh. He was employed by Mansfield Brass & Aluminum Corp., New Washington, for six years. He was a Marine Corps veteran of the Vietnam engagement.

Mrs. Cole was a native of Willard who lived most of her life in or near Shiloh.

They are survived by three sons, Lynn, Jr., Marvin and Charlie, and two daughters, Lori Ann and April May, all at home.

He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Florence Cole, Plymouth; six brothers, Arthur, in Florida; Elvis, Plymouth; Melvin, in Florida; Herbert, Jr., Sylvania; Floyd, Chicago, Ill., and Ellis, Mansfield, and three sisters, Eda, now Mrs. Donald Jones, Greenwich; Evelyn, now Mrs. John Steele, Shelby, and Mrs. Jeanetta Hodge, Mansfield.

She is also survived by her parents, the Enoch Buffingtons, Shiloh; two brothers, Calvin William and Arvel Robert Buffington, both of Shiloh, and four sisters, Eva Ruth Buffington, Shelby; Cynthia Jane, now Mrs. Ottis Bradford, Pyramid, Ky.; Magdeline, now Mrs. William DeMuth, Shiloh and Melody, now Mrs. Richard Johnson, Shiloh.

The Rev. Floyd Bailey conducted services from the Pentecostal church at Celeryville Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

Burial by McQuate-Secor Funeral home was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Wolf urges two to be added to budget process

Candidate Terry Wolf, who seeks to unseat Richard McFarland, incumbent Richland county commissioner in June calls for the election of two additional members from the county at large to the county budget commission.

"Ohio law provides the budget commission is comprised of the prosecutor, the auditor and the treasurer. The law further provides upon petition of the people in our county two non-officials may be elected to serve on the commission.

"Hopefully, people skilled in fiscal management, accounting, banking, investments, and such could be attracted to seek this very important position. We have an enormous pool of talent in our community whose expertise in sound business practice could make a vital contribution to this troubled area of county government.

"These people would be paid $20 and provided by law for each day they help the county address the problem of returning to sound financial management; I submit it would be an excellent investment that would help the county escape the fiscal morass deonstrated during the crisis of 1979, for example."

'Be kind to PLW, Chamber advised by OEDC group

"Keep what you have" was the advice given to Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce members Thursday night by four members of the Ohio Economic Development council.

On the initiative of Mayor Eric J. Akers, the meeting was arranged with the thought of luring more industry to the village.

Instead, their advice was that if Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., remains in the village, it will bring more industrial development.

The company was highly disturbed last spring when the village council actively began work on the passage of a village income tax.

W. S. Sturman, executive vice-president of the company wrote a letter to the mayor saying that any additional costs to PLW would have a serious adverse effect on the operating income.

He cited three options open to the subsidiary of Banner Industries, Inc.

These are to refurbish and modernize the existing facilities, to relocate the plant within Ohio or out of state, and to sub-contract much of the work to others who could do it cheaper than the prevalent wage scale here.

A copy of his letter was also sent to G. A. Painter, a member of the OEDC.

Painter told the chamber the company is not pleased with the way the income tax was handled.

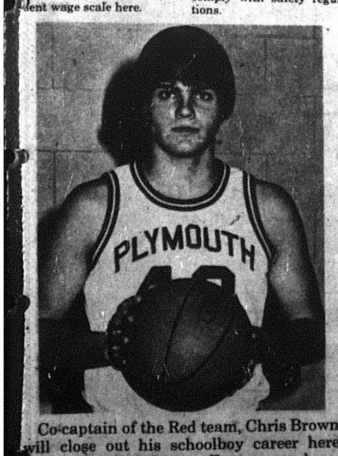

The council at the time felt the income tax is necessary for the village to provide adequate services and capital improvements.

George Ashton, director for Industrial and Community Development for Buckeye Power, advised the community to think more "positively" and work together with PLW. He said the company wished to feel it was more a part of the community.

A representative of the company admitted that serious thought to moving out of Plymouth is being considered.

There was no discussion nor any question concerning the oft-repeated story by some employees of PLW that OSHA requires an investment of $2 million here to comply with safety regulations.

Carabin, Palm file petitions

Incumbent Huron county commissioners Roy Palm and Thomas Carabin are seeking reelection and have filed their nominating petitions, subject to the June primary.

Palm, 63, a dairy farmer near North Fairfield, seeks a second term. He is a Republican.

Carabin, 41, a Norwalk insurance agent, also seeks a second term.

Carabin's candidacy is challenged on the Democratic ticket by Robert Williams, Norwalk, where he is a councilman.

A 17-year-old Shiloh driver was summoned into Richland county juvenile court on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way after his car struck another at Base Line and Willet roads Sunday.

Still no action on fiscal crisis

Seven meetings in that many weeks plus innumerable committee meetings, and still the village council has not decided just what path it wishes to take to solve its financial problems.

Mayor Eric J. Akers Tuesday night advocated volunteer help and to solve the problem within the village without spending extra funds.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore, who had attended a committee meeting Tuesday morning with Francis Casselman, who did the last audit of the village for the state auditor's office, advocated the hiring of a certified public accountant to "get it over with".

Moore said that Casselman told the finance committee it was being illegal to spend funds from deficit accounts, and recommended that the village investigate HB 132, which has been designated to help Cleveland out of its woes. Casselman said he thought it could apply to all municipalities.

Any request for financial relief, Moore explained, would have to be made by the mayor or the president of the council pro tempore.

No formal action was taken on the resignation of Todd Fackler, who served as clerk for 24 hours. The mayor said he had not received Fackler's resignation. Councilman David Howard, to whom Fackler said he handed it to, said he had received a "scratched out resignation".

Nevertheless, Tuesday night's meeting was recessed until today at 5:30 p.m., when the mayor hopes to be able to appoint a new clerk at a new salary and have information on the hiring of an accountant.

The mayor requested that Moore, David Howard and Councilman Dean A. Cline meet last night to discuss the salary to be offered a new clerk.

The salary has been set at $5,000 since 1973. He said that a salary today of $9,390 is more realistic.

Cline asked the mayor how many hours the clerk is required to work.

The mayor replied that once a new clerk get "over the hump", he estimates that 20 hours a week will suffice. The mayor also said the time involved is least important compared with the ability to do the job.

Since another payroll is due Friday, it is hoped that a clerk can be appointed tonight.

James C. Root, village administrator, was asked how the village employees will react to another late paycheck. He evaded it by saying he would rather not say.

Root told the council he has made every attempt to cut back on costs to the village, including the softening of the water, which requires a great deal of salt. He told the council a bill from Ohio Power Co. in the amount of about $25,000 is overdue, which means that next week there will be a penalty of six per cent added, which amounts to about $1,500. He said in past years, the village had managed to keep that bill paid.

Things are better in the income tax department, however Alvin Kelley, who has been the acting director, said the department at the moment is maintaining its own checking account and is able to pay for its supplies and salaries.

Villager was driver that hurt two

A 20-year-old Plymouth man was the driver of a car that struck a snowmobile in Shelby early Sunday, sending two persons to Mansfield General hospital with serious injuries.

Antonio Lopez, 34 West Broadway, was northbound in Mansfield avenue at 3:44 a.m. when the snowmobile operated by Joseph Biglin, 17, eastbound in West Jefferson street, failed to stop.

Biglin received a broken leg.

A passenger, Christina Alt, 18, Shelby route 2, was placed in the intensive care unit with fractured ribs and a broken right leg.

New clerk quits after one day!

Second youngest of clerk-treasurers of the village, Todd Fackler set for himself Saturday an undisputed record: he is first in the shortest tenure of a clerk.

Sworn Friday at noon by Mayor Eric J. Akers to succeed Raymond L. Brooks, elected in November to a full four year term starting Jan. 1, but fired by Akers in January, Fackler handed in his resignation Saturday. Akers wasn't in town so Fackler handed it to David A. Howard, president pro tempore of the council.

He said he didn't think he can afford the time to do the job. A 1977 alumnus of the College of Wooster, he was graduated by Plymouth High school in 1973. He is engaged in farming with his father, Richard D. Fackler.

His single official act was to execute the checks to pay the 14 employees of the village for the period that was missed a week before because there weren't enough funds.

Young Fackler also was visibly disturbed by what he thought was neglectful treatment by the rules committee to meet him Thursday at 4 p.m.

He said he waited two hours for the committee to show up. Fackler said he was given to understand that salary considerations would be discussed.

He was most upset with Councilman Dean A. Cline, who, he said, "apparently didn't care about the meeting." Councilman Michael R. Taylor was in California, owing to the death of a brother. Councilman Ervin Howard was ill.

Numbers. . .

Three new Class AA teams certain

Three new Class AA teams will compete in the 1980 football season that begins in August.

And in girls' competition, three new schools will join the Class AA ranks. These are Crestview, Black River and St. Mary's.

Alignment of the other schools locally — those in the Firelands and Black Fork Valley conferences, independents and schools affiliated in other conferences, remain as they are.

Fewer than 186 boys in grades 10, 11 and 12, Class A;

More than 185 boys but less than 383 boys in grades 10, 11 and 12, Class AA;

More than 382 boys in grades 10, 11 and 12, Class AAA;

More than 176 but less than 366 girls in grades 10, 11 and 12, Class AA;

Crestview, 179 boys, Class A; 180 girls, Class AA; Plymouth, 145 boys, 161 girls, Class A; Lucas, 103 boys, 96 girls, Class A.

Also, Monroeville, 125 boys, 118 girls, Class A; South Central, 119 boys, 123 girls, Class A; St. Paul's, 104 boys, 92 girls, Class A.

Among independents, competing in several sports but not football:

St. Peter's, 116 boys, 102 girls, Class A; Mansfield Christian, 85 boys, 78 girls, Class A.

Among other schools that compete locally:

Jeff Ream did to Mansfield Christian school in the second half here Saturday what Randy Neeley did in the first half and Plymouth won its fourth consecutive home game, 64 to 56.

Plymouth squandered a halftime lead during the third period, when Neeley was limited to a single free throw attempt, which he missed, and went into the last eight minutes trailing by three points at 50 to 47.

Here is where Ream, who was held to nine shots in the first half and eight points, two of them coming on free throws, went to work. The dought 12th grader, who came back to the squad in the seventh game, had bagged four field goals in as many shots during the third quarter. He scored two free throws at 6:47, a field goal at 6:14, and two more free throws at 5:37 to establish a lead that Plymouth never forsook. With the score at 53 to 50, Mike Haring threw in a jumper from the key to cut the lead to one, whereupon Ream fired another jumper and Neeley did likewise. From here on it was like picking cherries in August.

Both teams shot exceptionally well. And they were evenly matched otherwise. Plymouth had more opportunities at the foul line, 20 to 14, but each team missed eight tries.

Christian unloaded for field goal 60 times and made 25 of them. Plymouth's record was slightly better. It shot 55 times and scored with 26.

Christian made 15 turnovers, Plymouth only 12. Plymouth outrebounded the Flames, 36 to 32. Each team had 13 assists and five steals.

Only five players on each side got onto the scoreboard.

Ontario decks Red in return match

Anybody who paid to see the Ontario vs. Plymouth basketball game at Ontario Friday night must've felt he was robbed.

Neither team played the game that it's capable of and the Warriors emerged with revenge for an earlier loss at Plymouth.

The score was 54 to 43.

The game was marked by mistake after mistake, on both sides. Plymouth was charged with 22 turnovers, Ontario with 17.

And neither team shot at all well. Ontario unloaded for field goal 54 times and was successful with only 19. Plymouth's performance was no less satisfactory: 47 shots, 17 successes. Each team missed too many free throws, Ontario 11 of 27, Plymouth eight of 17.

One Plymouth player, Scott Harris, a starter, fouled out. And when the final horn sounded, there were five others in deep trouble with four apiece. These were Randy Neeley, Brad Postema, Jeff Ream, Rob Smith and Steve Tackett.

Plymouth kept it close until three minutes were gone in the final period. This is when Ontario began to pull away. It opened a seven point lead on a shot off the end line by Paul Morrow and a key field goal on an inbounds play be Kevin Ellison, who led all scorers with 20. Plymouth countered with a field goal by Jeff Ream from 18 feet out, but then Ontario strung together four unanswered points and the Warriors had a lead of 45 to 36 with 2:36 remaining. Plymouth could not close the gap thereafter.

Ream, who was held to a single shot in the first period, when Plymouth managed only four points, led the Big Red with 14. Neeley had 12. No other Plymouth player was in double figures.

Ellison was the only Warrior to score more than eight points.

Stover seeks $200,000 in suit

A $200,000 personal injury suit deriving from the last traffic fatality in Plymouth has been laid in Richland county common pleas court by the driver of the police car that collided with the vehicle of the dead man.

Wilford C. Stover, 154 Beelman street, formerly a police officer, is plaintiff against Ethel Hamilton, Willard, administratrix of the estate of Glen Hamilton, who died Apr. 15, 1978, in Trux street in front of the Hamilton residence.

The suit alleges that Stover was "thrown about in the vehicle and suffered injuries to his head, face, eyes, neck, back, chest, miltiple contusions and bruises of the body and severe mental disorder from the trauma of the accident".

An investigation by the state highway patrol found no complicity by Stover. The patrol investigation held that Hamilton failed to signal his turn from the eastbound lane of Trux street into his driveway in the north side of the street.

Trustees list cemetery rules

Rules applicable to the six cemeteries in Bloominggrove township were adopted last week by its trustees.

Wreaths will be allowed from November through March on grave sites, the year around on monuments.

Planting of perennials, bulbs, shrubs and trees is prohibited.

All monument foundations must be at ground level and must have a six inch extension around the monument.

Jeffrey Clabaugh was taken to Willard Area hospital early Friday morning by the Plymouth ambulance service. He was treated in the emergency room and not admitted.

Bloodmobile to call tomorrow, seeking 150 pints of blood

ARC Bloodmobile will call here tomorrow from noon to 6 p.m. to collect 150 pints of whole blood.

In an effort to develop broad community support, quotas have been assigned to the four churches, the high school and faculty, the fire department and rescue service and the Lions club.

Any person in good health between 18 and 65 may give blood. Seventeen-year-olds may give blood upon presentation of a permission slip issued by the Red Cross and executed by a parent or guardian. Persons 66 years old may give blood upon presentation of an authorization of their family physician.

The Bloodmobile will use new equipment designed to offer more comfortable atmosphere for the program's most important member, the blood donor.

Most notable is the adjustable reclining lounge-type chair that replaces the former hospital bed that donors lie on as they give blood. Most of the time the attending nurses may now sit while administering to the donors. The new beds have other advantages of being lighter to carry and taking up less space. Donors will be able to converse freely with fellow donors, read a book or easily view the activities around the new donor lounge unit.

The procedure for hemoglobin/hematocrit testing and blood pressure reading will not be combined with the medical history review at the health check station.

The canteen, the last station, will, as always, provide donors with refreshments after the donation.

Northern Ohio Red Cross Blood Services is currently using a new bag for the storage of whole blood and red cells that extends the shelf life from 21 days to 35 days. The bag will be in use here Feb. 29.

Adenine, a protein substance that enhances the capacity for the blood to carry oxygen, has been added to the other preservatives and anti-coagulants already used by the supplier. The bag, from Fenwal Laboratories, has been in use since mid-November.

Sharyn Whitman, director of product management for Red Cross, explains the benefit of the new bag this way. "If blood donations drop, those extra 14 days of life can really make a difference. These longer life bags also help at the smaller hospitals further from our center. Because the blood can reamin on their shelves for longer, it gives that hospital more time to use each unit."

During the recent holiday period, which is always rough for Red Cross Blood Services, the new bag proved its worth. When the center found itself with an abundance of A+ blood and a shortage of all others, the organization began recruiting specifically for all other types. When the needed blood was collected, those units of A+ on the shelf were still good due to the long-life bag. Thus Red Cross was able to attain a balanced level of all blood types.

Mrs. Whitman concluded, "During a time when advanced medical techniques have caused the demand for blood to increase, the extension of storage period will provide the Red Cross with greater flexibility in helping to meet the total blood needs of the Greater Cleveland area."

Salary of clerk raised to $7,500

Salary of the clerk-treasurer was raised to $7,500 during the recessed meeting of village council Thursday night.

It had been $5,000 since the summer of 1973, when it was raised from $4,500. Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and Dean A. Cline and Mayor Eric J. Akers had met the night before and all agreed the position because of its importance to the village should pay more.

Moore said, "It is an awful increase, but necessary."

Preceding the passage of the emergency ordinance increasing the salary, a new appropriation ordinance was passed to include a sum of $7,000 to be spent from federal revenue sharing funds. It will be used to pay current salaries.

Councilman Ervin Howard said he has talked with several accountants who showed an interest in straightening out the village's funancial situation.

Another emergency ordinance was passed to create such a position, not paying over $2,000 for the work.

A motion by Cline and seconded by Councilman Mrs. Allan Raymond to pay the employees passed with only Ervin Howard dissent.

Voters in Plymouth Local School district will go to the polls Tuesday to determine whether Pioneer Joint Vocational school shall have one mill of fresh tax money.

It will be the third time around for the levy, although in its present form it is the first time it has been submitted to the electorate of the 14-district jointure.

Earlier, the renewal of 4.2 mills of operating money and one-half mill of fresh taxation were combined in a single submittal amounting to 92/100 of one mills.

This levy was twice defeated. When its second defeat occurred on Nov. 6, 1979, the Pioneer JVS Board of Education sought to schedule a special election so that it would not lose existing tax money during the 1980 tax year. This move failed because of legal technicalities and the 42/100 of one mill of tax that would have been collected in 1980 was lost. Aim of the board now is to obtain approval of the fresh levy and to borrow, if need be, against its proceeds to fund expenses for the remainder of 1980. If the tax is approved, it would be collected during 1981 and thereafter.

Supporters of the levy argue that enrollment has risen steadily and the number of faculty and noncertificated has increased commensurately, but the amount of millage was diminishing. They say that prior to 1978, the voted millage was 2.5 mills. In 1976, they add, this figure was reduced to 1.6 mills by the county budget commission, then raised to 21 in 1977. House Bill 920 in 1977 reduced the effective rate, they contend, to 1.7 mills and ultimately, in 1979, to less than 1.496 mills.

In the same period of time, supporters say, ovcrall expenditures of the district have doubled.

All precincts in Plymouth Local School district will be open to registered voters between 6:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

What will defeat of the levy mean to the school?

Its supporters argue that failure to approve the levy on Tuesday will require the PJVS board to borrow money from the state, which "will mean the loss of much local control of the school and will require certain cuts in the budget. Some of the cuts in the budget may mean increases in the budgets of the local districts. If one of the cuts recommended by the state controlling board would be to eliminate the teaching of English and social studies at PJVS, then these subject would have to be taught in the local school. To several of these it would mean adding a teacher or two to their present staff. It would also mean busing pupils to and from the local district to PJVS twice a day rather than just once."

About 14,000 soup labels have been collected by pupils of Plymouth Elementary school.

The third grade class of Miss Joyce Sloan was second and the morning kindergarten class of Mrs. Ronald Seifley was third.

ColGas files application to raise rates

An application to compel the PUCO to adjust upward rates for natural gas service in Plymouth has been filed with it by Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.

In its application, the supplier recites present rates, which went into effect Oct. 1, 1974. These are for the first 2,000 cubic feet, 51.648 cents for each 100 cubic in each meter each month; over 2,000 cubic feet, 29.098 cents for each 100 cubic feet in each meter each month, with a minimum charge of $3.50 for each meter. These rates include a purchased gas cost adjustment charge of 16.64 cents for each 100 cubic feet.

Columbia Gas proposes rates of $3.88 for each meter each month, regardless of gas consumed, and 30.950 cents for each 100 cubic feet each month, for all gas consumed.

It says in its application these rates will increase current rates for residential consumers by 3.9 per cent, for commercial consumers by 5.1 per cent, for industrial consumers by 5.6 per cent.

Any persons, firms, corporation or association may file, pursuant to Sec. 4909.19 of the Revised Code, an objection to the proposals buy alleging the rates are unkust and discriminatory or unreasonable.

For the 34th time in 25 years, the premises at 78 Plymouth street have been vandalized.

A large rock, said by Police Chief W. Robert Seel to have come from railroad ballast, was thrown through a large window in the north side of the house, penetrating the storm window, a screen and the natural window of the dwelling.

Glass was strewn over an area of 20 square feet inside the building.

The house, is occupied by the A. L. Paddocks, Jr. They told police they retired Saturday shortly after 11 p.m. and did not hear the shattering of the windows. Neither did their dog bark. They said they believe the windows were broken after midnight. A neighbor who did not retire until after that hour said there was no sound of vandalism until then.

The house was last vandalized Oct. 22, when yellow paint in a plastic bag was thrown against the door to a porch, smearing the door, the porch floor and the siding of the building.

Only three times have police been able to detect the identity of the vandals. One of them, Charles Cutright, confessed that he destroyed wiring in one of the family cars, slashed the seats and upholstery and gouged the finish of the roof and hood. He said he was paid by Edward O. Ramsey to do it. Ramsey was brought to trial in Shelby Municipal court on a warrant executed by the then police chief, the late Robert L. Meiser, but a jury acquitted him.

Clark's vehicle struck the Stephens car in the back door of the right side. Stephens was summoned on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way.

Plymouth squandered a lead in the final period here Friday night lost its 15th game of the season, 66 to 63, to Seneca East.

It was splendid basketball, well worth the money and time to see it.

Both teams shot sensationally. The Tigers tried for field goal 57 times and scored with 28, just under 50 per cent accuracy. The Big Red was no less excellent. It fired for field goal 50 times and made 26 of them, just over 50 per cent.

Plymouth went into the last eight minutes with a five point lead at 52 to 47. The Tigers tied it at 58 at 4:26 on a free throw by Joe Schueler, whose accuracy from the penalty line was later to produce the winning margin.

Seneca East had three opportunities to build a lead but failed with each of them before John Schueler stepped to the line on a two shot foul. He canned both tries. Mike Miller missed a free throw for the visitors before Steve Tackett, who led the Big Red with a career high of 19 points, scored with a jumper. Jeff Ream bagged the first of a one-and-one foul effort and Plymouth led by one. But John Schueler was back at the line at 1:51 and he made both tries. When, at 15 seconds, Joe Schueler was fouled by Randy Neeley, it all hung out. If Schueler were to fail, Plymouth had a golden chance. If he were to succeed, Plymouth's chances would be poor.

Schueler did not disappoint the Seneca East fans. He calmly sank both efforts and the Tigers had a lead of 64 to 61. They allowed Neeley to score, cutting the lead to one. And the same Schueler stepped once again to the line, with two seconds remaining, and fired home two more free throws.

Seneca East outrebounded Plymouth, notably in the final period, and this fact was contributory to its victory. The Tigers were credited with 31 rebounds, Plymouth with 21.

Plymouth had more tries from the foul line, 17 to 15, and made one more, 11 to 10.

Four Tigers were in double figures, John Schueler with 20, Mark Wurm with 14, Joe Schueler and Miller with 10 each.

Seneca East committed more mistakes, 18 to 10.

Did family own it? keep it!

By AUNT LIZ

Antiques can leave some completely cold and set others off in hot persuit.

Going to auctions around the countryside is a great pasttime. You meet old friends, perhaps have the chance to have a homemade sandwich that some church group has prepared, and you get to nose around to see what a family had in its house.

What has bothered me all these years when I do break down and park about three blocks down a country road and have to hoof it to the sale, is that what is being sold should really stay in the family.

I cannot imagine anyone parting with a 100-year-old cradle or a dish that was loved for years.

What it is amounts to the fact the older people are selling while the younger ones are hunting down treasures. And since silver is booming like mad, some lovely things that should be passed down are being sold for perhaps a Florida vacation.

This is beyond my thinking. Such things should be passed onto one's children. Oh, I've heard people my age (and since I have had another birthday that puts me right up there in just about the senior citizen status) say their kids simply could care less about something they inherited from their family.

A family antique should be treasured for the memories it brings. It really means nothing to anyone else, but I have just discovered in the big antique auctions that it really counts what famous person actually owned something.

An old pipe or pair of glasses can be nothing, but if Ben Franklin wore them, the price about triples. Never will we have anything like that but we do have the shaving mug that belonged to my father-in-law which is really important to us. It even has his name on it since it was left in his barber shop and used when he visited it, which had to be around World War I.

I suspect as the economy keeps going as it has, there will be a great deal dumped on the market. This is sad. It has happened all through history, though. Family treasures can mean food.

We once knew a lovely Dutch couple who had been Japanese prisoners during WWII on an East India island. The wife owned a beautiful pair of large diamond earrings that she managed to bury and dig up about four years later. She told me they paid for them to buy an apartment in Holland afterwards. Knowing her, I knew she would have loved to have passed them on to their only child, a daughter.

My latest possession is a wheat penny which is probably worth a good three cents now, but they do not make them any more, so one grandchild is getting it. It will not exactly fund a college education but will be fun for her to have when she is 60.

Collecting can be fun, but there comes a time when the top of your refrigerator needs a little cleaning out, so we have gone on a binge of zucchini bread. Last summer I packaged up in little bags, with the help of a friend, two cups of the grated stuff. This makes one recipe. At this point, it is almost antiquy.

It makes great tuna fish salad sandwiches, kind of adds a little something extra. A quick meal too, so there is time to hunt down another wheat penny, since we have two granddaughters, and they must be kept equal at all costs. I do feel for those grandmothers who have a dozen to contend with. Years back I remember one who had something like 15, and let each choose their colors, and she made afghans for them. It took a year, but she did beat the holiday deadline.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Do we have a representative on the Pioneer Joint Vocational school board? Northmor School district in Morrow county has defeated special levies seven times, something of a record; that is not desirable here. They are also in the PJVS district. The cost of this special election Mar. 4 must be paid by all in the schools spread over seven counties: whereas in a local district only a few precincts are involved and cost less.

Terry Wolf, election director, stated $3,000 in Richland county. Four people for each precinct at $40 each ballot material, telephone, room rent, can vary. The money spent would reduce the debt. The reason for a special election as stated, is by approval, it can be used as collateral for borrowing money, only a few weeks, before the June primary. The line is the board is gambling on the people not wanting to go to the polls and a few in favor swinging the vote. The millage is only a small part. The county auditor can double your real estate valuation, as in my case, in the last three appraisals. Issues where bonds are called would not vary many levies, according to the current listed value.

John M. Brook
Shiloh route 2

Sir:

On Mar. 4, Pioneer Joint Vocational School will once again bring its case before the voters of the thirteen participating school districts in an effort to win support for the badly needed 1 mill operating levy. Unfortunately, in the last election, Plymouth was one of several communities whose failure to support the levy was evidence of a conspicuous lack of commitment to its youth.

Since Pioneer opened its doors in 1968, it has experienced a steadily increasing enrollment as well as a demand for new and more varied programs. Many people are unaware that additions have been made, nor do they realize that repair and replacement of existing equipment and utilities and other operating expenses have been paid for out of an income which was fixed over ten years ago. Not since 1969 have taxpayers been asked to approve additional funds. Yet, with inflation eating away at the buying power of us all, there still remain numerous skeptics who find it incomprehensible that the school has finally felt the crunch. To paraphrase an old adage: "A thing not properly taken care of will become something else." We must all accept responsibility for taking care of what is certainly one of the finest vocational schools in the state.

I am a first year teacher and the newest member of the academic staff at Pioneer and perhaps I reflect much of the idealism of a beginner. I have learned that, along with teaching skills, we must also help our students develop attitudes of professionalism and concern as well as pride in their abilities and the desire to excel. These are qualities which will complement the students' technical training. In teaching these attitudes, it is imperative that we reflect a sense of commitment. However, that responsibility does not rest solely with teachers. It extends to anyone who considers himself an adult. We ARE the example. A very visible way to display our commitment is through support of our educational facilities. By being aware of the need for constant upgrading and improvement of programs and equipment and by supporting those measures necessary to implement these improvements, we can make a positive statement to our young people. Indirectly we will all benefit, for these are the future leaders of our community. If we do not accept the responsiblity to maintain quality in our schools; if we fail to reflect our commitment, how can we expect such attitudes to blossom in thos whom we influence?

Pioneer is an extension of Plymouth schools, not a separate entity. It is time we acknowledge our duty to do our part in its support. On Mar. 4, vote "YES" for the 1 mill operating levy for Pioneer Joint Vocational school. Make the commitment, Plymouth!

Thank you,
Susan Root
Academic Instructor,
Pioneer J. V. S.

No matter how you're thinking of voting on the Pioneer Levy on Mar. 4, consider these facts:

Enrollment has increased steadily from 468 students in 1968 to 1,243 in 1980.

Training has been extended from 18 to 35 courses.

About 84% of its graduates found employment.

Pioneer is "our" vocational school to these 14 member schools: Buckeye Central, Bucyrus, Colonel Crawford, Crestline, Crestview, Galion, Lexington, Lucas, Northmor, Ontario, Plymouth, Shelby, Willard and Wynford.

This is the first increase in operating revenue requested by Pioneer in 10 years.

The levy will only cost the average taxpayer about 2¢ a day more. Yet without this small operating levy the quality and scope of vocational training at Pioneer will be drastically reduced, affecting the careers of hundreds of youngsters who depend on Pioneer.

At the Feb. 12 meeting, when the principal, Edward M. Also, two way radios for busses, frequency and schedule of visits by the health nurse to test eyes, ears, for scoliosis and such, room mothers, room aides, field trips, chaparones and parties.

Here since '32, shop to close

A fixture on the Public Square since 1932, Hatch's Dress shop will close its doors as soon as its inventory can be disposed of.

Its proprietor, Mrs. Thomas DeWitt, intends to retire.

The business was founded by the late Mrs. Roy Hatch, nee Estella Turk, who was in the millinery business, a trade she operated from the back seat of a Ford car. The first location was in the hotel building. In 1938, it moved to the Cheesman building, in part because of its large display window. The building is now owned by Mrs. I. E. LaBarre. Three years later, it was relocated to the King building, a Plymouth landmark in itself. The business has been there since.

Mrs. DeWitt and her husband, now a teacher in Pioneer Joint Vocational school, intend to spend part of their time in Florida. Their only son, Timothy, is married and lives in Golden, Colo.

Council agrees to alter income tax apportionment

After two months of prodding the village council into some positive action, Mayor Eric J. Akers won his points Tuesday night.

The wording of Ordinance 21-79, the village income tax, which states in Section 9 that all tax money collected is to be deposited in the general fund of the village with the stipulation that 25 per cent be used to defray costs of running the village and the other 75 per cent to be used by the several departments for equipment and capital improvements, was changed by an emergency ordinance.

It now reads that the tax money will be deposited into "the income tax fund".

This ordinance was followed by another which creates

99 acres conveyed

He is also survived by a step-son, Preston Cameron, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Rev. Julian Taggart, First United Presbyterian church, conducted services Thursday at 1 p.m. from McQuate-Secor Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Meanwhile, until the tax money is forthcoming, the village will borrow that sum from First National Bank of Mansfield on or before Dec. 31 at an interest rate not to exceed 10½ per cent.

The action was necessary to meet the next two payrolls and to pay an overdue two month bill to Blue Cross, which has threatened to remove the coverage for village employeees by yesterday.

Prompt action was needed even though the village utilities took in about $90,000 in fresh money during January and February. The village administrator anticipates that collections this month will be close to $50,000 because of the adjustment of electric rates. The council said these funds were encumbered and it would be spending illegally.

Tax wins

Unofficial returns from the Richland county board of elections late Tuesday showed 6,145 votes favoring and 5,214 votes disapproving the one mill operating levy to benefit Pioneer Joint Vocational school.

Lenten service Wednesday

Mid-week Lenten services in First United Presbyterian church began Feb. 27 and will continue through March.

A speaker of the Gideon society appeared last night.

Michael McFarren and a company of musicians will perform Wednesday.

The Bible instructor of the local schools will speak Mar. 19.

Nine young people and two advisers attended a youth rally in Dennison Feb. 24. These were Lucy, James and Glenda Will, Larry Brooks, Richard Cunningham, Sharon and Daniel Mumea, Darrell Allenbaugh and Patricia Houser and the Charles Reeders.

In order to borrow from reserve funds, which are held in two time deposits of $40,000 and $45,000, application would have to b made to the Huron county court of common please, which Akers said would take at least 28 days.

Councilman David A. Howard, who explored how the village could pay its bills while the financial records are being straightened out, which should be completed within two weeks, told the council he has been advised by the state auditor's office the village is on the right track by hiring an accountant to do the work.

The state office, along with the Ohio Municipal league, strongly suggested the village explain its situation to its creditors and ask for their indulgence.

Meanwhile, Root gave the council a rundown on village expenditures in the departments he heads, and they were at a bare minimum. He also said that he is keeping mileage down as far as possible, even though he has received numerous complaints about unplowed and unsalted streets.

Concert set

Annual winter concert of the high school music department is set for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the old gymnasium.

High school choir, concert band and jazz ensemble will perform.

Hospital notes

Father of Mrs. R. Harold Mack, Plymouth East road, Paul V. Webster was admitted Saturday to Mansfield General hospital.

Prayer day service set

World Day of Prayer, whose theme is "Responsible Freedom", will be observed tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Mt. Hope Lutheran church, Shiloh, by Church Women United.

Luncheon will be served after the meeting. A nursery will be provided.

All women are welcome.

Howard said he had also received complaints and asked why the whole village had to be waterless when only one hydrant was being replaced.

Root said it was a case of not being able to find the valves underground, because new blacktopping covered them and there are no maps available to show where they are. Several weeks ago, when there was not water for four hours, he said it was thought it would merely be a half hour's job.

Kenneth Echelberry, head of the ambulance service, reported there were 13 runs during February and $760 collected with no expenses.

Second case of vandalism investigated

A second instance of vandalism within a week was reported to Plymouth police department Sunday by Kenneth Echelberry.

He told officers a rock was thrown through the glass window of Plymouth Beer Dock either late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Three fined in mayor's court

Bruce A. Stephens, Shiloh, paid $38 for failure to yield the right of way. Mary E. Hammond, Plymouth, paid $38 for failure to dim bright headlights.

A fine of $25 was suspended in the case of Kenneth E. Gamet, charged with failure to stop. He was assessed court costs.

Newsy notes...

Paul H. Robertson, Shelby, a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic parish here, will be a Huron county representative at the Toledo Diocesan assembly in Toledo tomorrow through Sunday.

Judge Brown running

Judge Clifford Brown will make a fourth try to be elected as Ohio supreme court justice.

He will seek a six year term beginning Jan. 2.

Judge Brown seeks the post to be vacated by Justice Thomas Herbert, who will not seek reelection.

Judge Brown previously sought election to the state's highest court in 1966, 1974 and 1978. He has served 15 years as judge of the sixth district court of appeals at Toledo.

A native of Peru township, he is an alumnus of St. Paul's high school at Norwalk and of the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind. He and his wife, Katherine, live on a farm near Norwalk.

Blankenship captures sectional championship

Gary Blankenship became the third sectional wrestling champion in Plymouth High school's history at Vermilion Saturday when he won the 145-pound title by defeating Jim Kutney, St. Peter's, 13 to 9.

He goes to the district tourney at Bowling Green State university this week with a 24-and-3 record with 21 pins.

Five other wrestlers will compete in the district, the largest contingent Plymouth has ever sent to district competition.

These are Mike Stima, fourth, 105-lb. class; Pete Daron, second, 112-lb. class; Dale Moorman, fourth, 119-lb. class; Bill Hudson, fourth, 132-lb. class, and Jeff Burrer, fourth, 175-lb. division.

They helped Plymouth take third place in team scoring, with 130½ team points. St. Mary's, undefeated in wrestling as in basketball, swamped the field with 248. New London was next with 190. Behind Plymouth came Seneca East at 115½, St. Paul's at 100½, Crestview at 87½, St. Peter's at 83, Tiffin Calvert at 72½, Western Reserve at 66, Buckeye Central at 52 and Monroeville at 15½.

Stima pinned Rogers, Western Reserve, and decisioned Bob Jones, Monroeville, Friday night. In the semi-finals, he lost to Steve Strimpfel, St. Paul's, 12 to 1. Strimpfel went on to win the class. In the consolation bouts, Stima beat Goodin, Crestview, 4 to 0 but lost to John Corso, St. Mary's, 4 to 1. His record is now 18-and-6.

Daron pinned Steel, St. Peter's, and then defeated Bret Hokes, St. Paul's, and Jamie Wolf, Crestview. He lost in the finals to Jeff Law, St. Mary's, 9 to 8. His record is now 18-3-1.

Moorman started out by beating Crump, Western Reserve, 3 to 1, in overtime. He lost to Ed Young, St. Paul's, the eventual champion, but came back to trim Kline, Crestview, 3 to 0 before going down to Pat Waldock, Seneca East, 4 to 3. His slate is now 15-and-6.

Hudson defeated Pat Smith, Tiffin Calvert, 13 to 7 and pinned Gerry Phillips, Seneca East, on Friday night. He lost to the ultimate winner, Tim Beverick, St. Mary's, but came back to decision Obringer, Buckeye Central, 8 to 0 before losing to Tim Byrne, St. Peter's, 8 to 2. His record is now 19-10-1.

Burrer pinned Kendrick, Western Reserve, Friday night. He lost to Greg Distel, Calvert, 4 to 0, defeated Chris Mahl, Seneca East, 13 to 6, then lost to Mike London, St. Mary's, 20 to 4, in overtime.

His record is now 20-and-6.

Royals oust Red in girls' tourney

The score was 54 to 44.

The Royals won it at the foul line, where they made 16 of 30 tries. Plymouth had only 12 shots and made half of them.

It was the Bid Red's inability to cope with a driving Wynford offense that led Plymouth into fouling. And the Royals had so many opportunities that a blind man could have prevailed.

Plymouth led by two after eight minutes, only to be all but blown from the floor in the second period, when Wynford outscored Plymouth by a dozen.

The Big Red matched the Royals shot for shot in the second half but couldn't cut into the lead.

Renee Taylor led Plymouth with 13 points. Cheri Harrer and Karen Ritterspach scored 16 points apiece to lead the Royals.

It was Plymouth's third meeting of the season with Wynford, which won all of them.

Wynford controlled the offensive boards. Overall, the Royals took down 44 rebounds, Plymouth only 29. Turnovers were almost even, Wynford with 27, Plymouth 26.

Teacher-coach resigns; girls' coach gets release

A teacher-coach resigned and a girls' athletic coach quit two coaching assignments Monday night when Plymouth Board of Education conducted a routine meeting.

Ronald Wank, who came here a year ago from Larue to teach business education and coach, handed in his resignation from both assignments.

He did not disclose his intention.

Miss Debra Pruner, head girls' basketball coach and head girls' track and field coach, resigned both jobs for personal reasons. She will continue as a teacher.

Supt. John Fazzini, in his final meeting as chief executive of the schools after 22 years in their service here, observed that the athletic program may need to be curtailed because it is increasingly difficult to find teachers who are willing to coach.

"We hire a new one and he or she will accept a coaching assignment for just as long as it takes to obtain some tenure, then they quit the coaching," he remarked.

"And we may have to cut back because we aren't getting the paid attendance that we used to get and costs are going up all the time."

Some assignments for the autumn season for 1980 were made.

Miss Barbara Schamadan was reappointed girls' volleyball coach.

Douglas A. Dickson will again serve as cross country coach and Lawrence J. Root as golf coach.

Fazzini announced that negotiations will reopen today to formalize an agreement that $3,000 a year be spent on girls' sports.

Diebler was hired as assistant baseball coach and Debra Dobney as assistant girls' softball coach.

Robert W. Bast, a fourth grade teacher in Plymouth Elementary school, told the board by letter he has completed formal requirements and wishes to be considered for a continuing contract. The request was tabled until teaching recommendations for the 1980-81 school year are prepared.

New Shiloh Junior High school will be dedicated Sunday, Mar. 23, at 2 p.m.

American Red Cross was accorded authority to use the buildings of the system in event of an emergency.

Mrs. Carol Knapp, a first grade teacher for six years, notified the board she plans to return to teaching after a year of absence for maternity reasons. Fazzini said she will be accorded priority for an assignment next year.

Separate fund for ambulance asked of council

An ambulance fund separate from the general fund was requested Mar. 3 of village council by Kenneth Echelberry, head of the ambulance service.

This way, he said, he can keep the ambulance bills paid from current revenues. As part of the general fund, which is in deficit now, no ambulance bills are being paid.

The council told him it wished to have legal advice before making the change.

Wolfe was formally hired and his contract approved. He will be paid $100 as a retainer for one meeting a month, but if a month is missed, he agrees to attend an extra meeting during another month.

A hourly rate of $35 for any office work he will be required to do, such as preparing written opinions, ordinances and resolutions, plus $300 a day plus a reasonable amount for food and lodging and 18 cents a mile should it be necessary he travel on village business, was also approved.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore had questioned the amounts earlier and was assured by Mayor Eric J. Akers that this is less than most lawyers charge.

A sum of $11,000 was borrowed from First National Bank of Mansfield Thursday. It will cover two payrolls and a two month Blue Cross bill.

Wolfe said that if money was appropriated, which was done at the first meeting of the year, it would be legal to make these payments with the borrowed money.

He also advised the council that the village administrator and clerk should work together on purchases. The mayor said, "This takes the burden off my shoulders", since the council had approved last summer the 1980 budget, on which the appropriations for 1980 are based.

Council meetings were formally changed by a resolution to the second and fourth Thursdays of each month for the convenience of the solicitor, who also serves as Ashland law director and must attend meetings there on Tuesdays.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Something right!

At a time when, it seems, the whole roof is falling on our heads — the village is broke, there are no funds to employ policemen, a young friend dies in a senseless accident — and we all have just cause to be seized of despair, it's nice to be able to point to something else.

Item: 28 high school pupils and seven teachers gave blood to the Bloodmobile, which set a local record of 88 pints.

Item: A third high school wrestler won a sectional championship. Young Blankenship and his teammate, Pete Daron, are the first two Plymouth wrestlers, on the same team, to compete in the state meet.

Item: A splendid young man of the basketball squad not only won special mention on the all-district team chosen by the Associated Press but also has been selected for the second annual all-star charity game at Lexington.

Item: Two young women in the FHA program won state degrees and they and their colleagues came away from the state contest with six awards.

We must be doing something right. These things don't just happen. They occur because there are some who believe, who think life is worth the candle, that rewards are not always to the swift, the big or the rich, but to those who, day in and day out, work, work work!

Youth, 16, dies here in two-car collision

A 16-year-old Lexington High school pupil was killed instantly in a head-on collision in West Broadway Saturday at 11:09 p.m.

David McIntire Wisner, 26 Yorkshire road, Lexington, grandson of the Robert L. McIntires, 70 Plymouth street, was thrown from a car driven westward at high speed by Harvey Robinson, Jr., 18, 121 Franklin street. Another passenger, F. Kyle Hodge, Jr., 15, was taken to Mansfield General hospital and placed in the intensive care unit.

Police said the Robinson vehicle went left of center in the rise of West Broadway at Lot 112 and collided with another operated by Mrs. Pamela Sexton, 25, 65 Petit street, Shiloh, who was also taken to Mansfield General hospital.

Police on Monday were seeking eyewitnesses and valid testimony from persons living in the impact area.

Young Wisner was born in Mansfield Aug. 12, 1963, the son of F. Bradley and Janet McIntire Wisner. He lived with his grandparents until he was 10 years old, attending elementary school here, before moving to Lexington.

He is survived by his father, Dallas, Tex.; his mother, Lexington; his paternal grandparents. Dr. Frank B. Wisner, San Diego, Cal., and Mrs. Ruth Wisner, Dallas, Tex., and his maternal aunt, Mrs. George Pierfedieci, Avon, Conn.

The Rev. Julian Taggart, First United Presbyterian church, conducted services from McQuate-Secor Funeral home Tuesday at 2 p.m. The body was cremated.

His family requests expressions of sympathy be made to Plymouth Branch library.

Pfeifer, Rep. Brown seeking reelection

Sen. Paul Pfeifer (R-Bucyrus) is circulating petitions for reelection to the Senate from the 26th district.

Senator Pfeifer is the senior Republican member on both the Senate Judiciary committee and the Senate Energy and Public Utilities committee. He is also serving on the Senate Reference committee, which is responsible for assigning bills to standing committees.

Pfeifer is a member of the seven-man Senate Republican Policy committee which reviews key legislation and makes policy recommendations to the entire Republican caucus. He has served on the Correctional Institution Inspection committee since its creation in 1977.

During the 112th General Assembly Pfeifer sat on the Senate Agriculture and Small Business committee, Commerce and Labor committee and Judiciary committee. Pfeifer, 37, is a native of Crawford county. He was raised on a family dairy farm near Bucyrus and graduated from the former Holmes-Liberty High school.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio State university with a major in economics and political science. He also received his Juris Doctorate degree from the law school at Ohio State university. While in law school at Ohio State, Pfeifer became a legal aide to Attorney General William Saxbe. After graduation from law school he served as an assistant attorney general under Saxbe through 1970.

In 1970, Pfeifer, was elected to the House of Representatives to represent Crawford and Seneca counties when he defeated Galion Democrat Gene Slagle.

In 1973, Pfeifer became assistant Crawford county prosecuting attorney and served in that capacity through 1976. During his tenure as assistant prosecutor, Pfeifer was honored by the Crawford county sheriff's department and the Bucyrus Fraternal Order of Police for his contributions to law enforcement.

Rep. Sherrod Brown, Mansfield Democrat who holds the local seat in the General Assembly, said Monday he'll seek reelection, ending speculation he would try to unseat Senator Pfeifer.

The man whom Pfeifer defeated, Gene Slagle, Galion Democrat, is trying to regain it.

Brown said he has no fear that he couldn't defeat Slagle in the primary but thinks that Pfeifer's war chest is too large, in a district that's predominantly Republican, and he isn't so well known in other than Richland county.

Brown is seeking a fourth term.

James D. Henson is a candidate for judge of the court of common pleas of Richland county.

Attorney Henson cites his 11 years of experience in the practice of law, ranging from defending murder cases to prosecuting criminal cases, along with his work experiences prior to graduating from law school, as his major qualifications.

If elected, he says he will come down as hard as possible on persons convicted of endangering or causing harm to human life and will order and enforce restitution for loss owing to the crimes of theft and damage or destruction of property. Efficiency, economy, and re-enforcing confidence in the judicial system are primary goals of candidate Henson when elected.

Henson, 38, was born on a farm in Crawford county, graduated from Bucyrus High school in 1960, attended Bowling Green State university, then graduated from Ohio State university with a B. A. degree in 1966 and its law school in 1969. From 1960 to 1963, Henson served with the United States Army in Japan. While in the service, Henson taught English at the American Culture center in Sapporo, Japan, played basketball and baseball with the Chitose Bears, an Army post team, worked in military intelligence gathering activities and earned one year of college credit from University of Maryland exterision courses.

He worked his way through college and law school doing such jobs as cooking, washing dishes, electrician's helper, social worker and extensive work with the then new Legal Aid society of Columbus, Ohio. After graduating from law school, Henson practiced law in Cleveland before joining the Federal Bureau of Investigation in September, 1970. Between 1970 and 1973 he was a special agent with the FBI in Washington, D. C., Jackson and Gulfport Miss., and Newark, N. J.

He married Joni Hisel in Gulfport. They now reside in Mansfield, with their daughters, Kelly and Kristen.

Henson came to Mansfield from New Jersey in 1973. For the past six and one-half years he has been an assistant prosecuting attorney and has engaged in the private practice of law. He is a partner in the law firm of McKee, Renwick, Welsh, Henson & Burton, Mansfield. For the past six years he has been solicitor for the Village of Bellville.

Henson is a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Kiwanis and Optimist clubs, a member of American Legion, BPOElks and the First Congregational church. Attorney Henson is admitted to practice before the United States Supreme court, the Federal District court, and all courts of Ohio.

Huron county board of elections organized Mar. 4 and made some changes.

Theda Niedzwiecki, Republican, was elected chairman of the board.

By law the chairman and the director must be of opposite political affiliation.

Madge Earl, North Fairfield, former director, was named deputy director. Both assistant clerks, Patricia Smith, Republican, New Haven, and Constance Hipp, Democrat, Norwalk, were reengaged.

The Secretary of State reappointed Mrs. Niedzwiecki and Mrs. Dorothy Stapf, Democrat, Bellevue, to new four-year terms as members of the board, other members of which are John T. Hogsett, Democrat, New London, and Leroy A. Stober, Republican, Wakeman.

1956 alumnus wins award as engineer

A 1956 alumnus of Plymouth High school now serving Western Electric as an engineer won an engineering innovation award presented during National Engineers week Feb. 18-22.

He is John L. Fetters, Canal Winchester, son of Mrs. Donald E. Fetters and the late Mr. Fetters, formerly of Plymouth. His late grandfather was Luther R. Fetters, who served Plymouth as trustee of public affairs and as mayor for many years.

The younger Fetters was graduated by Fenn college at Cleveland before it became Cleveland State university. He served in the Navy. He is married to the former Mary Robertson of Plymouth.

Cougars oust Red

Not so many terrible choices, really, but that on Feb. 17 was a lulu. Having the opportunity to opt for St. Paul's as the first round opponent in the Class A playdowns at Willard, he chose Crestview, already the conqueror of Plymouth on two occasions.

On Feb. 22, he defended his choice. "We're going to beat them, that's my prediction, and you can print it!"

Well, it didn't turn out that way.

Crestview all but blew Plymouth off the court at Willard Mar. 5 in an 82 to 61 rout.

The Cougars drew first blood at 7:28 when Rick Rader, who scored 17 for the night, fired one in from underneath. Plymouth tied it at two and again at four. Thereafter, it was Katie bar the door.

The Cougars got eight points from all-state candidate Fred Stimpert in the first eight minutes and at the buzzer they led by 21 to 12. Stimpert continued his hot hand in the second period. He missed only one shot and concluded the half with 17. Crestview led by 38 to 24 after 16 minutes.

Stimpert really went to work on Plymouth's defenses, or lack of them, in the third quarter. He scored 15 points. Rader scored seven — they were the only Cougars to get on the scorebook during the third period — and Crestview went into the final quarter with a lead of 15 points at 60 to 45.

Plymouth chipped away at the lead and whittled it down to seven before the Cougars stormed away. Stimpert was responsible for seven of the 22 Crestview scored in the period.

Its defense wasn't up to snuff.

There was only one field goal of difference between the two teams — Crestview scored 29, Plymouth 28. But the Big Red fouled too much. The Cougars had 31 tries from the penalty stripe and converted with 24 of them. For its part, Plymouth had nine tries and sank five.

Jeff Ream scored 22 for the losers but Stimpert was the big show. He contributed 39 points to the Cougar cause. Crestview had two others in double figures, Gene Hammett and Lyle Chronister. So did Plymouth. These were Randy Neeley, who concluded his schoolboy career with 14, and Marty Carty, who added 11.

Plymouth unloaded for field goal 64 times, a success average of just under 44 per cent. Crestview's record was 29 of 72, or just over 40 per cent.

Two matmen go to state

For the first time in history, Plymouth will send two wrestlers to the state Class A championships.

Admittedly, they got in via the back door, but they're there!

As a result of district competition at Bowling Green over the weekend, Pete Daron and Gary Blankenship won third place in their respective weight divisions and will compete tomorrow and, hopefully, Saturday.

Daron pinned Dick Kieffer, Arcadia, lost to Barney Cruz, Fremont St. Joseph's, 10 to 3, pinned Gene Momyer, Fayette, in 2:20, defeated Mike Perkins, New London, 4 to 3, and decisioned Sean Tautigian, Ottawa Hills, 6 to 3.

Blankenship pinned Dave Weible, Ayersville, in 1:05, pinned Mark Meyer, Patrick Henry, in 40 seconds of the overtime period, lost to Gary Pringle, Edgerton, 11 to 4, pinned Dean Bowser, Liberty-Benton, in 2:39 and defeated Jim Hanthorn, Woodmere, 5 to 2.

Rich Hendricks, Edgerton, defeated Dale Moorman.

Bill Hudson was defeated by Jeff Mack, Tinora.

Jeff Burrer was pinned by Jerry Alt, Bluffton, in 5:31, the decisioned Randy Hoffman, Liberty Center; 3 to 0, only to lose to an old nemesis, Ed Lucius, Buckeye Cehtral, by a pin in 5:34.

Alas, Vikings lose two

History does not record when a Vike team lost two games in one week.

It does now.

On Thursday the Vikes fell before Wendy's, 34 to 33. They missed 12 of 15 free throws. Nolen Robinson scored 10.

Garlic's an herb: use it often and well

By AUNT LIZ

For the last 20 years or so, anyone who thought he was a really good cook went on a real herb binge.

It was simply fashionable to say, "I put a little of this and that in the pot and came up with something great."

For the most part, a lot of the herbs we depend on today simply grew wild, and if they were not growing where you lived, you did not use them.

There is one, though, that through the pages of recorded history has been around a long time.

I would call it an herb rather than anything else. It's garlic.

The Egyptians thought it was great about 6,000 years ago and used it as a religious symbol in their cooking.

The Roman soldiers munched on it before trying to conquer the rest of the world, thinking it gave them valor and bravery.

There was a time when a clove of garlic was attached to the clothing of a new born baby to keep away evil spirits.

Somewhere along its history, garlic was reputed to clear cholesterol from the blood stream and keep blood pressure down.

Among the biggest garlic eaters today is the whole countryside in Italy. They put it in everything, and you hardly ever hear of anyone dying from a heart attack. Liver problems will get them first because of their consumption of their tasty wine.

There is a story that says Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt dipped cloves into chocolate with the thought it would keep her memory sharp. If it is true that it helps keep your blood under control, then Eleanor Roosevelt, who was no fool, knew exactly what she was doing.

One of the first things I ever look for in a new recipe is the flavorings. In most cases the name of the dish tells you the main ingredients. And many times I sneer at what may be a good recipe but there is no garlic.

One of our pet recipes, which understanderably we have not had for several years, is a beef stew that calls for four pounds of good beef, 12 cloves of garlic slivered up and a bottle of red wine.

Once you brown the meat, and put it together, that is that, it simply cooks away until it is dinner time.

And for years we kept making what we thought was really good, a broccoli sauce with sauteed mushrooms and grated cheese mixed up with rigatoni.

The nice part about it all was that I discovered I could brew it up before any guests arrived and simply stash it in a warmish oven.

Now we have found an even better recipe with more flavoring, garlic, natch.

Cut the flowerettes off the broccoli, boil them just a bit. You want them crispy. Then saute them in six tablespoons of olive oil. This is a real luxury, but worth it, with two teaspoons of finely chopped garlic. Then add a nice pinch of red pepper flakes and a third cup of chicken broth.

Meanwhile cook up a pound package of rigatoni and when finished and nicely drained, toss the sauce in.

This can readily feed six and stays within any budget. If there is some left over, simply put it in a baking dish, and reheat for another meal. If you do, I would suggest adding a speck more olive oil so it is moist.

Bank merger consummated

Merger of The Buckeye State Bank, Galion, into First National Bank of Mansfield, which was approved by the shareholders of both banks on Nov. 7, was consummated Mar. 12.

Effective upon consummation of the merger, First National Bank of Mansfield changed its name to First Buckeye Bank N. A. (National Association). The new bank name will more accurately identify the regional nature of First Buckeye's banking business as it enters new communities and competes with other banks in its marketing area in Ohio.

Buckeye State bank had assets over $26,000,000 immediately prior to the merger. First Buckeye Bank N. A. now has assets in excess of $262,000,000 million with 23 banking offices in Bellville, Crestline, Galion, Lexington, Mansfield, Ontario, Plymouth, Shiloh and Willard.

Also effective at the time of the merger, Avery C. Hand, Jr., moved up to Chairman of the board and continues as chief administrative officer. C. E. McDonald former president of Buckeye State bank, and Earl C. Cashman, former senior vice-president of First National, became vice-chairmen of the board.

"This is an action that will give the executive structure of First Buckeye Bank N. A. greater effectiveness"; Hand said. "In addition, it will complement the growing needs of the bank as we plan for future activities in our marketing area."

Hand is a native of Mansfield and began his business career with the Tracy & Avery Co. where he started as a salesman and progressed to merchandise, buyer, and executive of the firm. In 1941 he entered the U. S. Army and saw active service overseas for 48 months in the European theater. He received a field commission and left the service in 1946 as a major.

After his military duty he joined Mansfield Savings Trust National bank (predecessor of First National Bank of Mansfield) as a vice-president. He was named first vice-president of First National Bank of Mansfield in April, 1953, and chief executive officer in January, 1958. In August, 1962, he was elected president and chief executive officer.

Hand has served as a member of the board of directors of many firms and organizations. He has been active in both civic and cultural activities of the community. He is a life director and past chairman of the board and past president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, past president and board member of Mansfield Area Chamber of Commerce.

He now serves as board member and immediate past president of Richland County Growth Corp.; president, Mansfield General Hospital Foundation; member, board of trustees, Mansfield General Hospital Corp. (past president); advisory board, Mansfield campus, Ohio State university; trustee, Mansfield University Foundation; board of trustees, Ashland college; trustee, Mabel & Hugo Young Foundation; treasurer, Richland County Historical society; trustee, Mansfield Fine Arts Guild, and a member of Westbrook Country club (past president).

He is married to the former Mariann Stander and they have four daughters.

Collins is a native of Mansfield and a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school. In 1942 he entered the U. S. Army and saw active service overseas for 18 months in the European theater. He left the service in 1945 as a staff sergeant.

After his military duty he joined Citizens National Bank & Trust Co. (predecessor of First National Bank of Mansfield). He was appointed manager of the installment loan department in 1948, vice-president and secretary of the board of directors in 1964, director in 1976 and executive vice-president in 1977.

He is president of Richland County Regional Planning commission; board member of Mansfield Area Chamber of Commerce and the Mansfield Symphony, Inc. He is a member of the Ohio Bankers association tax committee; executive committee Group Six Ohio Bankers association; Ohio Historical society; Richland Lithic and Lapidary society; past president and former board member, YMCA; Mansfield Fine Arts Guild; American Legion Post 16; Westbrook Country club; Crestline Walton Lake association; Frank H. Marquis Lodge 690 F&AM; Mansfield Chapter 28; Mansfield Council 94; Mansfield Commandery 21. He is a member and an elder of the First United Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Bedford grew up in Hartland township, where she attended Hartland Elementary school. She is a graduate of New London High school. Judge Johns states he has previously served in this post and operated the court with approximately one-third of the present budget, that he heard all of his own divorce cases and juvenile cases and decided them promptly, and there was not an endless procession of visiting judges and referees nor any delay in making rulings.

Johns, a native Mansfielder, has been on the municipal bench five years, was formerly domestic relations judge and has seven years experience as an assistant county prosecuting attorney. He is married to the former Elaine Miller and has two adult children. He is a Republican.

Will Seel resign or be discharged?

Will Police Chief W. Robert Seel become the third fatality of Plymouth's Saturday night massacre?

An investigation of Plymouth police department was ordered by Mayor Eric J. Akers Thursday night after a heated one hour executive session during which the resignation of Chief Seel was demanded.

When the meeting reconvened, Akers appointed a three man committee of Councilmen Ervin and David A. Howard and Dean A. Cline to investigate the department.

The action apparently stemmed from an interview Seel gave to the Shelby Daily Globe Mar. 12 inwhich he is quoted as saying that if the council had not demanded the police force be cut back to save expenses, there was a good chance the fatal collision of Mar. 15 could have been avoided.

It took one life immediately, and Saturday night another passenger in the car died of injuries received in the crash.

Seel said that he had notified the mayor he would be out of town over that weekend and there would only be a standby officer on duty.

He contends that some juveniles were aware of this and felt they "had the village to themselves"

Seel told the council that because the liability insurance policy is unpaid and may not be in effect, his department thinks twice about making arrests. The cost is $180 a man annually.

He also inquired about compensatory time due the officers. He pointed out that one officer worked 16 hours one day last week and will only be paid for eight hours.

The mayor assured him that the safety committee will study the problem.

Ervin Howard suggested that the department plan its time off to compensate for the overtime in such a way that the effectiveness of the department will not be hurt.

An ordinance was passed to set up the ambulance fund outside of the general fund.

The mayor asked the finance committee to study the current pay ordinance and make recommendations for any changes at the Mar. 27 meeting.

Because of an error in the wording of the proposal one mill levy for Greenlawn cemetery to be placed on the June ballot, it was necessary to amend the resolution requesting it.

Somehow the levy was referred to as a "renewal" of the existing one mill tax. It is in fact a fresh mill to replace a levy lost two years ago when the cemetery board neglected to place it on the ballot. It was on last November's ballot but failed.

The levy will bring in about $5,000, which if passed then will give the cemetery close to $10,000 with which to operate.

The mayor instructed James C Root, village administrator, to pay for the bonds for the clerk, utility clerk and the assistant to the director of the village income tax.

However, the clerk must certify that money is available from the funds they will be paid from.

New fire pact approved at Shiloh

A new fire protection contract with Butler township was approved by village council at Shiloh Mar. 12.

Shiloh will collect $225 for each fire call and $50 for each use of the ambulance.

Trustees of public affairs asked that a money market certificate of $10,000 value be purchased with $5,000 of sewer fund money and $5,000 of water fund money. The council agreed.

Assistant village clerk will now be paid $160 a month, an increase of $10.

The council agreed to pay one-third of the cost of a chest X-ray for each new firemen. Cass and Bloominggrove townships will each pay one-third of the expense.

Train off track

A derailment of a Baltimore & Ohio train Saturday at 1:45 p.m. occurred near R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., 1.5 miles southeast of Willard.

No injuries were reported.

$500,000 sought in suit

A counter suit has been laid in Richland county common pleas by the administratrix of the estate of a traffic victim, seeking $500,000 in damages from the driver of a police vehicle that struck Glen Hamilton's car in Trux street the night of Apr. 15, 1978.

Defendant is Wilford C. Stover, 154 Beelman street, who is plaintiff in a separate action against the Hamilton estate seeking $200,000.

Hamilton's wife, Ethel, now living in Willard route 2, alleges in the counter suit that Stover was speeding, traveling down the wrong side of the road and had no warning equipment on his police vehicle.

Any injuries that Stover received, Mrs. Hamilton's suit claims, were caused by his negligence.

In both suits, trial by jury is demanded.

New junior high school dedication set Sunday

photos by j. harrington

A former pupil, teacher, coach and administraior at Shiloh will come back home Sunday to help dedicate the new $1.3-million junior high school there.

He is Harold E. Daup, now superintendent of the Richland county school system, who began his career in Shiloh High school, of which he is a graduate. Prior to becoming county superintendent, succeeding Dale B. Sinney, Daup was superintendent of Crestview Local School district.

When Shiloh Local School district was dissolved and annexed to Plymouth, Daup was teacher and coach as well as principal there. He remained as junior high school and elementary principal there until he moved to Crestview.

Daup will be introduced by Douglas Staggs, who on Apr. 1 will become the new superintendent of Plymouth district, succeeding John Fazzini, who retires Mar. 31 after 22 years here.

The program will begin with instrumental music at 1:45 p.m.

Invocation will be by the Rev. Pauline Atkins, pastor, Mt. Hope Lutheran church, Shiloh.

Donald Adams and Loren Kranz, honor pupils of the school, will greet guests.

Lisa Baker and Vickie Thornsberry will lead the pledge of allegiance.

Edward M. Kinsel, principal of the school, will introduce guests, who will include incumbent members of the board of education, Don M. Echelbarger, president; Mrs. Roger Pugh, vice-president; the Rev. Arthur H. Hamman, A. George Miller and Larry O. Vredenburgh, and three members of the previous board who deliberated on the bond issue. These are Frank R. Garber, David A. Howard and R. Harold Mack.

D. James Crawfis, partner in the firm of architects that designed the building, will present the keys to the structure.

Fazzini will deliver his brief valedictory. Jerry Julian, teacher and special education coordinator, will respond.

Special music will be by the high school chorus, directed by Miss Kathy Knowles, and the high school band, directed by Jeffrey Conklin.

The Rev. Mr. Hamman will pronounce the benediction.

Three submissions of a proposed bond issue were required before approval was obtained.

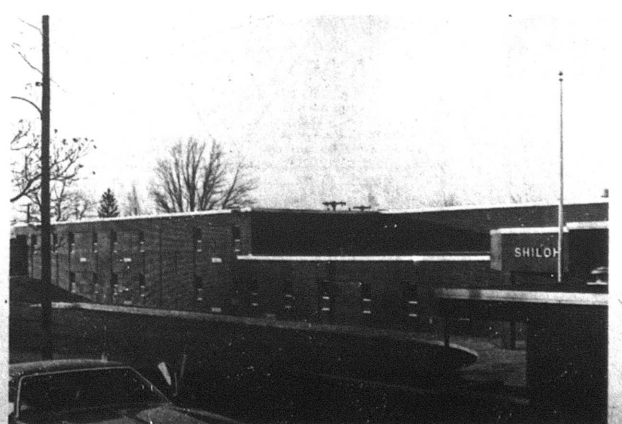

The board had "squirreled" about $300,000 in unspent funds so the bond issue sold for slightly over $1 million.

B. C. & G. Weithman Construction Co., Galion, executed the general contract for $797,245.68.

Other contractors were R. G. Becr Corp., Mansfield, plumbing, $96,045.32; Charles Hoffman Co., Mansfield, heating and ventilating, $177,730.92; Carter Electric, Inc., Galion, electric, $92,914; Classic Equipment, Tallmadge, furniture and equipment, $35,093.

Architects' fee was $86,608.29. An additional $14,997.85 was spent for legal advertising, bond rating, bonding attorneys' opinion and equipment.

Enrollment in the new building is nearly 300 pupils, including 220 seventh and eighth graders and special education pupils. There are 20 certificated employees and five non-certificated staff.

By AUNT LIZ

Diamonds and black mink can move over downward on what is real status and fashionable.

After this week, the thing that separates the ones who really have it from those who simply do not is having a snowplow hitched on the front of a nice four wheel drive.

Those are the ones you really look up to and envy.

Another thing that is becoming plain fashionable is being asked to join a coupon club and a baby-sitting cooperative.

Coupons have become a way of life and the only way to read a newspaper or a magazine is with a pair of scissors. They can really help any grocery bill and it still amazes me that so many shoppers simply do not bother. I realize it is a headache for the checkout counters, but so darn satisfying when you make a real coup, like getting three packs of cigarettes for free. Of course, you do have to pay for three Sunday papers.

And the baby sitting deal not only saves money for a young couple, there is the assurance of having another mother to watch over the young ones rather than a young gal who can panic so easily.

Once I was a babysitter, for exactly one night while a young couple went out to dinner and to live it up a little. It was back in the days when no one had a Saturday night date because all the guys were either spending that night in the Pacific not even looking at a tropical moon but for aircraft, or in the mud of North Africa, where there were unfriendly tanks.

Some gal started up this babysitting deal and she was really choosy whom she signed up. Somehow I found out about it and thought this is something different and at least I would be helping someone.

There I was with an impeccable background. I had child psychology courses like mad behind me, had worked for years with Girl Scouts, whom I could understand, and really did not have some of the bad habits I have since developed.

What I did not have under control was how to contend with a six-week-old. There were no courses back in those days at the U. of M. how to change diapers and at that time no one was married, so little babes were out of our scope.

Somehow I got through the evening unscathed and managed, but that was the end of what could have been a very prosperous career.

The answer seems to be just to eat every other day, and it really would not hurt most of us.

The big secret is to stay off the really starchy things, and they, too, are zooming upwards.

About your best bet for economy and protein is rice. It goes a long way.

You can really go overboard with great recipes that call for a couple cups of rice with all sorts of real luxuries, or you can stay simple and have a main meal that is hardy.

Since ham is a real staple, you can somehow salvage a cup to be diced up. Have two cups of cooked rice ready.

In a bowl combine an egg, two-thirds of a cup of mushroom soup (do not dilute), a half cup of milk (this takes care of the soup), a dash of salt and a teaspoon of basil.

In a baking dish, layer the rice, ham and sauce and top with something like bread crumbs, potato chips, or those canned onions that are deep fried. They are a really added touch.

Whatever kind of a pan you put it in, loaf or a mold, put it in a pan of hot water and bake for a little over a half hour at 375 degrees.

Sixth grade Vikes record two wins

Last night they met Bailey's in the Friendly House tourney at Mansfield. A victory means they'll play in the finals today at 7:30 p.m.

They're also entered in the John Sherman tourney, which starts Saturday.

Record so far: 25-and-3.

Last week the Vikes met Ashland in two tourneys. In the Friendly House playdowns on Mar. 11, Nolen Robinson and Tim Amstutz scored eight apiece and Plymouth won, 59 to 18.

On Saturday, in the Plymouth tourney, Robinson scored 22 and Amstutz 12 in a 59 to 18 victory.

Fifth grade Vikings concluded their league play with a 16-and-0 record at Friendly House. They defeated Jimmy's Cafe, 29 to 21. Mike Lasch was high scorer with nine points.

The Vikings started tournament action in the Plymouth tournament, defeating Bucyrus 40 to 28. Doug Barnd was high scorer with 13. They met Springmill in the Mansfield Friendly House tournament Tuesday at Malabar High school, and today at 8 p.m. at Plymouth High school they will meet Long John's of Mansfield.

Section 3: That it is necessary to issue and this Council hereby determines that notes in the aggregate principal amount of $11,0000 shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of Income Tax for the above-described expense. Such anticipatory notes shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed ten and one half per centum (10½%) per annum, payable at maturity, with provision, if requested by the purchaser, that after maturity such notes shall bear interest at such rate or rates of interest not to exceed ten and one half per centum (10½%) per annum as may be requested by the purchaser until the principal sum is paid. Some voters will find little action on June 3

Those who expect fireworks during the June 3 primary had better limit it to the school issue.

Incumbent Republican Commissioner Thomas Cambin seeks election to the term beginning Jan. 2, 1981. His opposition is Walter Wilhelm, Jr., North Fairfield.

The winner will face Robert Williams, Norwalk, where he is a councilman, in November. Williams is a Democrat.

The other Republican commissioner, Roy Palm, North Fairfield, seeks election to the term starting Jan. 3, 1981. He will face Mrs. Pauline Bedford, Hartland township, a Democrat, in November.

Veteran Sheriff John Borgia, who flirted with retirement, but now says he'll serve one more term seems to have been assured of that goal. He has no party opposition in June and no opposition of the other party in November. Borgia is a Republican.

Dr. William Holman, Norwalk, county coroner, a Republican, and Richard Hauser, Norwalk, county prosecutor of the common pleas, a Democrat, are not opposed in June or November.

Other incumbents face no opposition in the primary.

These are John A. Elmlinger, Norwalk, Democrat, county recorder, Clark Hunter, Greenwich, Republican, clerk of the court of common pleas, and Mrs. Ardeth Chupp, North Fairfield, Republican, county treasurer.

Each faces opposition in November, Elmlinger from David A. Mill, Willard, Republican; Hunter from Theodore Haydn, Collins, Democrat, and Mrs. Chupp from Jo Pastula, Greenwich, Democrat.

Urban Livengood, Sr., veteran county engineer, will retire at the end of his term. His son and namesake seeks the GOP nomination to succeed him in June. He is not opposed. In November the younger Livengood will face Lawrence Helt, Democrat, Norwalk.

Richland county voters will encounter seven races, three Republican and four Democratic.

Incumbent Commissioner Richard McFarland, Bellville, is challenged for the Jan. 2 term by Terry Wolf, Lexington, recently resigned as director of elections.

Incumbent Sheriff Albert O'Neil, Mansfield, will face the man he succeeded, the deposed Thomas Weikel, Ontario, who was sentenced to jail after he plea bargained on several felony offenses and was compelled to resign.

Judge Rex Larson of the common pleas bench will retire. Three Republicans seek the nomination to succeed him. These are James Corley, James Henson and Norman Morton, all Mansfield attorneys.

On the Democratic side, three candidates seek the nomination for the right to oppose the GOP incumbent David McGinty for the Jan. 3 term.

Three candidates aim for the party's nomination for sheriff.

Two Democrats seek nomination to be common pleas judge.

These are Richard Hendricks and Robert Rath. Rath was recently defeated in a bid for reelection as Mansfield solicitor, a post he held many years.

There are candidates for some of the other offices in which terms expire this year but none is opposed.

On the Republican ticket, McGinty asks reelection to the Jan. 3 term as commissioner. Ralph Johns, now presiding judge of Mansfield Municipal court, wants to be returned to the office he formerly held, judge of the court of domestic and juvenile relations.

William McKee is retiring as prosecutor. An assistant, John Allen, seeks the GOP nomination to succeed him.

Carl Butterbaugh will run in November for the office of county treasurer, even though the term doesn't, by law, start until September, 1981.

Paul Baumberger is the GOP nominee for recorder.

Dr. Milton Oakes, incumbent Republican coroner, seeks election to that office.

Douglas Theaker, a school administrator in Delaware county who lives in Ontario, will carry the GOP banner in the race against incumbent Sherrod Brown, Mansfield Democrat, for the 61st Ohio House district seat.

Paul Pfeifer, Bucyrus Republican, an attorney there, is the incumbent Ohio senator of the 26th district. He faces opposition from the man he ousted, Gene Slagle, Galion Democrat, in November.

Paul Christ, Mansfield Democrat, will run for prosecutor of the common pleas, unopposed in June.

Incumbent George Griffith, treasurer, has no opposition in June.

Neither do the incumbent engineer, James Roberts, nor the incumbent clerk of courts of common pleas, Gene Coffey, both Democrats who will face no GOP opposition in November.

Three independents' names will appear on the June 3 ballot.

Seel dispirited, takes 21-day leave

W. Robert Seel may have served his last day as chief of police.

He went on 21-day emergency leave effective Monday, having requested the leave of Mayor Eric J. Akers on Mar. 15. In the letter doing so, Seel said he wouldn't appoint an acting chief and that the mayor will have to run the department.

Seel told The Advertiser privately he will "probably look around for a job. . . it doesn't make any sense to stay around when the mayor and council don't want you."

Akers has said privately, The Advertiser learned, that he hopes Seel will resign. The informant told The Advertiser the inference is that if Seel does not resign, the investigation of the department ordered by Akers on Mar. 13 will result in filing of formal charges that, if Seel resists them, will cause a trial to be held, in which the council is judge and jury, with the attendant bad publicity.

The three councilmen appointed by Akers to investigate the department have repeatedly said, even before they were councilmen, they do not like Seel's conduct of his job. Councilmen Ervin and David A. Howard have a brother, Randy, whose brushes with the law have been numerous and is even now the defendant in a charge of drunken driving and resisting arrest to which he pleaded not guilty, which was referred to Norwalk Municipal court. The Howards voted against Seel's confirmation of chief.

The informant told The Advertiser further that Akers does not intend to appoint a successor to Seel "for the time being at least, but instead to save the money that Seel's salary costs until the general fund is in better balance."

Akers is to present to village council today at 7 p.m. an appropriation ordinance which calls for expenditures less than receipts. Attention will be drawn at once to the line item of police salaries. The level of this figure will show to what extent the mayor proposes to maintain law and order during the calendar year.

One who ought to know is the previous mayor, who went to the mat with the previous police chief over the question of open shifts.

"The police chief didn't want to work at any time except when it was convenient for him to do so. During the summer, so long as his son-in-law was involved with a golf course at New Washington, the chief wanted to get off at 3 p.m. to enjoy the golf course. I tried many times to persuade him to assign officers to duty from 3 p.m. to 7 a.m. during the summer and from 5 p.m. to 9 a.m. during the school year, so that we could get by effectively with three officers including the chief and one part-time person to fill in for vacation and sick leave time. And when we did have an open shift, if it was after 4 p.m., the then clerk who operated a business across the street would raise the dickens because, he said, there was no police protection. The chief is responsible for the assignment of officers to their duties and I tried to stay out of it except when it was, in my judgment absolutely necessary. And on the two or three occasions when I did so, the chief pilloried me in the out-of-town press. What it boils down to is that Plymouth simply can't afford a police department so large as some may wish. There have to be some open shifts. When should these occur? To my way of thinking, they should occur after elementary pupils are in class in the morning. If there is need of a police officer during the day, the stand-by officer can be telephoned at his home and he can report to the police station to deal with the matter. Police officers are sworn to 24-hour duty, anyway."

Akers is understood to have asked Seel to sound out his officers on the question of whether they would engage in stand-by duty so that open shifts during daylight hours can be assigned. Akers is understood to be angry with Seel because he presented the matter to the officers no as a question but as a new rule.

Seel was chosen as chief by a 4 to 3 vote, the mayor's ballot being decisive. He was recommended for the post by Sheriff John Borgia, Huron county, and the then sheriff of Richland county, Thomas Weikel. A written and oral examination was conducted by the mayor. Those who scored highest refused to consider appointment as chief because the salary was too low. It came down to Seel and Ronald Humphrey. When Seel was appointed, Humphrey served for a time, then said he did not wish to continue in police work and resigned.

Voters may register in local bank

A permanent voter registration branch in First Buckeye Bank (N.A.) has been established for Huron county residents who are eligible to vote.

Those persons already registered in Huron county who have moved within the county or who have changed their names and have not notified the board of elections may update their registration at the bank also.

Voter registration cards for Huron county residents will also be available at the office of the village clerk.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

The census

At month's end, we shall all be seized of the decennial census.

By law, we each are required to respond to all questions submitted to us. Also by law, these answers are confidential.

That summary is what we're all interested in.

We were captivated this week by some facts that we didn't know before: there're more single women than there are men, and more unmarried divorcees than unmarried divorced men. Take heart, ladies. With the new census, you can at the flip of the wrist discover 1) where the unmarried men are, 2) where the unmarried wealthy men are, and 3) what kind of transportation they drive, what kind of housing they occupy, how they spend their money (but not on whom: sorry about that!)

What this boils down to is this: it'd be foolish not to cooperate with the census. If the census taker is one whom you don't want to know your business, say no, and they'll send another.

We Do It Better

COAL.

It takes a lot of fuel to make the electricity our customers use. And because fuel is the major factor in the cost of producing electricity, your electric costs are directly affected by the kind of fuel we use.

Last year the American Electric Power System which we're part of burned over 38 million tons of coal. And that saved our country over 150 million barrels of oil.

We give it our best.

Chicken recipe's a prize winner!

By AUNT LIZ

There are so many little things we should all be grateful for in our rather dull everyday lives.

Cookies are something we hardly bake any more since we have no kids at home. Then we do visit them, we are well aware that they are trying to cut down on such things, so no baking even at the holidays.

What better excuse is there to all of a sudden have nine boxes of tasty tidbits on your kitchen counter and another six which have not been delivered yet? Call it plain charity? It isn't. It is plain gluttony but a great excuse to be able to munch on the tasty things.

Then there is the joy of finding a new recipe that is fun to compose, a great pleasure to eat and best of all, it was free.

A few weeks ago our grocery store was giving away pamphlets of prize winning chicken recipes. In case some of you didn't snag one, here is the second place winner that did not sound so complicated as the grand prize one.

Skin four half chicken breasts and brown them on both sides in a little oil or margarine, sprinkle a little salt over them. Have ready a mixture of the juice of a 16-ounce can of pear halves (you want three-fourths of a cup of this, and if your can doesn't quite have that much juice, a dash of water can be added).

To this you add three-fourths of a cup of ginger ale, a fourth of a cup of brown sugar and three tablespoons of soy sauce. Mix and pour over the chicken. Cover the skillet and cook rather slowly for about 25 minutes or until you think the chicken is done.

Take the chicken pieces out and put in a shallow baking dish with the pears cut into wedges scattered around.

To the liquid in the skillet and a paste of two teaspoons of cornstarch, a fourth of a cup of water and a fourth of a teaspoon of powdered ginger. Stir until it thickens, pour over the chicken and bake in the oven uncovered for 10 minutes at 350 degrees with a quarter of a cup of walnut pieces sprinkled on top of the chicken.

With a bowl of soup, a vegetable and a simple dessert, it makes a great and easy dinner for guests.

I tried it out on an old friend last week, and being a good friend I am sure he was being truthful when he said it was great.

Golf meeting set Tuesday

Bill Cosby:
"Why donate so much blood, L. C.? Two gallons!"
L. C. Vaughn:
"Honestly, I like doing it. In the end you could say it's for a selfish reason. Helping save lives makes me feel good. And let's face it: the need for blood is continuous. Every type is needed every day. That's why I donate on a continuing basis."
Bill Cosby:
"You said it all, L. C. Vaughn. Except for one thing. Tell everybody how they, too, can donate blood."
L. C. Vaughn:
"Simple. Just call your American Red Cross Chapter . . . and make an appointment."

ERRATUM

Because a police dispatcher became confused when reading a collision report, The Advertiser was supplied with erroneous information that resulted in a serious mistake in last week's issue.

Douglas Jacobs, LaDow road, left his car in front of the resident of Leonard J. Fenner to attend a basketball game in Willard. The Jacobs car and two other vehicles, one owned by Fenner and another by J. Lee Fenner, 238 Plymouth street, were struck by a fourth vehicle that fled the scene.

Appropriations totalling $1,054,208.22 for 1980 were presented by Mayor Eric J. Akers and approved by four council members Monday night.

Councilmen Dean A. Cline and David A. Howard were absent, leaving Councilmen Mrs. Allan Raymond, Michael Taylor, G. Thomas Moore and Ervin Howard to thrash out expenditures against income for the village.

The mayor had explained at the regular meeting Thursday night that he was estimating income in some funds lower than what could be expected by the end of the year so that they would carry balances into 1981 and cover deficits in some fund.

He specifically pointed out that revenues for the income tax fund, which are estimated to be about $100,000 for the year, will be about $25,000 less by Dec. 31 because the fourth quarter of 1980 will not be collected until Apr. 15, 1981.

In the appropriation he placed the revenues for that fund at $71,000 with the hope that more would be collected, thus providing a balance to begin the new year.

As in past years, the general fund will not generate enough to pay its expenses.

Akers presented a figure of income to the fund of $60,395, which he obtained from the Richland county auditor. He estimated that from this sum $13,690 was committed for the year to pay the village solicitor, which he estimated at $3,500, the council and mayor's salaries and general expenses to run the village office plus fees due the county auditor's office.

This leaves a total of $38,754 to pay the expenses of the police department.

The mayor had previously estimated that the department with one chief, two patrolmen, a dispatcher and some part-time help could get by with about $50,000.

Now the department seems to be dwindling to three persons if the village can stay within the appropriation.

He said villagers must realize that if they want more protection, they must pay for it.

Taylor said the village should provide maximum protection and if there is no way to find any other money through the county auditor, then it is up to the people to decide what level of protection they want.

What was ironic during the time the police budget was being discussed was that several cars zoomed past the village hall with loud mufflers and obviously gunning their engines to the point that a patrolman who was in attendance at the meeting quietly got up and left. The noise came to a quick halt.

What can be a windfall to the general fund is the tax on financial institutions, which the mayor had been told was included in a total of another tax. In the past, the tax on financial institutions has been a once a year payment to the general fund hovered around $15,000 in 1979.

Another windfall can be the mayor's court, which Akers estimated at an extremely low figure rather than averaging it out over a period of time. Estate taxes must be guessed at and in the past were always carried on the annual budget at $500 annually, while they usually produced about $5,000.

The village has been notified by the Liquor Control board that Willard-Firelands Moose Lodge 2153 has requested a D-4 license, which will allow beer and liquor to be sold until 1 a.m. to members only.

The lodge has rented what was a former coin laundry built and owned by R. Harold Mack, who later rented it to Michael Ward as a bar. It has since gone out of business.

Wesley Gardner, builder and owner of Plymouth Village apartments, and his manager, Wilma Dean, were present to protest the granting of the license and to ask the council to protest the granting of it.

Gardner pointed out that the building was not large enough and if granted the license the club would attempt to expand the building, taking up what available parking there is now, which would cause a great hardship for the apartment renters and First Buckeye Bank, (N.A.) because of parking problems.

Mrs. Dean stated that already with no liquor license she had to pick up beer cans and empty bottles that customers of the lodge had thrown around.

She said that she had complained to the police department before Christmas about a particularly noisy night that disturbed the neighborhood when the lodge had a live band. She said the police made five visits that night. The mayor asked Sergt. David Gibson to check the police records. Gibson said he found no written complaints.

Mrs. Dean said there had not been a band since that night.

Moore said it is more important to the village to have happy and pleased residents than a problem a bar could cause. Taylor agreed and said the village should take action against the granting of the license and request a hearing. The mayor read a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanasdale, who reside in the apartments behind the bar, that voiced their objections.

Gardner told the council he hopes it would "head off" the problem before it exists and said he had the chance to buy the building but felt he was being pressured into it at a high price, which he declined.

The village will request a hearing before the board to object to the license.

It can be a losing battle, though. The village did this when Ward requested a license. The mayor, police chief and clerk appeared before a representative of the board in Mansfield to voice their objections. The mayor said that the building was next to administration building of the school, which intended to install a classroom or two in it, plus the fact that a petition had been presented to the council from the residents on the east side or Route 61 objecting to a bar in their neighborhood. The police chief pointed out that it would cause undue work on his department to police it and maintain order on a state route.

None of the arguments meant a thing when Ward's lawyer pointed out to the representative of the Liquor Control board that the police chief's wife was the owner of a tavern on the Square and feared there would be competition.

The license was granted.

The mayor and Taylor will meet this month with the trustees of Plymouth and New Haven townships to discuss a new ambulance contract.

No action was taken to approve the settlement with the Ohio Power Co. concerning the new rate increase, which leaves Plymouth the only municipality out of the 13 which banded together to fight the increase. It was determined that the matter could wait longer and was not an emergency measure.

She was born Mar. 18, 1890, at Pt. Clinton and lived most of her life near Plymouth.

Jacobs, Wilcox sell

Mr. and Mrs. David P. Dunn have purchased the James L. Jacobs, Jr., property in Trux street.

Shilohan, 25, summoned after crash

A 25-year-old Shiloh driver was summoned on a charge of failure to yield the right of way Mar. 24 after her car collided with another at Ganges-Five Points road and Route 96.

Both were treated at Mansfield General hospital and released.

New rate for power accepted

Shiloh has acquiesced to a request by Ohio Power Co. to increase rates and awaits favorable action on Ohio Power's request by two other villages.

In formal action Mar. 26, the village council agreed to accept Ohio Power's bid for an increase of 11.4 per cent.

Whether a CETA program that will assist in sidewalk repair or replacement shall be continued was broached by Mayor Charles Bell. The program started last year but wasn't completed. Under its provisions, householders pay for materials and CETA pays the laborers.

Signs limiting speed in West and East Main street to 25 miles an hour aren't necessary, Mayor Bell says he was told by ODOT, because Ohio law requires speed on a state highway passing through a municipality to be not more than 25 miles an hour.

Approval was given to purchase of 35 to 40 tons of limestone to be applied to alleys. The material will be stockpiled and adjoining the railroad tracks.

Purchase of a new typewriter for use by the deputy sheriff was approved.

Repair of deficiencies in Petit street was called to the attention of the council. School buses in Prospect street have broken catch basin covers. The school will be asked to adjust its routes.

Tax office open Apr. 5, 12

To accommodate taxpayers, Department of Taxation will be open Saturdays prior to Aug. 15, the deadline for filing the village income tax.

Taxpayers needing forms, assistance or information may call there Apr. 5 and 12 between 9 a.m. and noon. Telephone numbers are 687-8871 and 687-4431.

Individuals with taxable income not covered by withholding will pay tax on that income for the period Dec. 9-31, 1979, and will declare estimated income for 1980. Payment of at least one-fourth of the tax on the declared income is required.

The same requirements apply to local businesses.

Persons whose income is entirely covered by at least one per cent withholding need not file returns or declarations. Similarly, persons whose sole income is from a pension, social security, veterans' benefits, welfare, dividends and such, need not file returns or declarations.

Chief to quit

No mention was made Tuesday night of the impending resignation of Police Chief W. Robert Seel, although the four council members present at a special meeting must have been aware of it. The Howard brothers were absent.

Seel said Tuesday that his formal resignation will be presented to Mayor Eric J. Akers tomorrow.

He is taking a position as mechanic with Moore's Parts and Service Center, run by Councilman G. Thomas Moore.

Seel, a skilled mechanic, says the job will in the long run be more lucrative and not have "the headaches" involved with the village position.

Vikes beaten, losers' bracket action Apr. 11

They were beaten Saturday night by Burger King, 37 to 30. Terry Baldridge scored 15 and Tim AMstutz 10.

The Vikes will take this week off and return in the losers' bracket of the local tourney on Apr. 11 at 6 p.m. The record is 30-and-4.

Trailing by five with under two minutes to go, Vikings caught and passed Mansfield Bailey's in the finals of the John Sherman Junior tourney. The score was 27 to 26. Baldridge snared two free throws to win it.

Vikes overcame Bucyrus in the local tourney, 36 to 26.

Wheeler gets mat letter at Wilmington

A 1979 alumnus of Plymouth High school who excelled in football and wrestling has become the first Big Red graduate to win a varsity wrestling letter at the college level.

He is Mike Wheeler, who was awarded a letter in the mat sport by Wilmington college, Wilmington.

A long time ago, the St. Louis Cardinals sent Mike Gonzalez, a time-worn journeyman catcher then scouting for the club, to look at a minor league prospect.

The wily Cuban did so and sent his succinct appraisal by wire to the front office.

That summary has stood up in baseball at all levels of competition for half a century and it, according to Coach Dave Dunn, describes the 1980 Plymouth High school baseball team.

The Big Red was to have opened at South Central Friday and to have played a home opener Tuesday with Buckeye Central. A game with Mapleton at the Ashland county school was set yesterday.

Dunn has some willing but relatively inexperienced hands.

On the mound, the two leaders are Randy Collins, a righthander, and Mike Branham, a lefty. The others are Steve Mowry, Steve Tackett and Marty Carty, each of whom will serve in another post.

Carty will play second base when he's not pitching.

Bill Hudson is the shortstop and Mowry the third sacker.

Unless there is a break in the weather, it's unlikely the Big Red can even get on the field for a practice session before it has to play a game, a fact that Dunn deplores but one that he's used to.

Do you like pork chops? Here's special recipe

By AUNT LIZ

Because of a quirky state law, Ohio and places with local income taxes have just lost a pot.

Texas, Utah, Pennsylvania and Virginia are also big losers.

Last Sunday's New York Times had a beautiful ad explaining how you could win a flat $25,000 or if you didn't, you had a chance at a fancy decorator telephone.

It was sponsored by the Johnny Walker people and all you had to do was call a toll free number and wait to hear a question, the answer to which is on the label of the bottle.

This, of course, was irresistible and there was simply no thought in my small mind that we would not win, so I called.

It was one of those real "fun" calls. A voice with a pronounced Scotch accent answered and gave me a question plus a small pitch why Johnny Walker was so tasty.

Then someone told me it was illegal in Ohio and I went back and read the fine print and it is.

It ruined the whole day. There went all that shrimp I planned to eat the rest of the year, plus the salami our dog would rather eat than ordinary dog food.

This puts us back in the pork chop class, and you can do wonder with a couple of chops.

This is a recipe we had at a friend's house a few weeks ago, and not only is it beautiful to look at, but downright tasty. I finally conned her into the recipe. If you have a friend who is such a good cook, let me suggest a useful gift when you're to give one: fancy little recipe cards so they have something to write it on.

Here is a real dream.

Dredge six thickish pork chops in flour and gently brown them in two tablespoons of oil. You may have to add more oil. I was only able to do two at a time because they were such a nice size.

Put the chops in a casserole and add three fourths of a cup of water to the skillet to loosen all the goop. Then add a teaspoon of ground ginger and a can of cream of mushroom soup (how can anyone live without it?) and stir. Pour this over the chops and sprinkle with a half a can of fried onion bits. Bake this in a slowish oven.

When it looks done, add the other half can of the onions, turn the heat up and brown.

The chops can be served on a platter or on each plate, and you can add a little sour cream to the gravy mixture. We didn't have any, and you can live without that little luxury.

We are fortunate to have nice friends who will share a recipe, but over the years there have been two which have absolutely evaded me and I have searched and searched.

One is for a dessert sauce which is transparent and flavored with either ginger or nutmeg as I remember it. It had to have cornstarch in it because it was thickish but a little on the runny side. It was great on prune whip and bread pudding. The other is a German cookie that must have had chocolate, almonds and lots of spices. It was a hard cookie that could easily break your teeth off if you were not careful, but worth it.

If anyone can come up with these two recipes, there could possibly be a small prize, but not like those Johnny Walker people. At least you will not be nailed for any taxes.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Welcome to the Flames

It is good news, reported elsewhere today, that Mansfield Christian school has asked to join the Black Fork Valley conference. And even better news that, subject to some conditions, its request has been approved by the three schools now comprising the league.

These conditions are that within a reasonable time Christian school will compete in five of the seven varsity sports in which the other schools compete. These seven sports are football, basketball, cross country, wrestling, baseball, track and field and tennis. Football, in which the three schools of the conference compete, is excluded from application against Christian school, which has neither the enrollment nor the resources to field a football squad.

So far as we can see, and we've looked carefully, the brand of competition offered by Christian school is just what the doctor ordered. It will win a portion of its games, perhaps a greater portion than is warranted by the size of its emrollment, which for next year is reported as 85 boys in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades and 78 girls in the same grades. These figures compare with 179 and 180, respectively, for Crestview; 145 and 161, respectively, for Plymouth, and 103 and 96, respectively, for Lucas. They don't compare very well, to be honest about it, but the comparison is certainly better than say, with Ontario or Clear Fork.

The caliber of player on the Christian teams is also just what the doctor ordered.

Nearly 45 years ago, when we were competing on high school teams, we always looked forward to the experience of competing with a private boys' school about 20 miles up the pike.

One would be a fool not to recognize that when one is exposed to a special experience, one often absorbs the best parts of that experience and tempers his own character and personality thereby. The value of sending one's child to Yale or Harvard or Princeton or MIT or Bryn Mawr or Vassar or Wellesley or Radcliffe is not so much that he or she will learn so much more there, although each is among the first 10 in undergraduate academic programs, but that he or she will rub elbows with the young men and women whose parents run this country and who by their conduct, manners and attitudes can contribute substantially to the emotional and personality development of one's child.

Which is what, frankly, we'll expect of the Mansfield Christian experience, just as we've expected it of the private school experience in other years with other institutions, most notably, St. Paul's at Norwalk and St. Peter's at Mansfield.

And let's face it, our young men and women can learn something about discipline from their peers who attend private schools. The rules governing conduct and enforcement of discipline in private schools differ vastly from those that appertain in public schools, more's the pity, and from our standpoint, whatsoever a pupil learns while he is in school that doesn't need to be learned, painfully, out of school is worth whatever candle it takes to light the situation.

Two indicted in fatal crash

Secret indictments of vehicular homicide were returned Apr. 1 by a Richland county grand jury against two Plymouth youths believed by the jury to be cuplable in the deaths of two boys on Mar. 8.

Harvey Robinson, 2nd, 18, 121 Franklin street, and Gary Lee Burkhalter, 21, 223 Nichols street, are charged with recklessly causing the deaths of David M. Wisner, 16, 26 Yorkshire road, Lexington, and Kyle Franklin Hodge, Jr., 15, 26½ Sandusky street.

The indictment, based largely on testimony by W. Robert Seel in his last official act as police chief, accuses Robinson, the driver of the car in which the two dead boys were riding, and Burkhalter of engaging in a drag race in West Broadway at about 11 p.m. on Mar. 8. Robinson sought to overtake Burkhalter and drove in the eastbound lane of West Broadway, where he collided head-on with Mrs. Pamela Sexton, 25, Shiloh.

Two alumni on honor roll

Two Plymouth High school alumni attending North Central Technical college at Mansfield received grade-point averages of 3.5 or above during the winter quarter ending Mar. 19.

These are Nancy N. Kennard, Plymouth, enrolled in secretarial science, and Sally J. Von Stein, Shiloh, enrolled in data processing.

'78 alumnus on dean's list at Wilmington

A 1978 alumnus of Plymouth High school attending Wilmington college, to which he transferred this year after attending North Central Technical college, Martin McKenzie, son of the Perry McKenzies, 137 Plymouth street, has been named to the dean's list.

Garden club to meet Monday

Plymouth Garden club will meet Monday at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gerald McKown.

Program on Easter customs in other countries will be presented by Mrs. Nevin Border.

Robinson was taken into custody by Richland county sheriff's deputies last week, arraigned and invited to plead. He pleaded not guilty. Bond was set at $3,000, which was posted by his parents, and he was freed to await trial.

Burkhalter did not respond to the summons and presumably will be arrested on a warrant as soon as it can be issued.

Livengood resigns office

His resignation was accepted by the county commissioners.

His son, Urban, Jr., will temporarily fill the post vacated by the veteran engineer. The son is a candidate for election to the office in November. The Republican central committee will name a replacement. Signs are that Livengood, Jr., will be that choice.

Shilohan, 54, hurt in crash near Rt. 224

A 54-year-old Shiloh woman was taken to Good Samaritan hospital in Ashland Apr. 2 at 9:35 a.m. with injuries received in a two-car collision in Greenwich East Town Line road, 900 yards south of Route 224.

Dorothy J. Ringler received a head injury.

State highway patrol reported she was headed south when a northbound vehicle driven by Paula A. Weitze, 41, also of Shiloh, crossed the center line. She was charged with failure to yield half of the roadway.

Her daughters, Laann, 19, and Judith, 18, were treated at Ashland and released.

Villager gets 12 days in jail on DWI count

Convicted in Mansfield Municipal court of drunken driving, Bryon S. Gearheart, Plymouth, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and to pay a fine of $250 and costs. His driver's license was suspended for 180 days. Eighteen days of the jail sentence was suspended. For failure to hold on Ohio's operator's license, he was fined $125 and costs.

Vandals ransack housing

A Plymouth man who owns apartments in Mansfield complained to police there Friday afternoon of theft and vandalism at four locations.

Robert E. Malarchick, who lives at Mills avenue and Railroad street, reported one room at 318 West Third street lost wall-to-wall carpeting, its front doors were kicked in and a water pipe was broken.

At 356 West Third street two rooms of carpeting and an antique fireplace mantle were missing. Two front windows were broken and two doors kicked in.

At 309 Altamont street, three rooms of wall-to-wall carpeting, a refrigerator and a range were stolen, windows were broken and a door damaged.

At 317 West Third street, carpenter tools, canned foods, a radio and antenna were stolen.

Payroll met with loan second time

Village payroll due Friday was met because village council in special session Thursday authorized borrowing of $11,000 from First Buckeye Bank, N.A.

The note executed to the bank is due Dec. 31. It must be settled in quarterly payments with proceeds of the income tax, which proceeds area already encumbered to the extent of $11,000 borrowed from the same lender in March for the same purpose.

But the council couldn't engage in such a maneuver without an earlier one: it was compelled to alter the distribution ratio of the income tax from 25 per cent for the general fund and 75 per cent for capital improvements to an even split.

This was done only after Councilman G. Thomas Moore, the architect of the original formula, engaged in breast-beating and acknowledged he was compelled by circumstances to beat a retreat from a position he said earlier was inalterable.

Councilman Ervin Howard observed that the council broke faith with the citizenry in changing the formula, which had to be done or the village couldn't borrow money (state law holds that only half of the proceeds of an income tax may be borrowed in advance) to keep operating.

Howard said the "people didn't want it (the income tax) in the first place and then we turned around and put it on. And now, just as they feared, we turn around and change it just to meet the payroll."

Proceeds of the newest Joan went to meet the payroll and to pay a Blue Cross premium of $686.

About 250 children hunted for 540 eggs and over 5,000 candies in Mary Fate park Sunday as Independence Chapter, Order of DeMolay, staged its annual egg roll. Mayor Eric J. Auntie threatens to outdo 'Daisy'

By AUNT LIZ

Never, never again will I fall for a best selling novel.

I have said this time and time again, then I get conned into reading one merely so I can keep up with what is going on in the world.

Strike the newest one off your reading list.

The basic plot of "Princess Daisy" could have made a truly beautiful story like "Lilies in the Field", where someone does something for someone who needs help. It could have been inspirational.

It wasn't.

It started out like a chapter out of "War and Peace", describing the life style of the Russian aristocracy, which I have always found fascinating because it is so hard to believe they had so much wealth. Along about page 89 the story declined to what almost read like a clinical study of sex habits by Masters and Johnson.

sex habits by Masters and Johnson.

Sometimes I think I should go back to reading "Winnie the Pooh" for pure enjoyment. It was written for children; I have always said adults could enjoy those books more. Years back, when I spent summers working in Girl Scout camps, it was a custom that when the Scouts were tucked in bed, they got read to for a while. I can remember having to stop reading because I was simply convulsed in laughter over Piglet.

All young mothers should save their pennies, and buy these books for their young ones. They are classics. So is Mary Poppins, which is timeless.

There is another book just out that I would love to get my hands on. It is written by Charles Hamilton, who is the foremost autograph dealer in this country. It is filled with funny stories, and the review I read of it told about the father of George Gershwin, who did not speak English too well.

One day he was stopped for speeding and like everyone else apparently tried to throw a little weight around and explained in his accent that he was the father of "Jutch Goishwin". With that the officer said "Drive a little more slowly and give my regards to the judge."

It kind of depends who are you, yes?

A few years ago one small town hired some new part time officers, and right off the bat three of the most prominent citizens got picked up for speeding, because the new guys did not know who they were. They paid up with small grumbles. Once the mayor of a nearby community got a ticket because his face was not known.

The payoff was the time a new officer arrested the father of another officer for DWI. It was sad and funny. The police department was thrown into a real tizzy: what to do? They all said, "Treat him like everyone else", which they really did not mean because the police chief took it upon himself to reduce the charge, which was plain illegal. It finally ended up with one kind person simply dismissing it all since the man had really learned his lesson and it stopped all embarrassment for everyone involved.

Since some day I am writing a book about all this, I wonder if I can match "Princess Daisy". I would not think of writing about who is sleeping with whom and why. It would not be decent nor polite, but I sure am tempted.

Meanwhile, we cook away and try to beat Washington down on inflation.

Right now it is a losing battle. Even dog biscuits have gone up eight cents.

There does come a time when one can get very tired of it all and feel like splurging a little.

Open a can of cream of shrimp soup, which is downright tasty and kind of a luxury. Add a little peanut butter sandwich, which is also kind of a luxury, and stir up a small salad, Skip dessert and drink water instead of coffee.

Christian to join BFVC in September

A new team will join the Black Fork Valley conference, but not for football.

Mansfield Christian school's application to join the league, which is completing its first season, has been approved, subject to the proviso that Christian will field teams in five of the seven sports in which BFVC teams compete.

Plymouth played Christian in basketball and has a baseball engagement with the Flames. Next season the basketball slate will see Christian play Plymouth on a home-and-home basis. A newcomer to the basketball slate is South Amherst, which will come here Nov. 21 for the season's opener.

Opening of the 1980 football season is only 127 days off but there is one thing Big Red gridders can be sure of: they'll play 10 games this season, and none of them will be against a repeat opponent.

The new athletic director, who succeeded the only athletic director Plymouth High school ever had, William F. Flaherty, is Sam Cook. He has arranged three new opponents for the 1980 slate. These are St. Wendelin's of Fostoria, Danbury of Lakeside and Ontario, which returns to the schedule after a brief hiatus. Plymouth played Ontario in its first season of football — Ontario's, that is — and all told played the Warriors 16 times. The record: one victory, one tie, 14 defeats.

Ontario's veteran football coach, Roger Copeland, has resigned and the Warriors are hunting up a new one.

St. Wendelin's is a Roman Catholic school in Fostoria, having an enrollment of 99 boys, 46 fewer than Plymouth.

Plymouth has played Danbury in other sports but never in football.

Shelby whips Red, 9 to 0

Shelby limited Plymouth to just two hits Monday and shut out the Big Red, 9 to 0.

The Whippets scored six runs in the fifth, but for all intents and purposes it was all over after the second, when the Whippets put a runner at second on an arror with one out and DeVito's single scored Lewis.

Mrs. Raymond leaving town, resigns as councilman; will Moore be next?

No action was taken on the resignation of Mrs. Allan Raymond as councilman Thursday night.

She submitted her resignation to Mayor Eric J. Akers to be effective immediately, since the Raymonds plan to move out of state this summer. She does not feel she has the time to devote to councilman duties meanwhile.

This will allow the council more time to consider a new member. Once a resignation is accepted, a period of 30 days can elapse, during which the council may choose the new member. Otherwise, it is the mayor who appoints.

The council agreed to accept the new rules,which were established at the beginning of the year for conduct of council meetings. The only change is the meeing night, which has been set for the second and fourth Thursdays of each month which are more suitable to the village solicitor, Richard Wolfe, Ashland.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore indicated that those meeting nights were not convenient for him, but he went along and voted with the rest of his colleagues.

To date neither the mayor nor the council has come up with any prospects to serve on the Board of Review for the village income tax. The mayor said he hoped to have a name to propose at the next meeting, but said he had talked with several who did not feel they understand just what their role will be.

The board, which is established by the income tax ordinance, will consist of three persons, one chosen by the mayor, one by the council and the third by the two appointees.

Their role will be to investigate any problems of villagers and the ocal tax which cannot be handled by the taxation department.

Ever since the North street bridge was found to be unsafe for traffic, the village has struggled with how to find funds to repair it. Last year, when the Huron county commissioners were requested to make the repairs, since it is an access and egress to the village and used by school buses, they turned the problem over to the Huron county prosecutor, who notified the village that responsibility for bridge repairs rests locally.

The mayor said there is a chance the area is still a part of the county, which it was in 1840, and said there is no record in the county recorder's office in Norwalk that the land east of the former Smith property, which is at the bend of North street, was ever formally annexed to the village.

Village Administrator James C. Root said a small sum could put the bridge in order so it could be used for the tme being.

Mayor Akers told the council he had met with the trustees of Plymouth township the week before and that three changes are being proposed in the contract for ambulance services.

Namely, it should spell out termination periods by ither the township or the village; the amount ot be paid specifically for each year of service should be spelled out, so it can be budgeted on both sides as expenditures or income; and there should be a new set-up that will spell out what is paid out in expenses and what will go into the ambulance reserve fund.

The mayor said the Plymouth trustees were not happy with the financial set-up of the fund.

Originally, the village paid all the every day expenses for the service except those which were over $250, then the trustees had to be notified and agree to the expenditures. These payments were from fees collected for the ambulance runs. At the end of the year, all expenses were added up and divided 50 per cent for the village and 25 per cent for Plymouth and New Haven townships, with these payments going into the reserve fund.

Approval was given to allow the annual Boosters' club carnival on the Square June 24-28. Moore moved that a fire lane must be approved by the fire department for the lane before the carnival is set up. Last year this was not heeded.

It was agreed that the utilities and extra police protection will be paid to the village.

An ordinance accepting the settlement with Ohio Power Co. was passed, wherein the company will receive a rate increase of 11½ per cent. An increase of 21 per cent had been its goal, but the Federal Power commission cut it in half.

The mayor informed the council that he had been told that Ohio Power is again seeking another rate increase. The council seemed to be in agreement that Plymouth should join the 12 other communities for the third time to fight the increase. The only alternative, he said, is to simply sell the distribution system.

Councilmen came under fire from members of the fire and ambulance departments. They want to know where their reserve funds are, and why they have no money to spend on needed repairs now.

On Dec. 17, 1979, a letter was written to the council threatening legal action unless an answer could be found. The only action taken on their letter was a reply written by Councilman David howard on Mar. 8, the details of which were not disclosed, but Richard A. Roll, who heads the firemen, said it was unsatisfactory and meant nothing.

The firemen say they have spent money from their own funds for needed repairs and asked if they would be reimbursed. Roll said that if the firemen had not paid for a starter for the GMC, the department would be minus one fire vehicle. David Howard claimed the council had not been told by the fire chief the problem existed He then asked Root if he had approved the expenditure of the funds, to which Root replied the firemen did it on their own.

The mayor also asked Root if he had approved the spending and Root said he had given a list to both David Howard and Councilman Michael Taylor of what the fire department required and badly needed, and said, "You sat on your asses".

The village will send its solicitor to the hearing May 2 in Norwalk regarding the application of a liquor license for the LOMoose lodge in Route 61.

James C. Davis, representing First Buckeye Bank, questioned when the village would pay a $10,000 note. The money in the amount of $15,000 had been borrowed in 1977 to hold the general fund over until tax money was received. A third had been paid off, and Davis asked if the village could simply pay the interest to renew it.

The mayor thought the interest of just less than $200 could be paid from revenue sharing money and suggested a special meeting for Monday night to formalize the action, but no meeting was called.

The Equal Payment Plan.

Some household expenses are fairly steady throughout the year. But your electric bill varies from month to month because your electric usage fluctuates with the changing seasons. The bill is usually higher in the winter. It dips a little in the spring months, then, for most people, rises during the air conditioning season, before dropping again in the fall.

We can't do anything about the weather, but we can help you smooth out the ups and downs of your electric bill. And that's by offering you our Equal Payment Plan.

With the Equal Payment Plan, we bill you a fixed amount each month based on your average usage.

Every six months we'll review your account so you'll know whether your electricity costs are going up, down or staying about the same. The bill at the end of the twelfth month is the "settle-up" bill.

Many of our customers are already taking advantage of the Equal Payment Plan. If it sounds like a good idea to you, simply contact us. We'll take it from there.

We give it our best.

Mayor declares water shortage, urges saving

Water users asked by Mayor Eric J. Akers and village officials to conserve water.

James C. Root, village administrator, said this week the wells have been pumping 24 hours a day and only getting about half the water of what they have been capable of in the past.

He estimates the water supply is about 200,000 gallons behind with the water tower about half full and the clear well at the water plant, which holds 100,000 gallons, empty.

The problem was greatly aggravated early Sunday morning when the fire hydrant at Plymouth and West High streets was knocked down by a car out of control.

Root estimates the 100,000 gallons was lost during the three hours it took to make repairs to stop the water from running.

ERRATUM

Remarks highly critical of the village council attributed to James C. Root, village administrator, made at the Apr. 10 meeting and reported in last week's Advertiser were in error.

The remarks were made by Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine, who has been displeased with the handling of his department by the clerk and council.

Renee, 11, and Jennifer, four, are the children of the Richard Carters, 186 West Broadway.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Welcome!

We join with its friends in welcoming Willard United bank to Plymouth.

Our relations with the bank over the past 26 years have been such that we never had cause to complain.

While it's impossible for anybody, or any firm, to do business for very long without making somebody angry about something, there are measures the customer can take to express his displeasure.

It's the same way with newspapers. The bank has been in business a long time and it aims to continue. So does this newspaper, which this week starts its 27th year under the same management.

W. Lewis dies at 60 in hospital

He retired in 1975 as a brakeman for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad after 33 years of service.

Born in Willard Aug. 5, 1919, he lived in Lorain 14 years before moving to Sheffield Lake a year ago.

He served in the Army Air Corps as a staff sergeant in the European theatre during World War II.

He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

He is also survived by his wife, Evelyn, to whom he was married 15 years ago; a son, William A., Sandusky; a daughter, Marilyn, now Mrs. Charles Estep, Sandusky; three step-sons, Jerry and Harold (Bud) Thomas, Lorain, and William Thomas, Amherst; a step-daughter, Patricia, now Mrs. James Kirk, Sheffield Lake, and 12 grandchildren.

The Rev. Paul W. Kirk, Faith United Methodist church, Lorain, conducted services yesterday at 1 p.m. in Lorain. Burial was in Ridgehill Memorial park there.

W. E. Porter, kin of Foxes, succumbs at 75

Nephew of a former Methodist clergyman here, Wilbur E. Porter, 75, died Apr. 8 in Temple City, Cal., of cancer of the pancreas.

Mr. Porter was a 32nd degree Mason and an amateur radio operator for over 20 years.

Interment took place in Monrovia, Cal., Apr. 11.

Two schools on Red slate in Class IV

Reassignment of Ohio high schools fielding varsity football teams into five groups instead of three won't change things much for Plymouth's Big Red.

So are eight of its opponents. Crestview and Ontario are in Group IV.

If Plymouth can defeat these two, it will accrue more computer points, but it also must defeat the other eight.

Legion sets stag party

Refreshments will be served.

EDST after Sunday

All timepieces must be turned ahead one hour on Sunday at 2 a.m. to comply with Eastern Daylight Savings time.

Holders of liquor permits allowing sale of spirits until 2:30 a.m will thus be entitled to remain open for an extra hour, an hour they'll lose in October when most of the nation returns to Standard time.

New branch of Willard United bank, photographed Thursday morning, was getting finishing touches for crowds who thronged the place Friday and Saturday.

New bank opens

Willard bank opens new branch here

For the first time since the first decade of this century Plymouth has two banks.

Among the honored guests for the ceremony were John A. Wallace, retired president of Willard United and now chairman of its board of directors; George Sweeting, North Fairfield; Mrs. Helen Ellis and Robert Rice, Willard, members of the board; Robert Harwood, executive vice-present and a member of the board, Tanya Carli, the current Miss Ohio, Alliance; Councilmen G. Thomas Moore, Michael Taylor and Ervin Howard.

The current president, Frank Chapman, spoke briefly, saying the WUB is pleased that it will be able to serve its Plymouth accounts more readily and added he was pleased that the bank was able to help in bringing a new restaurant to the Square.

The mayor replied that he was pleased that new business had opened here. Clarence O. Cramer, who has served as councilman and taken an active part in the community over the years, was presented with the first Golden Passbook issued by the new branch by Chapman.

He said that as a young man Mr. Cramer had offered him help which he has never forgotten. He was attempting to build a house alone and faced a plumbing problem and upon Cramer's good advice was able to solve it.

The village's first bank was opened in 1839 by a Mr. Barker, in connection with his mercantile trade. After his death it was continued until 1870, when Robert McDonough opened a regular bank in the building between the mayor's office and The Advertiser. It later became Lasch's Barber Shop.

McDonough operated the bank until his death in 1873. Then the First National bank was organized with Josiah Brinkerhoff as president.

Peoples National bank was organized and opened in 1903. A few years later First National went out of business and People purchased its building on the northwest corner of the Square.

On May 20, 1977, Peoples merged with First National Bank of Mansfield and last month another merger changed its name to First Buckeye Bank, N.A.

Car snaps hydrant, water loss heavy

Water service in the village was impaired early Sunday when a car went out of control in Plymouth street and severed a fire hydrant at West High street.

The driver, Timothy Atkins, 18, Shiloh, was summoned on charges of reckless operation and driving while under suspension.

He was not hurt.

His passengers, Todd Caudill, 19, Shelby route 3, and Harvey Robinson, 2nd, 18, 121 Franklin street, received cuts. They were taken to Willard Area hospital by ambulance, treated and released. Caudill was taken to Mansfield General hospital for treatment of facial cuts.

The collision took place at 1:07 a.m.

12th grader to get state FFA degree

A 12th grader in Plymouth High school who attends Pioneer Joint Vocational school will receive the state FFA degree at the 52nd annual convention at Columbus tomorrow and Saturday.

He is John Donnersbach, son of the Joseph Donnersbachs, Opdyke road south of Plymouth, who began his FFA work in Plymouth High school under Keith Johnson. For the past two years he has been a member of the FFA chapter at Pioneer, where his advisers are Richard Jones, junior agri-business, and Timothy Moore, senior agri-business.

When he was in the Plymouth chapter, his work experience was in corn and soy bean projects. In the 11th grade at PJVS, he received 540 hours of work experience in the agri-business laboratory. This year, he is a cooperative work experience pupil working in Miller's Hardware.

Over his four years of membership in FFA, he has participated in many judging contests, parliamentary procedure experiences and other chapter activities.

Red wins first over Crestline on disputed call

Plymouth scored three unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh here Saturday to win the second half of a doubleheader with Crestline, 5 to 4.

An umpires' decision on a wild throw from the outfield that rolled into dead ball territory near home plate allowed Bill Hudson to score from second on his double with the winning run. Crestline argued vainly that Hudson should not have been permitted to advance beyond third.

Steve Mowry picked up the victory in relief of Randy Collins. Plymouth got only four hits, two of them by Hudson and one each by Mowry and Marty Carty.

Crestline had only three hits. One of them was a towering home to right by Bret Simmermacher, who was the losing pitcher in relief of his older brother, Brian.

In the first game, three Plymouth pitchers couldn't throttle the Bulldogs, who won, 8 to 1. Rick Winbigler kept Plymouth in check until the seventh.

Cougars nip Red, 6 to 5

Crestview won, 6 to 5.

With two out, Mike Branham came to the plate with Randy Collins at first base. He banged one deep to the outer reaches, where a substitute outfielder, by name Sherrick, raced to his left and miraculously caught the ball. It would otherwise have been a homer.

Plymouth started out in the seventh three runs behind, thanks to a big four run third inning by the Cougars. A two run homer by Krebs highlighted the outburst. Steve Mowry singled and went to second on an arror. After Bill Hudson was out, Gary King reached on a fielder's choice. Steve Tackett doubled but was thrown out stretching it to third. Two runs were home. Collins singled and then Branham's bid for fame was snuffed out.

Still precarious. . .

The water situation is still precarious, village council was told by Administrator James C. Root Thursday night.

He said for the last two months the water field has not produced as it should and did in the past and no one can offer any explanation nor help, except to say there simply is not enough water available for the daily usage in the village.

It was suggested by the Ohio Environmental Protection agency in 1977 that the village seek a new supply, namely connecting to the City of Willard treatment plant. At that time it was decided to put in a fourth well. This was done and enough water was provided until the first part of this year.

Councilman Michael R. Taylor said all that can be done right now is to ask the village water users to conserve as much as possible. He said solving the problem is going to take time and added this area is "notorious for not having water resources."

Councilman David A. Howard asked Root what guidance he could give the council. His answer was that he would like to check further and was waiting on records from EPA in Bowling Green, since the village records are inadequate.

Root also told the council the village gasoline pump had run out at noon on Apr. 23 and asked what it wished to do about an unpaid bill to the Marathon Oil Co. in the amount of $4,200.

He said he is embarrassed to ask the distributor, J. A. Lasch, for more credit. David Howard said that Lasch had told him he was willing to extend more credit so long as he is aware the village is being sincere in trying to pay its bills.

David Howard and Taylor told their colleagues they had been with Kenneth Echelberry concerning the ambulance contracts for New Haven and Plymouth townships and they were not quite satisfied about the way they had been prepared by Richard Wolfe, solicitor.

Wolfe said he believes it is time to update the clauses in the contract to reflect the fact the village is furnishing the service to the townships. The question, he said is, "Do the townships need the service or does the village want the compensation?"

Wolfe also feels that a monthly rate should be spelled out so that the village is not expending its funds during a complete year and that it would make budgeting easier for the trustees when planning their appropriations.

He does not believe the village should make so many reports to the township, which has been done monthly since th. service began.

David Howard asked Mayor Eric J. Akers what progress attained in straightening out the village financial records.

The mayor said progress is being made and that he would meet Sunday morning with Peter Roache, Willard accountant, who has been hired to do the work so that the books are ready for a state audit.

Akers said that part of the problem in the fire fund was that the Huron county auditor has been "lumping" the one mill levy for operation and maintenance with the three mills which is to be set aside for a new pumper.

Akers said he feels the council members should review past expenditures to determine if bills were paid out of their proper funds in the past.

David Howard spoke up and said he felt that is the duty of the administrator, and that he should present it to the council so legislative decisions could be made.

Ickeses buy Farnwalt house

'62 grad succumbs at 35

He was born Sept. 4, 1944, in Willard, and has been living in Medina for a number of years.

He was a self-employed accountant.

He was a member of the Medina Assembly of God church.

His wife, the former Connie Dague; two daughters, Wendy and Charity; a son, Chad; his mother, Mrs. Donald P. Markley, and a sister, Mrs. Ishmel Hale, both of Plymouth, survive.

Funeral services were conducted from his church Saturday afternoon and burial was in Spring Grove cemetery there.

Shilohan indicted in theft

A 19-year-old Shilohan was indicted by a Huron county grand jury Apr. 23 on a charge of breaking and entering.

He is Wayne Barnett, Malone road, accused together with William Barnett, 25, Crescent road, Greenwich, and Roy Shepherd, 20, Mansfield, of unlawfully entering a home in Fayette road on Apr. 14.

Atkins sent to county jail

Timothy A. Atkins, Shiloh, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $250 plus court costs in mayor's court Thursday.

All but 30 days of the sentence was suspended.

He pleaded guilty to charges of reckless operation, failure to negotiate a curve and driving under a suspended license.

No fine was assessed on either of the first two charges.

Arrangements have been made for Atkins to serve his time on weekends. The village must pay $18 a day to maintain him in jail.

His car went out of control at a high rate of speed Apr. 20 and it hit a tree and the water hydrant at Plymouth and West High streets, causing a loss of 100,000 gallons of water to the village.

PVN Corp. wins race to build Shelby station

An agreement removing the last obstacle to the construction of a radio station in Shelby was filed with the Federal Communications commission Apr. 21, Edward A. Hunter, president of one of the applicants has announced.

The agreement, between Harry Wilber, Oberlin, and The Petroleum V. Nasby Corp., provides that Wilber will withdraw his application for the station in exchange for reimbursement of his expenses in filing the proposal. Under FCC rules, the FCC must approve the agreement. Hunter said the company's attorney believes approval will be given within 30 days.

Wilber filed a permit to build an FM station in Shelby in February, 1978. PVN, a corporation owned by Shelby, Willard and Plymouth residents submitted a competing application in January, 1979. By law, the FCC could grant only one of two proposals.

Hunter said, "Mr. Wilber is a fine broadcaster and would have been a formidable opponent in a hearing. We are grateful that he agreed not to oppose our bid to build a locally-owned and operated station to serve the area."

Wilber owns and operates WOBL (AM), Oberlin. His Shelby FM proposal would have been his second station.

PVN proposes to build a transmitter and tower in Route 61, midway between Plymouth and Shelby, a location which takes advantage of high terrain. The station's main studio will be located in Shelby. Hunter said the company's consulting engineer estimates the station will reach over 70,000 people in a 700 square-mile area.

Hunter said the station could be on the air by the end of the year. Call letters for the station have not yet been selected.

PJVS teachers win new contract with 8% raise

A settlement said by some to result in the highest base pay among all joint vocational districts in Ohio was reached last week between the board of education of Pioneer Joint Vocational school and the Education Association of Pioneer.

The settlement, retroactive to Jan. 1, was approved by the board Apr. 22.

It calls for a raise in the base salary of slightly over eight per cent, from $10,460 to $11,300. Teachers also will receive improvements in insurance coverage, including a better dental package and increased life insurance.

The contract is for two years. For the second year, beginning in September, starting salary for Pioneer teachers will be $12,000, or 6.19 per cent over the current figure.

In another action, the board approved settlement of a contract with non-certificated employees, who will get the same percentage of increase in salary and the same fringe benefits accorded to certificat .3 sta

Girls ousted by Bucks, 13 to 7

Despite a splendid season, Plymouth girls simply can't match up to Buckeye Central. And their coach, Richard Roll, is under a bigger hex: in two seasons, four games, he can't manage to defeat the Bucks.

He and his Charges couldn't do so Saturday in the sectional tourney at Upper Sandusky. Buckeye Central won, 13 to 7, relying on an 11-run outburst in the third on just one hit. Plymouth rallied for five in the fourth but it was too little, too late. Plymouth outhit the Bucks, six to two.

Andy Machak tells Bill Cosby: "A CPR-trained guard brought me back from the dead."

Andy Machak: "Luckily, a guy with Red Cross CPR training works where I do. A security guard. Don Guarino. He saved my life, no foolin'!

I'd checked tin-plating lines a hundred times before, but that day was different. A boom came around from behind and pinned me to a T-bar. . . lifted me right off my feet."

Bill Cosby: "That's a big ouch."

Three days later – in the hospital – Don told me it took six guys to get me down; somebody said no pulse or breathing, and Don remembers saying, 'I gotta try anyway.'"

Bill Cosby: "Sounds like you had them worried!"

Andy Machak: "Well, I was clinically dead. Can't believe it myself, Bill. But thanks to Don's CPR training, I'm alive. . . thanks to Red Cross. I'm alive."

Bill Cosby: "CPR training can make the difference between life and death. Take it from Andy Machak. Help keep Red Cross ready."

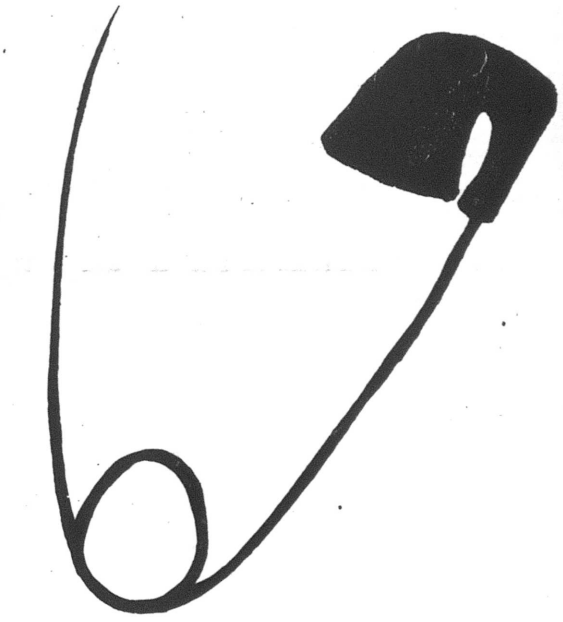

It takes much, much hands to perform CPR.

If you want to find inner peace, come see me. But ask me how to fix a car? You got me. For questions of that nature, you must seek knowledge somewhere else.

A good place would be the Consumer Information Catalog. It is put out by the Federal Government and lists over 200 consumer booklets that one can send away for. Most are free. And they can help you in many areas that I cannot. From raising tomatoes to lowering your fuel costs.

So send for the free catalog. Write: Consumer Information Center, Dept. A, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. That way you won't have to climb a mountain to gain knowledge. You can merely go to your mailbox.

Moose license decision pending

A decision will be handed down in two weeks, a hearing officer of the state liquor control board said at Norwalk Friday, as to whether Willard-Firelands Lodge, 2153, LOMoose, will get a permit for a club license in the property in Sandusky street leased from R. Harold Mack.

Opponents of the application were heard at Norwalk Friday by Richard E. Dillon.

These included the Village of Plymouth, whose solicitor, Richard E. Wolfe, Ashland, said, "It is the position of the village that it is not advisable that the liquor permit be issued."

He said there is concern about the health and safety of neighbors and of lodge members, who would have to drive home after a night of drinking. Earlier, a spokesman for the lodge, Jack Courter, said there are 15 to 20 residents of Plymouth among the present membership of about 150.

Proponents of the issuance, including lodge member Anthony Marrone, argued that the lodge is being blamed for conduct by customers of Michael Ward, who operated as Michael's Place.

Courter said the members have been discreet. He acknowledged there have been two nights when bands played in the hall, but insisted the music was muted.

Opponents who spoke included Wes Gardner, a partner in Plymouth Village Apartments, who said he would expand the development but for the fear that a continuing bar on the site. He said he has had considerable trouble with beer cans and other such impediments thrown on his property, which adjoins. He asserted the room is too small for more than 35 or 40 persons and parking lot is too small.

His resident manager, Wilma Dean, said a live band on Nov. 24 last was so noisy some foundations actually vibrated.

She argued that many residents of the apartment complex are elderly and unable to sustain confusion and noise. Whenever there is a vacancy, she added, prospective tenants inquire whether the lodge will obtain a liquor license and hesitate about occupying an apartment.

Charles Vanasdale, a former councilman, and his wife, both of them cardiac patients, said there is excessive littering, although he acknowledged there is no longer the problem of vomiting and urinating on his patio. He insisted, however, that sleep is all but impossible near the patio.

Courter said many of the empty beer cans he finds near the building "are not even brands that our members drink, and as of right now, they carry in every can or bottle that's consumed, no beer trucks come to the place." He implied that some of the litter is left by persons illicitly drinking in cars who turn around in the parking lot.

Receivership?

Angry confrontation result of mayor's action without prior consultation with council

The honeymoon is over.

The first big spat of the marriage occurred Thursday night, during a special meeting of village council called expressly to obtain an explanation from the bridegroom as to why he did what he did.

And the bridegroom reacted angrily.

Mayor Eric J. Akers, acting on his own initiative with what he said was his authority under House Bill 132, wrote the Ohio auditor on Apr. 25 asking that Plymouth be put into receivership. What the request amounts to is that the auditor will conduct a survey of the village's financial situation and if he deems it to be severe enough to warrant appointment of a special commission to oversee village finances, the governor would do so.

Akers then sent a letter to each councilman saying what he had done.

At least one councilman, Michael R. Taylor, claims he never received such a letter.

To a man — the council doesn't have a woman anymore, because Mrs. Allan Raymond has resigned, although her resignation hasn't yet been accepted — the council was reluctant to approve the mayor's actions. Each of them told The Advertiser he disapproves of the mayor's having acted as he did without consulting the council.

So when Councilman G. Thomas Moore, one of the three members (the others are Taylor and Ervin Howard) who issued the call for a special meeting, asked why the mayor acted in such a precipitous fashion, Akers bluntly said he acted under the provisions of the law.

And when Taylor said he'd received no letter of notification, the mayor's fuse ignited.

He said he was unhappy with the actions, or lack of actions, by the council and was sorely disappointed that the council had not done its job.

Moore said the council couldn't do any job at all until the books are brought up to date and that invoking of HB 132 action would be dependent on bringing the financial records into line.

Akers said that, in spite of the financial problems, the council "simply is not delving into water, electric, sewer, street and other matters that need long range planning". For four months, he said, he has asked for reports by committees, only to meet with negative replies or silence. This, he said, is proof the council isn't doing its job.

Taylor exclaimed loudly that it is the duty of the administration to present budgets and figures. Akers was white hot by this time. He seized a copy of the Revised Code and banged it down on the desk. Pencils flew. He asserted the Code specifically states it is the responsiblity of the council to run the municipality and that the mayor merely presides at the meeting.

Taylor then objected strongly to the application for help under HB 132, saying that if it is approved, local control will be lost to a group appointed by other than the citizenry.

Councilman David A. Howard, his brother and Councilman Dean C. Cline said nothing during the exchange among Moore, Taylor and the mayor.

Akers added that after he had waited for the council to show some initiative, with none forthcoming, he saw no alternative but to seek state help.

Russell Rousch, an assistant state auditor, has been assigned to conduct a survey of village finances and to make a recommendation to the auditor as to whether the village can qualify under HB 132.

A survey by The Advertiser shows the councilmen differ as to when they recognized the fiscal plight of the village.

David Howard said he became aware of it during August, even though the clerk's monthly reports and repeated statements by the mayor urging that something be done had been laid before him long before that.

Ervin Howard said he didn't realize the problem until Thursday night.

After the fury died down on Thursday, the payroll for Friday in the amount of $4,795.33 plus $475.98 for the solicitor was approved.

The clerk, Mrs. Bobbie McGee, would only certify that the park, cemetery and income tax funds would be able to contribute their share of the payroll.

The council decreed that the Blue Cross bill of $562.22 will be paid from the income tax fund and the remainder of the payroll will be effected by transfer from revenue sharing funds.

As of Apr. 30, the village has invested $100,000 in a note with First Buckeye Bank, N. A.

The electric fund has received revenues of $130,388.96, of which $82,546.82 is due to Ohio Power Co. for a three month bill and $28,028.13 for other expenses.

This then leaves a little less than $20,000 to apply to the electric fund deficit of $85,000.

The water fund has collected $20,821.34 this year. Its expenditures amount to $9,166.03.

The sewer fund has collected $35,343.45. A sum of $14,972.57 has been spent so far. The total deficit of the fund is $59,297.36, of whch $56,282.53 is owed to Farmers Home administration for payment on the sewer system note.

Street fund receipts amount to $5,534.09. Expenditures are $651.46 and debts $3,456.54.

The good news... and the bad!

Telephone problems can be universal.

So Mrs. Donald H. Levereing found out Sunday afternon.

She and her husband were playing cards with their neighbors, the Robert A. Lewises, when her telephone rang.

She answered it by saying, "Hello", and she realized the person on the other end seemed shocked.

Realizing that the other voice had a definite English accent, she asked whom she was calling. The answer, "British Rails in Yorkshire (England)".

Mrs. Levering explained that she had ended up calling Plymouth, Ohio, which seemed to please the lady in England, who said she had never talked to anyone in the United States.

Hopefully the British telephone system is adjusting the mistaken trans-Atlantic call and has untwisted its wires.

What was to have been a pleasant family visit ended badly for Mrs. Joseph McClure, Guilderland, N. Y., the former Madeleine H. Smith, sister of Benjamin Smith.

She and her husband were unloading luggage from their car Thursday at the L&K Motel, Willard, when she fell and fractured a hip.

She was taken to Willard Area hospital, then transferred to Mansfield General hospital, where she underwent surgery this week.

Living on wrong side of tracks is sometimes not so easy!

By AUNT LIZ

It just may be that part of our happy country is having a slight downturn in business and some people are fondly calling it a "recession", which is a good degree than saying "depression".

I guess it kind of depends where you live. If the best paper in New York, N. Y., can devote its weekly food column on how to cook beef filet, things cannot be too bad there. At least their readers can afford to buy it and most likely can find it. Here, it is like a treasure chase, but worth it if you win.

Then just jet to the other side of the continent and see what is going on there.

Weeks ago a friend told me a story of a couple of relatives of his friends who moved to California and bought a rather ordinary house, three bedrooms with a nice yard on a street of similar houses. It sounded like a nice average middle class area in a large city. But that section is called Beverly Hills. They moved out there about 1954-56, somewhere then, and paid about $25,000 for a nice little house. Today they can sell it for close to a half million.

I have no doubt this little tale is true and there has got to be something really wrong. Then I read about a new condominium which is being built just west of Beverly Hills.

It will be 21 stories high with 67 units, which will include a couple of penthouses.

The whole thing sounds like a fantasy. The cost is going to be at current estimates $700 a square foot. I can remember when school boards were contemplating building additions at something like $13 a square foot, which was then considered out of this world.

Thy guys who are constructing this $90 million job are not doing too badly. Even though the ground has not been broken, they already have 24 reservations from people who have plunked down their deposits.

You can reserve a nice two bedroom job for $750,000 which is the very cheapest. I would not recommend it to anyone because your neighbors would simply sneer at you while they are lounging around their seven bedrooms and eight and a half bathrooms.

That is the penthouse plan, which in its own way is a real bargain. Those who indulge in them will get something for free, which is a real come-on and really tempting: a Rolls Royce with personlized plates.

We in Ohio are very definitely living on the wrong side of the railroad track. For a few dollars we can keep the license plates that we have memorized over the years. We are among the dumb ones who fell for that extra fee just because we have had the same plates for something like 23 years. There is a good reason for this. Years ago I went to a concert in Lorain with the Presbyterian minister and his wife. When we started home, the road was pure ice and some clown three cars ahead stopped with no warning. Two of us were able to stop but not the poor guy behind me. He plowed right into the back end, and thank heavens every one was creeping or there would have been one less minister in Ohio. I felt I should report it to the police after the other driver and I had exchanged our names. The poor guy could not help it. We got to Elyria and I found the police station and the first thing they asked was, "What is your license plate number?" Never have I been so embarrassed. I had to excuse myself and go out and look.

While I am trying to figure out how we can snag that free car and somehow you may have snagged some of the NYC beef filet, try a nice little white sauce on it. Just follow any recipe for the stuff, but then add a darn good dash of brandy before serving it. This same little job can perk up a nicely cooked piece of a more economical cut of meat too. There are many ways to skin the cat if you just try.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Two teachers quit posts

Two teachers resigned Monday night.

Kathy Bell, kindergarten teacher at Shiloh, will leave Ohio.

Each resignation was accepted.

By three to two vote, the board of education rejected a request by Cheryl Warner to complete a required course in problems of democracy during the summer to avoid having to attend classes next year. She would graduate normally in 1981. Miss Warner said in her application she will be compelled to quit school if her request were denied.

Larry O. Vredenburgh and A. George Miller supported the request, Mrs. Roger Pugh, Don M. Echelbarger and the Rev. Arthur H. Hamman rejected it.

Twenty applicants have said they want the head coaching job in boys' basketball. None is presently on the staff. Supt. Douglas Staggs said "from a third to a half of the applicants are presently head coaches". Screening of the candidates will eliminate 15 of them; the final five will be interviewed by the athletic committee — Vredenburgh and Miller — and the superintendent, the high school principal, James Craycraft, and the athletic director, Sam Cook.

Michael McFarren, Dalton, former teacher and head football coach here, will address the Class of 1980 on June 1. So will Karen Russell, a member of the class.

A request by the parents of Andrew Niedermeier to release him to attend St. Bernard's school at New Washington through the eighth grade was approved.

High school girls were authorized to participate in a summer basketball league involving 10 schools. About 10 local girls have shown interest in participating. State rules require that no more than two girls from a single school may play on a given team.

Keith Diebler was authorized to organize a summer boys' and girls' basketball camp. Boys' camp will be from June 9 through 23, girls' from July 14 through 28.

A contract with Willard Taxi Co. to transport three handicapped pupils to classes in Mansfield was renewed for one year at an increase of $1 a pupil a day.

Signs are that Wednesdays will be reserved for pupils wishing to participate in church activities during the 1980-81 school year.

"New Dimensions in Music" is the title of a new textbook approved for use in grades kindergarten through seven.

Francis Snyder and Bettie Sheller were approved as sustitute bus drivers for the remainder of the year.

Pupils of vocational agriculture were authorized to purchase a used combine, probably for $7,500. The board must appropriate $1,300 to match a federal grant and other funds available from outside the district. Earnings in the farm fund will pay the remainder of the bill.

A total of 108 candidates for the diploma was approved, subject to satisfactory completion of requirements.

Kenneth Bailey was hired as custodian of the high school for May and June and Jody Kissinger as cleaner in Plymouth Elementary school until the end of the term.

Mrs. Eric J. Akers was accorded maternity leave without pay for one year. She is an elementary teacher at Shiloh.

First in Ohio!

First in Ohio in meat judging is Jeffrey Ousley, who won the title in the Future Farmers of America judging contest at Ohio State university, Columbus, Apr. 12.

He was a member of the meat judging team of Pioneer Joint Vocational school, also comprising Cindy Harman, Crestview, and Philip Walters, Colonel Crawford, that placed second among 125 competitors.

Woman guilty, fined $75

A Bucyrus woman was convicted of possession of an open liquor container in her vehicle in mayor's court Thursday night.

Kathleen Jo Riley, 932 Reid street, was fined $75 and costs.

Jimmy Keene, 200 Plymouth street, was convicted of reckless operation on private property and fined $100 and costs.

Manuel Diaz, Willard, was convicted of drunken driving and possession of open container in his vehicle. On the first count he was sentenced to three days in jail and to pay a fine of $200 and costs. On the second count he was fined $75 and costs, but $50 of the fine was suspended.

David Webb, Circleville, paid $10 and costs on a charge of failing to halt at a stop sign.

Billy J. Owens, Shiloh route 2, convicted of speeding, was fined $25 and costs.

Daniel G. Laera, Willard, convicted of possession of an open container in his vehicle, was fined $75 and costs.

Rabies shots Sunday

Immunization of companion animals against rabies will be conducted Sunday in Shelby Fire station from 1 to 4 p.m.

A fee of $4 will be exacted for each animal immunized.

No animals under six months old will be inoculated. Dogs over a year old will be immunized for three years. Dogs six months to a year old will be immunized for one year. Cats will be immunized for one year.

All dogs must be leashed and under an adult's control.

Cats must be in a carrying case. If they are in wide mesh bags, they may be immunized without removal from the bag.

$22,557 collected by tax

The report of Mrs. G. Thomas Moore, income tax director, shows that withholding by employers in the village produced $18,179.88.

Businesses paid $1,072.27 for the first quarte of the year and individuals paid $3,305.

Because fiscal years differ in some cases, the figures do not reflect all employers nor businesses in the village, which will pay their share in ensuing months.

Memorial day exercises set

Annual Memorial day observance will take place May 26.

Members of Ehret-Parsel Post 447 and its auxiliary will attend service en bloc in First United Presbyterian church on May 25.

Parade to Greenlawn cemetery will form in the Public Square at 10:30 a.m.

He is Nelson V. Lonz, Monroeville, who served in the Navy in the USS Kidd during World War II.

A life member of the Sch-Loe-Man Post 547, Monroeville, he has served as its commander, service officer and adjutant, in which office he has been continuously for 18 years.

He was Huron county commander for a year and division commander for two years. He was district commander in 1961-62. He served seven years on the 5th district executive committee.

Since it was established in 1973, he has been secretary of the Past Commanders' club of the 5th district. He is now adjutant of the Huron county council, a member of the 5th district resolutions committee and chairman of the 5th district Man-of-the-Year selection committee.

A retired member of the state highway patrol auxiliary, he was its adjutant for many years.

Married and the father of three children, he has been representative of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic parish, Monroeville, to the Toledo Diocesan Assembly.

He is a member and secretary of the Norwalk Area Officials association for baseball and softball umpires and earlier was secretary for football and basketball officials' associations.

He is chairman of the Firelands Kinologists in the Firelands Historical society.

Lonz is engaged as a rural mail carrier in Monroeville.

The last World War I veteran in the membership of Ehret-Parsel Post will lead the salute to the flag. He is Procter Fox, Greenwich.

A life member of the post, Salvatore J. Glorioso, now serving as its chaplain, will deliver the invocation and benediction.

John E. Hedeen, another member of the post, will read the order of General John A. Logan, GAR, establishing Memorial day in 1868.

A veteran of the Vietnam engagement, James A. Enderby, will read Lincoln's famous address at Gettysburg.

Wreaths will be laid at the cenotaph in respect to the dead of nine wars. For the first time, perhaps the first time anywhere on Memorial day, a wreath will be laid in respect to the eight service personnel who died in the abortive attempt to free the American hostages in Iran. A wreath will be laid in memory of firefighters here who have died in the course of duty.

Plymouth High school band will lead the parade. Two trumpeters will sound Taps in the cemetery immediately after the execution of the volley to the dead.

NELSON V. LONZ

Car hits train, driver held

A 36-year-old Shilohan was summoned for failure to yield the right-of-way May 6 when his car was struck by a freight train at the crossing in Base Line road east of here.

Andy Hamilton was westbound. The train was southbound.

It's Monday for Chamber from now on

Beginning Monday Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce will conduct its monthly meetings on the third Monday of each month instead of the second Thursday.

The change has been made because of the conflict of council meetings, which have been changed from the first and third Tuesdays of each month to the second and fourth Thursdays.

The chamber will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Charles Rhine armory, Sandusky street.

Monday's speaker will be Richard Adair, research analyst for the Richland County Growth Corp.

His topic will be the development of an industrial park.

A dinner meeting at the Hi Ho, Willard, is planned for May 29 at 7 p.m.

Mayor Eric J. Akers and council members will be present to discuss the options of the village's financial problems.

Reservations may be made to Dr. James Holloway by May 24.

A. Stober dies at 85 in hospital

Arthur G. Stober, 85, Sillimman road, Plymouth route 1, died May 7 in Willard Area hospital of a lengthy illness.

He was a retired farmer, born in Lafayette. He had lived near here since 1936.

He was a member of the Lutheran church and of Hazel Brush Grange. He served on the old Shiloh Board of Education.

He is survived by two sons, Doyt, Crestline, and Clark, Schwenksville, Pa.; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Dawson, Plymouth route 1; two sisters, Mrs. Chloe Ream, Ada, and Mrs. Hazel Klingler, Lima; eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

His wife, Mila, died in 1971. A son, Carl, and a daughter, Joanne, also died earlier.

The Rev. Carl Crouch, Christian Alliance church, Willard, conducted services Saturday at 11 a.m. from McQuate-Secor Funeral home. Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery, Ada, where services were conducted Monday at 11 a.m.

A gag by mayor?

Some employees object to order to cease talking about village business

An informal order by Eric J. Akers to all village employees issued Friday has touched off some objection among some of them.

They label it a gag order. Akers forbade any employee of the village from discussing village business with other than village staff, on pain of dismissal.

Three of them have engaged a lawyer, Thomas L. Root, Washington, D. C., to represent them. They allege the order violates their First Amendment rights. It is understood that after conversations between Root and Akers Monday, action to enter federal district court at Cleveland yesterday with a request for a temporary restraining order has been suspended "for about 30 days" to give Akers time to soften the language and clarify his intent.

What touched it off?

Akers is close-mouthed about it and won't surrender a copy of the informal order to The Advertiser. He says "it's been blown up out of all proportion". What he apparently wants is to prevent village employees from engaging in "idle gossip and speculation" about matters that are or may be the subject of court action.

The inference here is that Akers has heard stories that some village personnel have been discussing the merits of the case of Mrs. Dorothy Didion Miles against the village, seeking heavy damages on grounds of negligence in the death of her first husband, a fireman, Dec. 19, 1976.

Who are Root's clients? He says he can't disclose their names because to do so would destroy the confidentiality of the lawyer-client relationship. He acknowledged one of them is a "volunteer" and one of them is a CETA employee.

Roscoe named new auditor at Norwalk

C. B. Roscoe, Huron county's planning director, has been named by the GOP as interim successor to Kenneth W. Reed, auditor who resigned Thursday.

The 57-year-old Roscoe and his wife live in Norwalk.

He is on leave from the planning board.

Speeding car flips, two hurt

Two Plymouth residents were injured Friday at 6:30 p.m. at Richards and Ply-Springmill roads.

Ricardo Gomez, 29, who lives at Mills and Plymouth streets, was charged with speeding after his car went off the road and overturned while seeking to overtake another driven by Clifton H. (Tony) Lewis, 36, Plymouth route 1.

Gomez and his young brother, Marco, 14, were taken to Willard Area hospital and released.

Five persons were injured, including two Shilohans, at Route 603 and Bowman Street road Friday at 3:25 p.m.

Donald R. Deskins, 24, Shiloh, and his passenger, John Brooks, 36, Shiloh, were treated at Mansfield General hospital and released. Deskins was the driver of the cycle that collided with that driven by Julie B. Eyerly, 29, Mansfield, who with her child, Kate E., 11, was treated and released. A passenger, Ann C. Hoffman, 60, Mansfield was admitted in fair condition.

Blood call at Willard Tuesday

ARC Bloodmobile will call at Willard Junior High school Tuesday from noon until 6 p.m., seeking 150 pints of whole blood.

Persons 18 to 65 may donate. Persons over 17 but under 18 must present a consent slip issued by the Red Cros and signed by a parent or guardian to qualify. Persons 66 or older must present a consent slip signed by their physician.

How to meet May 16 payroll?

Red ink total $103,760, CPA tells council

Final report of Peter Roache given to village council Tuesday night shows fund deficits of $103,760.51 versus the $160,000 he quoted last week.

The electric fund has bounced back to a balance of $54,922.11 with collections for the first four months of this year, which wipes out the deficit, but the fund owes Ohio Power Co. a total of $98,162.37.

The general fund has recouped a bit, but still is in a deficit of some $37,599.26.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said this is big village problem.

The police payroll has been drastically cut from $4,673.68 in January to $3,335.70 in February, from $3,315.96 to $2,261.80 in April.

The current payroll due is $1,671.40, which is the lowest since the first March payroll, which was $1,519.24.

The council did not see its way clear to authorize the next payroll, which amounts to $5,108.33. This necessitated adjourning the meeting until yesterday at 8 a.m., when arrangement would be under way to ask for a tax advance from the Richland county auditor with the hope his office will be open at that hour.

The clerk-treasurer, who has not been paying current bills, has been putting receipts into short time deposits and at this point the village has earned about $1,400 in interest.

The clerk, Mrs. Bobbie McGee, when asked by Councilman David A. Howard, stated she thinks after the next collection in the water fund, that fund will be in the black and the street fund should also show a balance because of the sale of license plates. As of now the street fund is $618.21 in the red.

May 9 payroll met from revenue sharing

Federal revenue sharing funds will be used to meet Friday's payroll, village council ruled Thursday.

Clerk-Treasurer Bobbie McGee certified to the mayor and council that the park, income tax and cemetery funds were the only ones without a deficit, and she would not touch any of the others until the deficit balances have been resolved.

Peter Roache, certified public accountant hired by the village, told the council that he has brought the village books showing balances and deficits through Dec. 31, 1979, but that he did not make any adjustments from fund to fund. He said in a written statement that he did the work from figures furnished him by the clerk, the mayor and several other village employees.

Roche said he tought the total deficit amounts to $160,000 as of the end of last year.

He also pointed out that he found inadequate record keeping and could not find evidence that federal and state withholding taxes had been forwarded.

The mayor appointed Councilman G. Thomas Moore to head the finance committee, replacing Councilman Mrs. Allan Raymond, who has resigned, although her resignation has not been formally accepted by the council.

The mayor then appointed Councilman Dean A. Cline to the committee.

Today examiners are expected to look at the village books to determine if the village has a true fiscal emergency as House Bill 138 calls for.

Village Administrator James C. Root again had sad news to tell about the water problem.

He is to call George Mayhew, a hydrogeologist, to survey the wells, which Root said are simply not producing.

He said the surrounding farm land at the water plant were tiled last fall, and perhaps this could be the cause of the wells not producing as in the past.

Root and the mayor met with Paul Capelle, Willard's city manager, and they said that most likely some agreement can be worked out with Willard in the future, which is what the EPA suggested several years ago, that Plymouth pipe water from the Willard treatment plant.

Capelle told them in an emergency water could be furnished by tankers.

The North street bridge is to be repaired for a sum of $5,000 from the permissive tax money that the village has on deposit in Huron county. The solicitor, Richard Wolfe, was asked to prepare a resolution to be forwarded to the county commissioners and engineer.

It was also agreed that Dix street be designated one way west from Sandusky street to the alley.

At the request of school authorities, the roadway into Mary Fate park is to be closed during the lunch hour to prevent unnecessary driving which has disrupted the school's routine.

Banner's banner flagging

A 73 per cent decrease in net income in the third quarter that ended Mar. 31 has been reported by Banner Industries, Inc., parent firm of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

A great decline in motor freight tonnage is said to have been the cause of this.

Although revenues for the first nine months of the fiscal year increased by 12 per cent, the company's profit was less than half that of a year earlier.

Banner's two other principal groups, one supplying aircraft replacement parts and the other fabricating industrial products, including locomotives and lift trucks, showed increased earnings of 43 per cent.

Earnings per share for the quarter were nine cents, compared to 31 cents a year ago.

This derived from revenues of $53,158,016, up about $4 million from 1979.

For the nine month period, revenues were $153,432,565, compared to $137,047,559 in 1979. But net income was down to $1,755,568, which compares with $3,937,911 a year ago. Earnings per share were thus 44 cents, compared to 98 cents in 1979.

USPM urges box repair on rural route

"It's time to do something for your winter-weary friend, the mailbox," says Postmaster Ruth Pittenger, "and the perfect time to do it is during Mailbox Improvement week, May 19-24."

Residents are urged to examine their mailboxes to determine whether they have been damaged during the winter by weather or vandalism — particularly those located along rural routes.

"Some boxes may only need painting," says Postmaster Pittenger. "Others may need to be replaced. Mailbox Improvement week is a good time to decide the best way to improve your mailbox. A damaged or improperly placed box will make it difficult for rural carriers to leave that spcial letter or package."

The Postal Service does not restrict customers to a specific type of mailbox, but does say that all boxes — whether standard or custom-made — must meet certain specifications for size, strength and location. A variety of approved commercial mailbox designs is available for use with decorative posts. "Customers should check with the post office for specifications," the postmaster said.

"I would remind people that the mailbox regulations have been written with safety and efficiency in mind," said Postmaster Pittenger. "One should not use massive farm equipment or heavy objects like plows and milk cans filled with cement to hold up mailboxes. Supports of this type are potential accident hazards. They can damage vehicles and cause serious injury to people who accidently strike them.

"Remember, your mailbox is just like your front door, make it attractive, neat and appealing to your friends."

Red splits four games in week

On May 5, they defeated Lucas. And on May 7, they downed St. Peter's.

But thereafter, it was a disaster.

They played Western Reserve here Thursday and were humiliated, 16 to 1, the Roughriders combing Steve Mowry and Steve Tackett for 13 hits. The winners got three in the first, one in the fourth and broke it open in the fifth with four big ones. By this time the game was safely in the bag, but Western Reserve saved its best for last, scoring six in the seventh. Plymouth collected just six hits, two each by Randy Collins and Bill Hudson.

On Friday Plymouth went to Northmor and took another shellacking. This time is was 8 to 3. A home run with two on and one run home in the first inning by Winand, the Northmor shortstop, was more than enough.

Northmor got nine safeties off Tackett and Collins.

Plymouth managed just six hits and got its three runs in the third.

The American Electric Power System.

It's one reason your electric rates are below the national average.

When you turn on a light switch, or an appliance, or a television, chances are you don't care where the electricity comes from. But we do.

You see, at different times of the day, the cost of making electricity can vary from plant to plant. And, because we're part of the AEP System, we're able to use the best combination of generation and transmission efficiency to instantly get the most economical power to you from anywhere in the system.

April's worst month for paying taxes!

By AUNT LIZ

After much thought, I have come to the conclusion that the months of January and April should simply be wiped off every calendar.

Those are the months that little people like us get hit with tax forms. January was the better with only six that needed filling out and mailed with checks.

April was the real winner with eight.

You name it, we pay it, even though we have never had claims on some of them.

We have never had an unemployment claim, but we must send in our share, which I sincerely hope a bunch of people are enjoying.

Workmen's comp is the same deal, and I am very aware of what real cheating has gone on there.

Say I am bitter. Not really, just not so well dressed as I have been in the past.

Years ago, when I was a speck younger and slimmer, a nice friend said, "You are about the best-dressed person around here." I really wasn't, it was that clothes simply fit better because there were not too many bulges.

When we first came to Ohio, I had Somali leopard coat, which every gal who had lived in East Africa had, including Queen Elizabeth and Jackie O., who got theirs as gifts from a friendly emperor. That first winter I wore mine for pure warmth. After a couple of weeks, it ended. People not only stared, but they asked what in the heck it was. I gathered they simply had never visited a zoo.

Leopard coats are out of style now since the leopard is considered an endagered species. Hopefully he will start pairing up again because we still have a hat, a muff, a neckpiece and an umbrella cover that were the leftover pieces of the eight skins it took to make the coat. The back of the coat, which was one whole skin, has become a very nice-looking wall hanging, so none of it has been wasted.

Now that May has come and I am well aware I will never make a best dressed list, which really kind, of hurts my pride, I might as well pitch in on a bunch of new salad recipes. A nice friend gave me a booklet of really tested ones that a bunch of young housewives did for a style show.

You can buy all sorts of fancy, well-illustrated cookbooks, but the best ones are those that have been mimeographed locally and have proven themselves, since no one is going to have a name pasted on one that does not work and is not liked.

This is a dream and very healthful. It is labelled Salade d' Epinards. Otherwise known as a gooped-up spinach salad.

Wash and clean a package of spinach, dry it and put it back in the refrigerator. Then mix a tablespoon of salt, a half teaspoon of pepper, two teaspoons of Dimon mustard, two tablespoons of red wine vinegar, a half cup of olive oil and a fourth of a teaspoon of lemon juice.

Beat it until it thickens a little. Pour over the spinach and stir in thin slices of radishes and red onions. You have to guess at this.

An added touch is slices of hard boiled eggs on the top, which can be sprinkled with paprika, which sort of pretties it all up.

Cold war.

It was bad enough we had to fight the British for our freedom. But on top of that, we had to fight the weather, too.

Because winter at Valley Forge meant snow, ice and freezing temperatures. All serious enemies to a makeshift army without proper clothing, not nearly enough food, and short on ammunition.

It was an army long on courage, but short on money.

And then the money came. Some $27,000,000 from the pockets of new Americans.

That's how people took stock in America back then and you know how the story turned out.

Nowadays, people are still helping America stay strong and self-sufficient. And they're helping themselves to safe, dependable savings. By taking stock in America with the Payroll Savings Plan. Buy United States Savings Bonds.

They won't leave you out in the cold.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced at no cost as provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Fight for funds 'stiff', Chamber told

Richard Adair, research analyst, Richland County Growth Corp., told Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce Monday that competition for federal funding of community development is stiff.

How to develop an industrial park for Plymouth was discussed. Next step, he said, is to obtain estimates of cost of purchase and development of a parcel of land and then to seek the funding, whether from public or private sources.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Vote NO on June 3

Ohioans will go to the polls June 3 to make some important decisions, not the least of which is whether the Constitution should be amended by one or more proposals.

There hasn't been much rhetoric respecting them, more's the pity, and this is really a poor time to be dealing with them for the first time.

After careful thought, we're strongly against three of them and neither strongly for nor against the fourth.

Dealing with them in order, we're against Issue No. 1, which if passed would allow non-profit corporations, through legislative action, to become political subdivisions of the state to generate electric power, which may be sold only at wholesale to municipalities. Its proponents in official ballot language argue strongly, but not convincingly, that it will save $1 billion in electric rates for the citizens of the state during the next 25 years. What hogwash! We'll vote against it because we want to see some safeguards against foolish action by elected or appointed officials of the people who, history has shown, are more often than not stampeded into silly conduct by the emotion of it. We learned a long time ago this truism: anything that government claims it can do well, private industry can do better, faster and cheaper, all things considered. Vote NO on issue 1.

The housing industry, in such desperate straits because of inflating costs and higher interest rates, is solidly behind Issue 2, which would allow the state, counties, cities and villages to borrow money and issue bonds or other obligations to finance construction and/or improvement of homes of persons of low and moderate incomes. It doesn't say what a low or moderate income is. Rather, it leaves to the legislature to decide those figures. We wouldn't like that decision to be made on a political basis. And we doubt that what's claimed for the measure will in fact transpire if it's passed. But, as we said above, we're neither strongly for nor strongly against it.

Issue 3 relates to the issuance of state-backed bonds to fund construction of new highways and the restoration of bridges, highways, roads, streets and highway rest areas, the elimination of grade crossings and for related acquisition and improvement of real estate.

The catch to it is that it presupposes that gas tax revenues will remain constant over the next 10 years, and that interest rates on bonds issued by Ohio will remain stable or even decrease. Both suppositions are fallacies. Vote NO on Issue 3.

Issue 4 is a paradox. It relates only to those who are governed by specific contracts with the state, called charters, at the municipal and county level. What it says is that if the amendment is passed, the responsible authority may notify each household rather than each elector of the amendments or charges proposed in such contract or charter.

Everyone in Ohio ought to have an interest in good government. Those of us who don't look to a municipal or county charter ought to help those who do to protect their rights. The new proposal is fraught with so many possibilities for mistake that it beggars description. Vote NO on Issue 4.

'70 alumnus head coach of Trojans

A 1970 alumnus of Plymouth High school is the new head basketball coach at South Central High school.

He is Jacque Daup, a basketball, baseball, cross country and track and field athlete when he was at Plymouth. Later he won his lean outfielder for Spring Arbor college, Spring Arbor, Mich.

He has been assistant basketball and baseball coach since 1974.

Their father, Harold E., now superintendent of the Richland county school system, was himself a highly successful basketball coach at Shiloh and Plymouth High schools in the late 1950's and early 1960's.

Ronald Reinking will be paid $20,221 to teach and coach at Ontario. He comes from Colonel Crawford, where he was head coach. He will teach business education and psychology. Reinking succeeds Roger Copeland, who retired ultimately because of poor health.

Big Red collects 15 hits in win

Plymouth combed Monroeville pitching for 15 hits at Plymouth Friday and trounced the Eagles, 10 to 6.

The Big Red jumped off to a two run lead in the first inning and never was headed, although Monroeville came back with three scores in the sixth.

Gene Stallkamp was the chief victim of Plymouth's bats. Marty Carty got four safeties in as many tries. So did Bill Hudson. Steve Tackett and Randy Collins had two hits apiece.

Stallkamp was the hitting hero for the visitors. He went four-for-four.

'Riders, Warriors defeat Red

Western Reserve erupted for six scores in the sixth at Collins Monday and defeated Plymouth, 12 to 8, despite the fact it was outhit, 16 to 12.

The Roughriders took the lead in the fourth. Todd's homer with a man on and two runs home was the killer. The winners bagged five runs in that inning.

Plymouth scored four in the sixth to go ahead, 8 to 6.

Marty Carty was safe on the third baseman's error, Bill Hudson reached on the shortstop's bobble, Gary King, who had a perfect day at the plate, singled and so did Steve Tackett. When Greg Polachek, certainly the outstanding ninth grade prospect hereabouts in many seasons, singled, Plymouth had three runs. Rob Smith's base his scored Polachek.

Welch walked and after Sherman was safe, successive singles by Boose and Shipe produced two runs. An error allowed two more to score. Todd singled and his brother got his third hit and the Roughriders had six runs.

Randy Collins and Steve Mowry pitched for the Big Red.

Bill Hudson's single with two out in the eighth here May 14 produced the winning run as Plymouth edged Mapleton, 4 to 3.

It was a pitcher's duel throughout, Randy Collins with help from Steve Mowry against Rick Ashton and Mike Hauenstein. Hauenstein was the loser, Mowry the winner.

Mapleton scored two in the first and one in the fifth, the last score building a lead of 3 to 1.

Plymouth relatiated with a score in its half of the fifth, when Mowry drew a pass, Hudson sacrificed him to second and Collins hit safely.

The Big Red tied it in the seventh with a score by Carty, who walked, went to second on Hudson's single and scored on another single by Gary King.

Vote FOR one mill levy

It's listed as a new tax, but it really isn't.

The issue is in fact a renewal, a renewal of a tax that through inadvertence was allowed to lapse.

It is a tax for five years of one mill, or $1 for each $1,000 of tax valuation, for the operation and maintenance of Greenlawn cemetery.

We have said many times before that the practice of burial is obnoxious to us. But it is an accepted custom, the citizens of this village have a very substantial investment in the practice, and it makes good sense to furnish the funds necessary to preserve and maintain that investment.

Besides, the trustees of the cemetery, Messrs. Ellis, Cashman and Shields, are notoriously close with a dollar, a fact that is proved by their record, and every citizen can be assured that reckless spending of whatever funds are furnished to the trustees of the cemetery will not ensue.

One would wish to say as much about other representative (?) bodies of the village.

Vote FOR the cemetery levy.

While it is true that the last presidential election was decided by less than one vote a precinct, it seems doubtful to us, right now, anyway, that any vote cast here for other than the front runners in the presidential swwepstakes would be a waste of time, despite our feeling that neither front runner ought to be chosen for the highest office in the land.

It is a pity that the bar can't or won't express to the lay public reasonable preferences for judicial office. Unless one is a lawyer or a courtroom hanger-on of some experience, he can't possibly measure the qualifications of candidates for the judiciary.

Richland county Republicans need to choose from two candidates which of them will face Glenn E. Tschantz, Jr., for commissioner in November. One of them is the incumbent, Richard McFarland. His opponent is Terry Wolf, who has made some strong arguments in his favor. The charge against the incumbent is that he is in part responsible for much of the chaos of the county's finances. What the GOP must decide is whether new management is necessary.

However difficult that choice may be, the choice for sheriff is not so at all. The incumbent, O'Neil, has done well since he was given the office. His opponent, Weikel, has discredited himself and his party so thoroughly that to even consider his nomination is foolish. vote for O'Neil.

On the Democratic side, three candidates seek to oppose David McGinty for county commissioner. The preferred candidate is Daniel T. Reese, Jr.

Three candidates seek the Democratic nomination for sheriff. The preferred candidate is Richard H. Petty.

In Huron county, Republicans must choose between incumbent Thomas Carabin and his challenger, Walter L. Wilhelm, Jr., for county commissioner. Wilhelm comes from this town and has some friends here. He hasn't worked all that hard in his campaign. We see no reason for Huron countians to turn Carabin out.

Similarly, Republicans must choose between the incumbent and a challenger for treasurer. The challenger has been in the pits before. The incumbent, Mrs. Chupp, has performed satisfactorily, and while we have no doubt Mr. Johnson would do well, there is no good reason to defeat Mrs. Chupp.

It's Mom's who get hard duty this week

By AUNT LIZ

Graduation is such a nice time for everyone.

The kids are all aglow about it all because they know they have become adults. Fathers are plain proud.

It's the mothers who "get it all". They do all the work for those happy receptions afterwards.

One family we know had five, and that mother and a couple of friends started making small edibles a month ahead.

We went through two from high school and they were plain easy, although I do remember rushing home to spread egg salad and a couple of other mixtures on small sandwiches. There was simply no way to do it before a two hour ceremony and have it fresh.

Over the years since, I have learned something new. Bake a bunch of nut and date breads that can be frozen. Then bring them out, slice thinly, spread with several mixtures. They can be either soft butter and fresh parsley or watercress if you can find it. They are delicious. You can also spread them with plain cream cheese. The bread is the big secret. It is healthful and easy. And, may I add, plain economical.

College graduations we simply ignored. To start with, there was not time to bother with them and to me they seem anti-climactic. Once we got them out of high school, I kind of thought we had done our duty.

We went through two of those. The first one meant a weekend in Aurora and Hiram. Grandma came for it, and we had a ball except for a few hours of sitting with the parents of roommates. One set of parents was Greek. The mother was most charming, but Papa, the doctor, was not. He was attending the whole thing out of duty and seemed to feel he was better than the rest of us. In a way it was funny.

He had very strong feelings about his children. They were free to do what ever they wanted, so long as they married a nice Greek girl. One son had been completely disinherited because he married a nice gal whose father was a colonel from one of the services, and not Greek. Then comes our favorite roommate. He found a nice Jewish girl, but after he got out of medical school, which was sound reasoning on his part.

That night we came home from Hiram clutching a degree there was a real family gathering about 11 p.m. We were all sitting in the kitchen having a drink when our happy graduate announced that he should tell us about his three days in the Ravenna jail. He got nailed by the local police for leading a "peace parade", that was 1968. He was holed up and really did a lot of studying for finals versus shelling out the $250 fine which he knew he dare not ask us for.

Our second graduation was the next year. We had rushed to Illinois for a wedding and rushed back to Wooster. It was a Monday, which is the worst day in the week for us to have any extracurricular activities. We did it and simply took time out for a nice lunch in Wooster's nicest eatery.

So comes 1980, and we have so far received two graduation invitations which are so pleasing. One from high school of true, old friends, and the other from the Air Force academy in Colorado Springs. Both I will treasure and someday our kids will have to clean out all the stuff I have saved and wonder why I did. Today it means so much. And tomorrow it could become a real collector's item. You may outgrow your house by saving, but save the really good stuff for your children.

Red downs Lucas on three hits, 5 to 2

Steve Mowry and Jeff Jacobs throttled Lucas with three hits there Thursday and came away with a 5 to 2 victory over the Cubs.

It was the second win of the season for Plymouth over Lucas.

The Big Red jumped off with two scores in the first. Randy Collins walked and after Marty Carty went out, Bill Hudson hit safely. Gary King's single drove in two runs.

Plymouth added three more in the fifth.

Rob Smith was safe on the shortstop's error leading off. Mowry singled and after Collins was run down, Carty tripled. He scored on Hudson's second hit of the game.

Lucas had tied it in the second. Pollaro led off with a double and after Mowry fanned the next two hitters, Baker singled, scoring Pollaro, who had stolen second. Strassel walked and McGugin hit safely, scoring Baker.

Know how.

Like knowing the ins and outs of buying a home.

The do's and don'ts of saving energy. The ups and downs of investing. So that's why the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. Government put together this helpful little catalog.

The Consumer Information Catalog.

It lists more than two hundred federal publications you can send for.

All of which can help put you in the know. About your car, your home, your health, your finances, your plumbing, you name it.

Better yet, the catalog is free. And more than half the publications in it are, too.

Levy wins

The one mill cemetery levy won approval during Tuesday's primary election.

The unofficial count was 747 votes favoring, 97 ballots opposing.

They did not anticipate that support in the Richland county precinct would be so strong.

Among Richland county voters, the issue drew 63 per cent support, 80 votes favoring to 46 votes opposing.

In Huron county, the figures were closer; 67 ballots in favor, 51 against.

Elsewhere in the county, results turned out in all save three races about as expected.

In those races, the surprises were that Terry Wolf, a political newcomer, upset the veteran Richard McFarland for the GOP nomination for county commissioner. (Wolf won by about 750 ballots); Joan Thompson, the outspoken wife of a former deputy who lost his job in the Weikel regime, outdistanced two competitors for the Democratic nomination for commissioner and will face the incumbent David McGinty in November, and that Richard Hendricks defeated Robert Rath, a veteran Mansfield warhorse, for judge of the court of common pleas.

Mrs. Thompson polled 5,825, whereas Daniel Reese got 3,340 and the former Mansfield councilman, Stevens, only 3,317.

Hendricks outran Rath, 6,356 to 5,682. Rath did not campaign much outside Mansfield.

As expected, incumbent GOP Sheriff Albert O'Neil walloped the ousted sheriff, Thomas Weikel, with over 90 per cent of his party's vote.

James Henson, assistant prosecutor, defeated two competitors for the nomination for common pleas judge. Results: Henson 7,008 votes, Corley 3,105 ballots, Morton 3,105 votes.

Richard Petty, the organization candidate for sheriff, easily won the Democratic nomination over two opponents. Petty was accorded 10,118 votes, Zimmeman 2,327, Rhodes 962.

Incumbent Recorder Richard Orewiler defeated his challenger Edward Blauser, 7,758 to 3,945, and will face Paul Baumberger in November.

In Huron county, the results were as expected, al through a former Plymouth-ite, Walter Wilhelm, Jr., made a strong race of it only to lose to the incumbent, Thomas Carabin, for commissioner.

The unofficial count was 2,366 for Carabin, 1,898 fo Wilhelm.

Ferguson orders village into receivership; who'll be chosen for commission?

Village of Plymouth was officially placed into receivership Friday at 10 a.m. when Thomas Ferguson, Ohio's auditor, declared a state of fiscal emergency.

He said the main reason for acceding to the written request of Mayor Eric J. Akers is that there was a deficit of $97,522 in nine funds as of Dec. 31, 1979, and that the village has failed to pay a note due the Farmers Home administration on Jan. 1 in the amount of $56,382. The village also owes since May 15 a note in the amount of $10,199 to First Buckeye Bank, N. A.

What receivership means is that a seven member commission will be appointed to oversee the fiscal operations of the village until the emergency is passed.

The mayor is a member of the commission, by law. So are a representative of the auditor's office and another of the treasurer's office. The governor will select from a list of five persons "having experience in business and finance" three nominees to the commission. The presiding officer of the legislative body will be the seventh member.

In return for such control, the state will extend its credit to the village to obtain loans from private lenders to pay its outstanding bills.

Just how much these amount to is uncertain, for there are a number of invoices submitted to the clerk that have been approved for payment by the council if the funds are available. Funds have not been available and the amount of these invoices is not reflected in the $97,522 recited by Ferguson. It is likely the figure approximates $135,000 or $142,000.

How close to the bottom of the barrel the village has come was shown Friday, when the clerk-treasurer, Mrs. Bobbie McGee, reported she could not meet the payroll. Police officers were not paid on Friday. Neither was the mayor.

What was the solution?

To tinker with the distribution of the income tax proceeds again.

An ordinance was approved that will eamark 75 per cent of the proceeds of the tax for current expenses, which means payroll, and 25 per cent for capital improvements.

This was done with some reluctance.

Councilman David A. Howard, who has said all along he doesn't like the way "this whole thing was done, council should have been consulted by the mayor", asked that the record and the ordinance reflect for all time that the tinkering was done "with reluctance". He said that at year's end, the tinkering should be resumed so that 75 per cent of the proceeds will go for capital improvement and 25 per cent for current expenses.

Akers isn't happy with the auditor's designation of the president of the legislative body as a nominator of the commission. As he reads the law, the mayor is the presiding officer of the council. A president pro tempore is chosen to act only when the mayor cannot do so.

But because he wants to move swiftly in the matter, he feels he and Howard can select two nominees aptece and then agree on a fifth.

Who must these be?

They must be persons whose residency, office or principal act place of professional or business activity is within the village. They cannot hold other public office.

They cannot have held public office for five years prior to their appointment. They must be persons who have "knowledge and experience in financial matters, financial management, or business organization or operations, including at least five years experience in the private sector in management of business or financial enterprise, or in management consulting, public accounting or other professional activity".

Akers and Howard must make their choices and submit them to Gov. James A. Rhodes within 10 days of the determination of the fiscal emergency by the auditor. That date is Tuesday.

Mayor declares water crisis

Will village move to pipe water from Willard's treatment plant?

A waterless village on Sunday came as no surprise to village officials.

During the past month Village Administrator James C. Root has repeatedly warned that the water pumps, which were not working to capacity, could not keep up with increased water usage.

Monday at 4:30 p.m. at another special meeting of the council he explained what steps had been taken to build up the water supply in teh clear well, which supplies the water tower.

Willard sent a number of tankers during Monday to fill the water system, which had been turned off until the wate level tower and clear well reached satisfactory levels.

Root instructed late Monday afternoon to activate the distribution system.

The mayor and council agreed that water would be forthcoming to users unless the water tower goes down to a level of nine feet and the clear well to six feet.

These levels are considered the lowest possible ones.

Water consumers, the mayor said, will have to be more conservative with their usage. He plans to prepare a statement of restrictions.

The mayor told the council that he had been in contact with Edward King of the Northwest district, EPA, Bowling Green, during the day.

King again suggested that Plymouth turn to Willard's water treatment plant as its supplier of water. This he had recommended several years ago when the local wells were not working to capacity. He said it would be considerably cheaper than attempting a new well at a cost of about $15,000.

His suggestion is that the mayor call Camp Perry, where eight inch piping is available. The village would be financially responsible to install it. He recommended that arrangements be made C&O railroad to run the line through its right-of-way. This would entail the water line to go underneath Routes 224 and 598.

It is still being recommended that drinking water be boiled for the time being. For some time the well water has been going directly into the clear well and by-passing the aerator, which takes the iron and discoloration out of what goes into the system.

The mayor said every attempt is being made that the water is being treated up to par, although it is not being softened because of lack of funds to purchase the necessary salt.

Paul Capelle, Willard's city manager, worked closely with the mayor Monday and he suggested that the village call the National Guard in Norwalk to ascertain if any labor or financial help would be forthcoming.

Meanwhile Councilman David Howard is calling State Sen. Paul Pfeifer and Reps. Marie Tansey and Sherrod Brown to see what help can be obtained at the state level.

Two businesses sold: Macks buy market, Lasch sells to Cole

Charles will be the store manager. The Macks will retain their grocery business in Attica.

The local store was sold by Mr. Mack to the Defiance Grocery Co. several years ago and this summer the Foodland chain was sold to Grosse Point Sals, which operates a chain under the name of Scot-Lad.

A second business that changed hands was that of Lasch Marathon service, sold by its owner, Joseph J. Lasch, to Rodney Cole, who lives in Baker road 47.

The three routes that service customers were sold to Cole, who will lease from Lasch storage facilities and equipment in the village. Lasch retains ownership of the Marathon service station and carry-out.

He bought from Mrs. Daniel M. Henry, legatee of Mrs. Peyton W. Thomas, the Thomas property at 18 West Broadway. The premises house Plymouth Branch library as well as two dwellings.

George D. Wilcox bought Lot 18, in the south side of West Broadway, from Allan Raymond, Richland county recorder reports.

No pool opening!

A major crisis has struck Mary Fate Park Pool, Inc.

Its directors will seek FHA help, in the form of advice and perhaps money, to repair a major break in the floor of the pool.

How soon this may occur is unknown.

50 years' wedlock on June 22!

The Dale Feichtners, Willard, will observe their 50th anniversary June 22 from 2 to 5 p.m. in Willard Grange hall in Willard West road.

He was formerly employed as a men's clothier here.

The Feichtners ask that no gifts be sent.

Board to hire cage coach at Mt. Gilead

Plymouth High school's new varsity basketball coach is Stephen Tracy, 29-year-old alumnus of Ashland college, married but childless, who will come here from Mt. Gilead, where he has been assistant coach.

Mt. Gilead is also a Class A school.

His name will be recommended to the Plymouth Board of Education by Supt. Douglas Staggs Monday night. History does not record that any board ever rejected a head coaching recommendation.

Woody visits Kenny

The whole world knows that Kenneth Echelberry has a thing about Ohio State's Buckeyes.

While he was hospitalized at Columbus for knee surgery, he received a visit from Mr. Buckeye himself, W. Woodrow Hayes, the deposed coach of the Ohio State team who dropped in on him.

And the photograph reproduced here shows it!

Cyclist visits village

The village had an unique visitor Friday.

Twenty-three year old Monica Yates stopped for lunch at Weber's cafe, which was recommended to her.

She said she was averaging 80 miles a day, and the best mileage so far had been 140.

Along the way she has been staying with farmers and ministers at night and said they were all very friendly and helpful.

Her route has been carefully mapped so that she will cycle along "back roads" and somehow Route 98 and 61 were included.

Raymond, six, is the son of the Jerry Julians, 40 North street.

Squirrels're always keener than mere mortal man!

By AUNT LIZ

A revolutionary discovery that would have shaken the world almost happened last week.

It turned out to be kind of a dud, but was fund for a couple of minutes.

What happened was that one sleepy husband got out of bed and looked out a window and spied a couple of birds in his back yard.

Immediately he screamed to his wife that there were red-headed sparrows frolicking in their back yard.

His wife, who is an old bird watcher and knows who is who in that kingdom, turned over and got out of bed to look

Amy, nearly five, and Lori, three, are the daughters of the Lawrence J. Roots, 324 Brooks court.

Traci, seven, and Shelley, five, are the daughters of the Charles Reinharts, 19 Willow court.

Still, her husband was shouting "red-headed sparrows" to the point she had to get a bird book out and show him what she was seeing.

How this one house can attract such nice birds is beyond me. Ours does not. We have had a bird house hitched on our garage for years, and never had anyone moved into it.

For years we stayed out of the bird attracting business because we did not want to take away those our neighbor was attracting. He truly loved them and faithfully put food out each day. Then one day he had a problem with a local squirrel. The little grey guy was cute with a lovely bushy tail, and knew what a real gourmet meal was. He mastered a metal tripod from which a pan was suspended with food for the feathery guys.

It took a few days for our neighbor to discover who was really dining, so he set out to fix that lousy squirrel. He greased the three legs of the tripod. Back comes the friendly squirrel, wo would get up a little bit then slide back to the ground. We watched him for two hours, and guess who finally won? The squirrel. At that point the four of us all clapped. It was the most memorable Sunday afternoon I can remember.

Sundays are one of the great munching days of the week and what can be better than come cupcakes that are a little different.

This recipe has prunes in it, which makes it more than haithful.

If you grew up in the late 20's and 30's, you may remember that prunes were served at every breakfast to make sure you started the day properly.

Get your muffin pans out and grease them. In a bowl cream a half cup of margarine with a cup of sugar. Add a teaspoon of vanilla and two eggs. Beat it all together nicely. Add a cup of cooked, chopped up, pitted prunes.

In another bowl have a cup and a half of flour ready with a teaspoon and a half of baking powder, a half teaspoon of salt, a teaspoon of cinnamon and a fourth of a teaspoon of cloves.

Add the dry stuff alternately with a half cup of milk and when mixed, add a cup of chopped walnuts.

Fill the muffin tins halfway and bake at 375 degrees for about 20 minutes.

They can be eaten bare or you can make a glaze flavored either with lemon or orange. Or if you are not feeding anyone under 21, use rum. Delicious!

Willard's water offer may cost $500,000

An adequate, dependable water supply for the future in the village got off the ground Thursday night.

Members of Willard's council and Paul Capelle, city manager, met with village council to discuss piping water from the Willard treatment plant to the village plan ment plant to the village plant for distribution.

Capelle estimates it will cost about $500,000 and he has begun plans for it.

These include the installation of an eight-inch line with a four-inch valve, which will make it possible to shut off the flow of water once Plymouth has what it needs.

It is estimated the flow will be 500 gallons a minute or 720,000 gallons a day. This amount is being planned to assure a supply for at least 20 years.

Now water consumption has been around -200,000 gallons a day except for a few days a week ago, when it shot up to 240,000, causing an acute shortage June 1 and 2.

Capelle would like the line to run from the Willard plant eastward in Neal Zick road, then southward in Route 61 to the Plymouth plant.

Obtaining easements, he said, would be perhaps easier since the route will be along public roadways.

At first it was suggested by EPA officials that the line run along the right-of-way of the B&O railroad.

An unofficial report received by the village called for a charge of five cents for each 1,000 gallons run through the line on the railroad property.

There is the possiblity that until the permanent line can be installed, plans will go forward for a temporary line along the railroad.

Charges for the water iwil be determined once the financing is arranged by Willard.

Willard would like them to be set in a long term contract.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said he would like some flexibility in the contract with a provision that should the village lose large water users and the revenue from them that the village would not be paying for unnecessary water.

He said he has been informed that Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., will decide by Oct. 1 whether it will remain here or leave Plymouth.

A meeting is planned for June 20 between the two municipalities for further discussion.

Capelle hopes by then to have firmer plans and figures.

Effect of teaching reported to exceed national average shown in standard testing

What is the effect of teaching in Plymouth schools?

A report was laid before Plymouth Board of Education Monday night. It is generally good.

Paul Gase, the elementary guidance counselor, spoke at some length to the board about test results of second graders, fourth graders, sixth graders and eighth graders, both those assigned at Shiloh and those assigned at Plymouth.

By comparison with national results of the California test bloc, Plymouth pupils rank slightly in advance of what's considered normal for the age of the pupil and the time of testing.

In science and social studies, the pupils of Plymouth schools rank well ahead of their class norms. In total language the difference is only slight, ranging from two months (the test is given in the seventh month of the school year; a child's performance is rated on the basis of the score that ought to be attained at that stage of instruction) to six months.

These are the figures that Gase reported:

Among second graders: at Shiloh, total reading 3.0 (vs. 2.7 accepted as standard); total language, 2.9; total mathematics, 2.7; total battery, 2.8; science, 3.1; social studies, 3.4; at Plymouth: total reading, 3.1; total language, 3.2; total mathematics, 2.8; total science, 2.7; total social studies, 3.0; total battery, 2.9;

Among fourth graders: at Shiloh, total reading, 4.5; total language, 2.9; total mathematics, 4.8; total battery, 4.5; reference, 5.3; science, 4.8; social studies, 4.6; at Plymouth, total reading, 5.4; total language, 5.7; total mathematics, 5.2; total battery, 5.3; science, 6.1; social studies, 5.8; reference, 5.8;

Among sixth graders: at Shiloh, total reading, 6.9; total language, 7.0; total mathematics, 6.8; total battery, 6.8; reference, 7.7; science, 7.6; social studies, 7.7;

Among eighth graders: at Shiloh, total reading, 9.1; total language, 9.6; total mathematics, 9.8; total battery, 9.4; reference, 9.3; science, 9.9; social studies, 9.9.

Letters to the editor, whether in response to The Voice of The Advertiser, to news or advertising matter elsewhere in the newspaper, or on subjects of public interest, are always welcomed. They must be signed by the writer, whose name will be concealed upon request. Letters of 250 words or less are preferred. Those written by typewriter one of white paper, double spaced, naturally receive greater consideration, but ALL letters will be respectfully dealt with. The newspaper reserves the right to abridge or edit any letter for good reason.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Who owes what, how, when and to whom?

One who seeks the custom of his neighbors owes it to himself and to them, to do those things that cause them to prosper.

Who seeks custom?

The business man. The professional man. The public servant. To name but a few.

How do they prosper?

They prosper when the goods and services they seek are at least as satisfactory as those they can get elsewhere at the same expense in time, effort and money.

They prosper when, whether with or without their participation, a business grows. For then it pays a greater share of the cost of furnishing the public services that people need and have a right to expect.

What, then, is the duty of the businessman, the professional man, the public servant?

He should make a fetish of supporting the enterprise of his neighbors.

How?

What he needs for himself and his family he should buy next door.

What he can't supply to his friends and neighbors, for whatever reason, he ought to be decent enough to suggest that maybe Jones has it, even to telephone Jones to ask if it's on hand.

He ought not to go out of his way to badmouth the place next door.

He should constantly seek to expand and improve the goods and services he offers, consistent with the laws of economics, so that he and his neighbors can enjoy the finer things in life with minimum fiscal and physical effort.

And if he does these things, what is he entitled to?

He is entitled to the respect and esteem of his neighbors.

He ought to be able to expect their reasonable support of his own enterprise.

What's clear, in almost every town we've been to lately, is that these precepts simply aren't observed.

Ask yourself where the councilman's wife buys her groceries. Ask yourself where the teacher buys his gasoline. Ask yourself where a vendor of non-durable goods buys his paint, or his hardware. Ask yourself where the policeman purchases the soft drinks for his kids' picnic. Even ask yourself where the editor's wife buys her cigarettes. And her groceries. And her pharmaceuticals. And everything else the family needs.

Surprised? Electricity does so many things around the home, it's easy to forget just how much you count on it.

Most likely, you don't have everything listed above. And just as likely we forgot to mention some things you do have.

The point is this: while the cost of electricity has gone up, when you consider all the things it does for you each day, it's still an excellent value.

But chances are you're using more than you used to: most folks are.

So, if you think twice about how and when you use electricity, you can make it even more valuable.

We have some booklets available with lots of energy saving ideas. And they're yours for the asking.

At Ohio Power, we want you to get the most out of your electric service.

We give it our best.

On what they wore and what it means

By AUNT LIZ

There were a couple of big things on TV recently that just about all of us watched.

After watching about five babes on the Academy awards, I gave up and went to bed. These are our heroines who dress so beautifully and are so well groomed. Even my hair-do looked better than theirs, and who doesn't know what I look like? And I bet they spent a fortune achieving it all. They should go back for a refund. There is no question about their gowns, they were beautifully made and most likely of the very best best materials.

The first one, a deep blue sequin job, looked edible, sedate and lovely, then whoever it was wearing it made a great stance of turning around and it was slit straight up the back to you know where. I would give anything to borrow it from her and wear it locally, but I cannot, because it would be too small for me.

Then a little later a gal, and I simply cannot remember their names, came out in a very sedate looking long sleeved pink job, to which I observed she is really nicely dressed. Then you-know-who made the comment, "she doesn't seem to have anything underneath it all". He sees better than I do. Trifocals do this. I am only bi.

You-know-who should be very happy that I am not rushing around to buy such costumes. Right now we are indulging in toddler's three and four size sun dresses, which is much more fun.

Then came the Jones deal in South America. We knew it would be gruesome to watch, but I felt we should if only to find some answers to it all. I did. He was magic to some people and helped them and they would do anything for him.

For several generations we have said that Hitler was a twisted mind, but he was German. Now I do hope Americans realize that we tooduce such minds.

We can do it nationally like mad, and locally too.

This poor world can be very sad at one moment and also very lovely and nice at the next. I take it all out in my kitchen. There are days I could just sit down and cry about it all. Kind of like that Monday way back when I came home about four and turned the news on and heard about Kent State. With two children in college then, it was scary. Our daughter was not involved in it all, she was a grad student at the time, but our son was. He was actively working on a degree in Illinois, and it was his department that kept that university open by talking to the characters who wanted to cause trouble and somehow they prevailed. It was the only university in Illinois that did not close down. I do not know how they managed it, but they did. Probably a good con job which worked.

That week because I was so upset about it all worrying about our kids, I took it out on food and cooked up a storm. What else could I do? It was most likely the best week for eating in our whole lives.

It is a little early for zucchini recipes, but this is good and when either your garden produces a nice one or a kind friend gives you one, you will be ready.

You can use your own recipe for pie crust, buy a crust ready to bake or a can of crescent rolls which can be separated in eight triangles and arranged in the bottom of an ungreased 10-inch pie tin or a 12 x 8 baking dish.

Slice the zucchini until you have four cups, unpeeled and thin. In a skillet brown the zucchini with a cup of chopped onions (they do not have to be too finely chopped) in a half cup butter or margarine. Cook them until they are tender. Add a half cup of fresh parsley, a half teaspoon salt and black pepper, a fourth of a teaspoon of garlic powder, basil leaves and oregano. Stir together.

Add this to the vegetable mixture, but before pouring it into the crust, coat the crust with two teaspoons of Dijon mustard, which every kitchen should have.

It is the very best of mustard and really worth it all.

Will he win?

Drag racer aims to win honor, cash with Camaro

Plymouth's victories in sports events have been fewer, of late, and a 1975 graduate of the school seeks to change that fact.

He is Ronald Akers, who competes in drag racing at Norwalk and West Salem with his Model 1970 Camaro Z28.

His sponsor is the new owner of Plymouth Sunoco, Jeffrey Clabaugh.

Drag racing is a head-to-head sport in which two drivers with highly charged engines from a standing start hurtle down the speedway fender to fender until one of them completes the 440-yard sprint first. Akers's best time so far is 13.43 seconds, which figures out to 43.72 seconds for the mile, or just under 100 miles an hour.

His vehicle competes in the Pro Eliminator class. So far he's won about $200.

Akers bought the car as a used vehicle. He changed motors, installing a stock 350 cu. in. power plant. Much of the rest of the car has been rebuilt "but there's nothing exceptional about it, it doesn't have anything really fancy on it."

Unmarried, Akers, says he hasn't had time to wonder if a young man can afford a wife and a racing car. "My friend, Wayne Baker, does, but then both he and his wife are working." Young Baker, also a Plymouth graduate, now living in Greenwich, is a friendly competitor.

The car isn't registered to operate on Ohio's roadways, so it must be transported by trailer to and from Norwalk and West Salem. The prime mover on some of these jaunts is a friend, Tom Crager, who lives in Rome. At other times it's Acting Police Chief David Gibson.

To what extent does a sponsor participate? "Jeff's a good fellow, he lets me have my parts at his cost and he lets me use his garage to do some of the work that has to be done and he give me some advice from time to time."

What's the appeal of drag racing? "You get to meet a lot of different people, people interested in motors and cars, and besides, it beats taking a chance on the streets!"

Work stoppage at Foodland ends quickly

First non-industrial work stoppage in Plymouth's history occurred Friday and lasted a day.

Members of local 626, Amalgamated Food and Allied Workers union, having been laid off by Mack's Foodland upon the reacquisition of the store by R. Harold Mack and his sons, John and Charles, picketed the place Friday morning.

They charged, in printed flyers, that ownership was unfair to workers by paying lower wages and affording poorer working conditions than comparable stores in the area.

A spokesman for the union, Warren Mierke, Toledo, its business agent, said there were 15 workers who lost their jobs when the Macks took over.

The Macks say they offered to negotiate a new contract with the workers on Thursday morning. The contract alleged to have been abrogated expires in November.

Union spokesman said by law the seller, Grosse Pointe Quality Foods, Canton, Mich., is obligated under law; to give the union 30 days notice of intention to sell the business. This was not done.

The Macks late Friday accepted the argument that a contract is in force and agreed to abide by it until a new one can be negotiated in November.

Runners to compete in Vermilion event

Two Plymouth High school cross country runners, their coach and another teacher competed in the 1,000-meter run at Mansfield June 8.

Doug Nease was 76th in 41:50. Jesse Woodmansee was 86th in 42:40. Coach Paul Gase finished in 111th place with a timing of 45:40. And Coach Doug Dickson took 152nd place in 51 minutes flat.

They will run in the Vermilion Fish Festival event Saturday at 10 a.m.

Coon kin new coach at Willard

Son-in-law of the Maynard J. Coons, formerly of Plymouth, Terry Toth is the new head football coach of Willard High school, succeeding Don Graham, who resigned to concentrate on his private business.

Toth has been assistant at Willard for six seasons. He is an alumnus of Bluffton college, where he played and was assistant coach.

His wife is the former Janis Coon.

Briggs left $23,838: court

Pool set to open June 21?

Officers of Mary Fate park swimming pool say they are now "seeing the light of day" in solving the pool's problem and readying it for summer swimming.

H. Lee Welker, president of the board of directors, hopes the pool may open Saturday.

It is dependent on a bacteria test of the water, which is required because the water has been pumped from the Huron river.

Welker said if the pool were filled from the Plymouth distribution system, such testing is not required.

The pool's problems began in April when work was begun to start the new season.

A leak was discovered in a cast iron pipe in the main circulating bed.

A Lexington firm was hired to repair it and in the middle of May the pool was filled up to six feet and allowed to rest for a week to see if the leak was completely repaired.

The patch gave way and the pool had to be completely drained to redo it.

Because of the village's water problem, Plymouth firemen pitched in to help by running a hose and filling it from the river, which was done in nine hours.

Welker said because of the rain last weekend, the water was murky but with chemical treatments and back washing, the water is clearing.

Mrs. Edward Noble will again instruct swimming classes.

Dates have not as yet been set.

There is no charge for beginners' lesson for those with family memberships but a small fee for those who do not have them.

Health insurance costs rise by $4,800 in new pact

More comprehensive health insurance coverage for village employees will be put into effect June 27.

It was promised to them a year ago when the last pay raise was negotiated.

The changeover from Blue Cross to Prudential Life Insurance plan was held up because of the confinement of a wife of an employee and the hospitalization of another employee covered by Blue Cross.

Village Administrator James C. Root told village council Thursday that the village now has 10 (the required number) healthy employees and requested the new coverage.

It was approved last year and he was told to institute it.

It gives hospitalization up to 15 months versus the 120 days Blue Cross allowed, plus a dental plan and an insurance policy.

Root said it will cost roughly $1,000 a month, which is about $400 more than what Blue Cross costs.

The resignation of Mrs. Allan Raymond as councilman, which was tendered several weeks ago, was officially accepted.

The council has 30 days in which to appoint a new council member. If it fails to do so, the mayor then appoints.

Mayor Eric J. Akers and the council were in agreement that if the village can supply enough water for the time being, it would be wiser not to atempt to install a temporary line to the Willard treatment plant, which would be costly and take several months.

The mayor was authorized to write a formal letter to the City of Willard stating Plymouth's intent to seek a permanent supply from it.

Meanwhile, the wells will be carefully monitored so another June 1 will not occur.

The mayor said he has not as yet imposed any curtailment of water usage but feels he should.

Root said that every effort is being made to maintain an adequate daily supply.

He voiced unhappiness that some citizens are saying the wells were not being properly cared for.

He said the problem is simple: that the water simply is not there and that usage has increased.

Costs of obtaining water from Willard are guesses at this point and it is hoped that close-to-accurate figures will be forth-coming when the council meets with the Willard council tomorrow.

Councilman David A. Howard, a member of the safety committee, said he has been working with New Haven and Plymouth townships on new ambulance contracts and they are not too happy with what has been prepared by Richard Wolfe, village solicitor.

"They liked the previous one", he said, and suggested since the contract expired Jan. 1, the contract be continued for the remainder of this year, giving time to work on new ones.

The townships main objection is paying in advance for the service. In the past they were billed at the end of the year, when the annual expenses could be ascertained and divided 50-50 between the village and the townships.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore inquired how the village is going to handle sewer charges for those who are drilling wells on their property. He said he believed that permits should be issued.

The mayor said that a new ordinance or the amending of the present sewer ordinance should be undertaken.

Root said that guide line are in effect from both the Huron and Richland Health departments that wells must be so many feet away from sewer lines or any other contamination.

The street fund is now in the black, Mrs. Benjamin Montgomery, clerk-treasurer, informed the council. She expected the water also to be out of the hole the next day when utility payments are turned over to her.

She is also expending tax money for the general fund shortly.

Root said that blacktopping has been ordered and work will be done on the Richland county side of the village.

A great deal of patching has been done in Huron county because permissive license plate tax money was available.

He also reported that work is well underway on the North street bridge.

Hulling device Auntie's treasure

By AUNT LIZ

Now that we are into strawberry season, our prize possession is a strawberry picker.

You can whip through a quart in about two minutes without ruining your fingers.

Whoever dreamt it must have a fortune. It is nothing but the principle of a large sized tweezer and works like a dream.

Kitchen gadgets that get used only a few weeks out of the year are simply necessary to the well-being of any housewife.

Some of ours are fast becoming antiques at this point of life. We have had an egg slicer since we lived in Italy, which was long ago. No way could we exist without it. It also works on other things besides eggs with care.

We hardly ever peel a potato, but we have a nice peeler plus one which is the same principle for lemon peel, but it happens to be sterling silver.

It was one of those happy birthday gifts when you have no idea what to give. And when I ordered it, silver was being like it should be, so it really was more of a fun thing than a real luxury.

I had seen it advertised from a store in Boca Rotan, Fla., and wrote for it, giving them our newly acquired Mastercharge number, which made me feel really powerful. We had just gotten our card because it was the only way you could rent a car from the Newark, N. J., airport, which we needed to do for a family wedding.

The shop wrote a nice letter back and said they did not accept such things and would I please send them a check. They were really trusting souls.

So I did, and mentioned that perhaps the recipient of the gift would not know what this thing was for unless I demonstrated it. It came nicely wrapped with an artificial lemon to indicate what in the heck it was. That little store really had a sense of humor, yes?

This thing works like a dream where a recipe calls for lemon rind. You can peel it off nicely, then simply get out a nice sharp paring knife and mince it all up. At least I have found a way to put it to a useful purpose besides having it merely provide peel for a tasty drink.

The first time I used it for a real purpose was for a lemon souffle that the book says serves four. Don't let it kid you, two of us ate it all at one sitting.

Beat five egg yolks until they are vaguely yellow, then add three-fourths of a cup of sugar, and beat it in until it is kind of thickish.

Stir in nicely a teaspoon of lemon rind and four tablespoons of juice.

Beat up the five egg whites with a dash of salt and fold in.

Put into a baking dish which will sit in a pan of hot water and bake at 325 for about an hour or when a knife comes out clean.

It kind of taste like what you would expect if you were up in heaven.

Newsy notes...

A son, Brian Jeremy, weighing 6 lb., 11 ozs., was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Girard Cashman, Utica, Mich. He is their first child and the second grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Cashman.

Queen rides in style

Shannan Baker, 1979 Firemen's Festival queen, competed with 30 other young girls at Monroeville Friday to be queen of the annual Northwest Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association convention. She lost out to the Leipsic entrant, but she rode in Mrs. Carl M. McPherson's convertible in style.

Village entry in parade

Plymouth's entry in the annual parade of the NOVFA at Monroeville was limited to one apparatus, this International vehicle, manned by the two delegates, Allen Carey and Ronald Woodmansee. There were 205 units in the parade, which lasted two and a half hours.

Library objects to utility charge

Mansfield-Richland County library objects to charges for utilities at Plymouth branch library, councilmen were told June 12.

The charges began at the first of the year when Councilman David A. Howard suggested that no free utilities be given to the library, the Weber stadium and Mary Fate Park pool.

The library says that other communities offer utilities at no charge.

Howard said he now has changed his thinking on the subject but feels that if the library receives free service, the others will want them also.

Councilman Ervin Howard said the funds could absorb the charges but he will inquire in nearby communities to see how they are handling the problem.

Overtime pay for village employees during the water emergency early this month was authorized, including 30 hours for James C. Root, village administrator.

Councilman Ervin Howard agreed it should be paid. His brother, David Howard, objected. He claimed village solicitor, Richard Wolfe, has said that salaried personnel should not be paid overtime.

Mayor Eric J. Akers asked about the firemen being paid, but the matter was left in limbo since no hours have as yet been turned in.

The mayor told the council he met with a representative of a firm about codifying the village ordinances.

The cost will be about $6,500 initially, then about $500 annually to update them.

The mayor said he believes it should be undertaken because some of the standing ordinances now in effect may not be accurate.

David Howard said money is the problem as in the past when it was discussed. He wondered if the codification can be undertaken locally but said it is most likely too complicated.

Ervin Howard said he will investigate other firms to undertake the work at a lesser cost.

PHS alumna honored in Cincinnati

Downtown council of Cincinnati took paid advertising space in the city's largest newspaper to salute Shari Einsel, a Plymouth High school alumna who went to the Queen City in 1965. Employed as an art assistant by Procter & Gamble, she is an executive board member and special events chairman for the council.

She helped found the council's auxiliary volunteer group and has served as the group's president.

Mayor fines three miscreants total of $1,150

Gregory A. Gayheart, Plymouth, was convicted of operating a motor vehicle while under suspension in mayor's court Thursday and sentenced to two days in jail and to pay a fine of $300.

A charge of disorderly conduct was dismissed.

Richard Hursh, Greenwich, was convicted of assault and fined $500, of which $300 was suspended.

On a charge of disorderly conduct, he was convicted and fined $100. A charge of resisting arrest was dismissed.

Calvin R. Harvey, Willard, accused of reckless operation and causing a collision, was convicted and sentenced to 30 days in jail and to pay a fine of $250. Jail sentence was suspended on condition of no law violations for one year.

Charles A. Watson, Jr., Mansfield, was convicted of reckless operation and fined $75.

All were assessed court costs.

Waivers were accepted from Charlton L. Roew, Shiloh, failure to wear protective eye glasses when driving motorcycle, $20; James R. Dye, Shiloh, public intoxication, $41; Darrell Hale, Greenwich, speeding, $26; Ronald E. Walp, Shelby, speeding, $38; Steven W. Butler, Shelby, speeding, $41.

Pool's open!

Daily hours will be 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 until 8:30 p.m.

Pool officials say an adjustment in membership fee is being made because of the late opening.

Richard Roll is again manager.

Water parley called off

Because Paul Capelle, Willard's city manager, was vacationing, the meeting with him, the Willard and Plymouth councils planned for Friday night was cancelled.

No new date has yet been set to discuss more concrete plans for the proposed water line from the Willard treatment plant to Plymouth.

Jump, VerBurg —

GOP chooses two leaders

Huron county Republicans chose two veteran party wheelhorses to succeed Bernard W. Freeman as head of the party.

Freeman, 66, died in May.

Harry V. Jump, 65, Willard, a veteran legislator and official in the state insurance department, is chairman of the executive committee.

The executive committee includes the central committee and other members.

Jump served five terms as Huron county's representative to the General Assembly after two terms as county commissioner. He was chosen to the Ohio Senate in 1966. Thereafter he was a deputy in the state insurance department and clerk of the Ohio Senate. In 1974 he was state director of insurance. He retired Jan. 1.

High unemployment affecting tax payments

Recent history does not record when the Huron county treasurer has stood up and publicly acknowledged that taxpayers sometimes have difficulty in meeting their official obligations.

Mrs. Jack Chupp, the incumbent county treasurer, did so Monday. She issued a statement saying that owing to widespread unemployment and a diminished economy, tax collections have been slow in coming in, so payments of the second half of 1979 tax year which were due June 30 may be made before July 13. There will be no further extension.

Mrs. Chupp says slightly more than $4 million was billed and about a fourth of that amount had been paid by Saturday.

Willard United bank will accept payment in Plymouth.

A little lacquer changes pumpkin

By AUNT LIZ

The story of Cinderella and the pumpkin turning into a beautiful coach may be one of our most popular fairy tales.

But about the same thing happened in our neighbor's yard the other day.

I looked out the back door the other day and he was doing things to a really beaten up yellow car, which was rusted all over and looked as though it was about ready to collapse.

Then the next morning I came down for coffee and looked out and there was the most beautiful green car I have ever seen. It was unbelievable what a good paint job did.

Then there is the one about the princess who discovered there was a pea under her mattress and she could feel the little thing. I wonder how that tale would have been if she went to put on a shoe and realized something was in it.

Our dog likes to be assured that he has a supply of dog biscuits for future eating and he will stash them around. Have you ever tried to get into a shoe with a dog biscuit carefully tucked in the toe?

It just could be that he wanted to share with me, but right now we are munching on beautiful bibb lettuce. A couple of packages of seed seems to be feeding about 10 families and it is so tasty.

For the first time in my life I tasted the most superb dressing for plain lettuce. It has been around for years and somehow I missed it. Just combine three tablespoons of vinegar with about one and half tablespoons of sugar, stir it up, and it is about enough for four servings. I hate to admit it but the other part of our family came up with it from his childhood.

You really need a little more than just lettuce for a meal, and a nice friends gave me a recipe smack out of the Cleveland paper (after awhile you recognize the print of each paper) which I somehow missed, and hopefully with its permission will pass it on, because it is too tasty to miss.

Start with a cup of pitted prunes in a bowl with a half cup of canned bouillon. Let them soak.

Then brush about a four pound pork loin roast with a third of a cup of Dijon mustard. It does cost more than ordinary mustard, but once in a while, it is worth it. Next you pat on one half cup of brown sugar (the dark works better). Brown the meat in a couple of tablespoons of oil. Remove it from the skillet after it is browned all over and to the drippings add another half cup of bouillon, a third of a cup of bourbon (this can really be left out, but it does add to the flavoring) a half of a teaspoon salt, a good dash of pepper, a little bit of sage and thyme, and a tablespoon of chopped parsley, great if it is fresh.

Pour this all over the meat, cover and bake at 375 for just a little less than an hour and a half or until you poke the meat and think it is done.

Take the meat out and keep it warm, and to the baking dish and what is in it add the prunes which are mixed now with one and a half teaspoons of cornstarch and a third of a cup of half and half cream. Cook it until it is slightly thickened.

Slice the meat, pour the sauce over it. To make it more of a meal than it is, add either rice or noodles.

D. G. Cunninghams wed 60 years ago

Married in First Methodist church, Norwalk, June 30, 1920, the D. Guy Cunninghams celebrated their 60th anniversary with a family party Sunday at the home of a son, Donald, at Plymouth and Birchfield streets.

The host is recovering from a narrow escape from death. He went to Ontario to repair a television aerial. A timber fell suddenly and struck him across the forehead, lacerating it so severely 15 sutures were required to close the wound.

All of the Cunningham children and grandchildren — there are 21 of them — attended. These also include Guy Junior, James D. and Carol Jo, now Mrs. Donald L. Brooks, Plymouth; Mrs. Robert Briggs, North Miami, Fla., and Thomas, Hilliard.

They began their married life in Willard, where he was successively employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and the Pioneer Rubber Co. He retired Apr. 1, 1965, from Shelby Business Forms, Inc.

Both Cunninghams have served First United Presbyterian church as elders and he is an elder for life. He served as treasurer of the church, a post now occupied by his younger daughter, for 10 years.

He is the only person in village history, since it was incorporated in 1868, to have served successively as clerk, trustees of public affairs and councilman.

Who Makes The News...

THIS PAPER CARES ABOUT?

YOU DO!!

Somewhere there's the news of a new citizen or two who's come into our lives, noisy and hungry. To you, it's a baby. To others it's a sister or a brother or a niece or a grandson. But its arrival is an important and happy event worthy of notice.

Somewhere else there is news of losses — grievous ones — and we have occasion to reflect on the sometimes inscrutible nature of life's patterns.

Then there are graduations, and weddings, homecomings and leavings. There are meetings and plannings and projects.. All the efforts expended by you to advance a cause, change a situation, improve our community. There are promotions and advancements and honors and controversies.

There are the exertions of volunteer firemen serving us with their skill and dedication, and of so many others who provide community services.

All this — the complexity of community life — is reported and commented on by this newspaper 52 weeks a year.

Basic to these efforts is the realization that this newspaper exists not just FOR YOU . . . but BECAUSE OF YOU.

It is first and foremost . . . YOUR NEWS-PAPER!

The Voice of The Advertiser —

July 3, 1980: on patriotism

As the nation approaches the 204th anniversary of its birth, we all ought to reflect upon our duties as citizens.

Our dictionary shows this definition for the word patriot: One who loves his country and zealously supports its authority and interests.

No one should quarrel with the first part of the definition, "one who loves his country".

What divides us is the perception of the last part of it, "and zealously supports its authority and interests."

There will shortly be enacted, with the approval of the Congress and of the president, a law requiring young men to register at a federal post office to be eligible for a draft. There is no plan, we are told, right now, anyway, to draft anyone. But the argument is that the lead time to prepare youngmen to zealously support the country's authority and interests is such that, in the face of the possibility that a tinder box in the Middle East may explode, we ought to undertake registration now.

The American Civil Liberties Union is contesting the constitutionality of the act. It argues that equal protection under the law is not afforded those required by the law to register because only males are so constrained. Some of the petitioners in the class action openly acknowledge they are pacifists or otherwise object to any military action or service. Others seem to be meddling in the whole question of equal rights for women.

Is one a patriot if he opposes registration of women? Is he not a patriot if he insists on registration of women?

At a time when there are millions of people out of work and when galloping inflation is barely restrained, when untold thousands of children go hungry in this, our own, nation, it may seem niggardly to deal with a question that is not so timely.

But the question, we submit, is an important one. And what it boils down to is whether one risks being regarded as unpatriotic if he opposes any registration whatever, let alone registration of women.

For our part, we accept the reasoning that a registration of young persons is necessary and desirable at this time. Note the emphasis on the neuter gender. We believe that registration of young women, but not for possible combat duty, should go hand in hand with registration of young men.

We acknowledge that some strong arguments for a diametrically opposed standpoint can be made. And we do not for one moment consider that those who make them, in sincerity, are unpatriotic.

Nor is one unpatriotic if, within the letter and spirit of the law, he escapes some onerous duties of citizenship by claiming the advantages of a loophole in the law. With respect to the draft, men whose families disposed of considerable means were afforded opportunities to pass through that loophole that were denied young men of modest means.

If and when push comes to shove, and it is necessary to undertake a draft, we pray that all young men and young women will be required, without exception (unless physically disqualified), to respond, and to accept the duties of citizenship no matter how onerous. Young women should be excused from combat service.

If, on the eve of Independence day, our 204th birthday anniversary, this may seem unpatriotic, so be it.

Also effective July 1, the Social Security Administration is making a 14.3 percent payment increase for all persons receiving social security (SS) and Supplemental Income (SSI) benefits. SS or SSI recipients may have a reduction in their food stamp benefits as a result of this payment increase.

The amount of food stamps is based on the household size and income. The food stamp benefit received by a household decreases as income increases. Households with the highest allowable incomes get the least stamps, i.e. a household of four with adjusted monthly income of $100 would receive $179 in food stamps, while a household of four with adjusted monthly income of $621 would receive $23 in food stamps.

While the food stamp maximum income standard is increasing, the food stamp benefit increase usually given in July will not be given this year. USDA will adjust food stamp benefits and deductions to account for increases in the Consumer Price Index only once a year, in January, instead of making semiannual updates in January and July.

County welfare departments know whose food stamp benefits will be affected by the SS/SSI increase. The July ATP (Authorization to Participate) card should already include any changes in the amount of food stamps.

TEAMWORK

Settling an estate calls for a surprising variety of specialized know-how. Does your will assign the whole job to a member of your family? Hiring necessary help with taxes, investments, recordkeeping and so on could be expensive. Even then the results might not be satisfactory. No teamwork!

Consider the practical alternative: our estate-settlement service. We're staffed to handle the job, and our staff knows how to work together.

For more information, without obligation, come in and talk with a member of our team.

A Message From The Board Of Directors Of Mary Fate Park, Pool, Inc.

THE POOL IS OPEN!

The water is fine and ready for you to enjoy. You, your family, and friends are invited to cool off with us on July 4 for only 50¢ per person. Members, of course, are admitted free.

THANKS!

The board would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who have helped to get the pool in operation this year and those who have offered support in the past.

Thanks to the following businesses or organizations who have donated time, money, or merchandise to the pool:
The Plymouth Community Chest
The Plymouth Fire Department
Miller's Hardware
Plymouth Lions club
Plymouth Pharmacy
The Plymouth Advertiser
Fenner Plumbing & Heating
Jennings Ready Mix

Thanks also to the following individuals who have donated in some cases many hours of labor:
Robert Berberick, Leonard Fenner, Terry Fenner, Jim Fleck, Rick Hedeen, John Predieri, Gary Ramsey, Dick Roll, Joe Runkle and Wayne E. Strine.

The pool is a non-profit corporation owned and controlled by the members of the pool. Board members are elected at an annual spring meeting, the date of which is always announced in this newspaper. Board members, who are elected for a three year term, serve without pay, must pay full price for membership in the pool. It is the responsibility of the board to direct the business of the pool to insure its continued operation as a safe and healthful recreational facility for the residents of this area.

To continue in operation, the pool needs your help. After some repair this spring the pool is in operation for the 1980 season. We expect to be able to meet expenses and continue operating this year, but the future does not look bright. Last year it cost over $7,500 to run the pool. This year total expense could exceed $10,000. It would take 200 family memberships to bring in that amount of cash. To date we have less than 40.

The pool owes $69,500 to the Farmers Home Administration. That amount has increased over the years rather than decreased, as we haven't been able to make the interest payments of approximately $3,500. It appears we won't make it again this year unless income increases greatly.

If you want to help save your pool, the best way to do it is to become a member and encourage your friends to join. If you would rather simply make a donation, we will accept that also. Contact Dorothey Runkle. Ask for a receipt for your tax free donation.

The board is planning a benefit dance for Aug. 9 at the American Legion. Watch for details and plan to attend. Please help us to help your pool.

Memberships and Admissions

Memberships are available for the 1980 season at $25 for a single membership and $50 for a family membership. Family memberships may be purchased with $25 initial payment with the balance of $25 payable on or before Aug. 1. The Board regrets the fact that it was unable to reduce the price of membership after the delay in opening.

This spring we hope that you will agree with us that only a few good swimming days were lost and that a lot of summer still remains. In addition to free admission to the pool, members receive free beginning swimming lessons, may bring guests at reduced admission, and may rent the pool after hours for $25 as opposed to $35 for non-members. Rates were not increased from 1979.

Those who do not wish to participate as members may still use the pool by paying a walk-in admission of $1.25 for 6 to 15 year-olds and $2 for 16 and over. Children five and under are admitted free. Swimming lessons are available for a small fee. The pool will be open through Labor day from 1 to 5 and 6 to 8:30 weekdays, and from 1 to 8:30 on holidays and weekends.

Remember, July 4 you may swim all day for only 50¢. Bring your friends and enjoy your pool. Better yet, become a member and help us keep the pool in operation for future generations.

If you have questions the phone number at the pool is 687-9851 or you may call any board member.

Who Makes The News...

THIS PAPER CARES ABOUT?

YOU DO!!

Somewhere there's the news of a new citizen or two who's come into our lives, noisy and hungry. To you, it's a baby. To others it's a sister or a brother or a niece or a grandson. But its arrival is an important and happy event worthy of notice.

Somewhere else there is news of losses — grievous ones — and we have occasion to reflect on the sometimes inscrutible nature of life's patterns.

Then there are graduations, and weddings, homecomings and leavings. There are meetings and plannings and projects.. All the efforts expended by you to advance a cause, change a situation, improve our community. There are promotions and advancements and honors and controversies.

There are the exertions of volunteer firemen serving us with their skill and dedication, and of so many others who provide community services.

All this — the complexity of community life — is reported and commented on by this newspaper 52 weeks a year.

Basic to these efforts is the realization that this newspaper exists not just FOR YOU . . . but BECAUSE OF YOU.

It is first and foremost . . . YOUR NEWS-PAPER!

We appeal to the public to support our effort by savings newspapers and bringing them to the truck that's parked in the lot of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church or by leaving them tied or bagged at the kerb on days when house-to-house collection is made."

Life with joys, sorrows par for course: Auntie

By AUNT LIZ

We have lived in Ohio a quarter of a century now.

Before we came here, Ohio was merely a state I passed through on the B & O from Washington to Chicago.

Then years later we had neighbors in Switzerland who came from Medina county and Columbus, and they kept telling us how great the state was. That was back in the days of Taft.

After a few more years, somehow we bought a newspaper in Ohio.

It looked good at the time. After about a year we did not think it looked that good, and really started looking around. The good ones that we would have liked were family owned, and no way would they part with them. The ones otherwise had really great flaws. I remember one time driving halfway across the state to look at one for sale and discovered it was kind of messed up with gambling and most likely the local Mafia.

I will never forget that day. It was a nice summer drive. The town was miserable, one good look did it, but it was noon time, so we waltzed into a local tavern for lunch. I had to visit the littls girls' room and when I came back, you-know-who said, "Guess what just happened to me?" This I could not even guess at, since he was still sitting in the booth I had left him in. He was approached by a lady of the day and was really impressed. I think he would have bought that paper on the spot if I had not said no.

Perhaps I am really aging, but you live with a community. You live through the joys and sorrows of each family. Some you know very well and some very vaguely. Over the years of living in Ohio I have cried my eyes out about people; some I really never knew but I did know their families.

What really bugs me, and that is a very bad way of saying it all, is that so many are so ready to downgrade a community. This is endemic in every community and something a real foreigner has never been able to figure out.

So many want to blame all sorts of people who acted in complete good faith for all sorts of misdoings.

I gather they would like to put the blame on someone who came after them for something they may have done that might have started it all.

One thing I have discovered over the years is that most people have very short memories of what happened even five years back.

Now we as a nation are really in a problem, and if you do not agree, just ask a neighbor. I was very young in the Great Depression which is history now, but, boy, we are really close to it today.

Everyone is going to have to pitch in to help his local businesses, which I am well aware no one will do, but your local tax money is dependent on it, so you are only hurting yourself.

Here're menus

Here're menus for the week for senior citizen's luncheons in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church:

Tuesday: Creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, broccoli, biscuit with margarine, fruit in season, milk;

Wednesday: Baked steak, scalloped potatoes, wax beans, bread with margarine, pudding, milk;

Thursday: Breaded veal, tossed salad, buttered succotash, bread with margarine, citrus fruit, milk.

Festival food being sought

Villagers are being solicited this week for foods for the Plymouth Firemen's annual festival Aug. 1 and 2 by the Fire ladies and a group of women assisting them.

Monetary contributions are welcomed along with pies, cakes, potatoes, Great Northern beans, eggs, bacon, salad dressing, catsup, pimentoes, margarine and brown sugar.

Cost of Willard water: $97,000 annually

A proposed contract by the City of Willard to furnish the village with its daily supply of water was reviewed during a special meeting of the council Monday evening.

Mayor Eric J. Akers pointed out the contract calls for a charge of $1.26 for each 1,000 gallons used. Based on usage of 200,000 gallons a day, which has been the average consumption, this will cost roughly $7,500 a month.

During preliminary talks between Willard officials and the village's water committee, the monthly sum discussed was $3,800.

Along with the charge for the water, the village would pay the interest on the funding, which was figured for periods of 15, 20 and 25 years at various rates.

The average rate of eight per cent for a 15-year period would be approximately $1,600 a month, thus making the annual costs for both water and interest close to $97,000.

At the present rates the water fund derives about $60,000 annually, so a substantial rate increase will be necessary for local consumers.

Councilman Michael R. Taylor expressed the opinion that the several sections of the proposed contract need much clarification, "At least it is a start," he said.

The proposed 20-year contract states the village will only service customers not over 1,000 feet from the northern corporation line, prohibits the village from using any other water system (which could be the present wells) unless it is mutually agreed; that the village would increase its water rates in keeping with any increases Willard enacts; and that Willard would not be held liable for any unforseen emergencies, such as inadequacy of water pressure.

Each section of the contract was reviewed, although no formal action was taken. The mayor said he plans to rewrite some of the provisions.

James C. Root, village administrator, who was visibly disappointed with the contract as it is now written, said that for what Plymouth would be paying Willard, perhaps another source of water would be a wise decision.

In any case this is not a decision for the commissioners to make. Each office must decide what hours to maintain and the commissioners must keep the court house open during those hours. Anyone with comment regarding the hours of the court house should direct them to each and all of the following; auditor, clerk of courts, recorder, sheriff, treasurer and each judge."

$11,051 suit laid in court against Kilgore

Jerry Kilgore, Plymouth route 1, is defendant in a civil action filed in Richland county common pleas court by Moore's, a division of Evans Products Co., Mansfield, seeking $11,051 it claims is due from a credit agreement negotiated in September, 1977.

'Sacred seven' to convene tomorrow

The seven-member financial planning commission appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes will have its first meeting tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the village hall.

This is the first step in bringing the village out of its deficit.

The meeting is open to the public.

Shiloh to seek levy renewal

Village council at Shiloh doesn't intend to let the delicate fiscal balance teeter any more than necessary.

It voted, with one dissent, on June 26 to place a 2.5-mill operating levy that is due to expire Dec. 31, 1981, on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Councilman Harry Foster voted nay.

Apparent reasoning of the council: if because of adverse economic conditions, the renewal should be defeated, there would still be two chances in 1981, in June and in November, to resubmit it.

Besides, this reasoning goes on, it is not a new tax and approval now would merely extend the existing tax.

Robert Adams, street commissioner, told the council the roof on police headquarters needs repair. He was told to seek estimates for the repair.

Mayor Charles Bell told the council that citizens having complaints of nuisances should call the sheriff's department and file a complaint.

1976 alumnus wed to North Fairfielder

A 1976 alumnus of Plymouth High school, Daniel Robert Gilger, Plymouth route 1, and Miss Barbara Ann Bond were married June 21 in North Fairfield United Methodist church by the Rev. Richard Lawrence.

The bride is the daughter of the Paul Bonds, North Fairfield. The bridegroom is the son of the John Gilgers, Shiloh route 1.

The bride was attired in an Empire gown of sheer organza trimmed with Alencon lace. A fingertip veil was suspended from a Juliet headpiece. She carried white silk roses with rainbow-colored apple blossoms on a white Bible that was carried by her mother and her sister when they were married.

The bride's sister, Sue, now Mrs. Robert Cuppy, Shiloh, was matron of honor. Mrs. Kevin Wilhelm, Greenwich, and the Misses Barbara Fidler, Shiloh route 1, and Tonia Wheeler, Norwalk, were bridesmaids.

They wore gowns made by Mrs. Cuppy, trimmed in lace with shoulder ties, in aquamarine blue, pink and yellow.

Ronald Scarbro, Shiloh, was best man.

A son, Brandon Mark, weighing 8 lb., 5 ozs., was born July 2 in Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk, to Mr. and Mrs. Randy Kennard. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Enderby and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pennel Kennard, Shiloh. He is their first child.

A daughter, Kendara Michelle, weighing 6 lb., 6 ozs., was born July 2 in Shelby Memorial hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Scott Stephens. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Courtright and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Stephens, New Haven.

The bridegroom is employed by Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., and is engaged in farming.

Albino

Rare albino groundhog, said to occur once in 20,000 births, was captured alive July 8 by Tim Brown, 22, left, and Mike Lawrence, 16, in a field off Route 98. The animal is a male, aged about three months, its captors guess.

Shiloh grew by 27 persons

A 3.3 per cent population increase in Shiloh in 10 years is below the state and national average.

Preliminary census returns show the 1980 population at 844, a gain of 27 since 1970.

King to run for auditor

A Bellevue railroad employee who has sought public office once before is the choice of Huron county Democrats to oppose Auditor C. B. Roscoe in November.

Roscoe succeeded Kenneth Reed, veteran Willard auditor, who resigned.

King is a transportation clerk for the Norfolk & Western railroad. He has 11 years experience in real estate sales in Bellevue and has taken appraisal courses in Ohio State university.

He and his wife, Delsie, are the parents of three children.

King said in a prepared release, "I will begin upgrading the system within the office and coordinate it with the needs of related offices, such as the treasurer".

Firemen were called. Several of them and a policeman complainèd of burning eyes. They were treated at the scene.

The canister was brought home by Collins as a war souvenir.

It was first believed it was military issue and Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, was called. The caller was referred to Rickenbacker AFB, Columbus, where the canister was identified and police were told the contents would not do lasting damage.

Cleveland accountants chosen to watchdog village finances

A Cleveland accounting firm was chosen by split vote Friday to steer Plymouth through its fiscal difficulties.

The new financial planning and supervision commission chose Ernst & Whinney over Arthur Anderson, another Cleveland accounting firm, by vote of three to two. The two non-local members of the commission did not vote.

President William R. Miller, Mayor Eric J. Akers and James C. Davis voted for Ernst & Whinney. David A. Howard and Gregory Kibler voted for Young.

The vote to issue a contract to Ernst & Whinney carried by five to two, the non-local members casting ballots for Ernst & Whinney.

Ralph Roll, representing Ernst & Whinney, told the commission his principals are the supervisor for Norwood, which is in the same predicament as Plymouth, and probably would have been given the same task for Cleveland save that Ernst & Whinney was involved in many of the details incident to preparation of its request to go into receivership.

Thomas Tracy, representing Arthur Anderson, said it appears much of Plymouth's problem is that utility funds and intermingled with the general fund. He said his principals have much experience as auditors of Cleveland's light, water and airport departments.

Akers argued that Roll's experience with Norwood and Cleveland would be useful. He said further the village's utilities will be in black ink by year's end, a contention with which Howard disagreed.

Kibler said his employer, Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., employs Anderson and perhaps there may be a conflict of interest. Davis countered by saying First Buckeye Bank, N. A., uses Ernst & Whinney.

By-laws patterned after Norwood's were adopted. The commission will meet publicly on the second Friday monthly at 10 a.m., almost always in Plymouth.

Terry O'Dell, employed by PLW, was hired as secretary to the commission.

Akers told the commission that in view of a severe cash flow problem in the village, perhaps the state should be asked to buy general revenue notes. He said that Friday's payroll was met by diverting federal tax revenue sharing funds and he could see no sure way to meet the next payroll.

James Marsh, deputy budget director, suggested inquiry be made of the attorney-General as to how to proceed. The attorney-general may assign a deputy to advise the commission. Frances Lesser, legal counsel to the Ohio treasurer, told the commission.

Time short to seek funding

The village must by law apply to the state board of control within 90 days of when the state panel was seated. Three weeks have already expired.

And, the local commission was told Friday, the state right now doesn't have any money to speak of to do any bailing out.

James Marsh, deputy budget director, said Friday there is about $5,000 in the till and there aren't any emergency funds available. If it applies now, Plymouth will be accorded priority when such funds do become available.

When the club applied for the license, village officials joined nearby residents in opposing it.

$2,079,053 — Schools adopt record budget

A record school budget of $2,079,053 for 1981 was approved Monday night by Plymouth Board of Education.

If indeed the board spends that much, it will go into the red by $10,375.97.

Anticipated receipts are $2,068,677.03.

Outstanding bonded indebtedness is $1,422,000 as of Jan. 1, 1981. The district will pay off $106,000 in bonds and $81,690 in interest during 1981.

Two teachers resigned, two others requested to be relieved of extra-curricular duties and seven teachers were hired.

Miss Kathy L. Knowles, secondary vocal music teacher, will be married to the Sandusky county auditor and live in Fremnt. She said the commuting distance is too great.

Miss Kevin Rinehart, primary intensive education teacher at Shiloh, also resigned.

Mollie Gatoff quit as junior high cheerleader adviser, after three years of service. Mrs. Amy Collins anticipates confinement late in December and resigned as head tennis coach.

One year teaching contracts were approved for Mrs. Judith Mawhorr, second grade, Plymouth Elementary school; Mrs. Karen Milligan, first grade, Plymouth Elementary school; Mrs. Carol Kirkpatrick, vocational home economics, Plymouth High school; Miss Denise Hefner, kindergarten, Plymouth Elementary school;

Also, Mrs. Cynthia Hornacle, elementary art; Mrs. Kathleen Orr, vocal music, and Miss Sandra Herren, business education.

Mrs. Orr was given supplementary contracts as cheerleader adviser and director of the high school musical.

Fee schedule for 1980-81 was approved. It is the same as that for 1979-80, save that the fee for driver training is doubled, from $5 to $10.

A list of nine goals for the comming school year, submitted by Supt. Douglas Staggs, was approved without discussion.

The goals are:

1. Continue to work on pupils' behavior and implement new discipline policy.
2. Continue to work on improving pupil attendance and drop-out rate.
3. Evaluate the extra-curricular activity program and reevaluate district philosophy toward these activities.
4. Initiate a curriculum study of physical education program in kindergarten through the 12th grade.
5. Evaluate graduation requirements.
6. Continued effort to energize the physical plant, with emphasis on the high school and Shiloh Elementary school.
7. Study community-public relations procedures.
8. Study the effect of enrollment trends on school attendance areas.
9. Continued efforts: In the improvement of staf relations; communications in school; gifted program; keeping the district in a financially solvent condition.

High school principal James Craycraft submitted and won approval of his proposals to enforce discipline in the high school.

Fundamentally, his technique is to assign a point system for offenses by a pupil. Accumulation of five

Village staff to join national trade union

Claiming village council has not acted in good faith in fulfilling promises to discuss a new pay ordinance with its employees, 14 are taking the matter in their own hands and plan to affiliate with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Terry Jump, electric superintendent, spokesman for the employees, told the council so during an executive session Thursday night.

Jump claims the last pay ordinance passed about a year ago and ammended Oct. 2, 1979, was only to be in effect until the first of the year, when the council would again discuss changes, this the council has refused to do, he said.

What the newly-formed group is asking for was not mentioned, although it is apparent that it seeks a pay raise and other adjustments in benefits.

The group includes utility department employees and the police department.

It chose Jump as president. Patrolman Ronald Croxford is the vice-president, James Holloman, water plant superintendent, is secretary and Theodore Brown, street and sewer superintendent, treasurer.

Mayor Eric J. Akers will meet with the parent group from Toledo Tuesday to begin discussions.

Thursday's meeting produced another headache for the council. Trustees of Plymouth and New Haven township believe they own a share of the present ambulance and wish to have the matter clarified.

The contract for ambulance service with both townships expired Jan. 1, 1979, and it was agreed that the contract would remain in effect as it was until a new one can be drawn up.

Plymouth Township Trustee Larry Tucker said the new contract should state that the townships jointly with the village own the ambulance.

Plymouth Township Trustee Chester Jones complained his township has not received any ambulance reports for this year.

In the past, each township received a monthly report for runs and expenses.

The fire contract with New Haven township expired May 1 and the only meeting to date was an informal one with Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine, who could not be a spokesman for the council.

Strine has said the township would like to continue the new contract as the previous one.

It was agreed the old contract would remain in effect until the council and township can come up with a new version.

The fire contract with Plymouth township does not expire until May 1, 1981.

Mrs. Frank Smith told the council she would like to terminate the option the village has for a well on her property in Route 61.

When the option was agreed upon in 1956, the village paid her $100 annually, and the agreement stated that the option could be terminated with a year's notice. She now wishes to terminate it.

Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and Michael R. Taylor said the matter should be given more consideratioon because of the village's water problems and that she can expect an answer within 60 days.

The last payment made to her of $300 was on Dec. 5, 1978, in the amount of $200, when a previous council agreed to give up the option.

Mrs. Smith said she had a letter written by former solicitor Robert A. McKown to her lawyer, Kenneth Thornton, Willard, that the lease was to continue and that she had not been notified that the council wished to drop it.

Moore brought up the subject of homeowners drilling their own water wells and how the village can control the charges for the use of the sanitary sewers.

The present sewer ordinance does not provide for water consumption from private sources.

One case was cited that a householder was drilling his own well, had a septic tank for waste materials and saw no reason to connect to the sewer system.

A previous council set Oct. 1 of this year as the deadline to connect to the system.

To date the council has not come up with any penalties or new charges for tap-ins.

When the new system was approved in 1972, it was agreed that tap-in fee would remain at $50. The reasoning was that, in 1965, when the lagoons and the interceptor system were installed, about 50 householders were required to tap-in and the thinking was that the remainder of the village would also have tapped in at that rate if it could have done so, so the $50 rate was agreed upon as being completely fair.

James C. Root, village administratior, estimates about two-thirds of the village has connected to the new system.

The council met Friday's payroll by allocating more federal revenue sharing funds to meet what was to be paid from the general fund.

Previously, when money was allocated from this fund, it was thought to be able to handle several payrolls, but the additional health insurance and solicitor fees were not taken in account.

points will result in a letter sent to the parent or guardian. Accumulation of 10 points will result in a call on the parent by the principal as well as a formal letter. When 15 points have been accumulated, the pupil will be suspended for three days and the parents will be summoned to a pupil-parent-principal conference.

Such offenses as smoking in unauthorized areas will result in 30 points and suspension for five days. For use of alcohol or drugs, 45 points are assessed and a 10-day suspension with a possible recommendation of expulsion, result.

Craycraft explained that tardiness is the principal cause for disciplinary action. Fifteen instances of tardiness will result in 15 points being assessed and a three-day suspension handed out.

Pupils may "earn" points by continued good behavior. Removal of one or more points from a pupil's record may be effected by the principal on proper justification.

Craycraft said he thinks pupils have not been adequately informed of what is expected of them and he intends to rectify this situation with better communication techniques with pupils.

A contrct to repair roofs at the high school and Shiloh Elementary school was authorized for Roofing Construction Co., Iberia, at $50,000. There was one other bidder, Mike Volk Co., Mansfield, at $61,809. Marr, Knappo & Crawfis Associates, Mansfield architects, will supervise the work.

Who Makes The News...

THIS PAPER CARES ABOUT?

YOU DO!!

Somewhere there's the news of a new citizen or two who's come into our lives, noisy and hungry. To you, it's a baby. To others it's a sister or a brother or a niece or a grandson. But its arrival is an important and happy event worthy of notice.

Somewhere else there is news of losses — grievous ones — and we have occasion to reflect on the sometimes inscrutible nature of life's patterns.

Then there are graduations, and weddings, homecomings and leavings. There are meetings and plannings and projects.. All the efforts expended by you to advance a cause, change a situation, improve our community. There are promotions and advancements and honors and controversies.

There are the exertions of volunteer firemen serving us with their skill and dedication, and of so many others who provide community services.

All this — the complexity of community life — is reported and commented on by this newspaper 52 weeks a year.

Basic to these efforts is the realization that this newspaper exists not just FOR YOU . . . but BECAUSE OF YOU.

It is first and foremost . . . YOUR NEWS-PAPER!

Mrs. Garrett displays one shaker among a collection of over 3,600 individual shakers.

She collects shakers for salt and pepper

It's collecting of salt and pepper shakers.

And Mrs. Willard O. Garrett, 79 West Broadway, has about 1,800 pairs of them, all but a handful stored in china closets that occupy the east wall of her attractive dining room and stand in the archway between the dining and living rooms.

Mrs. Garrett, a widow, is the former Gladys Cavalier of Willard. She came to Plymouth 54 years ago. Her late husband was employed in the foundry of the Fate-Root-Heath Co. before he retired. So was her late son. Robert. The Garretts first lived in Riggs street, but 26 years ago moved to the second house west of the camelback bridge astride the 41st parallel.

And about that time, she began to collect salt and pepper shakers.

"I would buy them when I saw the ones I liked," she says, "and my friends would pick them up wherever they travelled. Over the years I've gotten salt and pepper shakers from Germany, France, Spain and other places. Just lately I got a set from Las Vegas, Nev., that are shaped like slot machines."

She hasn't any special favorite. In fact, hardly any of them is a favorite when it comes time to clean them.

Despite the fact they're housed in china cabinets, dust creeps in upon them and then it's time for a bath.

She has a system.

"I get a chair and two cloths, one wet and one dry. Then I go through them one shelf at a time, taking each one down, wiping it with the wet cloth, then with the dry one and placing them on the chair, so that I can clear dust from the shelf itself. Once that's done, I put them back where they belong."

It takes about two weeks of more or less steady work to clean the whole collection. And in 50 or 60 days, it's time to do it again.

What're some of the unique shakers?

"There's this one," she says, pointing to a bizarre concoction. "It's a nut-and-bolt, made of china, and the nut unscrews from the bolt to make two shakers, one for pepper and one for salt."

Almost all of her collection is of porcelain or china. There are a few wooden ones and a handful of metal and plastic shakers.

"It wasn't usual, a generation ago, to make salt and pepper shakers of anything but china or porcelain, which is easier to clean and to keep clean and which doesn't absorb moisture so the salt and pepper won't cake," Mrs. Garrett explains. "But I've never been fussy — if the shakers offered to me were different from any other I had, I took them and said thank you."

And that's another thing that's unique about this fantastic collection of salt and pepper shakers: there're no two pairs of them alike. For Gladys Garrett and her little six-year-old toy miniature poodle, who's recently had two bouts of surgery because of gallstones, the 1,800-odd salt and pepper shakers afford many hours of whilom.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

To discourage malingering —

The time by which householders must be connected to the sanitary sewer is only 75 days off. The fee for doing so is $50, plus $10 for inspection. The cost of doing so, however, is another story. And in these times, when so many workers have been laid off, and others find it onerous to hire the money to pay for the work, that cost may be such that some householders won't comply with the order of village council to be connected by Oct. 1.

What the council plans to do about it hasn't been discussed. The village administrator estimates that about two-thirds of all households have connected. This leaves roughly 240 households that are not done so.

What the council ought to do is to reemphasize the deadline date and to enact an ordinance requiring connection by that time, with adequate teeth in it to discourage malingerers. A stiff penalty should be affixed.

In some communities, in addition to the penalty decided upon by the legislative authority, including a new penalty for each day of failure to connect, the council has decreed that sewer tap-ins shall be paid for at the rate of $1,500. Considering the investment the community has made in a sanitary sewer system, this is quite in order.

Not to enforce the present rules, or to extend the deadline without good reason other than that hte householder didn't plan ahead well enough, is to be unfair to those who buckled down and got the job done within the time allotted.

And not to raise the tap-in rate for new customers is to be equally unfair to those who financed the program in the first place.

Less police protection certain in budget approved here

Decreased police protection for 1981 foreordained by village council Thursday night when it approved a balance budget for 1981.

The budget, prepared for the first time in history by other than the chief fiscal officer, as required by law, calls for an expenditure of only $37,712.33 for the police department, of which $15,000 is reserved for operation and maintenance. The remainder, $22,712.33, will allow for employment of one police officer and a part-time officer.

The budget was prepared by Mayor Eric J. Akers. There was absolutely no comment on the budget by any of the four councilmen present. Initially, there was no quorum, since Councilman G. Thomas Moore was indisposed. Councilman Ervin Howard left the hall and in about 20 minutes returned with his brother, Councilman David A. Howard. There was no explanation as to why the younger Howard did not report on time.

The mayor told the council he believes that change will be necessitated once the state-appointed finance committee begins its real work.

He also said there is a necessity for at least a three mill levy to be placed on the ballot for the general fund. This would generate about $16,000. Such a levy has twice failed at the polls.

The mayor estimates there will be $72,253.33 coming into the general fund for 1981.

The breakdown is as follows: $24,000 in real estate taxes, up about $900 over this year; $17,000 in personal property taxes; $2,000 in intangible taxes; $200 in trailer taxes; $15,000 in local government taxes from the state; $5,500 in estate taxes; $350 in cigarette taxes; $1,900 in liquor permits; $2,800 in fines and court costs; $120 in local permits and $3,383,33 from other rental income, which is what the village is receiving from the rental of part of the sewer lagoon site for farming purposes.

What is to be disbursed from the fund will include $1,000 for fire prevention; $200 for the county health levy; $1,500 for the mayor's salary and $250 for expenses; $7,500 for the salary of the clerk-treasurer plus $1,000 for operating expenses; $2,750 for the solicitor and $1,440 for council salaries plus $500 for expenses.

These planned expenditures will leave a deficit at the end of 1981 for the general fund in the sum of $341.

This figure is considerably lower than past years. But how iwll the general fund expedite its expenditures in the first few months of 1981? In the past, the village had two choices, asking for a tax advance, which was slow in coming, or borrow from a bank, which it did with great regularity and managed to pay it off until two years ago when $15,000 was borrowed and so far only a third has been repaid.

The mayor presented his figures to the council and it is now up to it to come up with more revenue to solve the probem.

All funds will end 1981 with zero balance with the exceptions.

The park will have a balance of $1,444.25 and the income tax fund $47,000. The water fund will have a balance of $5,434.92, which will be the result of an increase in the present rates to fund the proposed pipe line from Willard as the village's share.

The various reserve funds which are building up should be used for capital improvements, the mayor said.

This includes the water reserve fund, which has $3,000 earmarked, leaving a balance of $12,361.39 and the electric fund with $25,000, leaving that balance with $42,312.81.

The sewer reserve fund will have $41,570.48, which is earmarked to be set aside to equal one annual payment to Farmers Home administration, which should bee reached in about three years, since the fund was set up for a 10-year period when the village adopted the present sewer rates required by FHA.

At the end of 1981 the fire equipment fund, which is being set aside for a new pumper, will reach $67,509, generated by the present three mill levy voted upon for that purpose.

No!

No union, no pay checks for employees

Village employees were left on a limb Thursday night when village council took no action upon their request to designate the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees as their bargaining agent.

And they weren't paid for the time period ending Friday.

Mayor Eric J. Akers called for an executive session to discuss the problem. (While members of news media were standing outside the council room but could see in, one young reporter said it would be worthwhile if someone could read lips.)

When the meeting convened, the mayor asked for a motion to accept the bargaining agent. It was greeted with silence from the four councilmen present, G. Thomas Moore, Dean A. Cline, Ervin Howard and Michael Taylor.

What was so surprising about it all is that Howard was instrumental in organizing a union among the office workers of his former employer, Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

The meeting did not get off to a very good start.

Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Theodore Montgomery said there was only enough money to pay the utility employees and one cemetery employee. She said she lacked $1,903.46 to pay the other cemetery employees and the police department. She said she did not know how much money the income tax had in its funds. It turned out later that there was a balance of $6,500. To transfer the money to the general account will mean an emergency meeting of the council and no plans were made for such a meeting Thursday night.

Then the mayor said that Mrs. Montgomery had to leave to care for a sick child and he asked Cline to take the minutes. To which Cline replied, "the council should not be burdened with this". The mayor ended up writing them.

Representatives from two companies wishing to undertake the codification of the village ordinances spoke before the council.

The first, Michael Kelly, Draine Co., Toledo, offered a charge of $5,500 for the initial work and $250 a year for a five-year period to keep them updated. He pointed out the traffic code is published in a separate volume for the convenience of the police department, and that the work would take six to nine months to complete.

John Fazio, Justinian Co., Cleveland, said his company would do the work for $4,000 with an annual updating fee of $150.

He said colored pages would be employed, which would make it easier for those not familiar with legal texts to use.

Howard said the prices quoted would be in effect for 30 days, but the mayor chose not to formally present the decision to the council now.

He seemed to favor the Cleveland firm. The mayor said he had discussed the proposals with the village solicitor, Richard Wolfe, who requested he be allowed input over who does the work.

Jeffrey Crewel, Mansfield Public library, approached the council and asked that it change its decision to charge the Plymouth Branch library for utility services.

This was initiated last fall, when the council by a motion made by Councilman David A. Howard said no more free services would be accorded by the village.

Crewel explained the Plymouth branch operates differently from the other county branches in that it had been organized locally by a group of interested women and the local Girl Scout troop many years ago, and that today it was the only one paying rent for its premises.

The other county branches, he said, were organized much later and were housed in local municipal buildings.

Village Administrator James C. Root told the council the library's electric bill is about $15 monthly.

Moore said he thought the village could assume the bill, and the mayor said that legislation could be altered to call the library a non-profit organization. He will refer the matter to the village solicitor.

A committee of Moore, Taylor and Cline met last week with three members of the Willard council and its city manager, Paul Capelle.

Moore said everyone was in complete agreement on all the aspects of the proposed water contract whereby Willard will furnish Plymouth water save with two exceptions.

The two are the crux of the entire contract: who constructs what and who pays for what and who will own what and pay what for the water.

"The door is still open", Moore said.

Taylor suggested that Plymouth needs to do more work on its end as to figures and the amount of what the present water supply is costing.

The contract was referred by the mayor to the general services committee for further study.

Mayor Akers said he has been approached by a contractor who is contemplating a new allotment. He said the planning commission must be appointed.

Howard nominated Taylor as the council member and the mayor will appoint three more from the community. He will also be a member of it.

Mopeds are getting out of control in Trux street, Moore told his colleagues. He feels something should be done about it. No action was taken.

Action is being taken, however, on the metering of private wells for sewer charges. Root brought the question up and was told that an ordinance is being prepared.

Taylor, who attended a briefing meeting with the Consumers Council in Columbus July 11, said it has been estimated village gas users have saved about $40,000 by the council's refusal two years ago to accept a new contract with Columbia Gas Co.

He was told the decision of the PUCO, which was requested by the company when the village turned down the contract, should be forthcoming in about six weeks.

He also said that when a municipality negotiates with a utility, the rates wind up 10 to 12 per cent higher than when the PUCO is involved.

What villagers will wind up paying for gas is out of local hands now. The company in several proposals offered increases based on 1976 costs of materials, but when the case was presented to the PUCO, the costs were based on partial years of 1978 and 1979, which would reflect the inflationary costs of the economy.

The mayor requested that a sum of $858.52, which has been left perhaps wrongly and should have been spent last year, be used from the anti-recession fund for repair of village vehicles.

It was approved by motion with only Howard voting nay.

A resolution is being prepared to have the Huron county engineer do some street work, which will be paid for from the permissive tax money now on deposit in Norwalk, about $1,600.

South and Spring streets and the North street bridge need tar and chipping, Root said. He estimates it will cost about $1,500.

He remarked, "it is too bad Richland county does not have this program". It did at one time, proposed and passed by the county commissioners, but later placed on the ballot and voted down.

An emergency ordinance transferred $6,363.01 from the fire reserve fund to the operating and maintenance fund, which will meet the firemen's payroll due last month.

The mayor said he had checked with the state auditor's office and was told that all reserve funds must be approved by the auditor. He is now questioning the legality of the other reserve funds which were created by councils over the years, with the idea they would be used for dire emergencies or capital improvements.

Will a three mill levy for police protection be placed on the November ballot or will the council charge the present income tax ordinance so that all that income can be used for the general fund? That was the mayor's final question to the council.

He said any plan adopted by the state-appointed financial commissions which he presents to them must be approved by the council first.

Poet gets $1,000 grant

A Plymouth route 1 poet has been awarded a grant from the Aid to Individual Artist Program by the Ohio Arts Council.

The $1,000 grant was awarded for the quality, innovativeness, and advancement of the art form based on Terry Hermsen's submission of 15 poems. The grant will enable him to spend more time writing and revising his work.

Hermsen has been at work in poetry for over 10 years, publishing in numerous magazines. As a poet in the Artist in the Classroom program of the Ohio Arts Council, he has done poetry residencies at St. Peter's Elementary and High school, Union Elementary, and other Ohio schools. He has also conducted poetry sessions at Young Authors Conferences for Wayne County and Scioto-Darby school systems.

The Aid to Individual Artists Program of the OAC, one of the few in the U.S., is designed to encourage artists to stay in Ohio and to promote community involvement with poetry. If anyone is interested in public readings or talks to community groups, he can call the poet at 687-3085.

The Hermsens live in Route 603.

Wire falls, ox roast disrupted

A service wire fell from a utility pole in Main street at Shiloh Saturday night, disrupting the annual ox roast parade and forcing hot beef to be sold cold.

The parade was bout half-way past the reviewing stand when the wire fell, having sparked for about 15 seconds on the pole before it fell.

The parade marched on and, while ox roast devotees stood in the dark punctuated here and there by the light of flashlights, village workers toiled to restore electricity. This was accomplished about 10:30 p.m.

Mark Hellinger, Station WMAN, Mansfield, Jeff Sprang, a Mansfield News Journal reporter, and Gary Michaels, Station WCLW, judged the entries, which numberrd about 140.

Three questions, no answers!

Because Councilmen Dean A. Cline and Ervin Howard did not show up for the water committee meeting, Mayor Eric J. Akers, Councilman G. Thomas Moore and Village Administrator James C. Root met formally.

They agreed to lay ground-work on the proposed water line from the Willard treatment plant to Plymouth.

However, three questions must be answered, they determined.

Why is consumption greater in the village than what the EPA estimates for average daily use, which it says is 60 gallons a person?

Are the rates reflective of costs and what are the costs?

No invitation and she's mad!

By AUNT LIZ

Is it me or has the rest of the world suddenly gone out of its cotton-picking mind?

It could be that age is really hitting and I have become a first class prude, although I can still laugh at shady jokes, providing I understand them.

The other day I heard about the Miss Nude Ohio contest and could barely believe it. I was aghast about it all, then I realized they didn't send me an entry blank, which kind of ticked me off.

A few days later I happened to see the winner on a talk show while I was wearing the same old clothes, wear every day and drinking coffee. She, also, was wearing something, which I imagine the TV station had to bribe her into.

She really and truly looked like a nice young lady, was very articulate and seemed well mannered and very pleased with herself.

I do hope her mother does not have a radio nor a TV and will never know.

Now does this make me a first class prude?

The other thing that got to me the last couple weeks is, how dirty all newspapers have become. There are no exceptions to this at all.

Have you noticed your hands after reading maybe four pages?

Plain black. Somehow everyone must be using an ink that simply does not stay on the newsprint. Years back, when papers were fresh off the press, this would happen, but now they can be weeks old and still shed their ink.

The stuff is really hard to wash off, I have discovered. I have learned to read the morning paper, then wash the dishes from the night before, then take a bath and start the day rather clean. This lasts about 20 minutes, until I get to the post office for our mail, which consists of a lot of papers, so I am right back where I started at 6:30 a.m.

Since there is always an answer to everything — just about anyway — some kind sould will solve the problem.

And the answer to a really fancy lunch is a great chicken salad recipe someone gave us last week. Four and a half of us had it the other day — a three-year-old is the half — and there is some left, so it can really serve six comfortably.

Have three cups of cooked cubed chicken ready.

Mix up a half cup of real mayonnaise, the brand really does not matter, with a quarter of a cup of sour cream, a spoon of sugar, a hair under a teaspoon of grated lemon rind, a tablespoon of lemon juice (one lemon can do both) a half teaspoon of ground ginger and about a quarter teapoon salt.

Mix it all up, add the chicken with a cup of finely sliced celery and a cup of seedless grapes.

Chill it briefly and serve on a beautiful lettuce leaf.

If you really want to impress those you are serving, decorate the plate with wedges of avocado and tomatoes.

But if you want to be really practical, cut a hardboiled egg in half for each plate and toss on a handful of chips.

Kin of villagers, 56, dies of heart attack at Willard

Mother of Roger and William Robinson, Plymouth, and of Hansel Robinson, Shiloh, Mrs. John Robinson, 56, Willard, died of heart seizure there July 21.

Born Herma Hall in Topmost, Ky., she lived in or near willard for 30 years.

She was employed by Pioneer Rubber Co. and by Midwest Industries, Inc.

She is also survived by her husband, five sons, Lawrence, Marlynn and Jerry, Willard, and James and John, Norwalk; four daughters, Mrs. Karoyn Sanderson, Milan; Mrs. Peggy Schiffer, Willard, and Rebecca and Carma, at home; four brothers, Lee Hall, Strongsville; Tivis Hall, Willard; Sonny Hall, in Michigan, and Ellis Hall, Topmost, Ky.; a sister, Taney Hall, Wheelwright, Ky., and 23 grandchildren.

A son, Eric, died earlier.

The Rev. James Wilson conducted services from United Baptist church, Willard, Thursday at 2 p.m. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

Earth tremor hardly noted

Plymouth's first noticeable earth tremor in a generation was noticed by some and not noticed by others.

No damage has been reported through official channels.

Occupants of 78 Plymouth street said their house "shook to its foundations and the china rattled for about a minute".

Since heavy trucks pass by their door, which opens onto a slough in the highway, there are frequent shocks as the vehicles gain momentum to approach the Public Square or to surmount the hill at West High street. They at first thought an exceptionally heavy shock had occurred. But then a radio flash reported the earth tremors.

One who lives in Dining-er road at first thought the family dog had kicked the sofa on which he was sleeping. The poor beast was not guilty.

Harvey Robinson had gone to the Marathon station. He had just dismounted from his vehicle when the tremor shook the gasoline pumps and rattled glass and cans.

Others, occupied with family matters, did not notice the tremor at all. This was the case with the Daniel M. Henrys at Maple and North streets.

She is also survived by her husband, a step-son, Lawrence E. Tilton, Lucas; a step-daughter, Mrs. Martha Ann Steagall, Mansfield; a brother, Everett Reigles, Bainbridge, N. Y., and two sisters, Mrs. Elsie Kunkle, N. Y., and Mrs. Lela R. Gott, Redding, Cal.

There were no obsequies. The body was taken to the college of medicine of Ohio State university, Columbus, for anatomical use.

OHIO POWER ANNOUNCES SOMETHING NEW.

It's called Electric Thermal Storage. ETS, for short.

ETS is a revolutionary new home heating system. It includes a furnace, a water heater, and individual room heaters for use with or in place of the furnace.

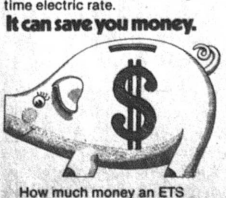

It heats your home and water using stored heat.

ETS, unlike any heating system you're using now, stores heat. At night. Then releases it to heat your home and provides hot water throughout the day.

What's more important, ETS uses electricity only at night. From 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., the hours when the need for electricity from Ohio Power is low. Because Ohio Power can supply electricity at a lower cost during these "Off-Peak" hours, we can offer ETS customers a reduced nighttime electric rate.

It can save you money.

How much money an ETS system can save you, of course, depends on your individual home heating needs. But since space heating and water heating are usually your home's major energy users, the savings can be substantial.

It's proven both safe and effective.

While ETS is new to Americans, Europeans have used it for years. Not long ago, we helped bring it to the United States and then we improved it.

To test its reliability, Ohio Power and other American Electric Power System companies conducted the largest home testing program ever involving 5 states in our part of the country over a 3-year period. The test customers said ETS was effective, dependable and comfortable. What's more, ETS has been approved by Underwriters' Laboratory as safe.

Homeowner satisfaction exceeded our greatest expectations with 9 out of every 10 users stating they preferred ETS to all other types of heating systems.

Although ETS equipment differs from conventional equipment, there are some similarities. An ETS furnace, for example, uses the same ductwork as a conventional furnace. An ETS water heater, even with its 120 gallon capacity that's larger than most, uses the same plumbing. Converting to ETS can be simple in an older home. And installing ETS in a new home is ideal.

The new, lower rate offsets higher initial cost.

While a full ETS system costs more than conventional equipment to install, our tests show it can pay for itself, usually within five years, because of the new lower "Off-Peak" electric rate.

We make ETS systems sound so good, you'd think we were selling them. But we're not.

Although we've been heavily involved in developing and testing ETS systems for American homes, we don't manufacture or sell them. Nor do we have any financial interest in the companies that do. Our interest lies purely in making more efficient use of electricity . . . and helping our customers lower their energy costs.

We feel strongly about the advantages of ETS. So strongly that we applied for and received approval from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to offer a new lower cost "Time-of-Day" rate to ETS users. From Monday through Friday, the lower rate is available for nighttime "Off-Peak" use. On weekends the lower rate is in effect around the clock starting Friday night and ending Monday morning. This lower rate results in substantial savings on all electricity a home uses during these hours — which add up to more than half the week.

Contact us if you'd like to learn more about ETS. There's much more we can tell you and we'll give you our special ETS SAVE booklet.* If you're interested, we'll estimate how much money an ETS system could save you and provide the names of local ETS equipment dealers. Electric Thermal Storage . . . we think it's the best thing to happen in a long, long time.

*Save America's Valuable Energy

We give it our best.

Brumbach named to council post

"I was desperate", said Mayor Eric J. Akers of his appointment of former Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach, 62, to a vacant seat as councilman Thursday.

He implied he had asked a number of citizen-electors to accept appointment to the unexpired term of Mrs. Allan Raymond but he did not identify them.

Brumbach was Akers's opponent in the race for the mayor's post in November. He was defeated, 385 to 125.

Previously, Brumbach had served as councilman between 1973 and 1977. He was defeated for reelection. He was the first village administrator between 1968 and 1970, when he was forced to resign.

Brumbach grew up in Cleveland and stayed in the Air Force after World War II. He retired as a lieutenant colonel after service as a pilot. He and his wife, Helena, live at 290 West Broadway.

Error forces smaller checks

Seven Huron county officers elected in 1977 have been overpaid since January, 1977, and will be compelled to remit the overpayments.

The county auditor's office said July 29 the amounts of the officials' pay checks were miscalculated. This occurred because the calculations failed to take note of the fact that pay days are bi-weekly instead of twice a month.

The auditor's office assumed there would be 26 pay periods a year. But this accounts for only 364 days. The office, said Mrs. Helen Leslie, a deputy auditor, failed to realize the extra day a year and the two extra days each leap year would throw the pay stemey askew.

Because of the extra days, each officer would have received the equivalent of an extra pay check by the end of his term.

Accordingly, the pay of the officers will be reduced each two weeks until the end of the year thus:

Sheriff John Borgia, $64.90;

Prosecutor Richard Hauser, $89.23;

Clerk of Courts Clark Hunter, $60.84;

Recorder John Elmlinger, $58.82;

Coroner William B. Holman, $34.46;

Commissioner Roy Palm, $40.86;

Commissioner Thomas Carabin, $38.51.

Deductions for the two commissioners vary because the terms begin one day apart.

Police get pay in retard

Short by $1,656 to meet the July 25 payroll, village councilmet to cope with the situation.;

Police officers who were not paid July 25 received their pay checks Thursday night after money was diverted from the income tax fund to the general fund.

Meanwhile, Mayor Eric J. Akers told the council he dislikes special meetings "which are burdensome on all of us". He intends, he said, to find a way that can be used to fund the police for the remainder of the year.

Earlier, police met informally and showed anger less that they were not paid on time but that "nobody told us we weren't going to get paid".

And Acting Chief David Gibson told the council that unless it takes some drastic action, "you're going to have the same situation staring you in the face next pay day." He inquired if Akers said he didn't know.

Akers also said he has not completely finalized his draft the recovery plan he is required to submit to the council and to the financia planning and supervision commission, but that he i considering asking again for a three mill operating levy t fund police salaries and a $5 piggyback tax on motor vehicles registered to Richland county residents.

Ill health forces bishop at Toledo to retire

Bishop John A. Donovan, spiritual leader of the 19-count Roman Catholic Diocese of Toledo, announced Friday his resignation, for health reasons, has been accepted by His Holiness, Pope John Paul II.

The announcement was made public by the diocesan chancery in Toledo, the Papal Delegation in Washington, D. C., and the Vatican Communications Office, Vatican City.

Although his formal retirement as Bishop of Toledo is effective immediately, Bishop Donovan has been asked by the Pope to continue to lead the Catholic community of northwestern Ohio as apostolic administrator until the Holy See names a successor.

Bishop Donovan said he looks forward to turning over the administrative burdens of the diocese when his successor is formally installed during a celebration to be held in Rosary Cathedral.

Chancery officials said that Bishop Donovan has had a heart ailment for the past several years, and that while his residence plans during retirement are not complete, Bishop Donovan does intend to live in northwestern Ohio after the sixth Bishop of Toledo is installed.

A native of Chatham, Ont., Canada, born Aug. 5, 1911, Bishop Donovan was ordained a priest of the Archdiocese of Detroit and shortly after his ordination was selected to be secretary to the late Cardinal Mooney. He subsequently served as vice chancellor of the archdiocese, as its chancellor, and was named an auxiliary bishop of the Archidiocese of Detroit in 1954.

In 1967 he succeeded the late Bishop George J. Rehring as Bishop of Toledo.

During his 45 years as a churchman, Bishop Donovan has achieved national prominence in the areas of church communications and social justice.

Here's recipe to beat the heat: shrimp, sherry, shrimp soup

By AUNT LIZ

We can thank our lucky stars that we are not going through the heat wave some are.

It is simply tragic and worst of all, nothing can be done about it.

One news report got to me, though. I gather it was an older woman who was found dead in her home in Topeka that did not have air conditioning.

I would guess that most of the United States is not air conditioned. We are. Somehow we have managed with fans and the best one we own is one of those old black jobs that has got to be at least 50 years old. It came from my mother-in-law when she left her apartment.

When I was growing up, St. Paul could really have heat waves, and it was a custom that all shades were drawn during the day and windows closed. Then at night, when it cooled off a little, everything was opened again and we stayed comfortable.

I can remember one summer in Girl Scout camp when it stayed about 103 for a week and the butter (butter was cheaper then and margarine all but unknown) would be completely melted by the time it got from the kitchen to the tables in the dining hall. I can also remember the winter when I was a 12th grader and it stayed 30 below for a whole month.

Weather makes our memories, somehow. One of the staff of my favorite radio station is leaving Detroit for Kansas City and the other day everyone was saying goodbye to him and he was thanking them all and recalling that he arrived there the day of "the big blizzard of 1978".

None of us will really forget that one. Not even Minnesota could have produced what Ohio got.

That Thursday morning I felt I had to help a little, so got I go in it. Going was not bad, really, but getting home was not so good. A few days later I realized something was wrong ith my eyes. The symptoms went on and on and frankly, I was simply afraid to go to the doctor to find out how ruined I was.

Then came the day to have my glasses changed and I told the good doctor what was wrong. He nicely said, "You must have gotten your eye lids frost bitten" and it was not a serious thing at all.

All I need is a small breeze and they water like mad, even under a hair dryer.

That is one day I will never forget nor will many others.

Somehow we have to adapt to the weather. It does strange things that must be put up with and most people have learned to cope.

There are places around the globe that are really worse off than we are. Once I spent a few days in Aden. The Red Sea temperatures kind of hovered about 110, day and night. Those who could afford it had large ceiling fans in each room. This was before air conditioning was even thought up.

They had one great advantage, they did not need hot water heaters. The water lines were close enough to the surface that the water got heated like mad. Not realizing this, the first shower I had there was a disaster. After a small minute, the water was hot enough to scald yo. The idea was you had to sneak up, turn the water on, get going and out immediately.

The weather will always be with us, which none of us can do a thing about, but you can sure as heck do something in your kitchen to make it more pleasant.

When things really get bad, have a real luxury that you simply would not consider for every day eating. Stash a package of frozen shrimp away, buy a bottle of sherry and a can of cream of shrimp soup. Mix them all together, and if you have a couple of patty shells, great, but it works on plain toast.

It is a real feast.

Perhaps, I should say, about two tablespoons of the sherry, not the whole bottle. A really added touch is a dash of soy sauce to the soup, which should not be diluted so it stays a sauce. A country that can produce such soups has got to be able to put up with the weather. We have it made.

OHIO POWER ANNOUNCES SOMETHING NEW.

It'll heat your home and your water at a new, lower electric rate.

It's called Electric Thermal Storage. ETS, for short.

ETS is a revolutionary new home heating system. It includes a furnace, a water heater, and individual room heaters for use with or in place of the furnace.

It heats your home and water using stored heat.

ETS, unlike any heating system you're using now, stores heat. At night. Then releases it to heat your home and provides hot water throughout the day.

What's more important, ETS uses electricity only at night. From 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., the hours when the need for electricity from Ohio Power is low. Because Ohio Power can supply electricity at a lower cost during these "Off-Peak" hours, we can offer ETS customers a reduced night-time electric rate.

It can save you money.

How much money an ETS system can save you, of course, depends on your individual home heating needs. But since space heating and water heating are usually your home's major energy users, the savings can be substantial.

It's proven both safe and effective.

While ETS is new to Americans, Europeans have used it for years. Not long ago, we helped bring it to the United States and then we improved it.

To test its reliability, Ohio Power and other American Electric Power System companies conducted the largest home testing program ever involving 5 states in our part of the country over a 3-year period. The test customers said ETS was effective, dependable and comfortable. What's more, ETS has been approved by Underwriters Laboratory as safe.

Homeowner satisfaction exceeded our greatest expectations with 9 out of every 10 users stating they preferred ETS to all other types of heating systems.

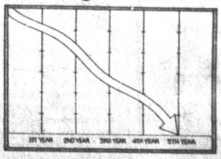

ETS can be installed in new and older homes.

Although ETS equipment differs from conventional equipment, there are some similarities. An ETS furnace, for example, uses the same ductwork as a conventional furnace. An ETS water heater, even with its 120 gallon capacity that's larger than most, uses the same plumbing. Converting to ETS can be simple in an older home. And installing ETS in a new home is ideal.

The new, lower rate offsets higher initial cost.

While a full ETS system costs more than conventional equipment to install, our tests show it can pay for itself, usually within five years, because of the new lower "Off-Peak" electric rate.

We make ETS systems sound so good, you'd think we were selling them. But we're not.

Although we've been heavily involved in developing and testing ETS systems for American homes, we don't manufacture or sell them. Nor do we have any financial interest in the companies that do. Our interest lies purely in making more efficient use of electricity ... and helping our customers lower their energy costs.

We feel strongly about the advantages of ETS. So strongly that we applied for and received approval from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to offer a new lower cost "Time-of-Day" rate to ETS users. From Monday through Friday, the lower rate is available for nighttime "Off-Peak" use. On weekends the lower rate is in effect around the clock starting Friday night and ending Monday morning. This lower rate results in substantial savings on all electricity a home uses during these hours — which add up to more than half the week.

Contact us if you'd like to learn more about ETS. There's much more we can tell you and we'll give you our special ETS SAVE booklet.* If you're interested, we'll estimate how much money an ETS system could save you and provide the names of local ETS equipment dealers. Electric Thermal Storage ... we think it's the best thing to happen in a long, long time.

We give it our best.

Police unpaid again; A - G opinion may help

Another Friday passed last week so salaries were paid to those who receive them from the village's general fund.

This includes the police department, the mayor, the solicitor and part of the clerk-treasurer's salary.

The July 18 payroll was also missed, but Mayor Eric J. Akers managed to scrounge up some income tax money, and they were paid a week later on July 25.

Members of the police department say they realize the village's problem and are willing to go along with it, knowing they will eventually be paid, and will continue to work.

Their main complaint has been that they feel the councilmen have been ignoring them by not having the courtesy to say, "We'll pay you when we can and are doing all we can."

The mayor met with the department several weeks ago and the feeling has been that the mayor's hands are tied so long as the council takes no action.

How shall the village meet its general fund payroll for the remainder of the year?

That question isn't specifically within the purview of the financial planning and supervision commission which met Friday but it was the question that occupied the board for much of the time during which it sat.

There are three routes the village can take.

But much of the solution hangs on a ruling by the attorney-general of Ohio. A preliminary opinion delivered by telephone Friday is to the effect that the village may proceed to "raid" bank accounts representing balances of several funds without court action and with no fear of having proceeded unlawfully.

Mayor Eric Akers drafted for the signature of the chairman of the commission, William R. Miller, a request for a legal opinion. In it Miller asked if the village under fiscal emergency may use monies on acount and even though credited to one fund for the purpose of paying the Payroll of village fund without the necessity of court action, or not in violation of any other state budgetary law."

The attorney-general was to have communicated with Richard Wolfe, the solicitor, early this week to obtain more data before forming a final opinion.

Another remedy is to borrow $17,500 from a local bank, drawing only such money as is required to meet a single payroll, estimated to be $1,700, to avoid payment of higher interest costs.

Ralph Roll, Ernst & Whinney, the accounting firm from Cleveland which is the financial supervisor, said he doubts that any bank would agree to such a loan in the face of the village's defaults.

James C. Davis, manager of First Buckeye Bank, N. A., disagreed

But, he said, if money were advanced, the village would have to repay it by the end of the year, as required by law.

A third remedy is to ask the state treasurer to buy general revenue notes from the village. Mrs. Gertrude Donahey, the treasurer, doesn't like to do this with such small acounts.

James Marsh, deputy director of the state office of the budget, said the village ought to take advantage of the long term financing envisaged in the fiscal emergency statute, which allows the village to repay the loan over eight years, meanwhile using the cash obtained to meet the shorter, requirements.

Miller agreed that the long-term financing arrangement is preferable.

The complexity of arranging to sell short-term municipal revunue notes and the paucity of time available in which to do so are reasons why that avenue will probably not be explored further.

The commission must deliver to the vilage on Aug. 27 a statement of the condition of the village as of July 31 and a projection of the remainder of the year. The commission will meet Aug. 22 to review this report, to be prepared by Roll and Thomas Korwick, an accounting supervisor with Ernst & Whitney.

Ex-teacher gets divorce at Mansfield

Formerly a teacher and coach in Plymouth High school, Robert L. James, Shelby route 3, has obtained in Richland county common pleas court a divorce from his wife, Tamela L. James, Shelby.

Cougar? Phantom? Or what?

Was there or wasn't there a cougar?

Obviously, someone thought there was and alerted the police department on Thursday at 1:59 a.m.

Patrolman Quince Vanderpool was dispatched. He staked out Greenlawn cemetery for the remainder of the night in search of the cat, said also to have been seen near Plymouth Drive-In. Vanderpool was assisted by a sheriff's deputy, Joseph Daugherty.

A dog was found dead in Bell street Friday with teeth marks that might have been inflicted by a large feline.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

A little compassion

The situation by which the police department has not been paid regularly is absolutely intolerable.

Mr. Davis of the financial planning commission put it succinctly on Friday. "What they want is to be wanted, they want to be told."

Certainly the meeting of the commission was a public meeting. It would not have been seemly for any police personnel on duty to have taken the time from that duty to attend the meeting. And those who were not on duty were sleeping or attending to family chores.

It is to be hoped that the opinion of the attorney-general will be favorable and the village can undertake to fund its payroll due from the general fund for the remainder of the year, so that police department personnel may be paid in full, on time.

It is unconscionable that nobody undertakes to inform the police. The mayor should see to it at once that when a crisis arises, someone in authority goes at once to the police department and makes a full and frank disclosure of the situation as it prevails, or is likely to prevail.

Meanwhile, the police are entitled to our thanks for continuing to work without pay.

Rosses excel at golf

The B. Mark Reams sent sanctuary flowers to First Evangelical Lutheran church Sunday in remembrance of their anniversary. The candle was given by Ann Knaus in honor of her 20th anniversary.

Small, quick team, eight lettermen to wear Big Red

Small but quick, green but willing, is how you describe the 1980 Plymouth High school football squad.

Despite the defection of four lettermen, leaving just eight monogram winners, the squad numbers 32, somewhat larger than the 1979 team.

Coach David G. Coulter undertakes his second year at the helm of the Big Red certain "we'll score some points, but the big question is whether we can razzle dazzle enough to make up for a small line."

Lettermen are Steve Tackett, Jeff Jacobs, Phil Gowitzka, Dale Moorman, James Jamerson, Scott Harris, Reggie Ganzhorn and Bill Hudson.

They and the other Plymouth players will scrimmage a big and experienced (15 lettermen) Monroeville squad here Saturday at 10 a.m. Other scrimmages are slated at Fredericktown on Tuesday and at Hillsdale on Aug. 23.

Plymouth opens its 1980 campaign at Buckeye Central (the game will be played on the Wynford field in Routo 30 west of Bucyrus) on Aug 29 at 8 p.m.

McKown accused of fraud, resigns as court referee

The referee in Huron county common pleas court has resigned because he is a defendant in a suit that alleges he defrauded a former client.

Robert A. McKown, Shelby route 3, was appoinmted to the court in 1978 to hear domestic disputes relating to alimony, divorce, contempt and child custody.

He told Judge Robert W. Smith he is not guilty of the accusations but considers the charges damaging to his status as referee.

McKown is accused by Mrs. Gerda Dragunas, Willard, formerly of Plymouth, of fraud in the sale of the family home in Route 603 at the east edge of Plymouth to Miss Pamela Huston, then of Granville, but the fiancee of McKown's son and partner, Neil. Miss Huston and young McKown have since married.

Miss Huston paid $50,000 for the premises. Mrs. Dragunas, is now in the throes of a divorce action against her husband, Dr. Vacys Dragunas, who formerly practiced in Plymouth and later in Willard before departing about a year ago. He now lives in Fayetteville, Ark.

The Dragunases separated in August, 1979. He filed for divorce in April. On May 13 she filed a suit for divorce in Huron county.

Through her attorney, Mrs. Dragunas, who states she is "an immigrant with limited knowledge of commercial matters", alleges that Dr. Dragunas and Mc Kown induced her to sign over her share of the house.

The house is appraised for tax purposed at $13,910, which means it has a fair market value of $39,742.

Judge Smith has issued a restraining order forbidding McKown or his wife, Virginia, who was the real estate agent involved in the transaction, Neil McKown or his wife or Dr. Dragunas from having contact with Mrs. Dragunas and Dragunas is strained from selling any joint property after May 13.

Tammy Hale, Airman Tash wed

Miss Tammy Jo Hale was married July 26 in Willard Church of God to Airman Terry V. Tash, Pease AFB, Portsmouth, N. H. by the Rev. Lawrence Whitney in a double ring ceremony.

Michael McFarren, Dalton, was soloist, accompanied at the piano by his wife.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire style gown of silesta qiana lace with an open motif on the sleeves. The skirt was fashioned with a chapel-length watteau. An open lattice Juliet cap supported a fingertip-length veil of illusion with matching Venice lace appliques on the scalloped edges. She carried a bouquet of silk peach and yellow rosebuds with baby's breath and a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother.

Mrs. Hale made the bride's flowers and those of the bridal party.

Miss Karen Russell, Shiloh, a school friend of the bride, was made of honor, attired in a long, peach gown of qiana in Empire style with cap effect. She carried peach and yellow roses with baby's breath.

The Misses Kathy Cronenwett, Shelby, and Terri Hale, Columbus, the bride's cousins, and Barbara, McKelvery, Willard, and Sheena Tash, Plymouth, niece of the bridegroom, bridemaids, were dressed as the maid of honor save in yellow.

Another cousin of the bride, Sarah Hale, Willard, flower girl, was attired as the maid of honor. Nathan Hale, Norwalk, another cousin, was ring bearer.

Michael Wheeler, Plymouth route 1, was best man. David A. Howard, Gregory Gillum and Ronald Schuller, Shiloh, and Jeffery Hale, Plymouth, the bride's cousin, ushered.

Mrs. Hale watched from the front pew in a floor-length gown of peach qiana. Mrs. Tash chose a long chiffon gown in light green. Each wore rosebuds.

The bride was graduated by Plymouth High school in 1980, the bridegroom in 1979.

They are living in Portsmouth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

The fire department of Plymouth certainly benefits from the yearly endeavor of its volunteers which took place this month.

The volunteers are deserving of our thanks and praise for the time and effort they expend on the festival each year. Those same volunteers serve all year at all hours on the emergency squad.

We thank all of you for we realize that the fund raising is really for our benefit and safetly.

Sincerely,
Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce

Sir:

The Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce, in response to a photo displayed in last week's Advertiser, wishes to Mr. Staggs and the schools.

The Chamber was not in agreement with that statement and is in full support Mr. Staffs and the schools.

The poster was printed by a member of the Chamber out of a misunderstanding. We are sorry.

James M. Holloway,
President, Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce

Ace pitcher of champion Yankees —

Shane Tuttle wins MVP in PML

To the surprise of absolutely no one, Shane Tuttle was named MVP of the 1980 PML season.

Sportsmanship awards went to Craig Runkle, Yankees; Laura Paulo, Reds; Kristi Staggs, Cubs; Ricky Gibson, Indians; Steve Hall, Tigers, who also was named sportsman of the year.

He pitched for the champion Yankees.

It's not easy to stamp out inflation.

Inflation has increased the cost of everything from postage stamps and clothing to food and housing.

And there's no way we can escape it either. The cost of coal, transmission lines, borrowed money and all the things it takes to keep the electricity coming, have gone up two to four hundred percent in the last decade.

Yet, even with those increased costs, your electric service is still a good value.

For instance, for under a dollar a day you can still do all this: light your home, keep all your food fresh in a refrigerator freezer, and watch color television, plus have enough hot water for all your cleaning, bathing and washing as well as cook breakfast, lunch and dinner for the entire family.*

That's a bargain. And we're working to keep it a good value. Matter of fact, we have some free S.A.V.E. booklets that can help you get even more for your electricity dollar. And also show you how you can become part of our Save America's Valuable Energy Program.

Stop in for them at any of our offices.

At Ohio Power, we want you to get the most out of your electric service.

We give it our best.

Ohio Power Company

*Daily cost of using a water heater, range, refrigerator freezer, color TV and all home lighting is actually 95¢ based on average usage statistics from Edison Electric Institute and our averag- residential kilowatt-hour cost for the 12-month period ending March, 1980.

IN MEMORY OF JAY ADAMS
who passed away one year ago, August 2.
"TO ALL PARENTS"
I'll lend you for a little time a child of mine." He said,
For you to love and mourn for when he's dead.
It may be for six or seven years or twenty two or three.
But will you, till I call him back, take care of him for me?
He'll bring his charms to gladden you and should his stay be brief,
You'll have his lovely memories, as solace for your grief.
I cannot promise that he'll stay, since all from earth returns.
But there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn.
I've looked the wide world over, in my search for teacher true,
And from the throngs that crow lifes lanes, I have selected you.
Now will you give him all your love nor think the labor vain,
Nor hate me when I came to call, to take him back again?
We'll shelter him with tenderness,
We'll love him while we may.
And for the happiness we have known forever grateful stay.
But shall the angels call him much sooner than we've planned,
We'll grave the bitter grief that comes, and try to understand.
From the book
"All In A Lifetime"
by Edgar A. Guest
If you have a child or fortuinte to have more than one, love them, teach them, appreciate them they are only on loan to you. Sometimes longer. But enjoy them. 21c

Village staff issues ultimatum on pay

Plymouth's financial woes were added to Thursday night when village employees made known their newest payroll demands.

For the most part, salary increases are not being sought. Employees are asking for a cost of living adjustment, which can mean almost 15 per cent added to their current salaries that have been in effect since February, 1979. They wish this to be retroactive to that date.

Time-and-a half for overtime hours is being asked. At present, straight time is being paid or compensatory time given for extra work.

Terry Jump, electrical superintendent, who is the spokesman for the employees, says there is no way he can take time off because of the demands of his job.

Their other demands include more paid holidays during the year, two days a month sick leave and the assurance that the council will review the pay ordinance every January and make adjustments.

The salary increases are for the utility clerk, Mrs. John Ganzhorn, who is asking for $4 an hour from $3.50 (she contends that CETA workers assigned to the village are earning $3.85 and she feels her job carries more responsibilities) and regular patrolman who have served their six month probationary period, asking for $14,500 annually from $10,575.

Instead of being paid bi-weekly, employees want that changed to weekly.

Jump also brought up the fact that although the council has approved a new hospitalization plan with expanded benefits, it has not shown any of the employees in writing that it is actually in effect.

Notice was given to the council by Jump that they expect answers to all the demands by the next regular meeting Aug. 28.

Just what the employees will do if the council rejects all or any of the demands is not known.

Last week when the general fund payroll was not met, the police department contemplated not working and officers informed tjat of they walked off the job, they had terminated their employment.

Four members of the council, Ervin and David Howard, Dean Cline and D. Douglas Brumbach went along with Mayor Eric J. Akers' suggestion of changing Section 20 of the income tax ordinance for the sixth time since the ordinance was adopted last December.

The change of allocating funds will provide for the general fund payroll to be met for the remainder of the year. Akers estimates this will be about $17,000.

Because of the absence of Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and Michael R. Taylor, an emergency ordinance which requires five councilmen to vote could not be passed.

Consequently, two special meetings, Friday night and Saturday noon, were necessary to make tha change, which required three readings of the altered ordinance.

The mayor asked the council what it wished to do about placing a levy on the November ballot to benefit the general fund. Sept. 5 is the deadline to submit a levy tot he board of elections.

He pointed out that if a levy were on the ballot, the anticipated revenue counld not be included in any recommendations of the financial planning commission, since it could be voted down.

None of the councilmen made a comment.

The mayor also pointed out that he felt the clerk-treasurer's duties were burdensome, and that the reserve funds should be done away with where they exist.

"Just keep a healthy balance in each fund and earmark it for capital improvement", he said.

He has contended that the village in the past set up fundsin the utility accounts illegally because they did not have state approval.

The first reserve fund, which was for the electric department, was ordered by the state to maintain 10 per cent of the value of the electrical distribution system in 1963.

The mayor also told the council he believes that all the village funds can "hold their own" except for the general fund, which will either have to be strengthened with a fresh taz or more money from the income tax fund.

He estimates the police department should have about $82,000 next year to operate at full strength, however, the budget approved last month only earmarks $38,000 for it.

There are now three "ifs" concerning the proposed water line from Willard's treatment plant to the village.

They are dependent on which municipality can obtain a grant to install the line or if no grant is availalbe.

Village administrator James C. Root said he has been on the telephone to every agency he can think of to see what is available and each tells him to "try to obtain a grant", but they have not been forthcoming.

He strongly suggested the village obtain good engineering advice, for which there is a chance of a grant.

The mayor suggested there is the probablity of water rates being increased to cover the cost of the village's share of the line.

Who will own what part of of the line if installed seems to zig and zag from Nick Zick road and Route 61 to Skinner road and Route 61. More meetings are planned with the village's water committee and the Willard council and city manager.

Brumbach suggested if no grants were available perhaps the village could turn to Fm HA to obtain a low interest loan. If that does occur, he said, FmHA would end up setting new water rates as it did for the sewer system.

The mayor seriously asked the council its opinion of paying for something that Plymouth would not own. Councilman David Howard said he was opposed to Willard charging Plymouth the double water rate since Plymouth is out of Willard's city limits, and its ordinance calls for a double rate for such service. Willard has now said that it would charge $1.20 instead of $1.26 a thousand gallons used, and if over 9,000 gallons is used in two months, the rate would drop to 60 cents.

Matthew Kegley, six-year-old son of the Jack Kegleys, Base Line road, doesn't believe all he's told about presence of fish in farm ponds. Told there were no fish in J. Frederick Blackford's pond he fished there anyway. Using an artificial lure, he hooked a 26-inch catfish that weighed seven punds. His rod bent and his father at first thought the boy's line was snagged. But the boy insisted otherwise Presto! With dad'd help, the big fish was landed.

Old business new owners!

Kenneth and Doris Smith, husband and wife, bought Broadway market from Sam Katieb and changed its name to Smith's Food store.

Kenneth Smith formerly was in charge of 34 convenience food stores in San Diego county, Cal.

The new business will be open six days a week from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The Smiths are related to the Dillman family which owns and operates the Hi-Ho restaurant.

Real estate occupied by the store is owned by Robert L. and Ellen M. McIntire.

Brumbach replaces Taylor

Newly-appointed Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach was named to the village planning commission Thursday night.

He replaces Councilman Michael R. Taylor, who plans to be out of town for some time.

Mayor Eric J. Akers requested the council to make the change and Councilman Dean A. Cline nominated Brumbach.

Also serving on the commission are Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Miss Luella Vandervort, Kenneth Osbun and the mayor.

The main purpose of the commission will be to study a zoning ordinance and make recommendations to the council.

During the last 25 year several proposals have been made, but several councils turned them down.

The main objections have been that some councilmen did not feel anyone has the right to tell a citizen what he can or cannot do with his property and that out of economic necessity. Two families might wish to occupy dwellings zoned for one family only.

Send in the coupon above and we'll tell you about a special heating system that heats your home and water at a new, lower electric rate.

It's called Electric Thermal Storage. ETS, for short.

ETS works differently from any furnace and water heater you might be using now. That's because ETS stores heat. At night. Then, releases the heat to warm your home and provide hot water throughout the day.

Because Ohio Power can supply electricity at a lower cost during the "Off-Peak" hours of 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., we can offer ETS customers a reduced nighttime rate. This rate is in effect every week night, plus all weekend hours, too.

Add up those hours and you'll see that the lower rate applies to more than half the weekly hours your household uses electricity.

That can amount to substantial savings.

So take the first step. Learn more about ETS by sending in this coupon. It'll bring you our ETS brochure.

You'll find ETS is worth looking into.

back to school

Our children are the most precious part of our lives. It behooves us that they get the very best possible to start them on the path of life, to be assured that they will uphold the ideals of our churches and our country.

The main tool to give them these qualities is to be certain that they are taught in schools that reflect the best a community can offer them.

We think this is being done, and as the opening day of school approaches, it is with happiness we watch the youngsters, carrying their books, walk up to the school door with the eagerness that only a child can show.

Shiloh native killed in freak accident

George Ralph Jewell, 58, Myers road, was found about 5:10 p.m. lying face down in a wooded section with a wound in his neck and upper chest.

Coroner Milton Oakes ruled death was accidental, a chain saw in use by the dead man having kicked back and severed an artery. The chain saw was found near the body, which was found by Jewell's sone, Paul.

Born in Shiloh Apr. 24, 1922, Mr. Jewell lived all of his life there and near Shelby. He was employed 32 years by Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co. He was member of O'Brien Post, American Legion, Shelby, and the 25-year club of Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co.

His wife, a step-son, Jack Berry, Shelby; two step-daughters, Pamela, now Mrs. Melvin Kempf, Shelby, and Barbara, now Mrs. Bruce Davis, Tulsa, Okla.; three sisters, Mrs. Florence Beck, Shiloh; Flossie, now Mrs. Ray Carey, Shelby, and Alice, now Mrs. Forest Spain, Winchester, Ind., and six step-grandchildren also survive.

The Rev. Donald L. Albert, First Lutheran church, Shelby, conducted services Saturday at 10:30 a.m. Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

Hunter sure to be elected on Nov. 4

Huron county Democrats failed to choose a candidate for clerk of the court of common pleas by Aug. 20, the legal deadline, so Incumbent Clark Hunter, 51, R-Greenwich, will not be opposed.

Hunter was appointed to succeed the late Dana Call in 1970, ran for election in 1972 and again in 1976 and is assured of election on Nov. 4.

The second place prize of $75 went to Ed Gross, Shelby, and the third prize of $50 to Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard.

The door prize was won by Kenneth Boothe, Willard.

Mrs. Robert I. Bachrach won the afghan which the Legion auxiliary sponsored. It was crocheted by Mrs. Harvey Robinson.

Robert Lewis, long a barber, succumbs at 67

Plymouth's senior businessman died unexpectedly Thursday morning in Shelby Memorial hospital.

He was born in Greenfield townahip, Huron county, Aug. 29, 1912. He began a career as barber here in 1930 and for many years owned and operated Bob's Barber shop.

Active in church and Masonic circles, he was chairman of the administrative board and lay leader of Plymouth United Methodist church and treasurer of the ecumenical commission, a past worshipful master of Richland Lodge 201, F & AM, and a member of Masonic bodies at Willard, Shelby and Norwalk. For many years until his death he was president of the park board.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; a son, Richard, Phoenix, Ariz.; a daughter, Nancy, now Mrs. Dennis Anhorn, Akron; three brothers, Austin, Akron; Bill, Bradenton, Fla., and Raymond, North Tonawanda, N. Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Lela Corbin and Mrs. Katherine McNeil, both of Willard and four grandchildren.

His minister, the Rev. William Carter, conducted services Saturday at 2 p.m. Burial by McQuate-Secor Funeral home was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Memorial gifts may be made to the Robert Lewis fund of his church.

Todd Kranz, Shiloh, attended the American Institute of Cooperation's national institute on cooperative education at Pennsylvania State university, University Park, Pa. A pupil in Plymouth High school, he was chosen to participate in the Youth Scholar program, which teaches the role cooperatives play in the American business system.

He is the son of the Thomas Kranzes, Shiloh-Norwalk road.

Fire levels house

A two story frame home in Fenner road occupied by Eugene Caudill and his family burned to the ground Friday morning, leaving six persons homeless.

The house was not occupied when fire broke out.

Mrs. Caudill had taken their four children to Greenwich to collect her husband, whose shift ends at 12:30 a.m.

The house was swept with flames when firemen arrived.

Richard Farner, a Plymouth fireman, was overcome by smoke. He was treated at Willard Area hospital and released.

Firemen remained on the scene until after 9 a.m.

$25 prize to Seel in pull

The team of Delbert Hass and Bob Hiler placed second in the tractor pull at the Ohio State fair last week.

Cougar? Gray dog was culprit

The mystery of the furtive cougar may have been solved.

Harold Fletcher, who lives in Scott road 50 in Crawford county, saw a large gray beast attacking his dog. He shot it with a shotgun and buried it. This occured about midnight on Aug. 19.

Later, having heard reports that a cougar or a similar animal had been sighted in Plymouth, he made inquiries. Finally, Acting Police Chief David Gibson went to the Fletcher place, they exhumed the body and discovered it to be a large gray dog.

Finances not so dismal as first thought: supervisor

Village finances are less dismal than they at first seemed, its financial supervisor told the financial planning commission Friday, but that's only the tip of the iceberg.

The general fund, which is the crux of the whole matter, as of July 31, was $44,374 in the red. Of this figure, $10,000 is in defaulted bank notes, $22,000 is in unpaid bills and $12,374 represents overdrafts.

How to overcome this deficit is what Mayor Eric J. Akers must address when he presents his plan to the council. He said Friday he plans to do this on Sept. 11, leaving 12 days until the deadline under law by which the plan must be approved.

He wouldn't speculate Friday on the nature of his plan and he specifically said he didn't want to talk publicly about whether the recent demands of the village staff would affect his plan.

Ernst & Whinney, the financial supervisor, through Ralph Roll, the senior accountant, said in its summary of fund activities as of July 31 and projection of cash flow for the remainder of the year that by Jan. 1 the obligations to Farmers Home administration of $56,000 that was defaulted early this year and $57,000 due on Jan. 1 can be met from balances in the sewer fund, which it said woud be in the black to the extent of $160,000 at year's end.

Akers and the accountants engaged in a colloquy as to whether the latters' technique of showing income and disbursements from the general fund for the remainder of the year is valid. Akers argued that since legally all assets of the general fund are encumbered, he does not plan to alllow any payments from it, so that its deficit can be overcome.

It was plain from the fiancial supervisor's report that it found shoddy record keeping to be a major factor in accumulating deficits. Neither the summary by Hammersmith, Roche & Jenkins, the certified public accountants who made a preliminary study for the village, nor the state auditor's report prepared at the time the fiscal emergency declaration was made is totally accurate. The former is weak, the supervisor said, because the cash position is distorted when liabilities are included. The latter was arithmetically inaccurate because the general fund deficit was shown to be $32,272, whereas the correct figure is $22,844.

Roll added that the village should undertake to obtain or prepare a manual that states how to post recepts and expenditures. He said he found much of the difficulties with the records were attributable to the failure by clerks-treasurer to post receipts properly.

The commission will meet Sept. 23, when the financial plan should be ready for its consideration.

Akers has repeatedly said "there can't be any proposed taxation as part of the plan because of the uncertainty that the people would pass it."

Planners elect Osbun chairman

Newly reactivated village planning commission had its first formal meeting Tuesday night.

It met informally last week, but because the media has not been notified in time under the sunshine law, a second meeting was needed to formalize what had been decided.

Kenneth Osbun was chosen chairman of the commission, Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard vice-chairman, Miss Luella Vandervort secretary.

Temporary by-laws were adoptd until permanent ones can be written.

Bill Collins was present to present his plan to extend Brooks court, which if done will add 3.61 acres by annexation to the village to the south of the present corporation line.

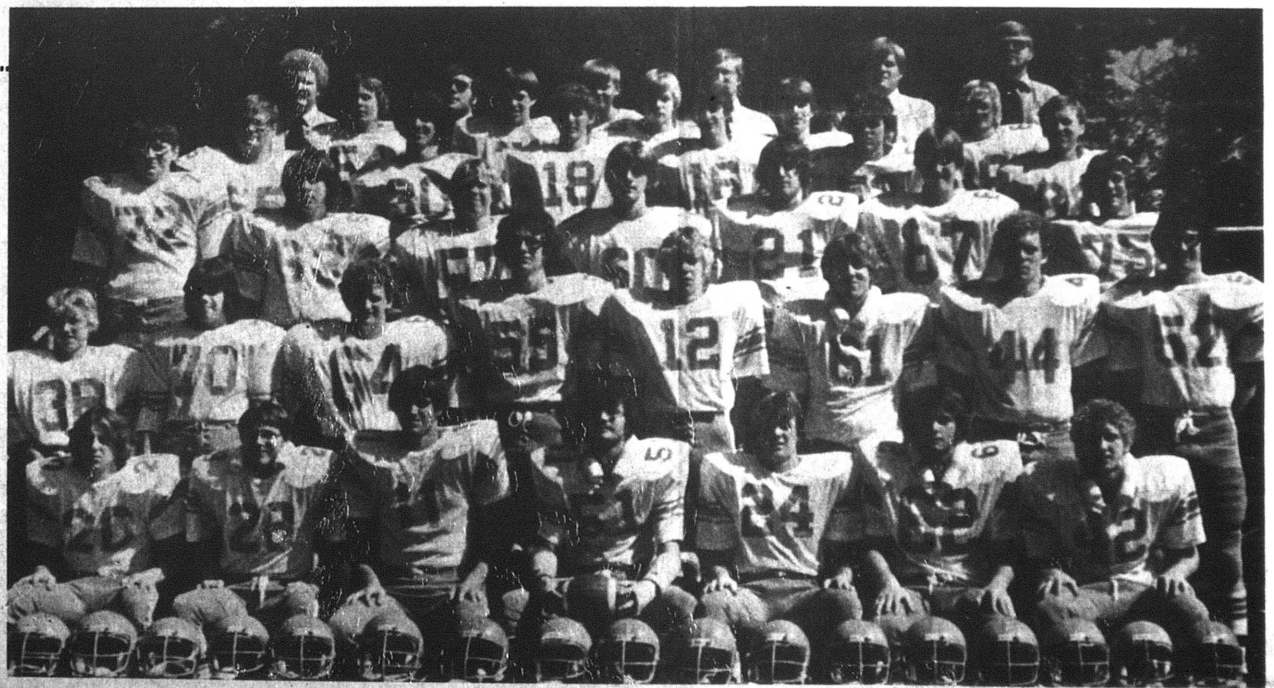

The extension is dependent on what requirements the commission will ask of Collins, which involve the extension of the water and sewer lines. Streets and sidewalks are caled for in the sub-division ordinance adopted in 1971.

Collins sells two lots

Lot 318, Willow court, has been sold by Bill R. and Joyce A. Collins to Lionel and Joyce Howard, Huron county recorder reports.

The Collinses sold Lot 326, at Willow drive and Willow court, to Polly A. Deskins.

Big Red varsity

Second row, Daniel Mumea, Steve Garrett, Joseph Messer, Michael Metcalfe, Jeffrey Jacob, Aaron Allenbaugh, James Jamerson, Gregory Polachek;

Bill Hudson is an all-around pupil in Plymouth High school Consistently on the honor roll, he plays shortstop on the baseball team, wrestles in the winter (and does well at it) and shines on both offense and defense on the Big Red football squad. Owing to an injury to the quarterback, necessitating the shifting of the tight end to that position, Hudson will be assigned as tight end in Saturday's game with Buckeye Central. On defense he plays in the secondary, at either corner or safety, where he has earned a reputation for intercepting passes.

Jacobs injured; Red to play hurt

Injuries plague Plymouth's Big Red footballers and will have some influence on the outcome of Saturday's opening game with Buckeye Central, which has a goood passing game.

Starting quarterback Jeff Jacobs was blindsided in the 1 to 0 defeat at Hillsdale Saturday, hit the ground hard and has a fractured collarbone, which will sideline him for at least three games.

Steve Tackett will start at quarterback, Jim Jamerson at halfback, Scott Harris at running back and, depending on which attack Coach Dave Coulter decided upon, Mike McKenzie, a ninth grader, and Rick Hawkins, another ninth grader, as the fourth back.

Bill Hudson will be switched to tight end, the post heretofore assigned to Tackett. Darrell Hale, another ninth grader, will play at split end.

The interior line will be comprised to Reggie Ganzhorn and Aaron Allenbaugh at tackles, Phil Gowitzka at one guard post and Greg Polachek, a 10th grader, over the ball. The question of who'll fill the other guard post wasn't settled at press time, but it's likely the choice will fall to Ralph Butler or Jim Will.

Coulter is proud of his secondary defense and says he expects it to acquit itself well against the Buck passing attack. What Plymouth hasn't done so well in three scrimmages is defend against the running game. This is in part because the squad is small and green and in part because Monroeville, which won 2 to 1, Fredericktown, which won 3 to 0, and Hillsdale all have big forwards who simply bowled the Plymouth line aside.

Game time is at 8 p.m. Best route to the stadium: South in Route 98 to Route 30, West in Route 30 to Wynford school complex at west edge of Bucyrus.

McKee resigns to become judge

The office of prosecutor of the common pleas of Richland county is vacant.

GOP central committee will meet next week to choose a successor to William McKee, who resigned effective Sunday at 11:59 p.m. to accept appointment to the 5th district court of appeals.

It's a post he'll occupy for only three months. He is not the approved candidate for the office left vacant by the appointment by Gov. James A. Rhodes of Appeals Court Judge David Dowd to the state supreme court. Robert Henderson, judge of the probate and juvenile court of Ashland county, is the GOP designate. Mell Underwood, common pleas judge of Perry county, is the Democratic designate. McKee will step down when the board of elections certifies the winner of the election between Henderson and Underwood.

It's highly likely that James Allen, now an assistant prosecutor who is running for the job that McKee has just left (he earlier announced he wouldn't seek reelection), will be named by the central committee. His opposition on Nov. 4 is Paul Christ.

World indeed is small

"It's a small world" was proven a few weeks ago when the Wayne E. Strines and the Wayne H. Strines were vacationing in Ontario, Canada, near Pentiguishine.

While driving down a dirt road, they stopped near a truck and in from of a mail box.

The mailbox had the name Dorion on it and out of curiosity the younger Strine went up to the house and explained that he knew a Dorion family here.

The man who answered the door said, "That's my cousin whom I have not seen since he left Canada for Ohio'.

Car fire put out by trio

Quick action by Robert Hall, Joseph Lasch, Jr., and Lace Williamson averted what could have been a serious fire Monday afternoon at the Marathon station in Plymouth street.

David Tackett, Shiloh, pulled into the station for gas and suddenly smoke came puring out from under the dash board.

He quickly moved the car and the threee men were able to pull the burning wires out before a fire department vehicle arrived.

The car was heavily damaged.

The hospital beat

Mrs. Benjamin Montgomery was released Friday from Willard Area hospital and is resuming her duties as village clerk-treasurer today.

Beaten by Bucks, 33-0, Red to face Trojans

Plymouth's defenses broke down on five occasions against Buckeye Central Saturday night and the Big Red absorbed a 33 to 0 beating.

The Bucks struck in every period and dominated Plymouth throughout.

Phil Gowitzka punted 27 yards to the Plymouth 44. Dan Niese ripped off a first down to the Big Red 34, Dan Pither got 10 yards and another first down and on second down Scott Moore passed 14 yards to the awesome Dan Wurm. This produced the touchdown, Wurm running untouched into the end zone. Carl Mahffey place kicked the PAT; The Bucks marched 44 yards in seven plays.

Plymough was not able to move from its own territory throughout the first period.

A short punt of just 12 yards by Gowitzka in the second quarter gave the Bucks possession at the Red 25, but three penalties, one of them a 15-yarder, against the Bucks nullified the advantage and Plymouth took over on downs at its 28.

On third down, Steve Tacket lost possession of the ball while standing erect. Randy Kaple recovered and Buckeye Central was in possession at the Red 18. Moore passed to Wurm for 18 yards on the first play. The clock read 5:53, Mahaffey was forced to kick from five yards deeper because of a penalty but it was good all the same.

Plymouth managed to penetrate Buckeye Central territory in the next series, thanks to a rollout by Tacketti good for 17 yards. On fourth down, from the 40, Plymouth declined to punt. The attempted pass was not good.

The half ended with Buckeye Central at Plymouth 30, Dan Shell having completed a 20-yard toss to Wurm.

Niese intercepted Tackett's pass early in the third period but the Bucks were compelled to punt. The boot carried 39 yards. Plymouth returned the favor, also for 39 yards. In the next series Buckeye Central scored a third time.

After Kehres and Moore, by now running halfback, had racked up a first down, Moore passed to Wurm for 14 to the Red 30. Niese burst off tackle for the TD at 5:16. The place kick was not good.

Plymouth could not advance in the next series after the kickoff. A pass on fourth down went awry but Buckeye Central was penalized 15 yards. On first down, from the Buck 45, Doug Shell, a big fullback, burst off tackle and ran down the middle of the Red secondary for the score.

Behind by 26 points, Plymouth tried desperately for respectability in the next series and got into Buck territory. Scott Harris contributed 14 yards and nine yards in successive shots. An offside penalty against the Bucks gave Plymouth first down at the Buck 49. The Big Red reached the 41 but that was it. It did not again threaten.

A 61-yard punt went deep into Red territory, where Tackett fumbled. Kehres recovered at the Plymouth six and in four plays Dan Shell sneaked the last yard. Niese again kicked the PAT.

There were slightly over four minuted left. Neither side showed any enthusiasm for the changing score. Plymouth managed to get a five yard penalty and to gain three yards rushing in its final possession. Gowitzka's kick carried only 14 yards and Buckeye Central was in good field position at the Red 44. It was at the Red 33 when the gun sounded.

Coach David Coulter said after the game he was not so disappointed with his team's performance as might have been imagined. "We played real well at times, especially during the first half. Our defense is complicated and we made some mistakes in the second half, especially in the third period. We figured our first two games would be man-killers and that after that we would meet up with teams we can handle," he said.

Mayor Charles Bell will resign as Shiloh's chief executive officer at the next meeting.

He told councilmen Aug. 27 he will be moving to Lexington.

Francis Gowitzka, president pro tempore of the council, will succeed to the mayorship.

Effort will be made to install rest rooms in the street department building. Basements will be obtained for water and sewer lines so that the work can be done before cold weather sets in.

Plymouth Branch library has two more free children's movies scheduled on Tuesday.

"Alphabet" is an animated romp through the alphabet with an array of objects, animals and actions from apple to zebra representing each letter.

In "Ben and Me" a churchmouse named Amos becomes chief assistant in Benjamin Franklin's print shop.

Youth, 17, held in crash

A 17-year-old Plymouth route 1 youth was summoned for juvenile court action Friday after his car struck a northbound vehicle in Route 103, about two miles south of Route 224.

Plymouth is the three touchdown underdog when it opens its home season tomorrow against a strong and fast South Central eleven led by Doug Fidler, who scored four touchdowns last week in a 30 to 12 romp at Northmor.

Fidler, who lives in the first house outside Plymouth Local School district, set a school record in rushing 233 yards against the Golden Knights.

And if Fidler isn't enough for Coach David Coulter to worry about, the Trojans have Brian Boone, six feet three inches tall and scaling 190, and Tony Robertson, six feet two and 235, at tackles. Boone was named all-conference tackle for the second time last season while leading the Trojan running game.

Tom Hall has returned at quarterback. His backup is Jeff Music, who has an arm like a cannon. Tim Hall, Tom's older brother, and Craig Fetter are the other backs.

On offense, South Central will go to Mark Uselton at end and Fetter out of the backfield as passing targets.

On defense, the Trojans showed Friday night they need some work. But it's big and reasonably fast and it had experience. Fidler, Tim Hall, Eric Rinehart and Mark Evans, who plays center on offense, are the linebackers.

Water...

Willard eager to serve village but guestions of cost, rate persist

Willard definitely wants to help the vilage out of its water problems.

Mayor Eric J. Akers and Councilmen Ervin and David A. Howard, D. Douglas Brumbach and Dean Cline A. Cline met with Wilard's council president, T. Wade Eden, Councilman Todd Schininger, Paul Capelle, city manager, and Robert Hanes, water superintendent.

The gist of the three hour meeting was that if Plymouth goes to Willard for water, local rates will be more than doubled.

Capelle has estimated it will cost close to $520,000 to install a water line based on an eight inch line. He suggested that he inquire of Willard's engineer the difference between that size and a four inch line.

Both Schininger and Capelle asked how far apart are Plymouth and Willard from reaching an agreement.

Eden said that Willard will be furnishing water to New Haven within five years and this is the time to put in the line, since Plymouth must make a decision on its water supply for the future.

Capelle said that Jan. 12, 1981, is the next deadline to apply for a grant to install the line. He added that some agencies seem to be "cooling off" and wondering if Plymouth actually has a water crisis.

David Howard asked Capelle if he thinks Plymouth can apply for a grant as easily as Willard. His answer was that Willard is more experienced in such things and is financially sounder and has better borrowing power.

He was assured there would be no charge to the village until the water is thoroughly tested and free of any contamination.

What was an oddity of Brumbach's questions was that he knew that the new night during the regular council meeting he would propose that the village enter into an agreement with Burgess and Niple, Ltd., Columbus, to make a study of the village's water problems.

This was done Thursday night. The council has earmarked a sum of $8,000 from the water reserve fund for the study.

Mark Rowland, representing the company, said from the information he has so far that the village has several alternatives, one of which includes going to Willard for water. Another alternative, he said, is the well on the Chapman farm, on which the village had an option to develop for many years until last spring, when Mrs. Frank Smith, who is the owner of the land, told the council she wished to terminate the agreement.

No definite answer was given to Willard, and it is obvious it is pressing for a commitment.

The mayor said at the moment Plymouth is not experiencing any dire water problem but that he feels it is a pressing issue and must be dealt with.

This week James C. Root, village administrator, said the village is holding its own, but that water usage is still high and with the opening of the schools, a problem could result.

Willard officials strongly urged Plymouth to apply for grant money to repair the distibution system rather than use such money for the new line.

Village records show that the amount of water being pumped and that being billed do not coincide which indicates faulty meters or serious water leaks in the system.

Willard officials made a point of saying that if the village owned the proposed water line from Skinner road southward, development would result to the benefit of the village. This cannot be wholly true since most of the east side of Route 61 is the sewer lagoon site, on which nothing can be built, and the west side is farm land unlikely to ever be sold into parcels for any developing.

At the moment plymouth is not sure which path to take and cannot answer Willard.

Schininger said that perhaps the water line should be put off for the time being.

Eden, who is an R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., employee, said he gets anywhere from eight to 10 questions a week from Plymouth residents about the water problem and his answer is, "It is up to your council."

Cost of the water is the problem the local officials are facing.

Capelle pointed out it would be cheaper for Plymouth to come to Willard than to spend the same amount to try to develop what is probably not here.

Record keeping...

Ralph Roll, senior accountant of Ernst & Whinney, village financial supervisors, told village council Thursday that one of the main problems is the bookeeping system being used.

He said it does not reflect what the council and clerk know will be future expenditures and consequently, they are not reflected in any project balances.

He suggested to Mayor Eric J. Akers that a new system be put into effect.

He added there is no question that the general fund cannot support itself in the future, but the other funds will be able to do so and are doing so at the moment.

Using the income tax money, which for the most part was ear marked for capital improvements but almost wholly turned over to the general fund in the last few months to meet payrolls, has saved the fund. However, its future is back to a deficit unless fresh funds are found.

The mayor suggested the solicitor prepare an ordinance, which was voted on Tuesday night, to place a three mill levy on the November ballot. It will be for the benefit of the feneral fund, which mostly is used to pay the police department.

Roll said he believes the village will be in a position at the end of this year to meet the 1979 and the 1980 payments due FmHA for the sanitary sewer system. These amount to about $55,000 each.

Last week the village paid the remaining $35,000 plus the interest to First Buckeye Bank, which finished off the $60,000 loan borrowed three years ago to finish the system.

Another recommendation Roll made and said was mandatory was that expenditures and appropriations should be reconciled.

Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach asked if the state has a system which the village can follow. Rall replied that for the most part it was guidelines and that his company would be glad to set up a new system for the village, which he said would be paid for from the funds the stat has allotted the village for the financial study, and that the system would be "tailored to fit the village's needs".

The reactivated planning commission headed by Kennon Osburn feels the subdivision ordinance adopted in 1970 does not give enough leeway for new developments.

Although no definite decisions on changes were mentioned, it was said some of the curbing and sidewalk requirements are too stringent.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore, a Brooks court resident, agreed. The proposed addition to the village will be at the south end of Brooks court, and Moore said he was in complete agreement that such requirements are not necessary.

Osbum told the cuncil he thinks that there is a good chance of federal grants to plan the additional sewer and water lines. A water line extends into the proposed addition, but the sewer line will have to be extended.

Bill Collins, the developer, is planning on about six lots to comprise the addition.

Moore reported the cemetary board wished to raise the charge of concrete footers for graestones from $3 to $5 a foot because of the cost of materials has risen. The present ordinance will be reviewed and changes that are necessary will be made.

Brumbach said water rates should be increased and suggested that small increased be made from time to time.

Councilman David A. Howard suggested waiting until the village received the report from the newly hired water consultant.

Village Administrator James C. Root has been notifying village residents who have not installed their sanitary connection that they must be done by Oct. 1 Some have replied they were unaware of the date and did not realize they are being required to connect to the system.

No action was taken until Moore checks further into the problem and reposts to the council.

Either the council can extend the date or hold to it and increase the tap-in charge, which was left at $50 at the beginning of the project because a previous council though it only fair to keep the charge at that rate, since in 1965, when the first part of the system was installed, about 50 houses were required to connect. It did not seem fair to the remainder of the village at a later date to have to pay more. Sewer tap-ins in surrounding communities now hover around $1,000.

Brumbach said he has had complaints from severa citizens who are complaining about their neighbor's weeds

The mayor said he should talk to the village administrator and the fire chief concerning a property in Bell street that can be described as a fire hazard.

...and wages

First it was the village employees' turn, and now it is the council's turn.

Thursday night the council threw the ball back.

The utility employees requested the current pay ordinance be reviewed with the idea of adding a cost of living clause.

These were presented to the council at the Aug. 14 meeting.

After a short executive session, the council gave its answer through Councilman David A. Howard.

Salary increases will be forthcoming, but no mention of a cost of living clause, providing the employees improve their work habits and undertake more schooling applicable to their duties.

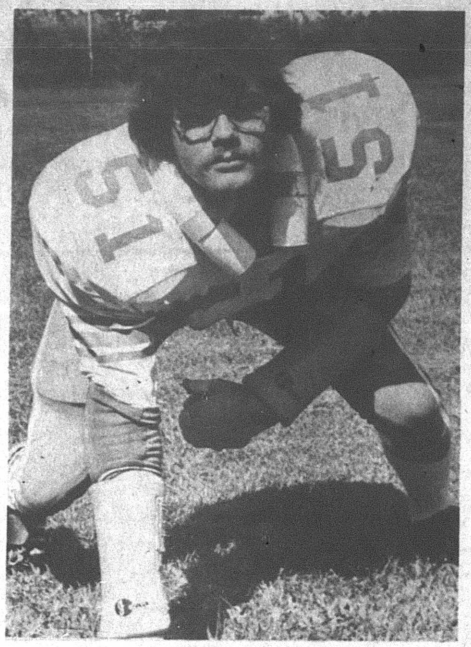

Grumbling started immediately when the employees learned this.

Their reply was that it would take up any pay increase if they had to bear the cost of any future training.

Action Police Chief David Gibson said the local department is as well trained as either Willard or Shelby's departments.

Councilman Ervin Howard is to receive their answers in writing today.

Both utility workers and the police department said that in no way would they walk off their jobs while negotiating.

Punter, guard on offense and linebacker on defense, Phil Gowitzka is in his final year of eligibilty with the Big Red. He had only a so-so night kicking the ball against Buckeye Central and is looking forward to a better success against South Central in the season's opener here tomorrow. Game time in Mary Fate park is 8 p.m.

IT'S HERE! ETS... A HOME AND WATER HEATING SYSTEM WITH A NEW, LOWER ELECTRIC RATE.

Suppose you had a special furnace and water heater that could store heat, saving it for use throughout the entire day.

Suppose this furnace and water heater used electricity only at night.

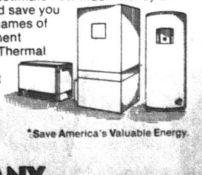

Suppose you could buy that nighttime electricity at a new lower rate. And this lower rate would apply to all the electricity your home uses, every night Monday through Friday from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. plus all weekend around the clock from Friday night until Monday morning.

Suppose all these things came true, wouldn't that be great?

Well wait no longer because they've just come true. Thanks to a new heating system called Electric Thermal Storage. ETS, for short.

How ETS stores heat and hot water for your home is an interesting story. How ETS qualifies you for a lower electric rate makes the story even better.

Contact us to learn more about ETS. There's much more we can tell and we'll give you our special SAVE* booklet on ETS. If you're interested, we'll estimate how much money an ETS system could save you and provide the names of local ETS equipment dealers. Electric Thermal Storage . . . we think it's the best thing to happen in a long, long time.

*Save America's Valuable Energy.

We give it our best.

Council alters ballot language to collect new levy in '81

Through the efforts of Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach the proposed three mill tax levy that will be on the November ballot will apply to the tax years 1980, 1981 and 1982."

David Howard, council president pro tempore, who presided at Tuesday's meeting in the absence of Mayor Eric J. Akers, said Brumbach had done a lot of "leg work" to change the wording from "taxing years 1981, 1982 and 1983."

When the original resolution was passed at the Sept. 2 meeting, both Brumbach and Councilman G. Thomas Moore questioned the dating of the years, since taxes are collected a year in retard and the intent of the whole council was that if the levy passed, it would take effect in January, 1981.

Solicitor Richard Wolfe told the council when he was called in Ashland that the wording was correct as he understood the intent of the council.

This did not satisfy Brumbach, who then visited the Richland county board of elections to explain that a typographical error had been made in what had been forwarded to them.

Mrs. Phyllis Sawyer, head of the election board, then telephoned the local county law office to see if a change could be made, since the filing date of the levy had passed. She was referred to the secretary of state's office in Columbus.

It agreed that the dates could be changed.

Tuesday night Brumbach told the council a letter requesting several changes in the resolution must be sent. The changes are that the word "village" is to be substituted for the word "city", the years must be altered it must be stated that the general fund will be the beneficiary of the levy.

A law passed in 1974, Section 5705.19 of the Ohio Revised code, prohibits that "safety fund" be added to the ballot language.

The clerk was instructed to telephone the board of elections to tell it that the letter willbe forthcoming, probably to be delivered today to Mansfield.

At the next regular meeting of the council, with enough members present, the original resolution will be corrected. Meanwhile, the letter will handle the problem.

Howard said that the secretary of state's office told him this is a very "common error" concerning dates for the effect of a levy.

Brumbach asked who had written the original resolution: the mayor, the solicitor or a member of the council? Howard assured him the solicitor had done so and uphold it was written as he understood the desires of the council.

Moore said "everyone was alittle wrong in the whole situation," meaning the village and the board of elections, but the requested letter would clear the air for everyone until a new resolution can be forwarded. This was not possible Tuesday night because not enough members were present.

"It would be nice if we could have the solicitor at each meeting", Brumbach said.

Howard brought up the deadline date on sanitary sewer connections, which was set at Nov. 1, 1980, by a previous council in October, 1978, which allowed two years for them to be made.

Village Administrator James C. Root said a 90-day notifications required by the sewer ordinance had to be sent to those who had not connected and that this had been done. Some of the letters backfired, these were sent in error, because of village records to those who had already connected.

Root said about 80 are still not connected but he knows that one contractor has 30 on a waiting list and is working as quickly has he can.

He suggested the council wair until Oct. 1 before making any concrete decisions to either extend the date or assess the prescribed penalty, which is part of the sewer ordinance.

The council indicated it would go along with a lenient viewpoint.

Brumbach told the council that while in Mansfield checking out the levy, he also visited the office of CETA and discovered that the six local employees assigned to Plymouth are getting $3.85 an hour, while the police dispatcher and court bailiff is only receiving $3.80. This problem was referred to the finance committee.

A resolution will be presented at the next council meeting for the village to apply for a $10,000 grant to finance a water study before a decision is made to either stay at home for a water supply or go to Willard. The grant is interest-free and is repayable, should the village obtain a construction grant.

Hopewell-Loudon downs Red; five turnovers too costly

Hopewell-Loudon throttled Plymouth's offense here Friday night and walked away with a 21 to 0 victory before a small house.

Plymouth was in Chieftain territory only twice and never threatened. The Big Red was limited to just 59 yards rushing and none by passing. The Chieftains rolled up 186 yards on the ground and 47 in the air.

The visitors took the opening kickoff and marched 68 yards in 15 plays to score.

Chris Gosche punched in from the Red one.

Two five yard penalties against Plymouth did not hurt the Chieftains in this drive. When they had obtained first down at the Red 16, Ed Gaietto ripped through right tackle for eight and again for one. At the one, Plymouth was socked with a face mask penalty but the setback amounted to just under three yards. Gosche performed his heroics and the Chieftains had a lead they never were to relinquish. The try for PATs by running failed.

In its second series, which extended over the end of the first period, Plymouth managed its first first down. Scott Harris poked through right tackle for 11 yards, Plymouth's biggest gain of the night up to then.

But on fourth down, Plymouth faked a punt and was thrown for five yard loss.

Neither team advanced out of its own territory for the remainder of the half.

After 24 minutes of what was essentially dull football, the Chieftains had both the scoring and statistical advantage.

Hopewell-Loudon had, with 42 plays, eight first downs, 118 yards rushing and 22 yards passing on two completions in seven tries. The visitors had five penalties for 55 yards. By contract, Plymouth in just 21 plays had two first downs, 22 yards rushing, none passing, having tried one aerial. Plymouth had lost 14 yards by penalty.

The Big Red took the second half kickoff and was compelled to punt on fourth down.

In the next series the home eleven got a big break but was unable to capitalize on it.

After one first down, the Chieftains were at the 50 on fourth down. They punted. Rick Hawkins blocked the kick and it dribbled around for a spell before Ralph Butler was able to retrieve it. He ran it in to the Chieftain 34.

But on fourth down, with 13 yards to go for first down Steve Tackett was intercepted by Brad McCormack.

A splendid 53-yard punt on fourth down in the next series set Plymouth back to its 10, whereupon Tackett fumbled at the 12. Mike Albarado recovered and Hopewell-Loudon challenged again.

Plymouth threw the challenge back. On fourth down, Paul Bishop passed 13 yards to Kevin Schalk but it wasn't enough for first down and the Big Red took over at the three.

Two plays later, Tackett was intercepted by Tom Bauer at the 35.

A major penalty set the Chieftains back and they were forced to punt. With first down at the home 32, James Jamerson ran for 21 yards and a first down at the Chieftain 47. But on first down, Tackett was gain intercepted, this time by Dennis Bricker, who dashed 53 yards for the second score.

Plymouth fumbled during the next series, the double reverse play again giving the Red fits. The Chieftains recovered at the Red 30.

They needed just seven plays. Paul Bishop went the last two yards. Steve Hoover kicked the PAT.

Each team was to get its hands on the ball another time before mercifully, the clock ran down.

Here's slate this week—

Here's schoolboy football slate for this week:

TOMORROW:

East Knox at Crestview;

St. Paul's at South Central;

New London at Western Reserve;

Black River at Monroeville;

SATURDAY:

Mapleton at Edison;

Plymouth at Lucas.

Can Red reverse three defeats at Lucas?

Can Plymouth turn it around at Lucas Saturday?

The winless Vikings played poorly last week — even their coach said so — and will need to reach deeply to be respectable against a team that boasts a seasoned backfield led by Rick Hardin at quarterback and Marc Van Tilburg, who scored the Cub's only touchdown, and the only one in the game, against Centerburg last week.

Hardin isn't tall and he isn't big, but he gets the job done.

In addition to Van Tilburg, the running backs are Andy Meyers, who scales 185 pounds, at fullback and Scott Cox, another little scatback who weighs less than 140, at halfback.

In the line, Lucas has some strength. Paul Culler weighs 224 and Bryan Banks 205. Banks will be back next year.

The pass sfense of the Cubs hasn't been tested much and Coach Bill Nardo admits he's worried about it. But then Plymouth's passing game, by Coach David Coulter's statement, isn't much to shout about anyway.

The Lucas stadium lies behind the school. Lucas straddles Route 39 southeast of Mansfield. Game time is 8 p.m. Best route to the game: Follow Route 39 from Mansfield to Lucas, turn left at traffic signal and proceed two blocks to school.

Lions to dine Wednesday

Plymouth Lions club will meet for dinner Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Town and Country restaurant, Shiloh.

Roses will also be delivered that day.

Send in the coupon above and we'll tell you about a special heating system that heats your home and water at a new, lower electric rate.

It's called Electric Thermal Storage. ETS, for short.

ETS works differently from any furnace and water heater you might be using now. That's because ETS stores heat. At night. Then, releases the heat to warm your home and provide hot water throughout the day.

Because Ohio Power can supply electricity at a lower cost during the "Off-Peak" hours of 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., we can offer ETS customers a reduced nighttime rate. This rate is in effect every week night, plus all weekend hours, too.

Add up those hours and you'll see that the lower rate applies to more than half the weekly hours your household uses electricity.

That can amount to substantial savings.

So take the first step. Learn more about ETS by sending in this coupon. It'll bring you our ETS brochure.

You'll find ETS is worth looking into.

Power runner

Scott Harris has been the chief gainer in Plymouth's up-to-now not so potent offense. He'll get lots of opportunities at Danville tomorrow. And the Blue Devils have scouted this young man on two occasions, so they're prepared.

Starting center

A bright spot in the Plymouth forward wall is Greg Polachek, a 10th grader who plays center. He already has won a varsity letter, in baseball, where he played catcher for the Big Red. He'll be a starter on offense at Danville tomorrow.

First talks begin for EAS service to, from Willard

The first step toward toll free telephone service between the Willard and Plymouth exchanges was made Monday night.

Meeting with Robert E. Bash, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and, and Michael Outcalt in the school administration building were Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard, Richard Utz, Dr. and Mrs. James Holloway, Douglas Staggs, Mrs. James Babcock and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith.

All but the Smiths, who were representing New Haven township trustees, are on the Plymouth exchange.

If the service is approved by the PUCO, which can take from 13 months to three years, the rate to Plymouth users would be increased about 25 cents to 30 cents a month for a private residential line. A private business line would cost up to 90 cents additionally, and more depending on the number of extension telephones involved.

Willard customers would have no increase for the additional service.

Studies have shown that 90 of every 100 Plymouth users place at least one call a month to a Willard number. The average number of calls a family is 6.22.

The group vetoed the idea of having the same sevice between Plymouth with Shiloh and Shelby, believing it would be too much of an undertaking now.

An open meeting in the school administration office will be Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Here's route to game

Best route to tomorrow's game at Danville:

Proceed east in Route 603 through Shiloh, turn south in Ganges Five Points road to Route 13. Turn east into Route 30 and continue to Route 60. Turn south, continue through Hayesville to Loudonville, striking Route 3. Proceed south in Route 3 to Jelloway. Turn left in Route 205 and continue seven miles to Danville. Stadium is in south end of village.

Approximate driving time: 75 minutes.

Mrs. Greenup, ex-teacher, sucumbs at 82

A 50-year-member of Angelus Chapter 22, OES, at Shiloh, Mrs. Greenup, 82, Mansfield, died in General hospital there Sept. 16.

She was ill only briefly.

Born Salome Zeigler in Shenandoah Apr. 8, 1898, she taught school for 30 years. She was assigned to Roseland school in Mansfield when she retired 28 years ago. Her first husband was Howard Oswalt. She married after his death. Her second husband also died earlier.

She was a member of Shenadoah Christian church and of the Retired Teachers' association. She was a past president of District 10, OES.

Mrs. Greenup was an alumna of Ashland college.

Two step-sons, Robert Greenup, Ontario, and Howard Greenup, Fredericksburg, Va.; four step-grandchildren and four step-great-grandchildren survive.

'80 grad at NCT on 'ride'

Kathy Ann Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collins, and a 1980 graduate of Plymouth High school, is among the 13 area students enrolled in the President's Scholarship For Excellence Program at North Central Technical college, Mansfield.

These freshmen who will begin their studies today ranked in the top five per cent of their high school graduating class.

How will council deal with staff pay raises?

The touchy question of pay adjustments for village personnel will be laid before village council again tonight.

The council has been told by the employees that they won't accept the council's conditions for salary adjustments. The employees were asked by the council if they would accept payment on the basis of salary rather then number of hours worked and if they would agree to undertake more schooling or increase efficiency as a condition of higher pay.

"Since we've told the council how we feel," Terry Jump, spokesman for the employees, says, "we've not heard anything more from the council. When the council meets again, we'll be there."

Police department employees are understood to be nettled because of the casting of the ballot language of the proposed three mill levy.

"People don't want to pay any more taxes and they certainly won't go for this levy if they don't understand that it's supposed to pay police salaries." one policeman said.

Meanwhile, water department employees are upset because the water consultant recently hired won't undertake any duties until he has a signed contract. Such a contract has been submitted to Mayor Eric J. Akers, who objects to some wording in it and won't sign it as is.

Reports that the village once drilled exploratory wells on the farm of the late Roy Evans, now owned by Michael Vanasdale, have reached the water department and it suggested to the consultant that this possibility be explored. Should the village opt to continue to supply water users with underground sources, the cost of transmitting water from the former Evans place to the water plant would be considerably less then doing so from New Haven, even assuming that Mrs. Frank V. Smith would be willing to extend the lease.

An incident over the weekend involved Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach and Jump and Village Administrator James C. Root.

Mrs. Leroy Brumback, who lives in Trux street, complained that a wire was down ther. She was at first told it would be attended to on Monday (she reported the wire down on Saturday). Councilman Brumbach was informed. He learned that Jump was riding a motorcycle around the village (he was not on official duty) and Root was sailing a boat in Lake Erie. So Brumbach drove around the village in his van until he found Jump and ordered him to report to the site in Trux street to fix the wire.

Jump did not do so and Brumbach announced that both Jump and Root were fired.

But both reported for duty Monday morning and so far there have been no further developments.

Root told the council the village is replacing a two inch water line in West Broadway with a six inch line. In the last few weeks the old line had leaked and the west end of the village has been without water a number of times.

Councilman Ervin Howard asked the council to consider by the Sept. 25 meeting if a sum of $500 could be taken from the income tax money to pay for the installation of a sewer line that would provide for toilets in the Scout hut in Mary Fate park. Heat will be provided in the building and will make it usable throughout the winter months. The installation would be made by village employees.

Brumbach asked Howard who is replacing the late Robert Lewis as a park board member and he said that Mayor Eric J. Akers had appointed Arthur L. Paddock, Jr.

Bar seeks transfer of liquor permit

Fumbles enable Cubs to win, 16 to 7

The smell of upset was in the air at Lucas Saturday night as Plymouth went into the second half with a 7 to 0 lead over the Cubs and its only score of the 1980 season.

But the mistakes of a green team produced two costly turnovers that led to Lucas touchdowns and the Cubs made off with a 16 to 7 victory in Black Fork Valley conference play.

Plymouth's touchdown came in the second period after a Lucas threat in the opening quarter was nullified when Bill Hudson, a certified hero on the strength of his play Saturday, intercepted a pass by Rick Hardin at the Plymouth goal and ran it out to the 19.

Plymouth was unable to put the ball in play outside its own territory until late in the game, specifically, with 8:07 left in the fourth period.

After the interception, the Big Red punted out and Lucas returned the favor. In possession at its seven, Plymouth got out to its 15, only to be hit with a major penalty. From the 10, Steve Tackett found Hudson alone in the secondary and hit him squarely on the numbers at the Red 32. Hudson outran the Lucas defenders to the goal. The play covered 90 yards.

Hudson did double duty. He placekicked the PAT, which had to be done twice, because of a procedure penalty against the visitors.

Hardin hit Jim Constance with a 21-yard effort in the next series and Lucas was at the Plymouth 11 when a fumble went over to the Big Red. Phil Gowitzka's punt carried 44 yards and Plymouth was out of trouble.

In the next series, the penultimate of the first half, Gowitzka got off a 59-yard boot that set Lucas back at its 24.

Plymouth holds lead for 35 minutes

Lucas clearly had the statistical edge after the first hald. With 33 plays, the Cubs had six first downs, 79 yards rushing and 40 yards passing, with two completions in five tries., there having been one interception. The Cubs had lost two of three fumbles and just five yards by penalty. Plymouth, on the other hand,with 29 plays, had just two first downs, 37 yards rushing and 90 yards passing, with one completion in a single try. The Big Red fumbles once but recovered it. Penalty losses amounted to 28 yards.

The Big Red fumbled twice in the third period and one of the cost a touchdown.

The first fumble came at the Red 24. But on second down, at the Plymouth seven, Bob Buckler, the offensive workhorse for the Cubs, fumbles. With third down and one to gain for a first down at the Plymouth 26, Tackett fumbled. The Cubs recovered — it was Buckler who did the job — at the Red 29 and in six plays Lucas was in the end zone. Although a procedure penalty against Plymouth was reciprocated on the next play by Lucas, it was a costly mistake. For the penalty gave Lucas a first down at the Red 16. After Lucas was itself penalized five yards, Hardin took aim at Randy Marshall and the play connected for the tying score. The clock read :19 of the third period. Buckler ran the PATs and Lucas had a lead it never gave up.

A third Plymouth fumble in the third period, this one by James Jamerson, occured at the 34. The Cubs needed just nine plays to get into the end zone. Hardin went the last yard. But it was his pass of 16 yards to Buckler and Buckler's run of 16 yards that led to the score.

Buckler tore off right tackle for the PATs.

It was at this point that Plymouth came to life offensively for the first time in the game.

Plymouth took the kickoff at its 37 and drove to the Lucas 25, with first down, before the offense went into reverse. A first down pass did not connect. Two running plays lost four and 12 yards, although the second play might have wound up in an attempted pass had Tackett not been knocked off his feet before he could move more than two steps back.

Lucas did absolutely nothing in the next series and Plymouth took its punt at the Red 45. Tackett got nine on a rollout, then lost eight seeking to pass. Scott Harris, the biggest gainer of the Plymouth offense, ripped off 16 yards, only to see 16 lost in two efforts by Tackett to pass. The pass rush of the Cubs was not so formidable as one may see elsewhere, but it was enough this nigh.

For an undefeated team that has been accorded state ranking among Divison V teams by a wire service, Lucas was not all that imposing. But it took advantage of the breaks and deserved to win. The Plymouth team is entitled to some sympathy. It is badly maimed by injury and hurt somewhnt by what appears to be its own lack of confidence. Hudson played splendidily. Tackett played very well on defense. The absence of Reggie Ganzhorn, whose hand is in a cast, was noticeable. A ninth grader, John Cole, played in his place. Some other ninth graders were inserted into the game and none of them was a discredit.

Now is the season to make stews; hold back on the seasoning!

By AUNT LIZ

The other day I had to make a bunch of egg salad sandwiches.

They got me to thinking about how eating habits have changed over the years.

I am sure there have been all sorts of college papers written on the subject, which would be interesting to read if you could get your hands on them.

It hit me between the eyes that some things have been here forever. like egg salad and peanut butter sandwiches. Somewhere, however, the peanut butter and jelly sandwich sneaked in. That combination was unheard of when I was growing up.

Can anyone believe that when I was something like 10 years old — and I simply will not pinpoint what year that was — French fried potatoes were the biggest treat of a whole month?

The word pizza had not been invented then — in Minnesota anyway — but those who lived in the east knew it, and that early version was far better than what you buy today. Granted the modern pizzas have more goop on them, but the real secret was lots of cheese and real crust freshly baked.

I do not think either my mother or granmother knew what a hamburger was except that you could buy them for a nickel (if you had one) in what was called the White Tower, which was a chain deal. That is where everyone went when on a date, and it was a large treat.

Another thing that was really unheard of was "a steak". We ate roasts like mad, veal, lamb and beef. Meat loaf was a regular thing and veal cutlets, and those miserable little lamb chops, which my grandmother thought made a really tasty meal. Two bites and it was polished off.

My grandmother without knowing it, and it had taken me this long to realize it, was a real gourmet cook. But she had things to work with which we simply cannot buy today, mainly veal and even those dumb little lamb chops that can be a nice change from beef and pork.

Another thing that was really scarce when I grew up was spaghetti. It was another rare treat and the reason was that back then no one really knew how to make the sauce.

World War II took care of that. Everyone came home from serving in Italy and taught their wives how to make it. It did exist before then, but not like it does today, and lasagna was unheard of. I never knew what it was until we lived in Italy.

When you have all these lovely things to eat at your finger tips, yo really do not think of where and how they came from.

Some things, of course, have been around for thousands of years, like beef stew. I bet the pre-historic lady cooks would carve up a dinosaur and make something really tasty. it was probably a little on the tough side no matter how long they cooked it. This can the account for all the pictures we see of these early people who all seem to have razor-like pointed teeth.

There is nothing like a good stew, this is the time to make it. We are surrounded with begetables now. You can throuw most anything in a stew pot alsong with the meat. Don't goop it up with much more than salt an pepper and I have found that a diluted can of beef boullion really helps. No beef cubes, they are pure salt.

Make enough for several meals because it gets better as it sits.

Only a light docket faced Mayor Eric J. Akers in his court Thursday.

Shiloh to try 'trick-or-treat'

Reinstatement of trick-or-treat night was ordered by village council at Shiloh Sept. 24.

But some restrictions apply: the exercise will be for 60 minutes only, only those householders wishing to participate will be disturbed (they should leave a porch light burning), only children under 13, accompanied by an adult, may participate, and the night chosen will coincide with that chosen by other communities.

Whether to build a facility to store salt, gravel and cinders was put off for a year, because the cost of street repairs at present is too burdensome.

Renewal of insurance policies on village buildings and fire department equipment was directed.

Flea market set Saturday

Another flea market, the last of the season, will be conducted Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the high school lawn by Plymouth Lions club, to benefit the Richard L. Horton, Jr. Scholarship fund.

Cars collide in Square

A minor collision was investigated by Plymouth police department Monday at 10:40 a.m.

Helen J. Nickles, Brooks court, was eastbound in West Broadway, when a car driven by Charlene Gasparac, Willard, backed out from a parking place at 5 West Broadway.

The latter said her vision was blocked by a large truck parked nearby.

No summonses were issued.

Cook kin, H. L. Cook dies at 67

He was chairman of the Masonic blood bank.

Formerly of Shelby, he is also survived by his wife, Rosemary; two sons, a daughter, and two sisters, Marguerite and Mrs. Bertha Clabaugh, both of Shelby.

Burial service was conducted from Martin Funeral home in Dayton on Monday.

Quorum lacking, no parley

Sept. 24, 9:40 a.m.: Mayor Eric J. Akers, in response to a reporter's inquiry about a scheduled meeting of the financial planning commission, said, "Oh, God, I forgot".

Sept. 24, 9:50 a.m.: President William R. Miller of the commission, in response to an inquiry by the editor of The Advertiser, said, "It is possible but not probable that we will have a meeting this morning."

Sept. 23, 8:45 p.m.: President pro tempore of the council David A. Howard, in response to inquiry by a reporter, said, "The meeting is tomorrow at 10 a.m."

Sept. 24, 10 a.m.: President Miller, James Marsh and John Dooling, the latter two representing the State of Ohio, appeared for the meeting. Howard had telephoned the village office to report that "I am ill."

James C. Davis, manager of First Buckeye Bank, M. A., a member of the commission, was out of state.

Gregory Kibler, controller, Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., did not attend the meeting.

President Miller said that Mayor Akers has not yet completed his plan for the resuscitation of the village finances, which until Gov. James A. Rhodes signs legislation extending the date, was required to have been presented and approved by the commission by Sept. 25.

The official minutes, as prepared by the secretary, Miss Terry O'Dell, state "due to lack of a quorum, because of a misunderstanding of the date and day of the meeting, it was decided to reschedule the meeting."

The commission will meet tomorrow at 10 a.m.

D. A. Howard quits post on council

David A. Howard has resigned as councilman.

Councilman Ervin Howard furnished the only substance to Thursday night's regular council meeting, which had its hands tied since there was no quorum.

He read the following letter from his brother, Councilman David Howard:

"I, David A. Howard, for personal and occupational reasons, do hereby resign my position as councilman for the Village of Plymouth, Ohio. Said resignation to be effective upon my replacement."

The letter, dated Sept. 25, 1980, was not written directly to either the mayor or the council.

The next day, when questioned, Howard said he had not informed anyone, including the mayor, of his decision, and he declined to elaborate any further on his reasons.

He won election to a four year term, which will expire Dec. 30, 1981, while having two years to serve on the Plymouth Board of Education.

The question arose if serve both posts was compatible. It was ruled that he had to make a choice, and he chose the council seat.

It appears the wording of his resignation is illegal. He must completely vacate his seat on the village council before a new name can be considered.

It will be up to Mayor Eric J. Akers and members of the council to request that he submit a second letter with the proper wording, which will give the council the go-ahead to choose a replacement.

The council has a 30-day period in which to do this. If it fails to come up with a candidate, then the mayor may make the appointment, which happened within the last month when the council failed to replace Councilman Mrs. Allan Raymond and the mayor appointed D. Douglas Brumbach.

Howard, who completed his law studies at Ohio Northern university in June, is waiting the return of the state board law examination. Meanwhile he is employed by Mack's Foodland and the Shady Lady, the newly established dress shop on the Square owned by the mayor.

With the absence of Dean A. Cline, who was attending a night school class, Michael R. Taylor, who is on the west coast, and Howard, the council was left with Councilmen G. Thomas Moore, Ervin Howard and D. Douglas Brumbach, plus the mayor, which was not enough to transact any official business.

The village solictor, Richard Wolfe, Ashland, was also absent.

Knowing that Thursday was a regular meeting of the Plymouth council, three members of the Village of Tiro council were present, Robert Dean, Robert Eckstein and Charles Frazee, and Thomas Admas of the Tiro fire department.

They spoke informally with the Plymouth members and requested that the Plymouth Ambulance service serve Tiro and Auburntownship.

The reaction was sympathetic and an agreement is to be worked out.

Kenneth Echelberry, head of the Plymouth service, said he feels it could be handled.

The Tiro contingent point blank said it did not feel it could afford the rates the Shelby service is charging for the six to seven runs it has averaged the last few weeks. It also said it does not feel it could turn to New Washington for service since that community is experiencing a manpower shortage.

Brumbach pointed out that serving an additional area would help Plymouth's department by increasing the square mileage being served, which he said was 25 square miles, which would put Plymouth in line for state aid in upgrading the service.

Another question came up concerning the response time and what aid there would be on the Tiro end.

Adams said he is a trained Navy corpsman and several others in the fire department could qualify.

Moore suggested that Echelberry work with Tiro and come up with a plan to present to the council.

The former mayor, Mrs. A. L. Padock, Jr., speaking as a reporter, asked the mayor what position the council will take on the continued absence of Councilman Taylor. She said section 731.45 of the Ohio Revised Code states that if a council member is absent for two months in a row without a legitimate excuse, his seat may be declared vacated.

Taylor has been absent more than that and at each meeting he has been duly excused by his colleagues, even though he has been in the real estate business in California.

Mrs. Paddock said it is simply not fair to the mayor, the council nor the citizens that this situation should exist and pointed out that if he were present, there would be a quorum to conduct a meeting.

No action could be taken on her question.

She also asked if the clerk feels the village is receiving its tax money in order, since she had heard on a local radio station that Richland county is coming up with interest payments from money the county had invested. This, she said, could be some of the money forthcoming to the village, but could be held up because the county wanted the additional interest for its own use.

She was assured by Mrs. Benjamin Montogomery, clerk-treasurer, that the village seems to be getting its share of taxes on schedule.

The mayor did not suggest a special meeting to replace the "dud", although there are several pressing pieces of legislation that need to be enacted, mainly the resolution to certify the three mill levy properly to the board of elections, so it appear on the November ballot. A temorary letter was written assuring the board that the reolution would be forthcoming, and that was done two weeks ago. Sine no meeting is being planned until the next regular council meeting which is Oct. 9, this resolution is about a month overdue to the board of elections.

PLW struck

Union rejects offer, joins UAW

Plymouth's only manufacturing plant went on strike yesterday at 6 a.m.

Orderly picketing was set up at that hour Strikers were warned by the United Auto Workers not to interfere with management or others crossing the picket line, nor to make remarks of any nature. "This is an economic strike, we are showing that the union disapproves of the company's contract offer," a spokesman said.

By vote of 118 to 15, the membership of Plymouth Order of Mechanics voted to reject the company's final offer. Then, with UAW organizers ordered from the building, the membership voted by 132 to 1 to affiliate with the UAW.

This also was an economic move.

"By joining the UAW, we get strike pay and the UAW picks up our health and medical insurance premiums as of midnight on Tuesday," a union spokesman said.

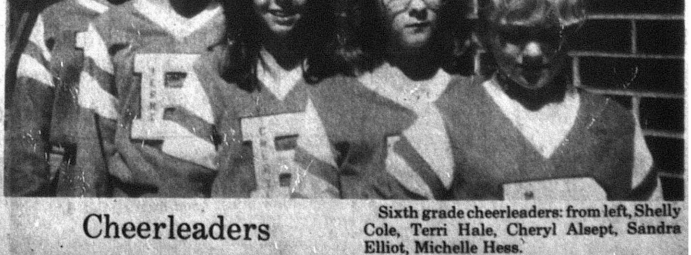

Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., offered to renew the labor contract that expired at midnight on Sept. 30 for three years. It sought to freeze all benefits and wages for that period, with the provision that after one year the question of wage levels could be reopened.

What rankled most union members, The Advertiser was told, is that the freeze would deny employees the opportunity to earn increased vacation benefits by longevity of service.

They also charged the company with unethical practices.

One of these is "everything that was disputed went to arbitration up at Cleveland, and every time we went to arbitration, we had to pay for it, for out part of it, anyway, and that went to about $1,000 a crack", union member said.

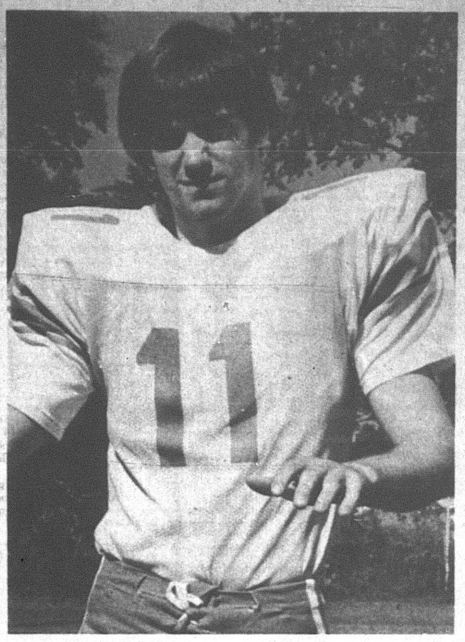

Negotiations for PLW were conducted by Harvey Rector, Cleveland sent here by the parent firm. Banner Industries, Inc. Larry Bailey, president of POM, led the employee negotiators.

Danville's early scores sink Plymouth, 26 to 0

The glue that holds the Plymouth football team together is in large part furnished by its co-captain, Steve Tackett, who plays quarterback on offense and linebacker on defense. It has not been rewarding season for him so far what with five consecutive defeats. He seeks to change that against Crestview tomorrow.

Danville struck for two touchdowns in the first period there Friday night and dispatched Plymouth, 26 to 0.

The visitors played a better brand of football then they have displayed all season and twice were within striking distance of the goal, only to fall short.

The Blue Devils took the opening kickoff and drove 60 yards in six plays to score at 10:20. Greg Ferenbaugh and Gene Matheny were the big guns, Ferenbaugh ripping off gains of five, 22 and two yards, Matheny one of 15 and Quarterback Pat Mickley a dash of 12 on a broken pass play. Ferenbaugh carried it into the end zone for the last four yards. The run for PATs failed.

Danville scored the very next time it got its hands on the ball. And it needed just one play to do it. Plymouth was compelled to punt. Phil Gowitzka kicked 30 yards to the Blue Devil 40, where Mickley caught the ball and sprinted 60 yards through the Red defenders to score. He pased to Joe Durbin for the PATs.

Down by 14 with less than five minutes gone, Plymouth tried to regroup. It controlled the ball for the remainder of the period, save for two plays. After Danville kicked off, Plymouth punched to the Blue Devil 15, where James Jamerson failed of first down. Mickley sought to pass to Durbin on first down but Bill Hudson intercepted and Plymouth was back in business.

From the Danville 36, Plymouth set out to be respectable. In 12 plays, it was at the three. But Steve Tackett could not make first down and Danville took over at that point. A 10-yard pass play to Hudson helped Plymouth immeasurably in this drive.

The Blue Devils were unable to advance and punted. A fumble by Mike McKenzie gave the Danville eleven possession at the Plymouth 32. Danville needed only 10 plays to reach the goal line. A 24-yard sprint by Matheny broke Plymouth's back. It came on the heels of a 21-yard run by Ferenbaugh, who carried the last six yards into the end zone six plays later. An interference call against Dal Moorman in the end zone set up the touchdown play. Plymouth was penalized half the distance to the goal, eight yards, but it was enough for first down and another opportunity to score. The Danville team did not disappoint its Homecoming crowd.

The run for PATs failed but whether Danville would win was academic at this point. The half ended just over two minutes later with the Blue Devils leading by 20 to 0.

Plymouth took the second half kickoff and couldn't move an inch. It punted and Danville set out to make a rout of it. The Blue Devils drove with a passing attack to the Plymouth eight, where the Red defense threw back an off-tackle slant for five yards. From the 13, Mickley sought to pass but fumbled, lost 15 yards and possession.

Jameson tore around left end for 18 yards but on fourth down, from the 50, Gowitzka passed instead of punted. The ball fell untouched.

Danville couldn't gain, either, and was compelled to kick away. A clipping penalty, this time only six yards, at the end of the play set Plymouth back to the Red six. On third down, Tackett was intercepted by Matheny at the Red 21.

Ferenbaugh swept end for 11 and Scott Hammond got three through right tackle. Hudson broke up a pass on third down and on fourth down Mickley hit Durbin for the score. Thre were 50 seconds left in the period. The pass for PATs was good but Danville was hit with a procedure penalty. Plymouth was penalized on the second attempt and Danville tried yet again. The third try, a run, fell short.

Neither team did anything worth home about in the fourth period. Plymouth managed to reach the Danville 36 in the second series of, the quarter, but failed of first down. Scott Harris, the principal ball carrier for the Big Red this chilly night, made seven yards on the last play, taking Plymouth into Danville territory for a second time, but it was too little and too late.

Plymouth was simply outmatched by a strong, speedy Danville eleven that will be tough to beat next year, because Matheny, Ferenbaugh and Mickley will be back.

Did you lose address? Look in your purse!

By AUNT LIZ

There is only one way , we have discovered, to find a lost address.

Not only did two addresses surface; but also 35 cents appeared, which I did not know I owned, and two nice recipes.

There is nothing more frustrating when you realize you have lost an address. Telephone company information operators are really not allowed to give out address, although there are times you can innocently trick them into it. Most of them simply follow the rules. They will nicely give you a telephone number any place in the world, and it can get expensive if you use it to merely ask what their street number is.

What is even more foolhardy is when you dial a ong distance call to merely inquire about a recipe. Just about all the American wives way back then in Switzerland discovered direct dialing. Out country did not have it then so this was a new toy. It was nothing to dial someone in Geneva and say, "Tell me how you made that casserole we had last week at your house."

The whole situation made for very satisfied wives, but husbands, no, after they saw their telephone bill. In out own little way, we were great contributors to the Government-run Swiss telephone company.

But I think we drove the country's secret service out of their minds.

There was no doubt in our minds that all our telephones were tapped, and I often wonder how their secret service was interpreting chocolate cake recipes. We all could have outdone Hogan's Heroes had we known any big secrets to passon.

Anyway one good thing happened this week which sort of offsets the one bad thing.

How would you feel if you looked out your kitchen window and see a nice, large brown station wagon parked in your backyard?

And it was right in our yard actually over where our sewer conection had been installed and the driver was lucky she did not sink because the ground is still not stable.

It apparently was an easy place for her to park while she delivered one of the area's many free shoppers, although there were three streets close by plus four driveway.

The kind of makes you wonder about people. She was charming and nice and was sorry about it all afterwards but really did not seem to think it was wrong at all.

Next time your Scout-age kids need to take something to a troop meeting, try this.

It is one of the recipes I found and I have no idea where it came from, but it works and is good and very versaltile.

It is called German [illegible]

Mix together a half pound of real butter with a large package of softened cream cheese and two cups of flour Mix it well and chill overnight.

Then roll it out and cut into squares. Put a dab of jelly in the middle. This is what makes it so versatile. Any flavor will do.

Fold it into a triangle and bake at 350 for about 10 minutes. The little things can be frosted to pretty them up.

The Equal Payment Plan.

Some household expenses are fairly steady throughout the year. But your electric bill varies from month to month because your electric usage fluctuates with the changing seasons. The bill is usually higher in the winter. It dips a little in the spring months, then, for most people, rises during the air conditioning season, before dropping again in the fall.

We can't do anything about the weather, but we can help you smooth out the ups and downs of your electric bill. And that's by offering you our Equal Payment Plan.

With the Equal Payment Plan, we bill you a fixed amount each month based on your average usage.

Every six months we'll review your account so you'll know whether your electricity costs are going up, down or staying about the same. The bill at the end of the twelfth month is the "settle-up" bill.

Many of our customers are already taking advantage of the Equal Payment Plan. If it sounds like a good idea to you, simply contact us. We'll take it from there.

We give it our best.

Roots to celebrate 50th anniversary

Married Oct. 11, 1930, at Newport, Ky., the John Fate Roots will celebrate their golden anniversary with an open house in First Evangelical Lutheran church, where his late father was organist and where, as a youth growing up, he was a tenor in the choir and a frequent soloist.

He was graduated by Plymouth High School in 1928 and thereafter attended Wittenberg college, Springfield, and Oberlin college, Oberlin.

He joined the family firm, the Fate-Root-Heath Co., and was its treasurer for many years. On the death of his father, John Andrew Root, he became chairman of the board. He retired from the company when it was sold in 1966 to Harold Schott, who is now dead.

Mr. Root is an avid golfer. Mrs. Root is the former Marjorie Becker of Plymouth. She is a daughter of the late Alton Beckers. She was graduated by Plymouth High school in 1930.

They have three sons, John Becker, Avon Lake; Louis Fate, Mansfield, and Lawrence James, Plymouth. There are six grandchildren.

The Roots hope that gifts will not be sent.

International university, San Diego, Cal.; the late Willard Ross, Jr., a mathematician teaching at Knox college, Galesburg, Ill., at his death; Arthur L. CWU seeks paper Oct. 4

A paper drive to benefit the Upstairs store will be conducted Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. by Church Women United.

The store was founded in the autumn of 1975, in quarters made available by First Buckeye Bank, N. A.

Its purpose is to furnish school children with new and used clothing.

A clothing request is obtained by a parent from a school principal or a clergyman in the Plymouth Local School district. It is then taken to the store, which during the last school year assisted 40 families having 144 children. Three adults obtained clothing. Some supplies for emergency use, such as to a family that was burned out, were distibuted. Since Aug. 16, 101 children have been supplied with clothing.

Used clothing is donated almost every week. Volunteers sort and size these items for use by school pupils. Adult clothing and excess children's clothing are sold to anyone at low cost.

In addition to paper drives, the store is funded by contributions from six churches, a contribution by First Buckeye Bank, N. A., a contribution from Plymouth Lions club, memorial gifts and individual donations.

The store is open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

Pupils loose 485 balloons in science experiment

Up and away!

Pupils at Shiloh Elementary school ready balloons for launch in scientific project, joined by all classes under grade seven.

There were about 485 of them, helium inflated balloons to which were attached self-addressed postcards and a brief appeal for cooperation.

They were loosed from the footbal field behind Shiloh Elementary school on Sept. 24, when the temperature was 63 degrees Fahrenheit, and surface winds were from the southeast at eight miles an hour.

This was a science project of pupils of Shiloh Elementary school. It said so in the brief note attached to each balloon.

And the note asked the finder to state on the postcard the date and time and place where the balloon alighted, plus additional data at the volition of the finder.

It was anticipated the balloons would drift to the northwest until they reached an altitude of 3,000 feet, whereupon they would be caught up in an eastward current at rates of five to 10 miles an hour.

Some of the pupils were disappointed. For whatever reason, their balloons did not rise, although each of them appeared to have been inflated with the same amount of helium as the others.

But it was a colorful sight to see, all those balloons soaring rapidly and the pupils urging them upward.

Red aims to stop Pruner

The championship of the Black Fork Valley conference for 1980 won't be decided at Olivesburg tomorrow night, but Crestview is favored to take a giant step toward making it.

The Cougars will entertain Plymouth at 8 p.m.

Crestview will be at home to Lucas the following Friday, when the league title will be decided.

Plymouth's job is to stop Scott Pruner, a big 190-pound running back whose contributions to the Cougar offense this season have been so enormous his coach, Bill Seder, says he can't measure them all.

Pruner scored a touchdown and ran up 139 yards in 22 carries at Ontario Friday night as Crestview defeated Ontario for the first time in history, 12 to 10.

Pruner is not alone in the Cougar attack.

Tom Pickworth, the quarterback, an 11th grader, suceeds Fred Stimpert in that post for the Crestview eleven. He threw for 105 yards against the Warriors, completing nine of 15. He hit Troy Merle on a 61-yard pass-and-run play Friday night to break the scoring ice.

Another target is Brian Birchell, another 11th grader, weighing only 160 pounds but glue-fingered.

The Cougars have a stout offensive line, led by John Murray, who weighs 185, and Randy Kaple, another 185-pounder, at guard. Steve Stewart is a seasoned center.

On defense, Pruner and Murray play at the ends and Kaple is the middle guard.

Mayor's plan for salvation of village's financial plight to be submitted today

Mayor Eric J. Akers's informal report of his plans to solve the village's finance problems to the finance committee Friday morning shows the "light at the end of the financial tunnel."

His plan calls for the transfer of $60,000 from the electric reserve fund to bring the operating and maintenance fund out of the red.

He questioned if this could be done by councilmanic action or if it would have to go through the Huron county probate court. If the latter is the case, then the time would be of a longer duration before the OEM could benefit.

The only other fund which will be in deficit at the end of the year is the general fund.

He said this would be in the amount of $17,000, of which $2,000 should be paid to the fire pumper fund, $10,000 to pay off the long standing note to First Buckeye Bank and $5,000 in accounts payable.

Because of the uncertainty of the passage of the proposed three mill levy to benefit the safety fund of the general fund, e proposes to use income tax money.

He said the present water rates should be raised because of anticipated future expenses for the system. At present rates, charges hiring in $58,000 annually and estimated expenditures for this year are $59,000.

Ralph Roll, accountant for Ernst and Whinney, in his report to the commission, which was in agreement withthe mayor's, said electric rates should also be raised.

The mayor said he hopes if money is transferred to the operating fund, the council will attemp to replace it over a period of time.

The accounting firm which was chosen by the state to oversee Plymouth's financial problems has advocated a new, more efficient bookkeeping system, which Roll said has been put into effect and that the system is working to his delight.

Akers would like to distribute the several funds from 31 separate ones to about four or five, which he said would be easier for the clerk.

In making provisions for expenditures for 1981, the mayor's plan calls for normal operating expenses and an anticipated pay raise for village employees.

The mayor was to have presented his report in writing to the council last night. Three readings will be required because not enough members would be present to pas it as an emergency ordinance.

There could be no meeting last night because not even a quorum could be assembled.

Councilman Dean A. Cline is enrolled in a night class at North Central Technical college, D. Douglas Brumbach and Michael R. Taylor are out of town, and David A. Howard has submitted his resignation. But even if he had attended the meeting there would only be him, G. Thomas Moore and Ervin Howard.

The commission postponed its next meeting until the mayor's plan is formally approved by the council.

Red to meet Seneca East

Plymouth's chances of averting a winless football season may be on the line in Mary Fate park tomorrow night.

Seneca East's Tigers, over whom Plymouth recorded its only victory last season, come here for the annual Homecoming game.

The Tigers broke a long skein of defeats in the first games of the season, when they defeated Vanlue. But they haven't had much good fortune since.

Dave Stallings, a 12th grader, is an experienced quarterback who throws the ball well. His targets are Mike Miller, six feet four and 185 pounds, a 12th grader at end; Travis Daniel, an 11th grader who measures six feet and weighs 170; Lew Smith, a 10th grader; Todd Nemer, a 12th grader who plays end, and Ken Davis, an 11th grader who runs from tailback and halfback.

Randy Aichholz, a 12th grader who plays fullback, carries a major part of the offensive load for the Tigers. His classmates, Gordon Bayer, a guard and defensive end; Allan Detrich, a big tackle at 295 pounds; Dave Faeth, a fullback and halfback; Jim Siesel, a tackle and linebacker who weighs 185, and Doug Swartzmiller, a halfback, would like nothing better than to post a win over Playmouth for the first time in Seneca East history.

Coach Pat Holbert expects big things of Pat Waldock and Dave Cooper, both 12th graders who didn't letter last year.

Seneca East runs from the T-formation and plays a 4-4 defense.

Plymouth's aim is to overcome mistakes. In Scott Harris it has certainly one of the better running backs in this part of the country needs only to cut down on its errrors tomake a good showing.

The offense against Crestview was certainly the best of the season so far and the defense wasn't all that bad. Plymouth's tendency to fumble has cost it a number of opportunities. One fumble at Crestview led to a Cougar touchdown.

Game time is 8 p.m.Homecoming queen Laurie Kraft and her court will be presented before the game.

Musical set at high school Nov. 14, 15

My Fair Lady, the broadway hit musical, later made into a motion picture, is the choice of Plymouth High school for its annual musical set for Nov. 14 and 15 at 8 p.m.

Miss Kathy Orr is the director.

Patron tickets are again being offered. The regular ticket, at $10:50, entitled the patron to five seats and his name in the program. The tickets may be used on either night. The $5 patron ticket entitles the purchaser to two seats, which may be used on either night. An advertiser may purchase the listing of his name or business in the programfor $2.50.

There will be a dress rehearsal on Nov. 13 at 7 p.m., to which patrons are invited. Senior citizens will be admitted to the dress rehearsal free of charge.

Chest seeking $5,000

Plans were made Oct. 1 to get the 1980 community chest drive underway.

Mark Ream will again head the drive, goal of which is $5,000. At the meeting were Wayne H. Strine, representing the American Red Cross; J. Harold Cashman, Plymouth Branch library, and Mrs. Harry Sybrant, the Upstairs Store.

A total of 12 agencies will share in the drive. The Upstairs Store has been added to the 11 which have benefitted in past years.

The exact date of when the drive wil begin is dependent upon when the chest receives the form letters to be addressed and mailed out.

Picketing

PLW strike continues

Harvey Rector, representing PLW, says the company has made its final offer. Larry Bailey, president of the newly-formed Local 2161, United Auto Workers, successor to Plymouth Order of Mechanics, the company union that has stood since 1937, says that any talks must include UAW representatives. Rector says the company won't recognize the UAW as the certified bargaining agent for the striking employees.

Rector says PLW will seek an injunction in Richland county common pleas court to remove all pickets from the area at Bell, High and Spruce streets. When the strike began, there was some contention about where pickets could stand. Measurements were taken to establish what is private property belonging to PLW.

Tensions began to rise on Monday. Five summonses for disorderly conduct have been issued and one man has been arrested because he drove his vehicle into the rear of a pickup truck, the windshield of which was broken by a baseball bat. The driver's dog was seated on the front seat of the vehicle when the windshield was broken.

Acting Police Chief David Gibson, who is a foreman in PLW, said he has voluntarily taken a leave of absence and will concentrate on police duties until the strike has ended. "We expect the situation to get more serious as it goes along," he said. Richland county deputy sherriffs are on call to assist. During an altercation Monday, four of them speedily reported to the scene when notified by radio.

What's at the bottom of the strike is the company's unwillingness to allow the cost of living adjustment to be automatically rolled into the hourly rates of the employees.

The company proposed that in the new contract, to have taken effect on Oct. 1 for three years, the cost of living adjustment may only be negotiated after one year if the company feels the state of the economy at that time warrants renegotiation and a cost of living adjustment is merited. The company argues that its wage levels are higher than "almost any employer in this area." It says average wage is $9.14 an hour.

PLW advertises in area newspapers that production continues and it seeks skilled workers, whose satety will be guaranteed by security guards. Some striking workers said Monday that four new employees had reported for work Monday, but this could not be verified.

Rector says, "After the pickets are removed, the company will bargain with any certified representative."

The inference is that the representative shall be one recognized by the National Labor Relations board, whose nearest regional office is in Detroit, Mich. It said Tuesday that the procedure to call an election for designating an authorized representative is somewhat time-consuming and it estimated that such an election could not be carried out before month's end.

Meanwhile, 57 officer employees met last night ot vote on the possibility of affiliating with the UAW, in which case they also would walk out on strike. Ervin Howard, who is in dispute with the company over his loss of employment, is the organizer of this move.

Schriners' golden dream may end in shatters

The golden dream of Robert and Carol Schriner may be shattered in Richland county common pleas court tomorrow at 1 p.m.

A hearing has been set at the request of Sylvania Savings bank, Sylvania, to determine if foreclosure on the Shriners' campground operation at Morse hill in route 61 south of here shall be ordered.

The site measures 38.5 acres. It is owned by Morse Hill Campground Corp., to which the land was conveyed by the Schriners.

Richland county commissioners approved issuance of $500,000 in industrial revenue bonds.

The suit filed by the bank, which is acting as trustee of the note in behalf of the bondholders, states the Schriners acknowledged in May when they met with county officials that they did not make a payment on the principal of $481,000 still due or the $43,290 due in interest on Nov. 1, 1979. Nor did they pay $43,290 in interest due on May 1.

Accordingly, the bank invoked a clause in the mortgage and demands payment of 25 per cent of the outstanding principal.

Is Richland county liable for the notes?

The Schriners told the commissioners they were trying to obtain new loans, which they said would need to be about $125,000 to finish the campground. But they couldn't do so.

Harry Welsh, assistant prosecutor who is legal counselor to the county, admits the county is technically the owner of the property because of the note agreement. He said he thinks the court — in this case Judge Rex Larson — may sell the property and pay off the notes. The question here is whether the court could find a ready buyer to pay enouth to settle the notes.

Work on the campground was not completed because of a dispute with the contractor, a Michigan firm. The dispute has been in arbitration for two years, the Schriners say, and they cannot induce the contractor to meet with the arbitrator.

Why should candidate's wife be so prominent in campaign?

By AUNT LIZ

With a large election coming up everywhere in a few weeks, there is going to be a lot of real happiness, for the most part.

Those who are running for this and that will be going out of their way to be friendly, to everyone except the ones they are running against.

So far they have all made little blunders here and there when they seem to get carried away with themselves, but one very large one has been made.

It happened Sept. 1, and I just read about it.

Someone got some really bad advice and took it, which just may cost him millions of votes.

On that day our country issued a new stamp in honor of labor.

When a new stamp is issued, it has been an unwritten custom that there is a fancy ceremony for it, to which everyone is welcome, and people actually go to these things like mad and feel as citizens they have this priviledge, since it is a public event. Newspapers cover it, clubs come and ordinary people who are simply interested.

Well, on that particular Monday when the stamp was to be officially issued, no one told a soul that SOMEONE had planned a beautiful, tasty chicken barbeque with beer (which figures) on the lawn of that large white house at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue. It is only polite to leave the city unidentified.

A very select group of labor leaders was invited, and I gather not the people who are really labor.

This has made a bunch of people mad, not because they wanted to be there but the fact if they did want to be there, they were univited and not welcome.

It is like a little town dedicating something special and excluding all except a select few.

Is this a democracy? A lot of people though so for a number of generations.

Being a part of the "in group" had never bothered me, but it sure hurts feelings when people really want to be.

A long time ago I caught on to the fact that the reason people did not pitch into community things was because they were simply shy and wanted to be asked, and usually in every community there were simply shy and wanted to be asked, and usualy in every community there is a little group who really doesn't want to ask just anyone to help with things. Then they plain complain about those who will not help. This is an old American custom.

It was as true when I grew up in St. Paul as it is today. Everyone wants to be recongnized and one guy really blew if Sept. 1.

Even though we have to decide which way to vote, we still must eat before that happy November day.

Since a good friend is loaded with tomatoes, we have become large investors in bacon for sandwiches. Next to chicken salad, egg salad, peanut butter, tuna fish salad, they are my most favorite.

This makes you-know-who call me a real "peasant".

And there is nothing like a delicately poached egg on a buttery piece of toast or a couple of slices of nicely browned French toast.

Most people think that French toast must have syrup, but try a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. It is good and can really make tasty meal with little sausages, a salad and baked apples. For a salad just slice up some tomatoes and thow some fresh parsley on them. If you so not have the parsley, sneak out at midnight and inspect your neighbor's gardens. Your excuse is if they call the police about it all, you can say you wanted to be sure it was really growing. That is beening neighborly and no one could convict you on that. But do not get caught with a handful of parsley.

Eagles down Red; Beck sets record

Monroeville outpointed Plymouth in a dual cross county meet in Mary Fate park Thursday.

The score was 26 to 31.

Todd Ryan, Monroeville's ace, finished first in 13:51.

Summary:

Todd Ryan (M), first, 13:51; Mike Beck (P), second, 14:23; Jerry Simon (M), third, 14:28; Mike Arms (P), fourth, 14:49; Bill Missig (M), fifth, 14:56; Doug Nease (P), sixth, 15:05; Jesse Woodmansee (P), seventh, 15:09; Ron Wilhelm (M), eighth, 15:10; Paul Herner (M), ninth, 15:25.

Rob Smith, Plymouth, was 12th in 16:37.

Mike Beck, who finished in 16th place, set a new school record of 13:36, 20 seconds better than the record set by him at Old Fort's Invitational on Sept. 18.

Jesse Woodmansee placed 29th in 14:02, Mike Arms 33rd in 14:05, Doug Nease 48th in 14:26, Rob Smith 65th in 15:04, Scott Eayes 72nd in 17:20 and Darrin Kensinger 73rd in 19:01.

No. 55, Mike Metcalfe, an 11th grader who scales 170 pounds, is a useful figure in the Plymouth line, both on offense and defense. He's already qualified for a varsity letter and is looking forward to a Homecoming victory at Mary Fate park tomorrow.

No. 44, James Jamerson, also a 11th grader, plays fullback. He hasn't been able to produce in this season the yardage that he gained last year, but then there are four games left to play. Big enough at 190 pounds and five feet 10 inches to handle almost all of the opposition so far, Jamerson will be a starter tomorrow against Seneca East.

Cougars trim Red, 20 to 0

Plymouth's faint hope of a share of the 1980 championship in the Black Fork Valley conference went to pieces at Crestview Friday night.

The Cougars marched to a 20 to 0 victory over the Big Red, which played creditably save for three tragic mistakes.

The first came with 10:51 remaining in the first half.

After Phil Gowitzka had counted 31 yards — the only kick Plymouth was to make in the first half — to the Crestview 39-yard line, Dirk Merle put on a fantastic runback that carried to the Plymouth 25. Here a 15-yard face mask penalty set the Big Red back to its 10. On the first play, and only the third play of the period, Perry McGraw went into the end zone.

Plymouth's defense against the punt return simply broke down.

When Crestview lined up to kick the PAT, the snap went away and the kick failed.

The Cougars were back in the end zone one more time before the half ended.

Scott Glenn recovered a Plymouth fumble at the Red 37. On the first play, Crestview resorted to football's oldest and truest adage: after a fumble or an interception, throw on first down.

This is what Tom Pickworth, the Cougar quarterback, did. He found Mike Williams alone along the western sideline and hit him squarely for the TD play. The clock read 5:37.

Plymouth's pass defense was asleep on this one.

The run for PATs was short.

At the half, the statistical edge was in the hands of Crestview. On 31 plays, Crestview had five first downs, 70 yards rushing, 42 yards passing with two completions in six tries. The Cougar kicking is nothing to write home about. It amounted to two kicks, averaging 21 yards. Crestview had been penalized twice for 20 yards.

For its part, Plymouth on 25 plays had five first downs, 42 yards rushing, 28 yards passing with one completion in five attempts. But it had fumbled and lost the ball three times.

Its single punt was good for 31 yards and it had been penalized twice for 20 yards.

Plymouth took the second half kickoff and on third down Steve Tackett was intercepted by Scott Penner, billed as the star of the Crestview attack but whom Plymouth effectively bottled up during most of the game. At least, he did not score.

Crestview drove in eight plays to the Plymouth 28, only to give up possession on downs.

The Big Red got a big break in Crestview's next series. On fourth down, Pruner couldn't handle a poor snap from center and the Cougars lost 23 yards to their 38. Plymouth kept the ball for eight plays. On fourth down, from the Cougar 12, the double reverse play lost three.

The two teams sparred in the next two series.

Plymouth was at the Crestview 43 on fourth down and faked a punt. The run carried only two yards to the Cougar 41. Crestview set to work to score a third time.

A 13-yard pass to Williams from Pickworth gave the Cougars first down at the Plymouth 45. Pruner got five yards to the 40, whereupon McGraw ran through tackle for 40 yards to the end zone. The clock read 3:15. Pickworth passed to Keith Vipperman for the PATs.

Plymouth had one more shot at a score but was out of timeouts and couldn't stop the clock at the Crestview five. Highlight of this drive was a 53-yard sprint by Scott Harris, certainly the strength of the Plymouth attack this chilly, wet night. He broke through his left tackle, headed for the east sideline, evaded three tacklers and would have been home free save for a last ditch effort by Pruner, whose father is Crestview's track coach. Pruner caught Harris from behind and put him down at the Cougar 32.

Plymouth outgained Crestview on the ground, 146 to 131, but the Cougar aerial game was superior, gaining 62 yards to only 28 for Plymouth.

The victory raises Shiloh's record to 2-and-1. Lucas fell to 3-and-1.

50% water rate hike in mayor's plan

A plan to resolve Plymouth's financial difficulties has been approved by the village council.

It was presented by Mayor Eric J. Akers Friday night during a special meeting which was necessary because there was not a quorum present for the regularly scheduled meeting Thursday.

Also because there were not enough councilmen present to pass on the legislation as an emergency, two other meetings were necessary, one Sunday and one Monday evening.

The mayor's plan calls for the transfer of about $60,000 from the electric reserve fund to the operating and maintenance fund of the utility. This will pay off outstanding debts and bring the fund into the black.

The other fund with a deficit is the general fund. It is estimated that it needs $17,000 to bring itself out of the red. Of that amount $10,000 is earmarked to pay off a long standing note to First Buckeye bank, $5,000 to pay off other debts and $2,000 to be transferred to the fire pumper fund.

Themayor proposes that this amount be taken from income tax money for the time being. He wants that fund divided 75 per cent and 25 per cent in order to provide enough for the general fund now.

Later, with the hope that the three mill levy to be voted upon next month is approved, he would like the income tax money to be divided 50 per cent for the general fund and the other half amoung the other funds for capital improvements.

He is recommending that any revenue sharing funds during 1981 be earmarked for capital improvements within the safety fund of the general fund.

Charges for sale of graves and openings and closings in Greenlawn cemetery will be raised. The increase has already been proposed by the cemetery board. The increase, however, must have council approval.

The mayor also pointed out that a half mill levy should be renewed in 1881.

Stopping the transfer of money into the reserve fund of the fire department will allow for necessary expenditures to maintain its operation and provide for capital improvements.

The park fund will hold its own, according to the plan, with the help of income tax money for certain necessary capital improvements.

Akers is recommending that the village assess the same permissive tax of $5 on vehicles on the Richland county side of the village which has been charged for a number of years on the Huron county side of the village.

He estimates it will generate $4,000 to 5,000, which will be used for street improvements.

A change in the ambulance reserve fund is recommended. The present ordinance calls for one half of all gross ambulance money to be put in the reserve.

He would like it changed to "net" money, which would then allow the ambulance fund to stay out of deficit spending.

A rate study of the electric system should be provided for by the council to determine if the present rates are adequate to provide for day-to-day spending plus anticipated capital improvements.

The sewer fund is holding its own and will be able to pay off its debts to Farmers Home administration. The village is delinquent with two years of payments.

The sewer fund, the mayor says, is now in a position to repay a loan of $17,500 to the cemetery fund. Trust money was borrowed in 1970 to pay an outstanding loan to what was then People's National bank. It was necessary at the time this loan be paid off, so there were no outstaning debts in the sewer fund. This was required by the Farmers Home administration before it would enter into a loan agreement to proceed with the second phasse of the sewer system.

The money had been borrowed in 1965 to complete the first phase and only $17,500 was still owing.

Because of necessary improvements to the water system , the mayor is recommending a 50 per cent rate increase be approved.

Also on the agenda for Friday night's meeting was the approval for the police department of overtime pay necessitated by the PLW strike.

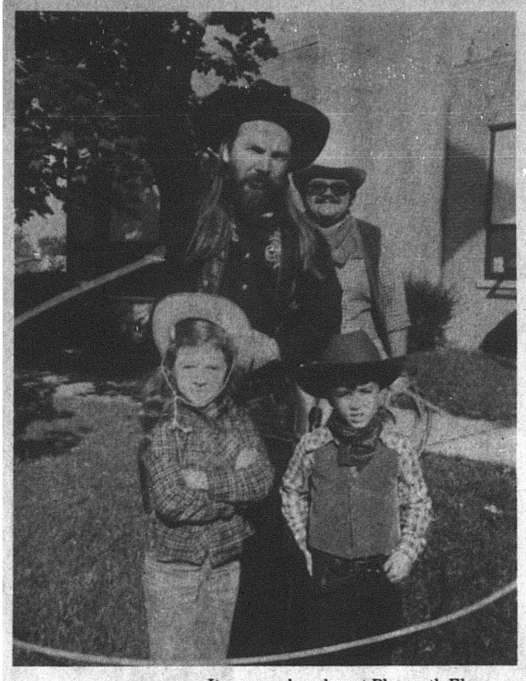

James C. Root, village adminstrator, submitted eight hours of overtime for village electrician, Terry Jump, for approval.

Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach recommended that it be approved since Jump did the work required on a Sunday. Brumbach also said that former village electrician, Thomas Baker, pitched in and helped with the problem.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore agreed that under the circumstance Jump should be paid, since the work was an emergency. Moore also said that if work during an ordinary day cannot be completed during regular hours, compensatory time should be taken rather than overtime pay.

Village children will trick-or-treat Oct. 29 from 6 until 7 p.m.

This coincides with Shiloh and Shelby timing.

Cowboys!

It was cowboy day at Plymouth Elementary school Oct. 1. Principal Mark Sheely and pupils dressed as cowboys to welcome an itinerant, dyed-in-the-wool cowboy from Fremont, Neb., Ed Eldridge, who twirled his lasso around Christina Ross and Aaron Strine, first graders.

Paulo leases service station

A new business opened last week and another old one closed, at least for the time being.

Richard Paulo, 138 West Broadway, is the new lessee of Plymouth Sunoco station. He took over Oct. 6 from Jeffrey Clabaugh, who succeeded Eldon Kennard in the business.

Larry Fraley, Shelby, owner of Plymouth Laudromat, closed it on Oct. 5.

He is in litigation with the previous owner, Edward O. Ramsey, over the transaction by which Ramsey gave possession of the business and the building which it occupies at Portner and East Main streets to Fraley.

Court limits picketing to 12 at a time

An injunction limiting picketing at Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., was issued late Friday by Richland County Common Pleas Court Judge Rex. Larson.

The injunction prevents officers and members of Local 2161, UAW, from entering company property. It limits the number of pickets to three strikers at each of four entrances to the plant. A $500 bond was set on Local 261 to enforce the injunction.

The local has filed with the NLRB office at Cleveland a petition to be recognized as the certified bargaining agent for the hourly employees who are members of th union.

Today is the 17th day of the work stoppage.

Violence that broke out last week has apparently been brought under control.

Schools cut tax for bonds

Taxpayers in Plymouth Local School district got some good news Monday night: the amount of money necessary to settle school bonds during 1980 will go down.

Plymouth Board of Education approved amounts and rates of taxation as determined by the budget commission and certified them to the county auditor.

Total operating levy is 25.7 mills, of which 4.4 mills is withing the 10-mill limitation. Bond retirement millage is six, 2.2 mills lower thatn in 1979.

Ten administrators and teachers submitted evidence of having completed assitional study and will be paid at the rate of $25 a semester hour for up to six hours of credit.

There are C. Michael Foltet, Mrs. Thomas Dawson, Mrs. Charles Briggs, Mrs. Bernice Campbell and Kim Stitzlein, six hours; James Craycraft, five hours; Sam Cook, four hours; John Voldrich and Mark Sheely, three hours; Jerry Julian, one hour.

Supt. Douglas Staggs told the board that decreases in state support, brought about by a declining economy, may amount to as much as $40,000. He said the cut is anticipated to be between six and eight per cent.

Official enrollment, which was reported Friday, amounts to 1,302 pupils, two fewer that last year. Of these, 249 are assigned to Plymouth Elementary school, 635 are assigned to Shiloh Junior High and Elementary school and 422 are assigned to Plymouth High school. There are 78 enrolled in Pioneer Joint Vocational school.

40th session of council sets record

The village council has again set a new record among municipalities.

Through Monday there have been 40 council meetings.

Ordinarily there are two regular meetings a month, the second and fourth Thursdays.

The local council has for many years conducted two monthly meetings, which were originally on the first and third Tuesdays. Last spring, for the convenience of the newly appointed village solicitor, Richard Wolfe, who also serves as solicitor for Ashland whose council meets on the first and third Tuesdays, the meetings were changed.

And of the 40 meetings so far this year, Councilman Michael R. Taylor, who is in California on business, has missed 23 of the meetings.

His absence and the resignation of Councilman David Howard has caused a number of special meetings in order to enact legislation, since it is necessary to have five members present for any emergency action.

Strike affects village income

What effect will the strike of Plymouth Locomotive works employees have on the village income tax?

As payments stand now a total of $47,755.94 has been collected as of Sept. 30, Mrs. G. Thomas Mooré, income tax director, reports.

Another $10,000 to $11,000 for withheld taxes by employers is due Oct. 31.

At the rate of collections so far for this year, the income tax will generate less than had been anticipated when it was put into effect.

When it was begun Dec. 9, 1979, it was estimated that about $100,000 could be expected annually.

With business conditions on the downward side and employees cut back, the last two quarters will not generate what the first two did which could be almost $25,000 that would not be forthcoming.

Planners seeking data

"What I want to see is a map with red and blue lines on it," Miss Luella Vandervort, secretary of the newly revived village planning commission, said last week.

"I know hardly anything about Plymouth," she continued.

What she and the other members of the commission want to know is what are the resources of the village.

For the most part, the members are newcomers and they simply want to know where are the storm and sanitary sewer lines the water lines and electrical lines.

Meeting Oct. 7, they mapped this information out as their first priority.

Once they have gathered this information, annexation of property which is being served by village utilities but outside the corporate limits of the village can be considered.

A zoning ordinance in the future is another priority.

The commission is still firm in its stand to enfore the sub-division ordinance passed in 1970 which calls for paved streets, curbing and sidewalks.

The future development of Brooks court by Bill Collins is at a standstill now because of the expense.

The commission will again meet Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. in the village hall.

Collinses buy

A parcel in Great Lot 152, Willow drive, has been sold by Fenfor Development Co. to Bill R. and Joyce A. Collins, Huron county recorder reports.

William H. Armstrong has conveyed to Susan L. Armstrong 1.0894 acres in Plymouth East road, New Haven township.

899 asked for relief, 215 worked

Huron county commissioners found that out. A total of 899 residents of the county have applied for general relief under a new program that began in January, by which recipients who are physically able to work are required to do so for at least part of their benefits.

Of these, 252 were removed from the program for sundry reasons, 215 were sent to work and performed satisfactorily, 28 found other employment, 78 refused to work and had their benefits suspended for 90 days, 58 were excused from work for good reason and 268 were denied relief because they didn't qualify.

Council post at Shiloh goes to Fletcher

By vote of three to two, Gary Fletcher is the new councilman at Shiloh. He will complete the term of Francis Gowitzka, who succeeded to the mayorship upon the resignation of Charles Bell, who is moving to Lexington.

Councilman Harry Foster proposed Fletcher's name. Councilmen Richard Tallman and Audrey LeMaster voted nay, Tallman saying two others had approached him about the post.

Councilman Frank Cline was then elected to succeed Gowitzka as president pro tempore of the council. Earlier, he had been chosen for the job, but when he learned that Mayor Grady McDonald intended to resign, he quit the post "because I don't want to be mayor." He took the job this time on that understanding: if Gowitzka resigns or is removed, he will resign as president pro tempore.

By vote of three to two, the council voted to purchase for $2,000 a used truck from the state. Trustees of public affairs said they will allocate $1,000 of the cost. Mrs. LeMaster and Councilman Barbara Music voted nay. Cline and Foster voted yea. Fletcher abstained, saying he didn't know enough about the truck. Under the rules, the abstention was counted as a yea vote.

Trick-or-treat night will be Oct. 29 from 6 to 7 p.m.

The council approved unanimously the amounts and rates of levy set by the budget commission. These include 2.5 mills for fire, 2.5 mills for the general fund and 6.8 mills for the police fund.

Strike cases inundate mayor's court

Thursday night's mayor's court was crowded.

Most of the cases stemmed from the strike of Local 2161 against Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

Michael Oney, who did not appear, was charged with assault by Eugene White.

White was charged by Gregory Kibler, controller of PLW, with disorderly conduct.

Donald Moore was charged by Arthur Hale that he prevented him from entering the plant the morning of Oct. 3.

LeRoy Cramer was charged with disorderly conduct by Johnny D. Oney.

Oney also charged Michael Glorioso with disorderly conduct. Glorioso was not in court.

These cases were continued by the mayor until Oct. 23 because of the complaints of the accused that the written charges had not been received until an hour before the court convened.

Cramer was also charged by William Armstrong for not stopping within an assured distance. He pleaded not guilty and the case will be transferred to the Shelby Municipal court by the mayor, who said he had too much prior knowledge of the case.

Emil Tengea through his attorney, Terry Kilgore, asked that the charge of assault against him be transferred to the Shelby court.

William Buffington, charged with disorderly conduct by the Plymouth police, asked that his case be continued since he had just received his court notice.

Walter Campbell, Sandusky, pleaded not guilty to charges of drunken driving, reckless operation and no operator's license. His case will be heard at the next court.

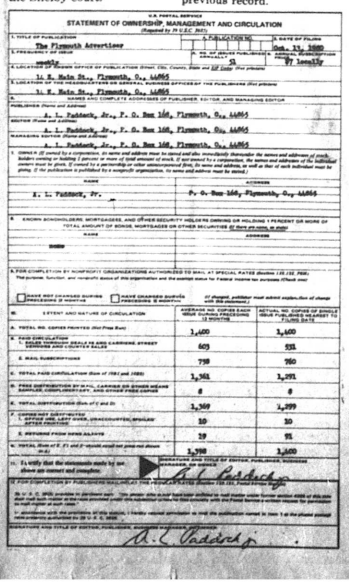

James E. Mask, Jr., Willard, charged with assault by Vaughn Coburn, will have his case heard Oct. 23.

Robinson pleads no contest

A plea of no contest to aggravated vehicular homicide was entered in Richland county common pleas court Tuesday morning by Harvey Robinson, 3rd, 18.

Indicted by a Richland county grand jury as a result of a head-on collision in West Broadway that took the lives of David M. Wisner, 16, Lexington, grandson of the Robert L. McIntires, and F. Kyle Hodge, Jr., 15, son of Police Capt. Frank K. Hodge, earlier Robinson had pleaded not guilty.

Judge Rex Larson postponed sentencing of Robinson, who could draw five years in the penitentiary, until he reviews Robinson's previous record.

Joe Messer, an 11th grader, follows in distinguished footsteps. His older brother, Mike, now in the Navy, shone for Plymouth as an 11th grader. Where Mike carried the mail, Joe labors in the trenches. He'll be looking for a victory over Ontario

A letter winner as a ninth grader, Jeff Jacobs hoped to set a modern record for a Plymouth pupil: 11 varsity letters. Blindsided in the last pre-season scrimmage with Hillsdale, he broke his collar bone. He returned to action Friday, this time as a lineman.

Red to face Ontario here

Two winless football teams will lock horns in Mary Fate park tomorrow.

History does not record a season, since Ontario began to play varsity football, that the Warriors failed to win a game.

They've a new coach, Ron Reinking, who went there from Colonel Crawford, but not too much material and apparently even less enthusiasm.

The Warriors took a 40 to 0 beating at the hands of Loundonville Friday, ending a relationship of 17 years, in which Ontario won twice as many games, 12, as the Redbirds did.

Loudonville will enter the Mid-Ohio conference next season and won't have room on its schedule for the Warriors.

Ontario's attack, if it can be called that, is led by Brian Gates at quarterback and by Shawn Fleming, the I-back.

But they couldn't make any headway against Loudonville, whose defenses limited the Ontario ground game to just 24 yards. The Warriors tried 10 passes and completed seven for 71 yards.

Reinking started the season with 14 lettermen on a squad of 52. He admits he has concentrated on defense. He also admits he hasn't so far been successful. Ontario's forward wall on defense is lighter than in many years. Dennis Botzer, the nose guard, weighs 150. Mike Yost, a denfensive tackle, scales 170. Brian Waterhouse, another defensive tackle, tips the beam at 170.

Craig Hosack is a big linebacker at 190. Ken Lake, a safety, has some experience. He weighs 155 pounds.

Ontario has played a more imposing schedule than has Plymouth. In addition to Loundonville, the Warriors have engaged Crestline, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Elyria West, Crestview and Lexington. A victory by Plymouth, in addition to succoring an ego long starved for a win, will produce important computer points because Ontario competes in Division III.

Golfers place seventh in sectional play

Plymouth golfers finished seventh among 12 teams in the Class A sectional tourney at Clyde Friday.

Coach Larry Root's team shot 362, 59 strokes behind the winner and defending state champion, Woodmore. New London was second with 328, tied with St. Peter's. Buckeye Central was fourth with 345, Gibsonburg fifth with 351, Fremont St. Joseph's sixth with 360.

Behind the Big Red were Crestline at 372, Seneca East at 381, South Central at 387, Bettsville at 390 and Old Fort at 393.

Plymouth golfers were Randy Compton, 84; Jeff Brown, 93; Clarence Moorman, 103; Bill Sexton, 90, and Shawn DeWitt, 95.

Crestline outshot Plymouth at Woody Ridge Oct. 6, 178 to 186.

Summary:

Crestline: Blocher, 43; Haag, 43; LeMaster, 48; Helby, 52; Charlton, 44.

Plymouth: Jeff Brown, 50; Randy Compton, 41; Clarence Moorman, 50; Shawn DeWitt, 45; Bill Sexton, 52.

Plymouth's record is now 6-and-4.

Seneca East too much for Red; Aichholz scores three touchdowns

Randy Aichholz scored three touchdowns and an extra point here Friday night to lead Seneca East to its first victory ever over Plymouth and spoil the Big Red's Homecoming. The score was 38 to 0.

There never was any doubt that the Tigers would prevail. They took the opening kickoff and marched 67 yards in 13 plays to produce the first score. Aichholz got in from the one. He had gains of seven, 10 and 12 yards during the drive. His kick for PAT was blocked.

The clock at the end of the field didn't operate all night. The timer on the field said the score came with 7:47 gone in the first period.

Aichholz was back in the end zone with a second touchdown with 1:11 remaining in the first quarter. Phil Gowitzka, afforded a second try because there were offsetting penalties, shanked a punt that lost a net of three yards from the line of scrimmage.

Setting up at the Plymouth 31, Seneca East drove to the goal line in seven plays. The key one was a rollout by Dave Stallings, the quarterback, who attempted to pass, was bottled up and then ran 14 yards to the Plymouth 10.

Aichholz ran it in from the three.

Seneca East scored the very next time it obtained possession.

But not until Plymouth had made its best offensive showing of the night.

The Big Red fielded the kickoff after Aichholz's second score and began from its 27. James Jamerson got 10 yards through right tackle and Scott Harris made a first down at the Red 39. On the next play, he burst through the Tigers' right side for 36 yards. Plymouth was to make one more first down before bogging down at the Seneca East 11, whence Bill Hudson tried a field goal. It was short and that was the closest Plymouth was to come to a score.

Seneca East took over at its 20 and drove 80 yards for its third touchdown. Ken Davis got 14 yards on a pitchout to the left and nine more on another to the right. When Lew Smith broke through left tackle for 14 yards, Hudson was painfully injured and removed by ambulance. It seemed that the fire left Plymouth after that.

On third down, from the Plymouth 16, Stallings passed to Mike Miller for the touchdown. The place kick for PAT was again a failure.

Plymouth had a golden opportunity at the end of the half but could not capitalize on it.

After Seneca East had recorded a first down at the Plymouth 42, another tackle play produced five yards. Gowitzka recovered a Tiger fumble. But Rod Hampton, relieving Steve Tackett at quarterback, was intercepted. The interceptor in turn fumbled, John Cole recovered for the Big Red, but time ran out.

Seneca East dominated the first half statistics. On 35 plays, the Tigers had recorded 14 first downs, gained 173 yards rushing and 22 yards passing, had fumbled twice and lost both, but had not punted nor been penalized. Plymouth, on the other hand, with only 19 plays, had three first downs, gained 79 yards rushing, had tried two pases and lost one by interception, had punted twice for an average of 15 yards and had lost 30 yards by penalty.

What was foreordained in the first half came to pass in the last half.

Plymouth took the kickoff and couldn't move. After losing eight yards in two plays, on fourth down Gowitzka punted. Setting up at the Red 48, Seneca East sent Aichholz through left tackle for eight and Smith straight ahead for 12. Davis then ripped 28 yards for the touchdown. The kick for PAT was again a failure.

Harris connected with Jamerson for 27 yards and a first down in the next series but Plymouth could not penetrate beyond the Tigers' 32, where Hampton fumbled. Seneca East recovered and went on to score driving 67 yards in eight plays. The big gainer was the result of a fantastic lapse by Plymouth's defense.

Stallings had dropped back to pass. Clearly in the grasp of two Plymouth tacklers, he broke loose for 20 yards and a first down at the Red 20. He passed to Miller, whose fumble was recovered by a teammate.

With second down at the Plymouth 15, the Tigers needed only three plays to score. Aichholz got the last five yards. His place kick for PAT was good.

Seneca East was to obtain possession two more times before time ran out. It scored with the first of these.

On fourth down, Tackett's pass to Dan Hale gained only a yard. The Tigers took over at their 49 and marched 53 yards in nine plays for the final score. Davis ran in from the Plymouth 30 but the play was called back because of a clipping penalty. Stallings passed to Aichholz for nine, David got 12, Stallings rolled out for three and then Smith bolted home from the five with five minutes to play. A finnish exchange student, Kari Haataja, kicked the PAT.

Plymouth reached the Tiger 37 in the next series, with mostly second stringers on the field for the visitors, but a fumble on fourth down killed any Red chances.

The Tigers simply ran out the clock.

Library issue topic

James C. Davis addressed Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce Monday night on the importance of the passage of the levy for a new Mansfield Public library building.

The importance lies in the fact that the Plymouth Branch library is under its direction and all services are funded through it. The library building expansion will provide additional services to local persons.

President of the chamber, Dr. James Holloway, discussed the purpose of the chamber and what it can do for the community.

Next meeting will be Nov. 17 in Charles Rhine armory at 7:30 p.m.

We're 127 years old today!

The oldest continuing business in Plymouth today starts its 128th year.

The Plymouth Advertiser was first published Oct. 23, 1853, by David Ross Locke and James G. Robinson.

It was initially a Saturday journal, later changed to a Thursday publication.

The late Peyton W. Thomas was its editor for 28 years, from 1926 to 1954. A. L. Paddock, Jr., has been editor and publisher since May 1, 1954.

Gunman steals $30,000 from bank at Shiloh

A masked robber stole about $30,000 at gunpoint from the Shiloh office of First Buckeye Bank, N. A., Friday at about 9:30 a. m.

The robber, said by witnesses to be dark complexioned, possibly of Hispanic origin, was described as about 30 years old, of slender build, wearing a stocking over his head, a tan jacket, tan trousers, a cowhide hat.

Glenn Messmore, 21 Main street, Shiloh, was standing at the teller's window when the masked man came in.

"He never ordered anyone to put his hands up," Messmore said. The robber directed Messmore to the west wall of the bank. "He had a cocked revolver and held the gun at an angle to the floor rather than toward us."

Morris McCoy, Crum road, Adario, was just entering the bank when the robbery began. "Somebody pointed a gun at me and told me to be quiet or he'd kill me," McCoy said.

Messmore added, "I tried to signal to another gentleman not to come into the bank but he came anyway. There was a lady at the door coming in as the robber was leaving and he told her to get out of the way."

Messmore said the robber left the front door of the bank and began to run, around the corner into Church street. The bandit got into a yellow car, later found by sheriff's deputies and the FBI in a country road south of Shiloh. The car proved to have been stolen earlier Friday from a Mansfield woman.

Plymouth, Shelby and Mansfield police assisted in the search for the robber and the car.

Police believe the robber and his accomplice, who probably drove the car, were injured when the car struck a large pile of rocks as it drove into a field. Deputies reported a "lot of blood" and tracks in the area where the car was found.

Finance commission to meet to approve mayor's plan

Another session of the financial planning and supervision commission is set for tomorrow at 10 a.m., when approval of Mayor Eric J. Akers's plan to resuscitate the village is expected to be accepted, if a quorum is present.

No quorum could be mustered on Friday.

Four members of the commission were present. These were William R. Miller, president of the commission; Mayor Akers, James C. Davis and Gregory Kibler.

George Lord, representative of the attorney general, and John Doling, Columbus, representing the state budget commission, could not attend. Five members are required to conduct any business. David A. Howard, a councilman who has resigned, did not attend.

But not without some reservations.

These include the fact that the cash flow projections are based upon assumptions that may be "favorably or unfavorably" affected by future events. Roll wrote that releasing money from the electric reserve fund may require legal action through the common pleas court. If the ordinance cannot be amended and the court declines to approve release of the funds, the village will need to find other sources of money to pay the past due liabilities in the electric operating fund. If the three mill levy to be voted upon onb mill levy to be voted upon on Nov. 4 is disapproved, additional funds will have to be appropriated to the general fund, probably from income tax receipts.

Finally, Roll said, the mayor's plan places "a great deal of emphasis and reliance on the use of village income tax money".

He noted the plan calls for eventual return to a 50-50 per cent division of income tax receipts. If this cannot be achieved, he added; some necessary capital improvements will not obtain funds from this source.

Roll also submitted to Miller his principals' bill for services. So far, it amounts to $41,891.99, of which $39,240 is for personal services. The remainder is for incidental expenses.

They are Larry G. Bailey, president of the union local; Donnie Moore, Gary Collins, Jim Laney, Philip Benton and Gerald Ferguson. They are represented by Terry Kilgore.

Tires cut at Legion

Larry Akers reported to Plymouth police that two rear tires on his vehicle were slashed Friday night while it was parked at Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion.

The incident is still under investigation.

Strikers ballot on future affiliation

Members of Plymouth Order of Mechanics cast ballots in the firehouse Tuesday from 3 to 5 p.m. to determine whether to formally affiliate with the United Auto Workers.

Larry Bailey, president of POOM, said the action taken on Sept. 30 was a decision to affiliate. Tuesday balloting was in accord with NLRB regulations that a secret supervised ballot to affiliate with UAW and to obtain formal recognition of the UAW as the official bargaining agent for the 139 employees who have been on strike since Oct. 1.

Burkhalter not guilty

The second man accused in the traffic deaths of David M. Wisner, 16, Lexington, and F. Kyle Hodge, Jr., 15, Plymouth, on Mar. 8 was acquitted in Richland county common pleas court Oct. 14.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

For Issue 1, against Issue 2

Two important constitutional issues face Ohio voters on Nov. 4.

The first is a proposal by the General Assembly to amend the state constitution to create two different classes of land for tax purposes, namely residential and agricultural land and improvements and all other land and improvements, and to adjust each voted tax in both classes so that the revenue produced by each class is no greater than the revenue produced by the class in the preceding year.

It is aimed at giving relief to the residential property owner (and, by the same token, the residential renter) who has of late been compelled to shoulder crushing burdens because of the inroads of inflation on property values. This has occurred because residential and agricultural property has appreciated in value faster than commercial and industrial property.

Steersmen for the issue insist that it will not diminish revenues paid to local school districts and municipalitites. Neither, they say, will it increase those revenues. What it will do is shift the load from homeowners and farmers to business.

Opponents of the measure claim its approval would open the door to special interest groups with enormous political pressure to benefit from special tax treatment. And, they say, and some county auditors agree with them, an administrative nightmare would be created because of the annual calculation of different tax reductions. In some counties that have not completely automated, the initial expense of complying with the amendment might well wipe out the benefits.

We suspect Ohioans will vote where their pocketbooks are. It's what we're going to do: vote YES on Issue 1.

The second issue is the Ohio Fair Tax initiative. Its purpose is to sock the corporations to give relief to the individual. If it is approved, it would give households having less than $30,000 annual income up to $300 in tax relief whenever property taxes exceed 2.5 per cent of household income. It would increase taxes on corporations having profits of $75,000 or more. It would raise state income taxes on persons earning $30,000 or more. It would raise $744 million in new state and local revenue. Finally, the supporters of Issue 2 say, it will head off a general tax increase almost certain to be enacted by the next General Assembly.

Opponents of the issue insist that for every $1 obtained in tax relief, the measure will raise nearly $6. These taxes would fall mainly on employers, who would thus be compelled to raise prices to compensate for increased costs of doing business. The measure also would eliminate certain personal property taxes on business equipment. It would impose state sales and use taxes on some important business transactions now exempted from these taxes.

At a time when there is high unemployment hereabout, it is clear what the citizen should do: he should vote his pocketbook. To support Issue 2 will rob the consumer by forcing him, in the end, to pay more for what he consumes.

Vote NO on Issue 2.

Richland countians face three local issues. An additional tax of one-half mill, to run for 10 years, is proposed to fund support of children services and the care and placement of children. A renewal of part of an existing levy -- the renewal is a reduction of four-tenths of a mill -- to pay expenses of the mental health services is proposed. Richland County Library district asks a new tax od seven-tenths of a mill to run for 21 years to build a new library in Mansfield.

Our children are grown. Their needs are met elsewhere. It is unlikely they will look to Richland county to meet their future needs. But it would be wrong to conclude that we should turn our back upon the children who have come after them. We shall support the children services levy and the mental health levy. We think the library levy can wait.

Ontario wins 16th in 18 from Red

Ontario humiliated Plymouth, 28 to 0, in the rain here Friday.

And in doing so, the Warriors set some records. These include:

1. No team has defeated Plymouth at football a total of 16 times. Plymouth and Ontario have played 18 games, the Big Red having won one. There was a tie.

2. No team has ever put the ball into play against Plymouth a total of 77 times, which the Warriors did Friday.

Ontario completely dominated the contest. It limited Plymouth to just 49 yards of offense, all of it on the ground. And it rushed for 250 yards with 22 first downs. Ontario did not complete a pass.

The visitors scored the very first time they got the ball. Plymouth took the kickoff and was compelled to punt on fourth down. Ontario started from ita 45 and in seven plays was in the end zone.

Craig Papst, who later was ejected from the game, carried the ball five of the seven times during the drive. He got the last nine yards with 7:08 on the clock.

Jeff Shook kicked the first of four PATs.

Plymouth gambled on fourth down in the next series. It did not pay off. It was early in the game, Ontario led by only one touchdown, and Plymouth was mired–and that is the word for the condition of the playing surface this wet night – at its 25. But the Big Red faked a punt. The snap was fumbled and Plymouth lost five yards.

Ontario was unable to capitalize on the advantage. With first down at the Red 20, the Warriors couldn't penetrate beyond the 17. On the first play of the series, Plymouth threw Shawn Fleming for a five yard loss, from which the visitors didn't recover.

Not in this series, anyway.

But in the next, they drove to a second score. Phil Gowitzka, who also was later to be ordered from the premises, punted 37 yards to the Ontario 22. Mike Yost got 10 and then Papst took over. He carried the ball on seven of the 10 plays in the drive, gaining the last five yards for the touchdown at 9:51 of the second period.

Ontario saw Plymouth penetrate its territory in the next series. The Big Red reached the Warrior 34 before fumbling. Ontario recovered and led by Shook and Fleming punched to the Plymouth 45, only to pick up a holding penalty. Indeed, in the final series of the first half for Ontario , the visitors collected four penalties for 30 yards.

What this game is all about was shown clearly after the second half kickoff. Ontario received and held the ball for 10 minutes 50 seconds, driving 63 yards in 25 plays. Brian Gates, the quarterback sneaked in from the one.

During this drive, the Warriors collected three penalties for 35 yards.

Plymouth's fumble early in the fourth period gave Ontario possession at the Warrior 34. The Big Red held, tackled the ballcarrier for a nine yard loss and forced the only Ontario punt of the night. Dale Moorman fumbled the wet ball, Ontario recovered at the Plymouth 40 and drove to the goal. Shook got home with the TD at 3:38.

Plymouth was at the Ontario 29 when time ran out.

Coach David Coulter made some changes offensively. Jeff Jacobs, returned from an injury, played most of the game at quarterback. James Jamerson, heretofore a running back, played in the offensive line. Later, he donned his usual number, No. 44, and performed in the backfield.

Plymouth did not make much use of Scott Harris, who was said to have a muscle sprain. But then, Plymouth did not make much good use of anybody, on offense, anyway.

It may be impossible for Plymouth to win a game this season.

PLYMOUTH DRY GOODS

As uncommon as they are, natural gas leaks have some common signs.

Can you recognize them?

Columbia Gas keeps close watch on its pipelines and facilities to assure safe operation. And, although leaks are uncommon, they sometimes do occur. We feel it's important that you know how to recognize a leak and what to do if you should spot one.

Common signs include a smell of gas, inside or outside; a hissing noise; blowing dirt; or bubbling water over a submerged pipe.

In or around your home or building, if you smell gas, first check to see if a pilot light or burner may be out. If not, and you still sense a leak, call us. Be aware the source of a gas odor could be external—gas from service lines or street mains that could migrate into your premises through walls or drain lines.

If the odor is strong, open doors and windows. Shut off gas appliance valves or meter valve. Don't use matches, electric switches or appliances. Leave the house and call Columbia Gas from nearby and stay there until a Columbia representative arrives.

If you are outside in an open area, eliminate, if possible, potential sources of ignition and leave the area. Call Columbia Gas from another location.

We're proud that calls reporting leaks are few. But Columbia wants you to make them, even if you only suspect a leak.

In every case, Columbia Gas will send someone immediately to make a thorough check.

Columbia Gas is concerned about safety. And with your cooperation, we'll keep your natural gas service efficient and dependable.

COLUMBIA GAS
Still your best energy value.
And we want to keep it that way.

By AUNT LIZ

If you have been vacationing lately, no doubt you have discovered that staying in just a halfway decent hotel can cost a small fortune.

They are worse than a five pound bag of sugar at the moment.

Even the little cheapie motel we stay in when we go to visit our mother in New Jersey has raised its rates. They are now at something like $19 a night.

Don't laugh, it is clean, has lots of hot water, comfortable beds and excellent TV's. Unfortunately, no morning coffee to sip comfortably in bed while watching the Today show, which is the only time I ever see it.

It is run by Indian Indians who live in an apartment behing the office. This makes the office part very aromatic with the nice smell of curry cooking. One of these days I am going to suggest they invite us for a late supper, which is about the time we get there.

Being a little on the pratical side, I see no sense in staying in a truly luxurious hotel when all you are going to do is take a shower and sleep.

But there is one which just opened up in New York that I would love to visit — again. Perhaps if I could pawn a husband, two kids, three grandchildren, one dog and the family cat, I could manage it — alone.

A single room starts at $120, doubles for the most part are $170 but they do have a bargain for $140. This is not for the week.

I stared at an advertisement for this place that was in a magazine section of a Sunday paper, and it simply rang a bell. Then I noticed the address.

That did it. It was the old Mills mansion in the heart of the city, which had been converted into a center service gals during WWII. It was barrack like, and so were the beds, but it had showers and hot water and cost exactly 50 cents a night.

We stayed there when we went to New York and did not feel we had $6 for the old Pennsylvania. That one was truly luxurious to us in those days, real bathtubs, while we only had two showers in our barracks in Virginia, and beds that were pure luxurious compared to what we sleep on.

Apparently some enterprising souls have redone the mansion, which after the war became the office building for St. Patrick's cathedral.

It looks as though the mansion, a three sided building with a beautiful court yard, is being used as an entrance with a large moder-looking high-rise behind it, which must be the hotel rooms.

At least I can say I slept there should the hotel come up in any conversation. No one needs to know just when and this should certainly increase the lack of any social status we have.

I am not too sure where we actually stand locally, but nationally we are right up there on the top. More happy Christmas catalogues are appearing. The latest that came the other day stopped me on the third page and I have not had the courage to go any further.

Should you need a nut cracker, they have one for a mere $55 plus postage. It is very attractive, and I am sure it works as well as our old dime store one or the family hammer, which works like a dream.

And this is nut cracking time, for apple pies, cookies and special breads. You can even buy the prepared stuff and perk it up by tossing a handful of nuts, whatever ones you have around, and raisins into the batter.

The results are truly impressive to your family, guests and anyone who happens to buy what you have lovingly made for a bake sale.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

For Reagan, Glenn, Ashbrook . .

How should the sensible voter conduct himself?

What should he do in the election booth?

To our way of thinking, the correct procedure is to retain those faithful public servants whose conduct of office and person has been of a better than average character. The slings and arrows of serving the public are never wholly reimbursed by any salary, no matter how big it is. Those who are willing to tolerate them, and who tolerate them well, deserve not only the admiration but the support of all of us.

There is no question in our mind but that the incumbent president has not been a success. Promises aside, and he made a million of them, he simply has not done the job. Economically, we're in a bigger mess than at any time since 1930. Internationally, there're 52 or 53 of our citizens locked up in a far-off place, folks who've been locked up for nearly a year, and we're no closer to getting them home than we were the day they got there. This, if you please, in spite of, or perhaps because of, a hare-brained scheme to rescue them that died aborning.

We've known Dutch Reagan since the fall of 1938, when he was a flaming liberal, a fellow with sore knees resulting from his idolatry of That Man Buried at Hyde Park. And we've said a thousand times, we basically distrust one who will change wife, religion or politics under stress.

Nevertheless, since the Constitution says the president must be a natural born citizen 35 years of age and 14 years resident therein, we must choose one of the other two candidates. What the Constitution doesn't say, but ought to, is that the president must be the leader of a major political party. Our system is built that way. John Anderson is not.

By elimination, then, we must cast our vote for Ronald Reagan and we urge our neighbors to do the same.

Senator Glenn has performed creditably. He merits reelection.

Representative Ashbrook's positions on some issues differ widely from ours, as we've said before. But difference of opinion is what makes marriages and horse races. His opponent is a nonentity. Vote for John Ashbrook.

We endorse Senator Pfeifer.

Huron countians will doubtless wish to cast a ballot for their old neighbor, Clifford W. Brown, a candidate for the supreme court. It is important to choose the right court this year, because the question of congressional redistricting is likely to come before it if and when the census dispute is resolved. The bar association says Sara Harper is not qualified to be chief justice. It says that Judge Brown, and his opponent, the incumbent, are well qualified. Either would be satisfactory, and less likely, we think, to herd like common sheep at the snap of the political party's whip.

Huron countians will elect two commissioners, a sheriff (who's unopposed), a prosecuting attorney (also unopposed), a coroner (also unopposed), a clerk of courts (also unopposed), a treasurer and a engineer.

We think they would be wise to retain all incumbents save two.

Commissioner Palm's foot-in-mouth disease, we think, disqualifies him from reelection. The very idea of saying that a lady can't be a commissioner! Mr. Palm, we've got news for you: A lady who lives in our house served four years as councilman and eight years as mayor, and it wasn't always pleasant, but her honor and her gentility are intact.

To say that a woman can't serve the county in a policy-making post is asinine. We can do without that sort of thing. Vote for Mrs. Bedford.

We agree with the Democratic candidate for engineer that it's time for a change. His qualifications seem to be sufficient unto the hour. He is energetic and enthusiastic. So far as we know, he has no reason to hand his head in shame. Vote for Heit for engineer.

Richland countians have some important choices to make.

As above, we favor the retention of incumbents who've done a good job.

George Griffith is a friend of ours and has always been cooperative. But the recent unpleasantness of county finances, while not wholly his fault, nevertheless tars him with the same brush. The prosecutor who was involved in the budget commission has departed the scene. The auditor's term has some time to run. The only one to deal with now is the treasurer. It's time to change. Vote for Butterbaugh for treasurer.

Two newcomers seek election as commissioner for the term beginning Jan. 2. The only time Glenn Tschantz, Jr., ever came to Plymouth was when he was paid to do it, as a basketball and football referee. Terry Wolf has some shortcomings (like Caesar, he's mighty ambitious), but his candidacy seems to us to be the preferable one.

The judgeship being vacated by Rex Larson after acceptable service is sought by three lawyers.

It appears to us that James Henson is the best candidate among the three. And it's not because he came to Plymouth. When he did, and stopped in the office, he ignored the one person who makes endorsement decisions.

Which brings us to the other incumbents. Each of them merits support: Judge Arbaugh, Sheriff O'Neil, Recorder Orewiler, Engineer Roberts (unopposed), Clerk Coffey (also unopposed), Coroner Oakes, Commissioner McGinty.

The only other question on the ballot is whether taxpayers of Plymouth should agree to an additional levy of three mills.

There have recently been some sworn statements, which presumably can be challenged by those who may feel maligned, that the present unpleasantness of labor strife is out of hand because police services are inadequate.

It seems to us that to throw more money at them won't improve the quality of service. On the other hand, if the levy fails, the village will raid the income tax fund to meet police expenses, and to fund raises, which means that 25 per cent of the people will be paying for 100 per cent of the service. And four of the six councilmen will get off scot free.

Reluctantly, we'll support the levy. But we won't be sorrowed if it fails. It's too little, nobody has done a selling job on it. there seems to be no enthusiasm by the mayor for it.

Violence . . .

Violence broke out again at Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., Oct. 22.

After striking employees had voted overwhelmingly – the vote was 142 for UAW, two for POOM, three for no affiliation – to be represented by the United Auto Workers, they got wind of some traffic movement at the plant.

Richland county sheriff's deputies said they counted 13 vehicles with two strikers in each of them assembled at roadblocks established by the sheriff along the route between the Mansfield terminal of Commercial Lovelace Motor Freight, Inc., which firm is the principal company in Banner industries, Inc., and the plant.

Three strikers were arrested during violence at the plant here. Sergt. Frank Hodge of the police department was slightly injured in a scuffle with a striker.

Charges were filed against Gary Collins, Base Line road; Norman Burton, Jr., 44 North street, and Leonard Jessie, 172 Beelman street.

They were taken to the jail in Shelby and held there until bond was posted.

Lieut. Robert Conley, a Plymouth High school alumnus, said "it was a very irate mob, very disorderly. They made serious threats against the truck driver's life."

Harvey Rector, labor consultant for the company said, "The law enforcement is not adequate to take care of it. We've had mob rule since this strike started on Oct. 1."

The three who were arrested were charged with disorderly conduct, assault and aggravated menacing.

Conley said between 40 and 50 strikers threw rocks and jars filled with paint at the truck, the window on the driver's side of which was shattered and the windshield damaged by missiles. The truck driver was slightly injured but did not seek treatment.

The personal vehicle of Sergeant Hodge was splashed with red paint.

Meanwhile, PLW filed before the NLRB a protest to the conduct of the election, on four grounds.

These are that the NLRB refused to conduct a hearing for the purpose of determining the facts in the case, that POOM, certified since 1937, was dissolved by resolution contrary to NLRB precedent without benefit of an election, that after a final meeting during which the company pleaded with POOM to remain on the job and vote via a due process election, the UAW struck the company, demanding recognition, in violation of Section 8 (b) (7) of the National Labor Relations act, and that pickets and others connected with the union have been and still are perpetrating and participating in mob violence on the streets of Plymouth in violation of a common pleas injunction.

Rector argues that the regional director bases his direction of the election on an economic strike when in fact the UAW strike is a recognition strike. He says in his brief that at no time did the certified bargaining agent, POOM, give notice of a work stoppage, thereby establishing an economic strike.

PLW therefore asks the regional director of the NLRB to seek injunctive relief to insure a peaceable atmosphere for free choice elections to legally determine the status of POOM and to legally determine the status of the UAW.

Rector says in his brief "There is not one iota of evidence to establish any anti-union animus on the part of the company. Without any disrespect toward any labor organization, we challenge the board's direction of the election without a proper hearing to determine the facts in the case. Certification by mob rule is contrary to the American way of life. Therefore, the position of the company is simple: we will bargain with any labor organization which is duly certified by the NLRB through appropriate channels."

Bullets strike house

Christopher Barnthouse, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barnthouse, reported to the Richland county sheriff Saturday night that shots were being fired at their home in Henry road.

Nine shots had been directed toward the house and several casings from a caliber .22 weapon were found in the roadway by investigating officers.

The children were alone in the house at the time, and Christopher wisely made his young sister, Holly, get down on the floor so she would be out of range if a bullet entered the house.

An investigation is continuing.

Strike cases unheard

All cases involving violence at Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., were continued in mayor's court Thursday night.

Two cases were transferred, that of Brian Gayhart, Shelby, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license, to Shelby, that of Charles D. Ward, Shelby, charged with aggravated menacing, to Norwalk.

William M. Buffington, Willard, charged with disorderly conduct, was convicted and fined $50 and costs. He pleaded guilty.

James E. Mask, Willard, pleaded no contest to assault. He was convicted and fined $200 and costs.

Harrison Reed, Willard, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was fined $25 and costs.

In traffic cases, Jimmy D. Irven, Shelby, pleaded no contest to a charge of having no driver's license. He was convicted and fined $50, $25 of which was suspended on conditions of no similar violation for one year.

Dean A. Fidler, Plymouth, pleaded no contest to driving left of center. He was convicted and fined $30 and costs.

Taylor resigns seat; Holloway, Cashman in

A surprise resignation produced a second vacancy on the village council Thursday night and the council moved quickly to fill it and another.

Councilman Michael R. Taylor submitted from California a letter of resignation, which was promptly accepted.

The council then moved to appoint Dr. James Holloway, 26, Plymouth's only dentist, to complete his term.

Resignation of Councilman David A. Howard was also formally accepted. His replacement is James H. Cashman, 27, a fire protection engineer with Kemper Insurance agency, Mansfield.

Both terms expire Dec. 31, 1981.

Holloway is the second appointment to the slot he is filling. Taylor was appointed in June, 1978, when the seat was vacated by James C. Root, who took the position of village administrator.

Although only three members, Councilmen Ervin Howard, Dean A. Cline and D. Douglas Brumbach, were present, the village solicitor, Richard Wolfe, ruled that they constituted a quorum, since they regularly attended the meetings and were qualified members.

The new councilmen will serve on the finance and safety committees.

Cline was chosen by his colleagues as president pro tempore of the council, the position which Howard held.

At the suggestion of Howard and backed by Brumbach, the council will send a letter to Willard, outlining Plymouth's immediate plans.

The council's intent is to "keep the door open" to Willard's supply of water, but now is exploring the possibility of the village surviving alone.

Root said the survey being conducted by Burgess and Nible, Columbus water consultants, is progressing and a report should be ready within a few weeks.

The solicitor was instructed to prepare an ordinance to transfer money from the electric reserve fund to the operating and maintenance fund.

In his financial recovery plan, Mayor Eric J. Akers estimated that a sum of $32,336 should be transferred to bring the fund out of a deficit.

There is now possibility that less money needs to be transferred because collections have increased.

At the request of Cline, the solicitor will research the state law banning open burning. Cline said he has received several complaints about leaf burning. The village did not enact its own local ordinance after the state law was passed.

Approval was given to pay for 122 hours of overtime to the police department because of extra duty since the strike of Local 2161 against PLW began Oct. 1.

The council reviewed a proposed ambulance agreement with the Village of Tiro and Auburn township. It is proposed the two pay a total of $2,500 annually and share in the costs of the service.

An executive session lasting almost an hour resulted in the mayor reading a statement of the village's position concerning the local strike.

It follows:

"This council and administration wants to go on record as saying that we are deeply concerned about the effects of the present labor dispute ongoing within this village. This administration has no intention of taking sides in this matter, but has a responsibility to protect and ensure the health, safety and well-being of the inhabitants of this community.

"This village deplores violence and other breaches of the peace and will do all that is within our power and ability to maintain the peace. It is my hope that all persons involved will conduct themselves in a lawful manner and particularly respect the personal and property rights of this community in general."

Leaves!

Leaves bagged and deposited at the kerb will be collected by a village truck for the next four Wednesdays, Village Administrator James C. Root announces.

Ever make a trip with three-year-old?

BY AUNT LIZ

You have not lived a full life until you have jaunted over Route 80 and back within three days, about 480 miles of it to where we turn off.

The trees were beautiful and worth the trip.

What made this jaunt a little different, and we have made it so many times, is that we had a three-year-old and a three-month-old stuffed in the back seat.

Even though I am prejudiced because they are the most beautiful grandchildren in the world, they did behave nicely considering the conditions.

The three-month-old, who is a real ham and will smile at the drop of a hat when she realizes she is getting a lot of attention, came forth at the right moments. They did not hear her at other moments, but those were her exercises to let off a little steam.

Our three-year-old was also a delight when she met her great-grandmother. Her mother had coached her very well who Nana was and she was plain happy to see her, which delighted Grandma.

Nana was different, though, from two sets of grandparents who want to hug and smootch. She could remember one set because they had been to Denver in June, but she had not seen us since Christmas and really did not know who in the heck we were.

Once we went through this on our first home leave. You go from town to town. Our kids would not let us out of their sight, because we were all they knew.

Every time our three-year-old turned around, there were different grandparents and assorted aunts and uncles. The poor child is going home really confused.

Say what you will about Dr. Spock, he hit it on the nose when he said never take a child out of its environment until it is about five.

Nevertheless, our three-year-old entered into the spirit of it all and after a while decided maybe we were Grandma and Grandpa after all.

She has a real sense of humor. We made a headstart into Pennsylvania and drove about three hours so we would not have such a long drive back the next day.

We stayed in a local motel, and after washing our faces and brushing teeth, we went to the dining room. No way would I have taken a shower and changed clothes at that point, I was too tired and I was plain hungry, so we get to the dining room.

Perhaps I am not the best grandmother in this world, but I asked for a martini with olives. Our other granddaughter loves them so I asked this one if she would like one of grandma's olives and she pulled one off the little stick. She immediately dropped it into her glass of milk. When our nice young waitress came back to our table, I mentioned that I thought it was great that the Inn (I will never give free publicity, but you can guess) served an olive in a glass of milk. A panic stricken look came over her face, she thought it was for real.

Our country has been build Filled with vitamins and yet tasty. Just soak a whole batch of olives in gin, and drop them in a small glass of milk and we will have it made.

I suspect our three-year-old granddaughter will want her share of al the profits.

Four fumbles, four TD's: St. Wendelin's wins, 40-6

St. Wendelin's thumped Plymouth at Fostoria Saturday night, capitalizing on four Big Red fumbles for as many touchdowns and adding two more in a 40 to 6 rout.

About 40 Plymouth fans drove the 45 miles to the stadium, certainly the finest facility in which Plymouth has played this season, to see a capital performance by Scott Harris, the 11th grader, who gained 120 yards in 32 carries.

But the rest of Plymouth's offense was inadequate to the task and its defense could not contain the Mohawks after the offense had turned over the ball.

St. Wendelin drew blood with 8:52 remaining in the first period. The Mohawks recovered a Plymouth fumble at the Red 31 and needed only three plays to score. Brian Hagenmaier, a co-captain of the Mohawks, covered the entire 31 yards in one shot. The place kick for PAT was blocked.

About five minutes later, with its second possession of the night, St. Wendelin scored again. Plymouth on fourth down with five yards to gain for first down went into punt formation. Some fancy hipper-dipper ensued and it exploded in Plymouth's face. The play lost seven yards.

Setting out from the Plymouth 41, St. Wendelin sent John Macias through left tackle for three. Then Chuck Baker passed 34 yards to Chuck Kramb and a first down at the Red four. Bill Frankart needed two shots to score, the last one from six inches away. Baker passed to Frankart for the PATs.

Plymouth was unable to penetrate Mohawk territory in the second period – indeed, it had only two possessions during the entire 12 minutes - and with three seconds left in the half, St. Wendelin capped a 72-yard drive on the 11th play with a score by Mark Macias, who took a four yard pass from Baker. A Chilean exchange pupil, Diego Enriquez, kicked the PAT, his first score ever.

Plymouth recovered a Mohawk fumble midway through the third quarter. With good field position at the Mohawk 33, Jeff Jacobs passed 19 yards to Steve Tackett for first down at the St. Wendelin 14. Harris lugged the ball thereafter, getting three on first down for the score.

The run for PATS was short.

St. Wendelin simply broke it open in the final period.

The Mohawks fell on a Plymouth fumble at the Red 20 and needed only four plays to make the touchdown. Frankart got in from the five. The run for PAT was short.

Two minutes later, the Mohawks had another score.

They recovered yet a fourth Plymouth fumble, this time at the Red 36, and used five plays to get the touchdown. John Affholder burst in on a 17-yard run down the west sideline.

Enriquez booted the PAT.

With time running down, a reserve quarterback, Jamie Youngton rolled out for 11 yards and the final score. The run for PAT was short.

Greg Polachek was helped from the field in the second half with what appeared to be a leg injury.

Paul Pfeifer

State Senate Again

No stranger to hard work, Paul has tackled some of the toughest problems facing the Ohio Legislature. He drafted a comprehensive plan to reshape the method of funding public schools and led the fight to enact a constitutional death penalty statute for Ohio.

Paul has a remarkable 96% voting record. He is now the Senior Republican Member on both the Judiciary Committee and the Energy and Public Utilities Committee.

You may not always agree with him, but you always know where Paul Pfeifer stands on an issue. The Ohio Senate could use more like him.

Mr. Palm, you asked for an answer. It's a cheap shot, but you're right. As a widow of 28 years myself, I have lived with my elderly widowed mother. She, of course, pays the farm taxes. I, of course, pay her rent. It hardly seems worthy of a campaign issue, Mr. Palm, but you wanted an answer.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Last year the Prosecutor's office spent $327,823. Outside prosecutors were paid over $110,000 of your tax dollars during the last two years to do work which should have been done by our Prosecutor. This helped to create the county's current financial woes. Over the last ten years the crime rate has doubled – yet the total expenditure by the Prosecutor's office has quadrupled! And still, the newly appointed Prosecutor says he will continue the costly practice of using the Prosecutor's office for his private law business . . . at taxpayer expense.

Paul S. Christ will bring back sound, responsible management to this important office, and will not use the office for his private law practice. Cases will be thoroughly investigated and properly charged. Paul Christ knows that equal justice doesn't have to bankrupt the county.

It's time for leadership in the Prosecutor's office. It's time for Paul S. Christ.

Justice.

Surprised? Electricity does so many things around the home, it's easy to forget just how much you count on it.

Most likely, you don't have everything listed above. And just as likely we forgot to mention some things you do have.

The point is this: while the cost of electricity has gone up, when you consider all the things it does for you each day, it's still an excellent value.

But chances are you're using more than you used to: most folks are.

So, if you think twice about how and when you use electricity, you can make it even more valuable.

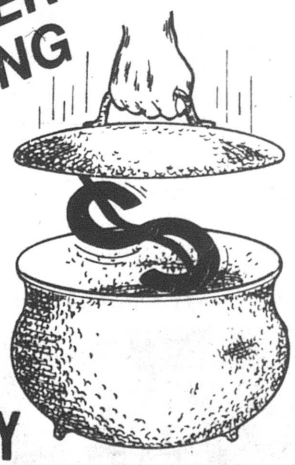

We have some booklets available with lots of energy saving ideas. And they're yours for the asking.

At Ohio Power, we want you to get the most out of your electric service.

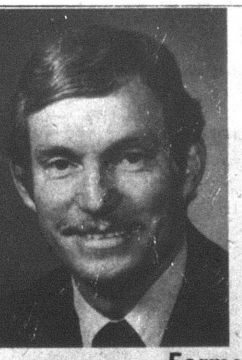

We give it our best.

Shiloh hears sheriff

Candidates for sheriff outlined to Shiloh's village council Oct. 22 how they plan to staff the outpost here.

Richard Petty, the Democratic challenger, said he wouldn't promise to maintain a full-time outpost at Shiloh but he would like to sit down with local officials and discuss the idea. He said increased protection would not cost the village any more money.

Incumbent Albert O'Neil disputed this contention. He said there is no way that 24-hour protection of Shiloh can be furnished by the department without higher cost to the village. He also wants local input on the question.

Trustees of public affairs asked the council for a special meeting between them and the finance committee and Mayor Francis Gowitzka to discuss a cost of living raise for Robert Adams, street commissioner. They meet next on Nov. 5. Committee is Frank Cline, Gary Fletcher and Harry Foster.

Councilman Richard Tallman was instructed to inquire of the Abel Co., Plymouth route 1, if all costs for street repairs were included in the estimate furnished by Abel.

Permission has been received from the FCC to be a dual city station with facilities in Shelby and Willard.

Call letters WPVN have been requested for the FM station which will be at 100.1. It will be ascertained in about 30 days if the call letters will be released by the U.S. Coast Guard.

Thomas L. Root, Arlington, Va., who is the corporation's attorney, said last week the proposed station, "will serve the area better for news coverage and since the area was in the midst of great growth, it is a desirable move."

Council approves plan

Approval was given Friday to Mayor Eric J. Akers' financial plan to bring village funds out of deficits by the Financial Planning and Supevision commission.

At the meeting of Oct. 17, Ralph Roll of Ernst & Whinney, the accounting firm chosen by the state to straighten out the village finances, gave his approval in writing to the plan, but because of a lack of a quorum, it could not be formally accepted.

Friday Roll warned the commission that the PLW strike could seriously hamper the flow of anticipated revenues into the income tax fund. The strike is a month old.

At the request of the mayor, Roll will help the clerk-treasurer, Mrs. Benjamin Montgomery, set up a more efficient bookkeeping system.

John Doling, representing the attorney general's office, suggested that perhaps an assistant should be hired to help her with the work load. Such employment would take councilmanic approval and no action was taken.

William R. Miller, chairman of the commission, inquired if the sale of electric distribution system is being considered in the plan. It is not.

The mayor said that an electrical consultant and engineer is to be hired to determine what the electrical system needs.

Did you know that shoplifters cost your family $150* last year?

TAKE THIS FIVE-QUESTION QUIZ AND FIND OUT HOW MUCH YOU KNOW ABOUT SHOPLIFTING.

True or False

1. Shoplifting accounts for very little crime in Ohio. It is of minor importance and the stores absorb the cost.
   True _____ False _____
2. Generally, poor people who are uneducated do most of the shoplifting. They steal because they don't have money to buy what they want.
   True _____ False _____
3. More men than women shoplift.
   True _____ False _____
4. Suburban stores are shoplifted more often than downtown stores.
   True _____ False _____
5. Ordinary citizens cannot do much about the shoplifting problem.

Answers:

1: False. Shoplifting accounts for $3.5 billion in lost merchandise nationally, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Ohio's shoplifting tab is estimated by the Attorney General to be $488 million for 1973. Shoplifting is the fastest-growing white collar crime in America. Between 1963 and 1973 it increased at a faster rate than any other crime.

People pay the shoplifter's way. People pay over $35 individually per year or $150 per family on increased cost of goods they purchase.

2: False. People who shoplift are not generally poor. They often have sufficient cash with them and can afford to pay for what they steal. But you pay for them through higher prices.

3: False. More women than men shoplift. The Mass Retailing Institute conducted a survey in 1972 in 1,188 of the nation's largest discount stores and discovered that 58 percent of the apprehended shoplifters were women.

4: True. Eighty percent of all shoplifting is done in suburban outlets of retail establishments.

5: False. You can do something about shoplifting. If you see someone shoplifting, quietly mention it to the nearest sales clerk. You need not become involved. The thief will probably steal somewhere else before leaving the store, and the store detective will be there to see it happen.

*Mass Retailing Institute — 1973

It's time to take shoplifting seriously!

1990?

Rick Stephens places capsule in ground, there to stay for 10 years, when he and nine others plan to return to dig it up and compare facts with predictions.

Pupils bury capsule, filled with predictions

Plymouth will be part of Willard by 1990, pupils of Plymouth High school predict.

This notion and 32 others were placed in a time capsule in the south lawn of the high school Friday afternoon. In 10 years, a committee 10 will return to exhume the capsule and compare what is said in it with the facts of the day.

Among other predictions:

All buildings will be heated electrically.

The U. S. will have more efficient and smaller cars.

Thirty per cent of U. S. power will be supplied by nuclear plants.

United States will be the leading world power. Japan will be a world power.

ERA will not be ratified.

The draft will be reinstated.

Age limit to qualify for a driver's license will be raised to 18.

Metric system measurement will be universal.

Living on the moon may be tried.

Deeper space probes will be possible.

Price of gasoline will be $5 a gallon.

Minimum wage will be $5.10 an hour.

A woman or a minority citizen will be president.

U. S. will go to war with Iran in 10 years.

All types of cancer will be curable.

Marijuana will be legalized for personal use in some states.

Law will limit families of two children.

U. S. will be in war with Russia and Iran.

Unemployment will be up.

Contact will be made with some alien form.

Society will be more dependent on solar energy.

Some telephones will project images of those speaking on them.

Puerto Rico will be a state.

Big Foot will be in a zoo.

The opinions were gleaned from pupils in the history classes of Karl Pfaff, 3rd.

Members of the committee are Rick Stephens, Randy Holt, Montelle Levering, Patty McKenzie, Steven Mowry, Chris Tucker, Amy Echelbarger, James Will, Kim Schriner and Paula Phillips.

Firemen deal with two fires

Plymouth firemen were called Monday night to Shoup road, where a cornfield was on fire.

On Monday at 6 a.m. they were called to Bistline road, where a car had caught fire.

Banner profits up

On a two per cent increase in revenues, Banner Industries, Inc., parent firm of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., raised earnings for its first fiscal quarter ending Sept. 30 by 40 per cent over the year-before result.

Major reason for the profit gain: Banner's strong sales of replacement parts to airlines.

Despite a 17 per cent drop in motor freight revenues, those operations were close to breaking even as a result of cost containment, Banner announced.

Revenues during the first fiscal quarter amounted to $51,920,003, comapred to $50,666,669 a year ago. Net income was $1,453,898, comapred to $1,038,737 in 1979. This worked out to 36 cents a share, as compared to 26 cents a share a year ago.

'Water alert' delcared by mayor

A "conserve water alert" was declared in force by Mayor Eric J. Akers Monday night.

He is asking all village users to use caution about their water usage.

Monday it was discovered that the water table had dropped to almost nothing and air instead of water was being pumped.

The mayor said, "We caught it in time and with conserving, we think the problem can be handled and that the water tower can be kept filled, although the clear well which supplies it is not."

Strike averted, contract OK'd

A strike was averted Monday night when Local 626, Amalgamated Food and Allied Workers, AFL-CIO, signed a three contract with Mack's Foodland.

The new contract offeres a 20 cents an hour raise each year and increases pension benefits. All other benefits remain the same.

Foodland employees approved the contract, believing it was to their benefit and that of the grocery store.

150 new jobs in Plymouth part of loan

Approval was given by Richland county commissioners Friday afternoon to the sale of $750,000 in industrial revenue bonds so that 150 new jobs may be created here.

NorStat, Inc., first obtained approval of the Richland County Growth Corp.

A total of $173,500 will be invested in the Plymouth plant at Bell and West High streets. About $55,000 of that sum will be expended so that the entire building, once known as Plant No. 4 of the Fate-Root-Heath Co., can be used. Only a third of the space in the brick structure is now in use.

The jobs, mostly for women, will be in assembly and calibration of thermostats.

NorStat will use the remainder of the bond issues proceeds to buy the old Mansfield Screw site in Mansfield and move its Roseland Screw Machines, Inc., operations there.

Charles Mertler, vice-president of NorStat, said the firm will meet with Norwalk Community Investment Corp. on Nov. 5 and with the council at Norwalk on Nov. 19.

In these meetings, NorStat seeks a bond issue of $400,000. The present plant in Norwalk will be expanded with additions to the factory and the office. About 50 new jobs would be created.

First Buckeye Bank, N. A., will buy the NorStat issue in Richland county.

Collins guilty, judge suspends jail sentence

Gary Collins was found guilty Monday in the court of Judge Rex Larson, Mansfield, for violating his injunction of Oct. 10 which stated no member of Local 2161, UAW, should interfere with anyone coming or leaving Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

Collins was charged with trying to prevent a truck from leaving the plant.

He was fined $100 and sentenced to seven days in jail, which the judge suspended providing he has no future violations of the injunction.

Charges against six other union members were dismissed.

Four assault cases resulting from the strike by Local 2161 against PLW were continued again by Mayor Eric J. Akers in mayor's court Thursday night.

Philip Benton, Michael Glorioso, Gerald Ferguson and Donnie Moore pleaded not guilty. Their cases will be heard tonight.

Gary Collins, who also pleaded not guilty, requested his case be heard in Shelby Municipal court.

All are being represented by Robert A. McKown.

Lloyd R. Dawson, who lived in Route 598 at Route 103, died of a crushed chest.

He was driving east. State highway patrolmen said he apparently saw the rig coming toward him and sought to steer out of its path. The station wagon was turned aroung by the impact and stopped in a ditch, pinning the driver in the wreckage.

Harvey Caldwell, Jr., 23, Florence, Miss., driver of the rig, was charged with vehicular homicide. He apparently fell asleep. His rig slid through a fence and struck atree.

Caldwell claimed injury but was not treated. He was also charged with driving left of center and impaired alertness.

Dawson was born in Willard and lived his whole life in or near there. He was employed by Ohio Steel Tube Co., Shelby, and also was engaged in farming.

Police pay levy beaten; Thompson, Petty victors

Voters were in a surly mood Tuesday, turning down almost all money issues, including the three mill operating levy to fund police salaries, but the big news was the breakdown of the computers.

In Richland county, returns were slow in preparation because of incomplete perforation of ballots. The perforations collected in the computer, fouling it.

In Huron county, with 58 of 67 precincts counted, the board of elections was forced to call a halt to its proceedings and take the ballots to Fremont to be counted, owing to a malfunction of the computer.

Even so, there was one upset in Huron county. Lawrence Heit, a Norwalk Democrat, appeared to have ended the long tenure of the Livengood family in the engineer's office. The incomplete count was 8,089 to 7,555.

In Richland county, Mrs. Joan Thompson ousted incumbent Republican commissioner David McGinty, 24,155 to 22,801.

And Richard Petty, former commander of the Ashland post, Ohio Highway Patrol, defeated the incumbent sheriff, Albert O'Neil. The count was 28,851 to 20,019.

James Henson won the common pleas judgeship, polling 19,321 votes, almost 44 per cent of the total cast.

The three mill levy, which encountered some trouble in reaching the ballot in the form on which it was ultimately balloted, was defeated in both counties. In Richland county, the count was 144 favoring, 192 opposing. In Huron county, it was 148 favoring, 160 opposing.

Incumbent Paul Pfeifer, Republican state senator, heid a narrow lead over his challenger, the former senator, Gene Slagle, Galion. Pfeifer had 18,052, Slagle 17,793, in Richland county.

Terry Wolf defeated Glenn Tschantz for the other Richland county commissionership, 26,567 to 20,404.

Judge David Arbaugh trounced Ralph Johns for domestic-juvenile judge, 26,648 to 21,028.

All county levies in both counties were defeated.

Incumbents in both counties wer victorious.

These included Dr. Milton Oakes, Richland county coroner, over Dr. Gordon Morkel; John Allen, appointed prosecutor, over Paul Christ, Richard Orewiler, recorder, over Paul Baumberger, and George Griffith, treasurer, over Carl Butterbaugh.

Big Red falls to Danbury

A quick and talented Danbury squad trounced Plymouth here Friday night, 29 to 6, sending the Big Red home with a winless season and just one victory in two years.

The difference in the score did not reflect how competitive the game was. Plymouth was stopped three times at the Danbury one yard line.

The Lakers took the opening kickoff and marched 67 yards in 14 plays to score at 6:17 of the first period.

Mark Sauvey ran the last 15 yards to the end zone.

He carried the ball eight of the 14 times that Danbury put it in play during the drive. In the others, he was ably abetted by Steve Adams, who turned out to be Danbury's leading ground gainer this chilly night.

Bill Bailey kicked the PAT and the Lakers had a lead they never were to forsake.

The half ended that way, 7 to 0. But it was not without heroics.

Plymouth took the ensuing kickoff and drive in 18 plays to the Danbury one, where on fourth down Scott Harris was thrown back. During this drive, the Big Red's new ninth grade running back, Richard Cunningham, performed brilliantly. He carried seven times for 30 yards.

An 11-yard pass from Jeff Jacobs to Dale Moorman sustained the drive, giving Plymouth a first down at the Laker three.

Plymouth stormed the Danbury goal the next time it obtained possession. It forced Danbury to punt from its 32 and with possession at the Big Red 37, Plymouth began to move again. Harris got 13 yards through right tackle. On fourth down, Phil Gowitzka punted. But a roughing penalty gave Plymouth first down at the Laker 34. Jacobs threw for six yards to Moorman and Harris made first down at the Laker 24. On third down, Harris tried the halfback pass. The ball was intercepted in the end zone and the interceptor stepped out at the Danbury one. But the back judge ruled it was a touchback and Danbury set up at its 20.

The Lakers set out to make a shambles of it in the time remaining in the first half. In four plays they stormed to the Plymouth 30. Adams got five through left guard and Sauvey 10 off right tackle. Then Bailey took a 20-yard pass from Guy Tibbels and Tibbels passed for 15 to Adams before time ran out.

Plymouth could not move the ball during the first series of the second half and Gowitzka punted 23 yards to the Danbury 34. Adams carried on three consecutive plays, gaining 25 yards, and then Sauvey got five. With excellent second effort, Adams made first down at the Red 11. After a tackle play was thrown for a yard loss, Sauvey ran for the second touchdown from the Red 12. The clock read 5:09. Danbury had covered 66 yards in 12 plays. The run for PATs was short.

The Lakers were back in the end zone about four minutes later.

Gowitzka was again forced to punt. The boot covered 24 yards to the Danbury 38. Adams got 12 yards in two shots and Tibbels passed for 13 yards to Pat Fontana. With first down at the Red 37, Adams sprinted into the end zone. Danbury had covered 62 yards in four plays. Tibbels passed to Fontana for the PATs.

In the next series, Danbury threw Plymouth back to the shadow of its goal posts, thanks to two 15-yard penalties, one of them for unsportsmanlike conduct from the bench. From the 13, Gowitzka punted 34 yards to the Danbury 45. Adams got 12 off tackle after a 15-yard penalty against Danbury, and Tibbels gained 10 in two rollouts, but the Lakers couldn't muster a first down. Plymouth took over and promptly set out to be respectable.

The Big Red drove 67 yards in eight plays to score, Cunningham going the last three.

Harris got 19 yards in three carries and Cunningham 36 in four during the push.

A pass for the PATs was a failure.

Danbury was not through, but its final touchdown was a gift.

Plymouth kicked off and on third down, Adams ripped off a 54-yard run to the Plymouth six. Danbury fumbled on the first play and Plymouth recovered at the Red 13. Harris fumbled on the next play, the Lakers recovered and in two plays covered the 16 yards to the end zone, Steve Roston ran the last five. Tibbels ran the PATs.

Jacobs passed to Rick Hawkins for 27 yards and a first down on the first play of the next series. After an incompletion, Harris ran through tackle for 14, Cunningham got six off right guard, then plunged for 14 and first down at the nine. Harris set out for the goal, which he reached. But he fumbled the ball and Danbury recovered it in the end zone for a touchback.

The Lakers were at the Plymouth 31 when time ran out.

Danbury was clearly the statistical leader.

Who can manage a house without recipe for play dough?

BY AUNT LIZ

This is the time of the year that grandmothers, at least some do, get a little panicky about what to give everyone.

Some have only a few to give to, but my favorite grandmother of all times has something like 10, plus all their little ones.

She always starts shopping during the sidewalk sales in the summer, and somehow comes up with something for everyone.

What has tickled me about her is that she has always acted each year like it was an unbearable chore, while she loved every minute of it. That family is plain lucky they have her for a grandmother.

This choice recipe should solve some problems.

Actually, even grandfathers can indulge in it if they can find the measuring cups and spoons and everything that goes in it. These things for years and years have been kept in certain places in our kitchen, and you know who has never discovered their hiding places.

It is for home made Play Dough, which all kids love and need.

Mix together a cup of flour, a half-cup of salt, one to two tablespoons of baby oil, a teaspoon of powdered alum and a cup of boiling water.

Then add a few drops of food coloring, or better yet, wait with it until you have it all mixed together and can divide it up for the various colors.

It will be a sticky mess for a while, but the more you knead it, the better it gets, so keep on going. When finished, store it in plastic bags. It will keep and keep and is non-toxic.

This can make a wonderful gift that little ones will love. An added touch is a small rolling pin they can handle. From experience, they are not too easy to find anymore. Another little extra is cookie cutters so they do not have to borrow their mothers'.

"Possession" is every child's middle name. They simply like stuff of their own. "Sharing" is a word they simply ignore for years. In fact I know some adults who have never heard of it, but then there are some, and many more than those who haven't, who would give you the shirt off their backs.

How do you suppose that we have a winter's supply of onions, delicious grape jelly made from juice already prepared, which is the hardest and messiest part of making the jelly, and cucumbers for the best pickles you have ever tasted?

And I cannot forget the kind soul who gave us a very large succhini last summer, which I converted into lasagna, using it sliced up, instead of pasta.

I really overdid myself, and we ate it for six nights. It got better with each heating.

We are still eating tomatoes that I picked in a green stage from a friend's garden when a frost was on its way.

And I must not forget the beautiful apples that were changed into a real pie with real pie crust. Such apples really deserved a good crust, not the short-cut package or frozen ones.

And since cookie time is here, does anyone have a recipe for a butterscotch job that is chewy? A young friend asked me to hunt it down and I have, but it came from a bakery, and no way will they give the recipe out. I tried and lost. None of our cookbooks has anything that describes it as she does.

And since Grandmas give kids presents, the best thing Grandma can get is the cookie recipe book that the home economics department of the Plain Dealer has published.

Every recipe is perfection, including the Rum Balls that all fathers like.

Did you know that shoplifters cost your family $150* last year?

Answers:

1: False. Shoplifting accounts for $3.5 billion in lost merchandise nationally, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Ohio's shoplifting tab is estimated by the Attorney General to be $488 million for 1973. Shoplifting is the fastest-growing white collar crime in America. Between 1963 and 1973 it increased at a faster rate than any other crime.

People pay the shoplifter's way. People pay over $35 individually per year or $150 per family on increased cost of goods they purchase.

2: False. People who shoplift are not generally poor. They often have sufficient cash with them and can afford to pay for what they steal. But you pay for them through higher prices.

3: False. More women than men shoplift. The Mass Retailing Institute conducted a survey in 1972 in 1,188 of the nation's largest discount stores and discovered that 58 percent of the apprehended shoplifters were women.

4: True. Eighty percent of all shoplifting is done in suburban outlets of retail establishments.

5: False. You can do something about shoplifting. If you see someone shoplifting, quietly mention it to the nearest sales clerk. You need not become involved. The thief will probably steal somewhere else before leaving the store, and the store detective will be there to see it happen.

'My Fair Lady' on boards here

"My Fair Lady", a musical version of a play by George Bernard Shaw that won great acclaim on Broadway and was later made into a motion picture, is the presentation of Plymouth High school Thespians in the auditorium tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Some of the players, and their preceptor, Miss Kathy Orr, are worried that they haven't had enough publicity. Some of them point to the diminished attendance at the annual turkey dinner put on Saturday by the Boosters club as evidence that the citizenry isn't so interested in school activities as it once was.

The picture above has been published before. Only in this newspaper. It is published again only because of the fervent entreaties of some players and the frank statement of the director, who says, "In a small school it is sometimes difficult to publicize adequately to draw a full house."

Competition of television, to mention one medium, has diminished attendance at many school functions, here and elsewhere, over the past decade.

In the photograph above, Lisa Baldridge, 16; Shannon Root, 17, an honor roll pupil who plays the female lead, Eliza Doolittle, the cockney girl whose diction is under improvement by the male lead, played by William Hudson, 17, also an honor roll pupil, urge friends and neighbors to turn out for the play.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for pupils, and may be purchased at the door.

Bomb scare!

Telephoned threat of 10 dynamite sticks forces PLW to close for one day

A bomb scare forced management of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., to send non-striking workers home Monday morning.

Larry Bailey, Willard, who is president of UAW Local 2161, said he received at his home, from a man's voice that he did not recognize, a warning that 10 sticks of dynamite wired to a timing device had been secreted in the plant.

Bailey passed the word to management.

Employees were not told why they were being sent home. They were notified, however, to report for duty Tuesday morning.

Police went to private homes in the neighborhood of the plant and warned occupants of the bomb threat. Residents were told they were not compelled to leave their homes but that the village wished them to be informed of the risk.

Vance C. Hoffman, Sr., who lives east of the plant in Railroad street, said he intended to exercise his dog anyway, so it was suitable for him to leave at that hour.

Harvey Rector, labor negotiator for PLM, confirmed Tuesday morning that all non-striking employees were back on the job. He said PLW was forced to summon a bomb squad, which searched the buildings and found no sign of any explosives.

Plymouth Fire department was called to the plant Monday night, and again Tuesday morning, to deal with flames in a large incinerator. The department did not say if it suspected arson.

A report that further vandalism at the plant swept through the village on Sunday. Some strikers said the company was stationing hired armed guards on the premises. They blamed the vandalism on guards who have been recently replaced.

PLW has made no move to open negotiations with the strikers, they say. Strikers say the company intends to stand firmly on its plea to the regional director of the NLRB that the election by which the UAW was chosen to be the official bargaining agent for the hourly employees was improperly called, because a fact-finding hearing should have been convened before an election was ordered, and that the procedure by which Plymouth Order of Mechanics, the certified bargaining agent since 1937, dissolved itself was contrary to NLRB rules and procedures.

Some strikers who insisted on anonymity said "if the company tries to get in there with trucks and move those locomotives, there'll be nothing left but a few bricks."

Mayor Eric J. Akers charged in a newspaper story published Saturday that the company and the strikers seek to put the village in the middle. He implied he does not like this situation.

Other, less militant strikers have told The Advertiser they do not understand the company's position as stated in its pleading to the regional director of the NLRB. "The union told the company that if the employees couldn't be assured of at least the same rights as they had in the old contract, they would strike. Now if that's not an economic reason, what is it?"

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Leadership

It is time to reflect on leadership.

We publish today, in two separate places in the newspaper, the results of leadership, both good and bad.

Four young men of the community have been singled out by the Black Fork Valley conference as all-league players. They are splendid young men and each of them deserves our admiration and respect.

They and their teammates failed to win a game, indeed, they produced only a handful of points in 10 games. But the race is not always to the swift and powerful. Those who slog it out, year after year, and take the bitter with the sweet are God's chosen. They get their reward, and we would all be remiss if we did not tell them so. Those who win prizes cannot do so without the help of others. Let us not forget them.

What kind of evil person would telephone a bomb threat to anybody, whether employer or employee, is beyond our imagination. That it was a false alarm is comforting only in the sense that perhaps it may induce both sides to be more rational in their approach to the problem.

We frankly have been dismayed by some of the talk we've heard, from both sides. It is high time that some leadership be exercised, by the employer and by the strikers.

Destruction of property and endangerment of life and limb have no place in our society or in our town. No provocation of any sort, short of a physical attack, warrants destruction of property or personal injury. If we are a nation of laws, then we must depend on the law.

Sometimes the law takes a little time to work. And why not?

It is better that those who decide what law has been violated and how it shall now be enforced should be deliberate in their thoughts and deeds.

Nonetheless, it is immoral to take advantage of those less learned in the law to obtain success in the endeavor at hand. If law enforcement (by which we mean administrative) agencies far from here are slow to act, then we should apply the proper pressure upon them. It is completely unsatisfactory that we should all suffer because some bureaucrat somewhere refuses to do what's proper.

It all boils down to leadership.

Water turned off for one night only

Plymouth water users were informed by Mayor Eric J. Akers late Friday afternoon that the water to consumers would be turned off at 8 p.m. and would remain off until Saturday at 10 a.m.

It was not certain, however, that water would be forthcoming then.

The mayor said it was dependent on how much would go into the water tower overnight.

The move was precaution to make certain there would be water available in case of a fire.

Friday the water tower was at the 18 foot level, and the pumps were simply not pumping enough to maintain an adequate level.

Village Administrator, James C. Root said that the water table is very low

Village Administrator, James C. Root said, "that the water table is very low because of lack of rain."

There has been the suggestion that the Plymouth wells have not been producing adequately is because the fields surrounding the wells was tiled last year and that this is causing rainfall to run off and not reach the wells.

Last week village employees replaced a large pump with a smaller one with the hope that the well would produce better. It has not.

Arrangements have been made with Saltzgabor Drilling Co. to test the well on the Chapman property in New Haven township north of the village to see if it can produce what is required by water users.

In the late 1950's the village took an option on the well. It was tested and was determined to produce a strong supply of water if needed in the future.

Mayor transfers charges

Jeffrey Adams, Willard, was found guilty of assault. He was fined $400 and costs. On condition of no similar violations for one year, $150 of the fine was suspended.

Miss Cobb named aide to CO-ED

A Plymouth High school 11th grader, Denise Cobb, 17, has been named the local correspondent for CO-ED for the school year.

Miss Cobb will serve as an adviser to the editors and keep them informed of the activities here.

Miss Cornell wed at Shelby

Miss Holly Jean Cornell, younger daughter of the W. Lawrence Cornells, 81 Sandusky street, was married Oct. 18 at 2 p.m. in Most Pure Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church at Shelby to Mark Anthony Korbas.

The Rev. James Steinle was celebrant for the double ring ceremony, prior to which Becky Young, organist, and Lynn McKown, soloist, played and sand "Morning Has Broken", the theme from "Ice Castles", "Wedding Song", "Longer", theme from "Romeo and Juliet", "Song of Blessing", "Somewhere My Love", "Ave Maria", "Set Me Like a Seal" and "How Great Thou Art".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in classic white with picture hat.

The Victorian style gown was styled with a high necked bodice overlaid with lace covering the shoulders.

Wide sleeves edged in lace fell half way down her arms over tighter fitting lace sleeves.

The full skirt was trimmed with the same lace.

She carried pink roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Her elder sister, Mrs. Polly Deskins, 326 Willow drive, Plymouth, was matron of honor.

Did you know that shoplifters cost your family $150* last year?

TAKE THIS FIVE-QUESTION QUIZ AND FIND OUT HOW MUCH YOU KNOW ABOUT SHOPLIFTING.

True or False

1. Shoplifting accounts for very little crime in Ohio. It is of minor importance and the stores absorb the cost.
   True _____ False _____
2. Generally, poor people who are uneducated do most of the shoplifting. They steal because they don't have money to buy what they want.
   True _____ False _____
3. More men than women shoplift.
   True _____ False _____
4. Suburban stores are shoplifted more often than downtown stores.
   True _____ False _____
5. Ordinary citizens cannot do much about the shoplifting problem.
   True _____ False _____

Answers:

1: False. Shoplifting accounts for $3.5 billion in lost merchandise nationally, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Ohio's shoplifting tab is estimated by the Attorney General to be $488 million for 1973. Shoplifting is the fastest-growing white collar crime in America. Between 1963 and 1973 it increased at a faster rate than any other crime.

People pay the shoplifter's way. People pay over $35 individually per year or $150 per family on increased cost of goods they purchase.

2: False. People who shoplift are not generally poor. They often have sufficient cash with them and can afford to pay for what they steal. But you pay for them through higher prices.

3: False. More women than men shoplift. The Mass Retailing Institute conducted a survey in 1972 in 1,188 of the nation's largest discount stores and discovered that 58 percent of the apprehended shoplifters were women.

4: True. Eighty percent of all shoplifting is done in suburban outlets of retail establishments.

5: False. You can do something about shoplifting. If you see someone shoplifting, quietly mention it to the nearest sales clerk. You need not become involved. The thief will probably steal somewhere else before leaving the store, and the store detective will be there to see it happen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Our children need our protection. Last week a child was nearly hit by a car while crossing the street to go to school.

It is bad enough to be an adult and try to cross our Square. But when you are a child hurrying to school with a lot of things on your mind, you forget to pay attention to cars!

These children today will be the people in years to come who will be an asset to our town. Do we care? Even if you are not a parent of a grade school child, this is for you to think about too! It is a problem that can be taken care of very simply, and it will not be very time consuming.

If we care about the children of Plymouth, then let us do something about it! Do you have 15 or 20 minutes, half an hour at the most, the volunteer your services as a school crossing guard for these children?

Please think about this problem. If you are a parent in town with children in school, think, it could be your little boy or girl who might not make it to school or back one day! If you are retired it would also be a helpful duty for you.

Please let us know if you want to help. We need you. We love our children. If you are interested please feel free to call Plymouth Elementary school or Nancy McClure.

Thank you.
Nancy McClure,
Chairman, School Crossing Guard committee,
Plymouth PTO.

COAL.

It takes a lot of fuel to make the electricity our customers use. And because fuel is the major factor in the cost of producing electricity, your electric costs are directly affected by the kind of fuel we use.

Coal is the answer. It's cheaper to burn than oil. It's an abundant fuel source. And it's found right here in America.

Last year the American Electric Power System which we're part of burned over 38 million tons of coal. And that saved our country over 150 million barrels of oil.

Just as important, it helped keep your electric rates below the national average. And that's good news for all of us.

We give it our best.

Woody Hayes gets pair from Plymouth

W. Woodrow Hayes isn't head football coach at Ohio State university any more but he's still an Ohio State fan.

Latest evidence is a letter he sent to Kenneth Echelberry, 363 Plymouth street, thanking him for the offer of two tickets to the big game with Michigan at Columbus on Nov. 22.

Echelberry, for medical reasons, won't be able to go.

Hayes told Echelberry he will first offer the ducats to Ross Espenscheid, quarterback of Dover High school who is a cancer victim under treatment in Children's hospital, Columbus. And if the young athlete can't make it, Hayes will offer them to Dr. Rebecca Jackson, a 24-year-old resident physician in Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, Md., who is unable to walk. A year ago, Hayes wrote, she broke her back and is confined to a wheelchair.

P. S. Hayes enclosed his check for the tickets.

Should PHS curriculum undergo revision?

Should the high school curriculum be revised?

A proposal to require 18 credits for graduation by adding one unit of mathematics and allowing two credits for instrumental or vocal music was laid before Plymouth Board of Education Nov. 12.

Supt. Douglas Staggs asked the three members who were present to decide by Dec. 8, when the board next meets in regular session.

Staggs said there are "too many Mickey Mouse courses" and added that college recruiters seek out pupils who have completed studies that require maximum effort.

Baccalaureate and commencement exercises will be conducted in the high school on Sunday, May 31, the board ruled.

Request of Mrs. Amy Collins, high school foreign language teacher, for maternity leave was approved.

Mrs. Roger Pugh asked the treasurer, Mrs. C. David Rish, to prepare a report showing how idle funds of the board have been invested during the year to produce earnings.

The desirability of installing citizen band radios in school buses was discussed at some length. Mrs. John Ferguson heads a group of parents whose children attend Shiloh school willing to conduct a campaign to raise funds to buy the apparatus. Cost is estimated at about $580.

Robert Sponseller asked if the plan includes a base unit so that pupils can communicate between Shiloh and Plymouth. Staggs agreed the matter should be considered.

Approval was given to a Crestview pupil to attend the special education class in the Plymouth district because Crestview does not have the program at the elementary school level. Crestview will pay for transportation and tuition.

Resignation of Bonnie Patrick, a cleaner in the Plymouth Elementary building, was accepted effective Sept. 8, of this year.

Arrangements are to be made to have the elevator in the new Shiloh building inspected, since it has already failed a safety test. The cost of a certified inspection will hover around $150. Board member Larry Vredenburgh will make inquiries.

Hiring of Rita Newsom through the Erie-Huron county CETA program was approved at no cost to the board. Her duties include clerical work and that of a teachers' aide.

The district will participate in a federal program, Title IVB and C, for supplies and equipment in the amount of $3,033.

Two handicapped pupils in the district will attend classes arranged by the Mansfield Board of Education at a monthly fee of $134.28, which is a few dollars higher than last year's fee.

Teacher-parent conferences have been set for Dec. 4 and 5 for kindergarten classes. The pupils will not attend classes those two days.

Parents of first through eighth grade pupils will meet with teachers the evening of Dec. 4 and all day Dec. 5.

Pay raise for Root proposed by mayor

A plan to increase the salary of the village administrator by 10.5 per cent was submitted by Mayor Eric J. Akers to village council Thursday night.

The present salary is now $14,980 and the new salary would be $16,500.

The mayor said this was the first step in honoring the request of village employees for a pay raise, which was aired about six months ago, and he felt the council should listen to it.

He has been suggesting that each department be considered separately in a pay ordinance rather than one over-all ordinance for all employees, which has been done in the past.

He chose to start with the position of the administrator, which he said fell into the "management" segment, his reasoning for suggesting it.

No action was taken, but it is being referred to the newly formed finance committee of Councilmen G. Thomas Moore, D. Douglas Brumbach and James H. Cashman.

For the first time in about six months, all six council seats were filled and the mayor made the new committee assignments and urged each committee "get going".

The safety committee will be Councilmen Dean A. Cline, Jr., James Holloway and Cashman.

Moore with Brumbach and Councilman Ervin Howard will be the service committee and the rules committee will be Holloway, Cline and Howard.

Two crises that have hit the village in the last week, the strike against Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., and its violence and the acute water shortage, were dealt with.

James C. Root, village administrator, told the council at the moment the conservation effort of local water users is paying off, but the problem is not going away. He said every effort is being done to make the wells produce, but the village was still waiting on Saltzgaber Drilling Co. to come to the village to see if the present wells need cleaning and to test the Chapman well.

The mayor said that should the amount of stored water fall off to what would be an unsafe level to provide fire protection, he would again issue an order to stop the pumping into the distribution system. Once the drilling company comes up with a report of the water supply, a recommendation will be forthcoming from Burgess & Niles, a water consulting firm from Columbus, which will tell the village the best course to follow for an adequate water supply.

Root also said the water system should be updated and he hopes that salt can be purchased to again soften the water. This has not been done this year.

In the mayor's financial plan, a water rate increase of about 50 per cent is planned. This will assure that the water system can be updated. The mayor also suggested that somehow some income tax money could be allocated

Ex-star at Shiloh killed

A 41-year-old 1958 graduate of Shiloh High school was killed Thursday morning in a traffic collision near Mt. Gilead.

He is George A. Poffenbaugh, who was a passenger of Barbara Fidler, Lexington.

State highway patrol at Mansfield reported the Fidler car was southbound in Route 42 in Morrow county at a high rate of speed when she lost control. The car went off the right side of the road, then crossed over the highway and left the other side of the road, striking a mailbox and then a parked vehicle.

The impact pushed the car into the house and ejected Poffenbaugh, who lived in Shelby route 4, from the front seat. The Fidler car continued across the road and struck an embankment.

Poffenbaugh was born in Shelby Aug. 11, 1939, and lived there his whole life. He was a tuition pupil in Shiloh schools.

A member of First Lutheran church, he is survived by his wife, nee Vicky Shedenhelm; two daughters, Kimberly and Melanie, and a son, Chad, all at home, and his mother, Mrs. Joseph Poffenbaugh, nee Pauline Siegfried, Shelby.

The Rev. James L. Lumadue, his pastor, conducted services at Shelby Monday at 10:30 a.m. Burial was in Oakland cemetery there.

Two injured in clash between strikers, police

A semblance of order and reason descended upon Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., this week after the worst labor violence in Plymouth history on Nov. 12 put two strikers in Mansfield General hospital with severe injuries.

Condition of John Foley, 41, Brooks court, who is said by police to have been run over by the Plymouth police cruiser after he threw himself in front of it to prevent its escort of a Commercial Lovelace motor freight truck from leaving the plant via the Riggs street exit, was reported Tuesday night to be "fair".

Condition of Jerry Caudill, 31, Shelby, whose leg was broken when he was struck by a vehicle in the melee, was said Tuesday night to be "improving".

It was plain on Nov. 11, Veterans' day, that unrest was building among the striking members of UAW Local 2161, who picketed the plant on Nov. 1 after their contract expired. In places where they congregated, there were mutterings that "If they try to take those locomotives out of the plant, there won't be any plant left." When the Richland county sheriff escorted the Commercial Lovelace rig into the plant on Nov. 12, word spread that the company would seek to take the truck out of the plant before the day was over.

Out-of-town media were notified.

Toward 1 p.m., a number of strikers, brandishing home made clubs and other weapons, assembled in Riggs street south of the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad tracks.

At about 2:45 p.m., the Plymouth police cruiser, driven by Sergt. Frank Hodge, crossed the railroad and halted for Foley, who was still lying in the roadway. The Commercial Lovelace rig did not stop. It plowed into the cruiser and shoved it forward onto Foley. The car stopped before the rear wheels crossed Foley's body.

Bedlam broke loose. Strikers and police then lifted the cruiser from Foley's prostrate form.

He received a crushed chest and shoulder injuries. He was taken by ambulance to Shelby and then rushed to Mansfield, where he was placed in the surgical intensive care unit. He cannot breathe without assistance and is unable to speak because he is being fed and respirated through the mouth by means of tubes. But his family says that, although his right arm is impaired until bones can be set, he is able to write coherent messages on a pad.

Strikers immediately attacked the truck with clubs, bats and hammers. All windshields of the rig were shattered. Sheriff's deputies, augmented by Huron, Ashland and Knox county deputies, Greenwich and Bellville and Willard police, arrested six strikers, two of them on felony charges.

A second Plymouth police cruiser, summoned by radio to the scene, rushed on the scene and struck Caudill.

Mayor Eric J. Akers ran onto the scene. He engaged in a dispute with Gregory Kibler, controller of PLW. Akers announced he was declaring at once a state of emergency. He ordered the rig to return to the plant and if it was not returned by its driver or the company, he would do it himself.

Kibler then said this was typical of the kind of cooperation that exists between the company and the village. He said Akers had no right to order the truck to be moved. The mayor then said he would seek to shut the company down, whether or not he had the right to do so, and if the company objected, it could sue him.

Akers and Kibler then met with William S. Sturman, executive vice-president and general manager of PLW.

By nightfall, Akers had issued a proclamation declaring a state of emergency, after two hurried sessions of village council, neither of which was in compliance with the sunshine law.

The proclamation prohibited more than four persons from congregating on the streets or in public places, applied a curfew from 9 p.m. on Nov. 12 to daylight on Nov. 13 and from dusk to dawn for each day thereafter, prohibited the sale or gift of firearms and ammunition and prohibited the sale or gift of alcoholic beverages. The order prohibited the entry of PLW premises by anyone save with the written consent of the police chief.

Akers relaxed some of the provisions of the order before breakfast on Thursday. Holders of liquor licenses were permitted to make lawful sales. The curfew was set to begin at 11 p.m. and to end at 5:30 a.m.

He told strikers they had not dealt with the situation well. He said they should have been wise enough to obtain an injunction against the company to prohibit trucks from entering the plant. He said PLW should have won the court case involving 10 strikers accused of violating the temporary injunction issued by Richland County Common Pleas Judge Rex Larson. Nine were acquitted and a token punishment assessed against the 10th.

Pupils in the schools were retained for 45 minutes later than usual until the situation was under control. Sheriff's deputies and private police engaged by PLW blocked West High street at Plymouth street and Riggs street at Plymouth street. Access to the company property via Railroad, Spruce and Bell streets was also blocked.

President Miles Christian went to the American Legion hall Nov. 12 to meet with strikers. He told them the negotiating team headed by Harvey Rector and Sturman would be relieved.

By Friday, PLW had shown through its parent firm, Banner Industries, Inc., Cleveland, a conciliatory attitude.

Banner said it would not interpose further objection to the designation of the UAW as the official bargaining agent for the hourly employees. After a four hour session in Cleveland Friday morning, the union and the company had agreed that the plant would be opened Monday morning for limited access by some management and nonstriking employees.

Signs were that face-to-face bargaining might begin by Nov. 19.

Those arrested on Nov. 12 are Wayne Caudill, 32, Plymouth, disorderly conduct; Steven Lewis, 24, Mansfield, aggravated menacing; Lee Vanderveen, 37, Willard, disorderly conduct; Bobby Mitchell, 41, Willard, carrying a concealed weapon; Clovis Sexton, Jr., 25, Greenwich, disorderly conduct; Clovis Sexton, Sr., 43, Plymouth, carrying a concealed weapon.

Sexton, Sr., and Mitchell were arraigned in Shelby Municipal court, where they pleaded not guilty and were released on $100 bond. The others will be heard in the court of Mayor Akers, who told some strikers after the emergency council sessions on Nov. 12 that his first obligation is to enforce the laws of Ohio and the ordinances and regulations of the Village of Plymouth.

Akers confirmed Nov. 12 that he had called the Ohio adjutant-general to ascertain if National Guard troops could be sent here to contain violence.

Police identified the driver of the Commercial Lovelace rig as Douglas Gruber, Galion. Commercial Lovelace is the principal subsidiary of Banner Industries, Inc.

In a press release issued Monday, Mayor Akers called on all sides to reconcile their differences and their hostility in a peaceful and legal fashion, "having as the goal for everyone involved to work at the Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., under an appropriate contract which will benefit all parties involved."

"I express my profound hopes that those persons physically injured as a result of the activities of Nov. 12 recover and I pray for their recovery as fast as possible.

"As I understand the situation, both parties will be meeting no later than Nov. 19 in an effort to lay the foundation for 'negotiation'. In the event this meeting does in fact take place, and unless no further matters arise during that time, then I shall upon review of this present state of emergency with the members of council, life that state of emergency."

At press time, a federal mediator was laying plans to intervene in the strike. PLW filed unfair labor practices after Nov. 12.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Well, Plymouth, Cleveland, Ontario, and all concerned communities, YOU ALL LOST! It doesn't matter which side you were on, or which side you were rooting for — YOU LOST!

No one can claim victory. If you try to claim victory, it is indeed such a shallow one that it can only be an illusion of victory.

After a war, it is usual to tally up the wins and losses but in this instance, and in the things which led up to the strike, the losses so far, far outweigh ANY gains that they can be called non-existent.

You lost so much. Thank God that you did not lose a life — almost, but not quite.

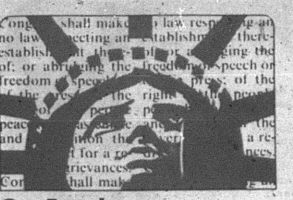

Count them up. You lost friendships, face, finances. Jobs were lost. Respect in self and for others were lost. Trust, sleep, peace, beliefs, reputations will be difficult to recapture. Think of those long, hard and worrisome hours of some people who worked almost ceaselessly to try to resolve the problems. Think of the losses of productive work. You nearly lost that place of employment which has sustained so many lives and families throughout the years; that place of employment which has fed money into the pockets of those who work there, and those who have owned the establishment!

Do you honestly think that you could turn any of these losses into gains by employing the same tactics? or do you believe that this would incur only MORE losses by EACH SIDE; EACH FACTION! Do you feel that you might even add to them by creating real tragedies? You ALL lost: management as well as workers. How much more do you want to lose? How much more can you afford to lose?

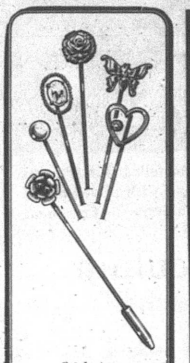

Did you ever stop to think that we may have been put here on earth to learn our lessons? All of us make mistakes, but we can turn these mistakes to profit if we learn from them. If you tend to feel depressed because of thinking YOU have lost, remember that the other side lost, too. Think of the thousands and thousands of dollars that went into this problem. Think of what those same dollars could have done for the GOOD of all concerned!

To paraphrase what "Smokey, the Bear" said for so many years: "Only YOU can prevent more losses!"

for improvements.

The proposal at the suggestion of the Willard United bank to plan one way traffic on Dix street westward from Sandusky street to the alley was dropped. A survey of local residents produced evidence that it is not needed, and Moore said it would save the village money, since the alley way that would have received more traffic than it does now would not have to be maintained excessively.

Complaints from Trux street residents over a new carry-out pizza business were aired. Parking has been the problem since the house, which has now become a business operation, can not provide enough and customers are using other driveways while they make their purchases.

The Norwalk Reflector, Nov. 14

Opinion

No justification for Plymouth violence

By JENNIFER JESSE
Reflector Staff Writer

When I attended Kent State University, a riot was a bunch of students yelling obscenities.

But what took place at Plymouth Locomotive Works Wednesday afternoon was the real thing.

One of the strikers was seriously injured and easily could have been killed when he was run over by a police cruiser after his companions forced the cruiser and a semi truck to stop, shattering the vehicles' windows with wooden boards.

What was the man's cause? Cost-of-living wage adjustments.

However, these weren't men trying to support families on a poverty-level paycheck. The employees, 140 of whom are on strike after joining the United Auto Workers, have been earning $9.14 an hour, $1.48 more than workers at a sister plant in Pennsylvania.

Perhaps they felt belittled by the company's refusal to recognize their union and pay them what they feel they are worth.

But those things have nothing to do with a person's worth. At worst, they are unfair business practices and as such aren't worth the violence to which unions resorted in the 1930s for more vital rights.

How the anger and hatred of people escalates to the frightening degree it reached in Plymouth and the hundreds of other plants throughout the country for such causes is difficult to understand.

But apparently to some people it's worth risking one's job and bringing home only $65 a week indefinitely from a strike fund. And to others, a few more dollars a week is worth more than those dollars could ever make up for.

As the tension was mounting Wednesday and as the violence began, it would have been a good time for the intervention of a group such as the Norwalk Area Labor-Management-Citizens group which just recently produced its by-laws here.

But one couldn't help also feeling the futility of such an effort. Could these men — with grimaces of mindless rage on their faces while smashing metal and bodies with boards — set aside those emotions enough to sit peacefully across from those whom have become their enemy and negotiate? It looked doubtful.

The Daily Globe, Shelby, Nov. 15

WEEKENDER

Riggs Street witness

By Tom Smith

"Now look what you have done."

This was just one of the many cries that filled the air on Riggs Street in Plymouth on Wednesday afternoon after John Foley was run over.

But who did what?

The incident, Wednesday was violent, no two ways about it, and violence has no part in the American labor movement. Period.

I am not taking a position on either side of the picketline in this dispute between the management of the Plymouth Locomotive Works and the members of Local 2161 of the United Auto Workers. I am taking a definite position on what I witnessed Wednesday and the testimony I listened to in the contempt hearings.

From the outset let me add a footnote that I am not basically anti-union. My father is a union member, but in a three month long strike at his General Electric plant there never was the type of violence associated with this 46 day old strike.

The management of PLW has aggravated the situation by not talking with the union up until Thursday. How can you negotiate when one side will not talk? Then they did rub salt in the wound by hiring scabs and trying to ship goods across the picketline.

No matter how intimidating these acts have been that is no reason to break the law.

Attacking foremen, strikebreakers, friends and truck drivers is no way to get someone to sit down peaceably at a bargaining table. How can you except a mutual agreement when one side only has vengence on its mind?

Did letting that one truck pass through the lines on Wednesday threaten the union in a way that they felt the strike could drag on another week because the company is not suffering enough to come to the bargaining table?

When I saw a man walking the picketline carrying a club I wonder what type of peaceful intentions they had. The whole set of activities with men in cars as if on a stake out or men with binoculars looking over the plant and the reporters there. Why? Why did they have loaded guns in their cars as police reports state?

After listening to the evidence in Judge Larson's court I came to the conclusion one side just was not telling the story straight. And only the protections of the law saved the defendants and the court from being exposed to potentially explosive testimony. Not being a lawyer but also listening to all the testimony I was surprised to hear the ruling favorable to the union.

I had thought that they would be on their best behavior after that date but Wednesday destroyed that belief. The men gathered just as they did before and the company apparently learned a few lessons to protect themselves since the last incident.

The company did have a right to move that truck and why the union though it could resort to mob violence to stop it defies logic. What possessed Foley to lay down in the on coming traffic?

The reaction of the crowd toward that truck was nothing short of animal-like in the the manner they tried to bash the windows in to get to the driver.

In a labor dispute the stopping of production by striking should be the way to bring a company around. Informational pickets are fine but to resort to jeering, causes an erosion of support in the community. And antagonizes the company.

I hope the two sides can come to an agreement soon that is satisfactory to both sides. It is a sad commentary on the principles involved when a strike at the major employer of a small village causes the community to be split and brings on the atmosphere of an armed camp.

The News-Journal, Mansfield, Nov. 16

eager allies in many blacks if they would switch their approach from just fighting against busing — which can be perceived, whether correctly or not, as racist — to fighting for equal and better education for everybody's children.

Black children do not need to be transported to white neighborhoods to receive good educations, nor do they need a "correct" percentage of white children in their classrooms in order to learn. What they need is quality teachers, quality programs, quality facilities, quality equipment and the right to attend the schools of their choice.

Everybody — blacks, whites, educators and especially federal judges — need to recognize that equal opportunity in education is the objective. Mandatory busing is only a means to that end, and not a very effective means at that.

Roses and thorns

To Robert Demoise, new chairman of the Mansfield Human Relations Committee, and member Loyal Bemiller for their efforts to get the board to take a more active role in addressing community problems.

To the Richland County Sheriff's Department for breaking up a prostitution ring that had been operating among truckers at the Interstate 71 and Ohio 97 interchange.

To United Auto Workers Local 2161 for allowing violence to disrupt among its members leading to a declaration of a state of emergency in Plymouth last week.

To the law enforcement officers from several counties and municipalities who reacted in a well-coordinated and professional manner to calm the union disturbance in Plymouth.

To Dr. Stanley Brody for restoring the 110-year-old Bissman carriage house on Park Avenue West and converting it into an apartment building. This private urban renewal project adds a touch of class to that part of Mansfield.

TERRY MAPES, Editorial Page Editor

A statement of fact:

The Advertiser presents today verbatim copies of what has been said about Plymouth's labor strike in nearby media. The presentation is made without endorsement by the editor, and certainly without any criticism of his colleagues in the news media.

Coverage of the incident of Nov. 12 and subsequent development has, in the editor's opinion, been fair, thorough and as accurate as is possible.

It is his hope that one development that may occur after the furor has subsided and the smoke has cleared away is that the public will be more promptly informed by responsible functionaries of government (read police and police auxiliaries).

The dispute is between Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., and its dissatisfied employees. Consider the editor's distress to see, personally, one of his neighbors, who's never worked a day for PLW in his whole life, and who was once a sworn peace officer, throwing rocks the size of hen's eggs at private property, in some instances with deadly accuracy.

TO KILL A MESSENGER

BY MILTON B. CHILCOTT

Killing the messenger was a popular pastime of olden monarchs who found their daily news distasteful. For the fated messenger, freedom of information had become a death sentence.

We have come a long way from those days. In a few hours, we can have a newspaper on the street. Broadcasts can flood the land in seconds. Our news comes to us more quickly and in greater quantity.

The news itself, however, has changed very little. Each day we report at least as much bad news as good. Certainly in the old days, reporters would have met a very untimely end.

Indeed, in these days of oil cartels, dollars worth cents and belligerent Third World militancy, the desire to "kill the messenger" still exists in the hearts of readers, viewers and listeners. For them, the press is a bearer of only bad news, responsible for all that is rotten in their lives and their world. It is an understandable, if unthinking, reaction.

The media have suffered the slings and arrows of legislators and judges who also seek to "kill the messenger" by limiting their ability to gather, produce and distribute any news at all.

This perceived intrusion on the sensibilities of Americans is not an intrusion at all, but an obligation of our press to maintain the free flow of information, good and bad. An audience will learn, as the olden monarchs did, that killing our messengers will not stem the flow of bad news; to sever our freedoms of speech and information is to drain a country's lifeblood.

No news is bad news, but the freedom of the press to relate even the bad news safeguards every freedom Americans enjoy.

(Milton B. Chilcott, publisher of the Sheridan Press, has received the coveted First Amendment Award from the National Society of Professional Journalists/SDX, this summer. The award is in recognition of outstanding contributions to a freedom of information so vital to a free press.)

Bill Hudson was awarded the sportsmanship trophy and Dale Moorman the scholastic trophy when the fall sports banquet was conducted Monday night.

Each received a third year letter. So did Steve Tackett.

Tri-captains were elected for the 1981 football squad. These are Scott Harris and Reggie Ganzhorn, both all-Black Fork Valley conference choices, and Aaron Allenbaugh. The first two got a second letter, Allenbaugh a first monogram.

Becky Turson, all-league choice, and Barbara Shaver were chosen MVPs in volleyball. Miss Turson was given a second year letter. So were Mary Lou Briner and Lucy Will. Miss Shaver, Tammy Tackett, Jan Wallace, Penni Pritchard, Annette Takos, Montelle Levering and Kim Osborne got first year letters.

Big Red to play South Amherst here tomorrow

With a new coach and five lettermen, Plymouth's Big Red opens its 1980-81 basketball season here tomorrow.

South Amherst, a newcomer to the Plymouth slate, will furnish the opposition.

Coach Mike Tracey is guardedly optimistic about his team's prospects and points to the relative inexperience, certainly at the varsity level, of about half of his nine man squad.

The lettermen are Marty Carty, Steve Tackett, Rob Smith, Steve Mowry and Brad Postema. Carty and Tackett are 12th graders, the others 11th graders.

There is one 10th grader on the team. He is Greg Polachek, who also plays football and baseball.

A 12th grader, Ralph Butler, survived the final cut. So did two 11th graders, Brian Fenner and Doug Nease. Tracey will call players from the reserve squad to flesh out the scorebook.

Plymouth has scrimmaged Old Fort and Northmor with some success. It's apparent this team lacks great height. Postema is the tallest of the lot. Its future depends on how well it moves the ball and how well it shoots.

A new team has entered the Black Fork Valley conference, Mansfield Christian. But its presence doesn't change the fact that Crestview and Lucas are the stronger teams and should be expected to fight it out for the championship in the double round robin schedule.

For the first time ever, Plymouth will play 11 games at home. There are seven road contests.

Pay hike for Root proposed

Moore said since the village has no zoning ordinance, nothing can be done.

The mayor said he could term it a "nuisance" but that neighboring residents would have to make formal complaints.

Overtime pay for the police department for 37 hours because of extra duties owing to the local strike and for James Holloman from the water fund were approved.

Overtime pay claimed by Terry Jump, head electrician, in the amount 74 hours, which goes back to last year, was tabled and will be studied.

Jump did not take compensatory time off from his duties, as requested by the council. Other village employees managed to do so. He had refused.

His overtime claim is being turned over to village solicitor, Richard Wolf, 2nd, for further study. It was admitted that Jump's duties are needed in emergencies, which he has performed, but Root warned the council that if it is paid, other departments will show unhappiness.

The contract to be presented to the Village of Tiro and Auburn township, which has been prepared by the solicitor, will be carefully gone over at the suggestion of Cashman and most likely approve at tonight's meeting.

Cashman requested a financial report from the clerk-treasurer which was not ready for Thursday's meeting. Mrs. Theodore Montgomery said it had not changed much from last month but said she would have it available at the next meeting.

The next pointed question came from Brumbach, who asked why the solicitor was not present.

The mayor's answer was that he was to be at one meeting a month, and he was present at the Sept. 11 and Oct. 9 meetings. The latter meeting was a dead duck because of the lack of the quorum.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Let us be thankful, Nov. 27, 1980

The White House
By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

The greatest bounty of our nation is the bounty of our heritage—our diversity as immigrants and descendants of immigrants, our common identity as Americans.

We have set aside one day a year to give thanks for all that we have, yet Thanksgiving is more than just a day of celebration. It is also a commemoration — of the day America's earliest inhabitants sat down to table with European colonists.

That occasion was historic, but not only because it established a national holiday, but because it marked the start of a national tradition of cooperation, unity and tolerance.

Even in times of trial and frustration, we have much to be thankful for in our personal lives and in our nation. As we pause on Thanksgiving to offer thanks to God, we should not forget that we also owe thanks to this country's forefathers who had the vision to join together in Thanksgiving and who gave us so much of the vision of brotherhood that is ours today.

THEREFORE I, Jimmy Carter, President of the United States of America, do proclaim Thursday the 27th of November, 1980, as Thanksgiving Day. I call upon all the people of our nation to give thanks on that day for the blessings Almighty God has bestowed upon us and to join the fervent prayer of George Washington, who as President asked God to "impart all the blessings we possess or ask for ourselves to the whole family of mankind."

IN WITNESS THEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 13th day of November in the year of our Lord 1980 and of the independence of the United States of America.

Jimmy Carter

Eagles win over Big Red at foul line

Monroeville took the measure of Plymouth on the Big Red's floor Nov. 25, even though Plymouth outshot the Eagles from the field.

For the second consecutive game, Plymouth was beaten at the foul line. The score was 54 to 48.

Monroeville took the lead with 5:29 remaining in the first period and never lost it.

Plymouth outscored Monroeville in the last half but could not overcome the Eagles' advantage built up in the first 16 minutes.

Monroeville bagged 12 of 21 free throws and 21 of 52 attempts at field goal. Plymouth, correspondingly, was just two-for-10 and 23-for-69.

The Eagles led by four after eight minutes and by eight after 16. They did so largely because of the skills of Ron Wilhelm, who scored eight of his game-high of 18 points in the first period. Gene Stallkamp, a 12th grader who concentrated on football heretofore, had all eight of his points in the second quarter.

Plymouth's forte this season is defense and it was too vigorous in the last half, notably in the fourth period, when Monroeville went to the line 12 times, making six.

The Big Red got an outstanding performance from Marty Carty in the last half. He wound up with 16 points, 14 of them in the third and fourth periods. Steve Tackett garnered 12 and Steve Mowry 10.

Monroeville outrebounded Plymouth, 46 to 33. Wilhelm, Stallkamp and Fred Leber had 10 apiece.

Jerry Simon, who was to foul out, scored 12 for the Eagles.

Monroeville made more mistakes than did Plymouth. The Eagles were guilty of 21 turnovers, the Big Red of just 17.

Water shortage looms; will quarry serve?

Where and how the village will resolve its water shortage problems occupied village council Thursday night.

Because of a major break in a main near the water plant the morning of Nov. 18, the level in the water tower was dangerously low.

James C. Root, village administrator, estimated that about 100,000 gallons was lost during the four hours it took to repair the main.

Mayor Eric J. Akers upon hearing Root's report immediately suggested to the council that the water be shut off at 10 p.m. and remain off until 7 a.m. This was also done Friday night.

Efforts to prove the Chapman well at New Haven have so far not produced results sufficient to convince the council that this supply of water can be relied upon to solve the village's needs over the long term.

The mayor said "We can't fool around anymore." He immediately brought up the quarry as a water source, saying he doesn't think that the injunction issued by the Richland county courts in the 1920's prohibiting the village to use it as a source is a permanent one and would not be enforceable today.

He asked Councilman G. Thomas Moore to make inquiries as to obtaining the water from the owner. Persons familiar with the quarry over the years have maintained that it does not hold as much water as many persons think, thus making it an inadequate source.

Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach was assigned to check with the EPA about its thoughts on the village using the quarry.

Councilman James Holloway is to ascertain the possibility of necessary easements if the Chapman well is to be used.

Root has maintained that the well field has a low water table and there is not much hope in the future. He seems in favor of the village going to Willard's treatment plant.

However, nobody was saying as of this week if the village will now be required to crawl on its knees to Willard to obtain water at a price the council says Plymouth cannot afford, if other sources fail.

Using treated water from Willard has brought up another problem compatibility of its treated water and Plymouth's which differ in the type of chemicals used. Willard uses potash while Plymouth uses chlorine.

For the first time in months, the council had all its seats filled, but not enough members appeared Thursday night to make a quorum. Moore, Brumbach and Holloway were present.

Root got on the telephone and managed to snag newly appointed Councilman James H. Cashman, who came immediately.

Root told the council the village employees plan to take their "floating holiday" the day after Thanksgiving but will be available for any emergencies.

It was agreed that Terry Jump, village electrician, will be paid for overtime he has accumulated this year. He claimed 74 hours, but the council only agreed to compensation for 54 hours that were directly linked to electrical work.

The remaining 20 hours will be taken as compensatory time off.

Brumbach questioned the fact that the council has not been approving village bills at the meetings. This had always been done in the past and signed by the finance chairman and one other councilman.

The mayor said he believes this is not necessary since the bills were approved in the annual appropriation of expenditures for the several funds.

Cashman suggested that perhaps "a watch dog" committee should be set to check all the bills. Moore said he agrees with the mayor it is not necessary for the council to bother with them except in exceptional expenditures.

Holloway, who has been communicating with the trustees of New Haven township, said they would like the same contract as before, which was for three years and expired May 1, but for just one year.

The mayor thinks a one year contract is a good idea so that expenses can be better judged.

Ambulance contracts with both New Haven and Plymouth township are to be made.

Root suggested the 1968 bucket truck should be replaced.

Emergency order lifted

State of emergency declared Nov. 12 by Mayor Eric J. Akers was lifted Thursday night.

The curfew that was a part of the state of emergency was suspended as well.

He told village council that Plymouth Locomotive Works officials and negotiators of the United Auto Workers, which has been recognized by PLW as the official bargaining agent for the strikers, met on Nov. 19 and agreed that non-striking employees should be allowed to return to their duties.

Akers disqualified himself from adjudication of charges against four strikers, accused of misdemeanors in connection with the erruption of Nov. 12, and ordered the trials to take place in Shelby Municipal court. Three are accused of disorderly conduct and one of aggravated menacing.

Two others also accused as a result of the Nov. 12 melee pleaded not guilty in Shelby Municipal court and were bound over to Richland county grand jury.

142 fewer pupils foreseen in '90 by local schools

Enrollment in Plymouth Local School district will probably fall to 1,152 pupils by the end of the decade, Supt. Douglas Staggs projects in the annual report of the district.

Present enrollment is 1,294 pupils.

Next year he anticipates it will fall to 1,271 pupils and in 1982 to 1,253.

The graduating class in 1991, Staggs predicts, will number 65 pupils. There will be 90 pupils in kindergarten.

Actual pupil count on Oct. 5 was 1,308, 628 boys and 680 girls.

High school enrollment was 399 pupils, of whom 80 attend Pioneer Joint Vocational school. Largest class was the eighth grade, with 109 pupils.

Average salary of a classroom teacher is $13,475.86. Certified staff members 76.5 individuals, non-certified staff 34. There are two CETA employees and two library aides, making a total of 114.5 persons.

Fifty-five per cent of the operating dollar goes for instructional salaries, 8.4 per cent for administration, 11.3 per cent for plant operation, 6.4 per cent for transportation, 15.3 per cent for fixed charges, nine-tenths of one percent for plant maintenance, 2.3 per cent for libraries, three-tenths of one per cent for other costs.

Total budget of the school system in 1980 is $2,559,037.93.

General fund revenues, amounting to $1,864, 763.51, derive from real estate taxes, personal property taxes, state foundation fund payments and miscellaneous sources, including federal funds, in this ratio; 23.3 per cent real estate taxes, 3.86 per cent personal property taxes, 65.3 per cent state foundation payments, 7.61 per cent miscellaneous sources.

Enrollment in 1973 amounted to 1,560 pupils.

Yule tree up in Public Square

Beaten at foul line, Red loses opener

Plymouth was beaten at the foul line in its opener with South Amherst here Saturday night, before the smallest crowd in 26 seasons.

The score was 38 to 35. Neither team set the world on fire.

Plymouth led at the half, 24 to 19.

The Cavaliers forged ahead in the third period, when they outscored Plymouth, 14 to 5. They hung on in the last quarter.

Each team got off 38 shots at the basket and each was successful with 14 of them.

Plymouth's defense was assessed too many fouls in the first half and the Cavaliers made good with seven of 13 attempts from the penalty line.

Brad Postema scored six points in the first period to help Plymouth to a lead of 10 to 9. Steve Mowry accounted for eight of his game-high total of nine points during the second period, when Plymouth made five of nine shots from the field and four of five from the free throw line. The Cavaliers, meanwhile, were much less successful, making only two of six shots from the field. It was the free throw shooting that kept South Amherst in the game. The Cavaliers had nine shots and made six of them.

Notoriously a poor third quarter team, Plymouth again disappointed its fans in that quarter. The Big Red only seven shots at the basket and scored with just two of them. And its free throw shooting was cut down. It had just two attempts and converted one of them.

South Amherst asserted itself with a steady floor game and some good shooting. In 13 tries for field goal during the third quarter, the Cavaliers were successful with seven of them. They took a lead of 33 to 29 into the final eight minutes.

Plymouth was not able to close the gap during the run for the last buzzer.

Marty Carty got a field goal to cut the lead to two, whereupon Bryan Stevens countered with one of his own. Steve Tackett bagged a bucket from underneath and the lead was just one. Mowry fouled Stevens, who converted. The clock wound down until, with 18 seconds left, Ray Sliman was fouled by Tackett. He made the first shot of a one-and-one.

Plymouth used its last time out and Sliman failed with the second try. But there wasn't enough time for Plymouth to produce any points.

Ken Siwierka with 11 points was the only player in double figures.

Seven Plymouth players hit the scoreboard.

Good recipe and clean joke Auntie's gift for holiday

By AUNT LIZ

Pixies and gremlins have been known for centuries for all the good things they do for people, usually in the dark of the night so they are not seen.

Unfortunately, we have never had a visit from one. There have been times they would have been most welcome after we have gone to bed and the kitchen is loaded with dirty dishes to face in the morning.

Now I have heard of an elf who is in the business to do something nice. Since this elf lives in Florda I kind of guess he is a retired grandfather. A really enterprising one though and he must be having a ball.

For a small yearly sum he will write letters to kids from three to 10, and each letter will have a "small surprise" in it.

There is no question that everyone likes to get mail, no matter how old or young he is and if he can read or not.

There is no way this elf can write to every child in the country, so it leaved the door open to other grandparents, and with the price of food and soap today, it is worth a try, don't you agree?

I will be no competition because I already have three to write to, which keeps me busy.

Another thing which is keeping me busy is making more jelly. I was really finished for the season but a kind friend had it with grapes and was not in the mood to make anymore. Can you imagine someone giving up juice all ready to converted to jelly? That is the hardest and messiest part of it all, but she did.

Say what you will about people in small towns, this is the biggest joy of all, and we are lucky we live in them.

Even though our kids live in good sized cities, they were brought up in a small community and know what it is to share.

This tidbit came in a letter last week and is good and a little different.

First, puchase a loaf of French bread.

Secondly, invest in a pound of nice ground beef. The rest of the recipe you should have on your shelves.

Brown the beef with some chopped onion a fourth of a teaspoon each of garlic salt and oregano. Then add eight ounces of shredded cheddar and a can of tomato soup.

It must be made a day ahead and refrigerated. The next day spread it on the bread and stick under the broiler.

Last week was national joke week which I did not know until I heard it on the radio (radio really is better than television, much more fun and really friendlier)

Two beautiful silk worms who had been lifelong friends decided to engage in a friendly race. Since they moved at about the same speed they though it was more fun than a big competition, and they were right.

They ended in a tie.

Coles to observe 40th anniversary

Their children will be hosts Dec. 7 from 2 to 6 p.m. at open house in their parents' home in Baker road to honor the 40th anniversary of the Verne R. Coles.

They have two children, Nancy, now Mrs. James McClure, Plymouth, and Garry, Shelby. There are three grandchildren.

They request that gifts not be sent.

Shiloh church to hear Morgan next week

The Rev. Max Morgan will speak during services in Wesley Evangelical church, Shiloh, Monday through Dec. 7 at 7 p.m.

He entered the Methodist ministry in 1946. A 1951 alumnus of Taylor university, Upland, Ind., he was graduated by Western Theological seminary in 1954 and was ordained into the Evangelical United Brethren denomination in that year.

He was part of the negotiations leading to the merger of the Evangelical United Brethren church with the Methodist church that occurred in 1968. The result was a new denomination, the Evangelical Church of North America.

After several years of service in a pulpit, the Rev. Mr. Morgan was elected superintendent of the East Central conference of the ACNA.

The minister at Shiloh, the Rev. Arthur Hamman, invites the public to next week's sessions, each of which will include special music and a nursery.

Fate of Red in hands of these five

Whether Plymouth basketball fortunes, like the fabled Phoenix bird, rise from the ashes this season is in large part dependent on the performance of these four players and their new coach, S. Michael Tracey, standing, center.

Three of the four are 11th graders and one, Marty Carty, kneeling at left, is a 12th grader. All are lettermen. Steve Tackett, a fifth letterman, was absent on picture day. The others are Rob Smith, kneeling, and Steve Mowry, left, and Brad Postema, standing.

Plymouth opened its Black Fork Valley conference schedule with Mansfield Christian here Tuesday night. Lucas is favored along with Crestview to fight it out for the championship. The Big Red may be a year away from serious contention.

Water supply: holding

Test of Chapman well 'satisfactory'

Preliminary reports say that production of the Chapman water well during the testing period that began this week is satisfactory.

The village's own wells have managed to produce enough water to fill the water tower, although at the beginning of the week, the clear well was not filled.

Contrary to published reports that water was pumped from the Chapman well to fill the tower, this was not done.

If the well is to be connected to the village system, easements must be obtained from property owners north of the village to the well.

Mayor Eric J. Akers appointed Councilman James Holloway to investigate obtaining them, should the well be used.

The report of the water consulting firm made on the village water system is due this week.

Flames singe Red in overtime, 61 to 53

What befell Plymouth in overtime here Tuesday night was exactly what happened to the lady who backed into the airplane propeller.

Mansfield Christian's Flames scored seven unanswered points in the first overtime period and walked away with a 61 to 53 verdict in their first meeting ever with Plymouth and their first engagement ever in the Black Fork Valley conference.

It was a dull contest for one half. Neither team played particularly well until Plymouth began to find itself midway through the third quarter.

Scoring seven straight points, the Big Red forged to within a point of the Flames, only to have them shoot two free throws. These were by Jeff Ellington, who was the hero of the overtime period with six points.

After the visitors regained the lead and advanced to a 38 to 35 lead, Plymouth scored nine unanswered points and took the advantage at 44 to 38. It was 48 to 42 with 1:36 left to play.

The Flames got a bucket by Mike Haring and a free throw by Ellington and were right back in it. After a Red time out, Kevin Wallace converted a hook shot and with 19 seconds left, Ellington's field goal gave the Flames the lead at 49 to 48.

Plymouth called time out with four seconds left and worked the ball to Brc Postema, who was fouled. With two shots coming and one second left, the Flames call for time. Then Postema tied the game with a successful shot. The second teetered off the rim.

In overtime, Marty Carty, who scored 14, got two free throws with 1:54 left. Then the Flames went to work. Wallace scored, Ellington fired two free throws, Jamie Hitchman got two more, Ellington scored and it was all over.

Plymouth shot well enough, with 17 good ones in 42 tries. But the Flames were better: 21 of 40.

It was a ragged contest throughout. Plymouth was charged with 22 turnovers, Mansfield Christian with 26.

Strike forces PLW to lay off 24 employees

The prospect of a bleak Christmas in Plymouth became even more so Nov. 26 when Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., beset by a work stoppage since Oct. 1 when the labor contract with hourly employees expired, furloughed 24 office and middle management employees.

Some of them have worked for PLW or its predecessor firm, the Fate-Root-Heath Co., all their adult lives.

Signs were that unless negotiations with Local 2161, UAW, result in a settlement of the strike issues fairly soon, there will be another layoff of office and middle management help before Christmas.

Those negotiations were reported at press time to be sporadic in nature and non-productive in character. Some head-to-head conversations between PLW and its parent firm, Banner Industries, Inc., and the UAW have been conducted but those privy to them say they "haven't gotten anywhere".

Striking employees swear almost to a man that PLW has no intention of settling the strike before Christmas "because they don't want to pay Christmas vacation time".

Under Ohio law, non-striking employees who are furloughed because organized workers of the same employer are on strike are not eligible for unemployment compensation without the authorization of the employer. PLW has given that authorization and the 24 employees who were furloughed are in process of applying for these payments. What will be done about their fringe benefits — medical, dental and pharmaceutical coverage and life insurance coverage — hasn't been said.

Meanwhile, save for orderly picketing at four sites around the company premises in West High, Bell and Spruce streets, it was all quiet on the southwestern front. A report that PLW had notified Plymouth Police department that it intended to move the controversial truck that was the object of violence on Nov. 12 could not be confirmed by The Advertiser at press time.

Two councilmen resign posts at Shiloh

Two councilmen and a trustee of public affairs at Shiloh resigned Nov. 26.

Mrs. Audrey Lemaster and Harry Foster, councilmen, left the governing body. Forter resigned in anticipation of a vacancy on the board of public affairs, which occurred when Lewis Lemaster resigned.

Mayor Francis Gowitzka appointed Foster to succeed Lemaster.

Councilman Richard Tallman requested an exception be made in his case, since he does not need trash collection service in his storage room next to the village hall. He said boxes that collect there are promptly taken for storage purposes by others.

The council said if an exception is made in his case, others will seek to extend the practice.

Whether to conduct the second meeting of December on Dec. 24 was discussed. The council will decide at its next meeting if the Dec. 24 date will be changed.

Eating cheaply mere matter of good kitchen education

BY AUNT LIZ

When you hear the word, "education", what do you think?

Schools, natch.

Somehow today it applies to more than the schools, mainly your kitchen and dining room.

There is not a housewife or any shopper who is not complaining about the price of food.

It is sad, there is no doubt about that. One day you buy something, and two days later to go to buy more, and it is up in price.

Right now I am watching dog biscuits with great interest. Our house eats them like they are going out of style, and each box goes up a few pennies evertime I must buy them.

Right now I am in a beautiful position to defeat it all. I have a recipe to make our own, and all I am waiting for is a friend to come forth with a cookie cutter that will do the right shape. The cutter came first. It sounded like a great stocking present, then the recipe appeared, so Milk Bone can consider themselves polished off. We have been their best customer for years.

But I do have a sneaking suspecion that we will continue to be their best customer. It will take hours to bake these things, and it is so easy to reach up on a shelf to get a box, so they are still in business.

Granted, a nice roast with nice potatoes and a nice vegetable and a large salad plus a really goopy dessert is a very desirable.

Cut that back to maybe twice a week or even just for Sunday. Meanwhile you can have some equally as nutritious meals like liver and onions. Both are good for the average stomach.

A lot of people do not like liver but it can be so well disguised. We soak ours up in a little milk, flour it and broil it, but it can be marinaded in sherry with a little soy sauce then dipped in the flour and broiled. Cook the onions and if you wish, throw in some mushrooms in water. When all is ready, spread the onions and mushrooms on top. What you are saving your family may be some heart attacks, it is not fried.

This is what we are having for a Sunday dinner, 67 cents worth of liver, maybe 40 cents worth of onions and mushrooms, a possible 35 cents worth of a salad, and $2.50 for the fancy cake I bought at a bake sale. I can also throw in a few carrot sticks and a couple of pieces of pickles.

Granted such a meal must be served in candlelight so add 10 cents for them.

Another surprise we figured out this weekend was two pot pies. They were five for $1, and I love them. With a salad and a dessert, you have it made. Frozen foods for the most part I find plain miserable, but the pot pies I love.

This week, we are economizing because I have great plans for a new sauerbraten recipe.

Still, we can all cut back and even stay off starchy foods. Most Chinese dishes can do for six with a pound of beef or pork. Just get your books out or better yet go to a nice Chinese restaurant.

We did last week and simply could not finish what they served and asked to take it home, which they seemed to know we would ask. Can you believe that we at a Sunday dinner, a Monday dinner and a Tuesday dinner from it all? I added some more rice and noodles and that was it. Even the price in the restaurant was very meager for what we had.

For a small fee, I will tell you where this place is, which is about 30 miles from here, and if I really like you, I will tell you for free, which I really should do because the food was delicious and they are such nice people.

EPA's preference is to get water from Willard

Ohio's Environmental Protection agency would prefer that Plymouth resolve its water problems by buying treated water from Willard, because it would enable users in New Haven to be served, Ed King, Bowling Green officer of the EPA, told conferees here Dec. 1.

But, he emphasized, EPA believes in home rule and will leave it to the village to decide what course is proper. Whether the village decides to proceed with the Chapman well at New Haven, which shows signs of sufficient capacity to meet present and future needs, or to buy water from Willard, the approval of Ohio EPA is required.

King said Ohio has an equity in the Willard reservoir because it paid for half of it.

Burgess & Niple, Columbus, has been testing the Chapman well and will submit a study of the overall water situation within the next fortnight.

Whichever course is chosen, water bills will have to rise.

Strike talks not showing much progress

A federal mediator was due here Tuesday to seek to settle the work stoppage at Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., which today goes into its 73rd day, the longest such stoppage in Plymouth history.

And an injunction hearing in Richland county common pleas court Tuesday at 9 a.m. was postponed. A motion by PLW's attorney, Terry Kilgore, Mansfield, to obtain a permanent injunction against violence on the picket lines was to have been heard.

Larry Bailey, president of UAW Local 2161, is quoted as having said negotiations are not progressing rapidly.

He said the company and the union have reached agreement on all terms of the contract save the cost of living adjustment.

PLW's position, from the outset, has been that it wishes to have the cost of living adjustment frozen for one year, after which, should conditions warrant, the company would agree to discuss the revision of the agreement.

The striking employees have, from the outset, opposed this stand.

One source close to the negotiations told The Advertiser "the UAW will never submit a contract for a vote by the strikers if there are still charges pending against any of the strikers by the company. It doesn't want this thing to turn into a popularity contest".

So far as The Advertiser was able to ascertain at press time, some charges of unfair labor practices against striking employees of the plant that derive from the incidents of Nov. 12 are still pending.

Probate judge takes bride at Wakeman

Huron County Juvenile and Probate Judge Thomas W. Heydinger took Margaret Grady Hedrick as his bride in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Wakeman, Nov. 28 in a service performed by the Rev. Charles Denny.

The bride, daughter of John Grady, Huron, and of Mrs. Monica Grady, Wakeman, is employed by Norwalk Furniture Co. She was attended by Wilma Collier, Norwalk.

The bridegroom is the son of the Herbert Heydingers, Tiro. He was attended by the Rev. James Leroy Ruef, Columbus.

They will live in Norwalk.

'62 alumnus killed in plane

A 1962 alumnus of Plymouth High school was killed Dec. 2 when the single engine aircraft in which he was a passenger plowed into a mountain near Knoxville, Tenn.

He is David J. Huston, 36, Bellville, vice-president of contracts administration of Mansfield Aircraft Products Corp.

The aircraft, whose pilot was William M. Robinson, president and chief executive of COM-X, parent firm of the Mansfield company, was flying to Mansfield from Peachtree, Ga., site of a sister plant of Mansfield Aircraft Products Co. FAA authorities in Atlanta, Ga., said the pilot radioed loss of cabin pressure at 14,000 feet elevation when he was 35 miles north of Knoxville. He asked for permission to land the aircraft at McGhee Tyson airport at Knoxville. Permission was given after Robinson also radioed he had lost vacuum pressure in his instruments. The aircraft is said to have lost altitude drastically and was said to have been at 7,000 feet elevation when radio communication was lost.

Witnesses reported the aircraft spiraled out of a cloud cover and struck the ridge, apparently killing all occupants instantly. In addition to Huston, the passengers included Jerome Walton, 49, director of design engineering, Mansfield, and Randy Stevens, manager of the Peachtree plant.

A part of the aircraft's tail section was found 1,300 yards from the aircraft. Both wings torn off.

Born Sept. 3, 1944, in Shiloh, Huston was a member of Shiloh United Methodist church. He is survived by his wife, Barbara; two sons, Todd Huston and Larry Means; three daughters, Leeann and Shelley Means, at home and Cheri Huston, Irvine, Cal.; his parents, the Woodrow Hustons, Shiloh, and a brother, Charles, Shiloh.

Services were conducted at Ontario Saturday at 1 p.m. by his minister, the Rev. John H. Hutchison, Jr., and the Rev. Michael Goldner, visitation pastor of First English Lutheran church, Mansfield. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Lots 153 and 154, comprising 2.076 acres in North street, have been conveyed to Dennis and Maurene Cassady by Marvin and Rosemary Tanner.

Man, 23, held by sheriff on pot charge

A 23-year-old Plymouth man was arrested by Richland county sheriff's deputies Dec. 2 at 2:15 p.m. on charges of possession of over three times the bulk amount of marijuana and two counts of trafficking marijuana.

David M. Cole, 23, 122 Riggs street, was indicted Dec. 1 by a Richland county grand jury on charges of drug trafficking.

10% state fund cut 'disaster', Staggs says

If fingernails are short in Plymouth schools these days, it's understandable, Supt. Douglas Staggs told Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

A serious shortfall in state revenues will compel the General Assembly to cut appropriations. Staggs said he and other school officials in Richland county were told Monday by Sens. Paul Pfeiffer and Thomas Van Meter that a 10 per cent across-the-board cut is likely.

How this would affect Plymouth Local School district was shown by Staggs.

"We get 69 per cent of our operating dollar from the state," he said. "If they cut us by 10 per cent, that means $126,657.92 lost for the six month period between January and June of 1981. It would take five mills of fresh tax money to make up for that. And as matters stand, there is absolutely no way that the district could recover the loss because there isn't time to get a new levy on the ballot and, if it should be approved, to collect the proceeds in 1981. So we can't get any fresh money until 1982."

What can the district do?

"We can either absorb the losses or go to the people," Staggs said. He implied the district will wait until the General Assembly decides how it will proceed — Staggs referred to House Bill 1272 that proposes a 30 per cent cut across-the-board — and then determine what it will do.

Staggs showed his displeasure with revelations by Thomas E. Ferguson, auditor of Ohio, that Plymouth district lost enrollment but increased staff during the 1979-80 school year.

Staggs said the increas of 2.5 employees is attributable to the fact that two employees, a teacher and a non-teacher, were on disability and a part-time cleaner was added because the district lost CETA support.

He pointed out that in the year previously, seven employee positions were cut from the local staff.

Beginning with the Class of 1985, candidates for the diploma must offer 18 instead of 17 credits, the board ruled.

It also will require two units of mathematics instead of one unit and will allow two credits in instrumental and vocal music instead of one.

Participation of girls and boys in an indoor track and field program at Ashland college was authorized.

David G. Coulter was engaged as assistant wrestling coach.

Parents who transport their children to private schools will be paid $120.71 in lieu of public transportation services, the board ruled.

Fifth grade Vikings rode to their third straight league win at Mansfield Saturday, swamping Mansfield Saints, 19 to 2.

Marc Rankin scored six points.

Vikes meet the Spartans Saturday at 11 a.m.

Girls trim South Central

Plymouth led all the way, largely because of outstanding contributions by its two point-getters, Renee Taylor and Becky Turson, each of whom scored 18 points.

The Big Red prevailed because it controlled the backboards. Plymouth took down 54 caroms, the Trojans only 36. In doing so, the Big Red was getting the second, and sometimes the third, shot. Plymouth fired for field goal 77 times and made 26 of them. South Central got off 68 shots and scored with just 15.

Plymouth missed four of 10 from the penalty line, South Central nine of 19. And the Big Red was charged with only 22 turnovers, whereas South Central committed 28.

Buckeye Central mauls Red; Wurm scores 26 for Bucks

Buckeye Central mauled Plymouth here Friday night, 78 to 44.

It was no contest after the first two minutes. The bigger, faster and more experienced Bucks outpassed, outshot and outclassed the Big Red.

The visitors opened a quick lead of six points and simply overpowered Plymouth throughout. After eight minutes the score was 15 to 10. It was no better at the half, when Plymouth trailed by six. Only the outstanding play of Steve Tackett in the second quarter kept Plymouth in the game at all. He scored one field goal and seven free throws, one of them a technical foul shot. These led him to a point total of 13, high among Plymouth scorers for the night.

Meanwhile, at the other end of the gymnasium, it was big Dan Wurm, fresh off a third team selection on the all-Ohio football team among Class A players, who was leading the Bucks. He had eight points in the second period, matched by Scott Gray, only a 10th grader but a good one.

Buckeye Central put it away in the third period, outscoring Plymouth by six, and ran away and his from the Big Red in the final quarter, when the visitors bagged 24 points, holding Plymouth to just seven.

For his night's work, Wurm wound up with 26 points. Gray had 10.

Buckeye Central controlled the backboards, one important reason why it won this one. The Bucks took down 47 rebounds, while Plymouth was limited to just 24. Rob Kreim, oddly enough, was the leader with 11.

The Bucks outshot Plymouth. Their record of field goal shooting was 34 of 70. At the penalty stripe it was 10 of 19.

Plymouth's record was much less impressive. The Big Red fired for field goal 46 times and was successful with just 16. Its performance at the free throw line was somewhat improved. The Big Red missed seven of 19 tries.

The mistakes that a green team so often make cropped up in this game. Plymouth was charged with 40 turnovers, Buckeye Central with 29.

Eight Plymouth players managed to score but only one in double figures. Only Darrin Blackford of the Bucks fouled out.

COAL.

It takes a lot of fuel to make the electricity our customers use. And because fuel is the major factor in the cost of producing electricity, your electric costs are directly affected by the kind of fuel we use.

Last year the American Electric Power System which we're part of burned over 38 million tons of coal. And that saved our country over 150 million barrels of oil.

No end seen after 79 days of PLW strike

By vote of 120 to 0, striking workers of Local 2161, UAW, turned down Thursday what was described as a "last offer" by Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

The package included no raise for the first year, 15 cents an hour for the second year and 30 cents for the third year. The cost-of-living adjustment was omitted. Further, some of the strikers said the company's offer contained a proviso that the company shall retain the right to dismiss those whose conduct during the strike has displeased it.

Richard Terpinsky met with both sides and the offer that was submitted on Thursday was the result of those conversations.

It was clear the PLW "didn't expect much from the offer". Its expert, Harvey Rector, wasn't sanguine about the prospects.

The union has been adamant about retention of the quarterly adjustment of wages in accordance with the cost of living index. The employer has been equally adamant about temporary suspension of the adjustment, for a year at least.

Non-striking employees who were laid off because of a slacking work load caused by the strike learned late last week that they cannot qualify for unemployment compensation benefits.

Meanwhile, most of the cases involving strikers accused of misdemeanors during the violence of Nov. '12 and before have been dismissed in Shelby Municipal court. Robert A. McKown, former village solicitor who was retained to represent about a dozen of the accused, said Saturday he has manged to have nine cases dismissed because "of faulty procedures in bringing the accused to trial."

Strike to cut tax revenue, director says

Report of Mrs. G. Thomas Moore, director of the village income tax department, to Thursday's meeting of the village council shows that a sum of $75,984.32 has been collected as of Dec. 11.

Withholding taxes for the final quarter of 1980, which are due by Jan. 31, 1981, will total about $6,000, she said.

When the tax was instituted last year, it was estimated that it would bring in about $100,000 annually.

Mrs. Moore pointed out that it will not do so because of the current strike against Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., which is completing its third month, which means a whole quarter of withholding tax is being lost.

She has estimated the loss to the village will be at least 20 per cent.

Meanwhile, other local businesses have felt the pinch of the recession and their profits most likely will be cut when they make their final 1980 payment in January, she added.

Next to the Board of Education as the largest employer in the village is Mack's Foodland, which because of union problems, has cut its work force back considerably. The store staff solved its labor problems by agreeing to a lesser contract when the current one expired Nov. 1, so that jobs could be retained and the store would continue.

Mrs. Moore's detailed report to the council shows that a total of $4,390.93 was spent as of Nov. 28 for salaries during 1980. The breakdown is $3,869.93 for her salary, $21 for extra work done by Mrs. John Ganzhorn, village utility clerk, and $500 for Alvin Kelley, who set up the taxing system.

Mr. Kelley, she pointed out, used his salary to have booklets explaining the income tax published, so he did not receive anything.

She also said that while the taxing system was set up, she did not charge any of her time, which amounted to close to $3,000, because she knew the village simply did not have the money to pay her.

As of Thursday there was $26,754.97 in the income tax fund, which is just about the 25 per cent of the year's total. This has been earmarked for capital improvement.

To date the fund has spent $3,310.31 in buying equipment to set up the department. Mrs. Moore estimates that $1,800 will be spent next year for supplies and other needs and lists her salary at $6,000.

When the Financial and Planning Commission met formally Friday morning in the village hall, it simply did not have much work to do.

What it had asked previously had been dealt with the night before by the village council.

Ralph Roll, representing Ernst & Whinney, the Cleveland accounting firm to help the village straighten out its bookkeeping system, said that the village had tor said that the village had to review its water revenues and propose an increase. This had been recognized by the council the night before.

What was unfortunate in his report to the commission was that his financial figures for the village were of Nov. 20, while the night before the council had the village clerk-treasurer's figures as of Dec. 11. There was a substantial difference, which was favorable to the village.

He strongly urged that the village put the three mill levy on the next ballot to bail out the police department. This the council had agreed to do the night before.

At the moment, the police department can exist for about three months but no one can guess when the next tax moneys will flow from Mansfield. This is nothing new. In the past, the village always requested a tax settlement in advance. Some years it was forthcoming and some years it was not.

It is determined there is no way that the general fund can support the kind of police department that is needed. This, Roll pointed out, is the problem.

The hour meeting ended with the commission approving Ernst & Whinney's bill of $8,200 for October and November. A previous bill of abqut $44,000 was approved. This money is being paid by the state and is considerably less than the $145,000 which had been earmarked to help Plymouth.

After the routine business was disposed of, the real bombshell fell.

Roll was interested in the effect of the strike against Plymouth Locomotive Works and what it would do to the village income tax and other revenues.

Gregory Kibler, a member of the commission, said point blank that the action of the village in not allowing the plant to receive deliveries or to send any out have simply stopped the operation.

He was bitter toward the village and the meeting ended on that note.

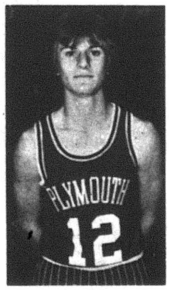

Boy, 12, ruled suicide

A 12-year-old Skinner road boy was ruled Dec. 9 by the Huron county coroner to have taken his own life by hanging.

Steven Wright, 1951 Skinner road, was found by his mother, Mrs. Henry Wright, a fan belt around his neck tied to a beam in the basement.

The boy was a sixth grade pupil in New Haven Elementary school where he sang in the choir. He played in the Friendly House basketball league at Mansfield with the Willard team. He was a member of Tiro United Baptist church, whose pastor, the Rev. S. T. Adkins, conducted services there Friday at 11 a.m. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

The boy is survived by his parents, a sister, Patricia Lynn, and a brother, Brandon Alex, both at home; his maternal grandparents, the Robert Vanderpools, Willard, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alex Wright, Willard. His paternal grandfather died earlier.

Willard water supply urged on village

Although the report of Burgess & Niples, water consultants, has not been sent to the village, Mayor Eric J. Akers told village council Thursday night he has been informally told the Chapman water well is not a satisfactory source for the village to depend upon in the future.

It had been thought the well would generate 150 gallons a minute but when tested only produced 75 gallons.

The mayor said he has called Paul Capelle, Willard's city manager, and that new talks will begin.

The problem will be the cost, the mayor said. It is estimated that the water line itself will be about $500,000, which the village hopes to finance with some kind of a grant, either state or federal. At the present time it is thought that Willard will charge the village about $7,000 a month for the water to be pumped here for local consumption.

Akers pointed out that Willard's present ordinance calls for a 100 per cent charge over what is charged Willard users for those outside the corporation limits.

This charge could boost local bills up almost 200 per cent.

Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach expressed concern that the water consultants had not as yet started a water rate study, which was included in the contract the village made with them.

The mayor said they had to wait to see what source of water the village would find and that the study will be forthcoming.

In other action, the council covered more territory in four and a half hours than it has in the whole year.

Two ordinances were approved as emergencies.

One transfers $30,000 from the electric reserve fund to the operating and maintenance fund, which will wipe out the deficit of $28,726.08.

Brumbach took a dim view of depleting the reserve fund, saying that when he was administrator in 1969 he had been told by Ohio Power Co. officials that at that time the village should maintain a reserve of about $125,000.

The mayor said that he hopes more money can be put back in the fund in the future to build it up.

The second ordinance transferred money from the sewer operating and maintenance fund to the debt service fund. It totals $149,145.77.

Of this amount, $57,707 is to be paid to the Farmers Home administration for the defaulted payment which had been due for 1979 and $56,163 which will be due Jan. 1, 1981.

The remainder of $17,500 will be repaid to the cemetery fund, which was trust money borrowed in 1970 to pay a bank debt incurred for the first sanitary sewer installation done in 1965. At that time the only money available was the cemetery trust fund, which the council borrowed because the village had to be completely paid up on any sewer construction debts before FHA could loan money for the next stage of construction. Only the interest generated by the trust money could be spent by the cemetery board, and over the 10 year period the sewer fund has paid annual interest of five per cent for the use of the money.

Now that it is being repaid, the board can reinvest it at a highter interest rate.

Village solicitor by various motions made during the meeting is being instructed to prepare ordinances and resolutions to bring the several funds up to date. He will also prepare a new pay ordinance, which the mayor said is necessary. Councilman James Holloway and James Cashman hedged for a while because they feel they simply do not know the status of the village's financial situation. After looking over the accounts prepared by clerk-treasurer Mrs. Benjamin Montgomery as of Thursday, they agreed a pay ordinance is possible.

Their suggestions are being forwarded to Richard Wolfe, the solicitor, and will be considered at Monday's meeting.

When this is accomplished, the only fund in a deficit will be the state highway in the amount of $1,310.77.

This is to be taken care of in the future by the village invoking a $5 permissive tax on all license plates issued to Richland county vehicle owners annually, as is done in on the Huron county side of the village.

James C. Root, village administrator, welcomes this move with open arms. He has been able with the Huron county tax to repair streets on that side of the village, but his hands have been tied on the Richland side. He has named four streets as being desparately in need of work, West High, Beelman, Nichols and Springmill road.

Because the fire contract with New Haven township expired in May but extended through the efforts of former Councilman David Howard to Dec. 1, has again expired, Fire Chief Wayn E. Strine told the council point blank that his department will not answer a fire call unless a life is involved, because of insurance coverage.

It was agreed that Holloway will call the township trustees immediately to work out a month's agreement at a pro rated amount of $280 for the month and that by Jan. 1, 1981, a new contract will be ready and signed.

Cashman put the blame of the expired contract on the township, saying it is up to the trustees to see that fire protection is provided.

Where will the fire department find an estimated $8,800 to make repairs to its building, which Strine says is badly needed to conserve heat, and do the other necessary repairs to doors and windows?

The pumper fund reserve, which now stands at $45,909.92, was suggested. As it was presented on the ballot and voted on, the money is to be used only for a new pumper.

It was agreed that the ambulance fund will share the telephone and heating of the fire building with the fire department. This has been done informally in the past, but will now become official.

It was brought up that the insurance on the fire vehicles is inadequate and should be reviewed and that all personnel should be covered with a liability policy so that they cannot be sued as individuals.

Plans for the future include the codification of the village ordinances, which could not be funded in the past.

The park is at a standstill, Council Ervin Howard told the council, until more land can be obtained.

Miss Fazzini bride here

First United Presbyterian church was the scene Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. for the double ring wedding of Vickie Lynn Fazzini, youngest daughter of the John Fazzinis, 312 East Main street, and Michael Scott Mawhorr, Taylortown road, Shelby.

The Rev. Julian Taggart, the minister, performed the ceremony in candlelight. Mrs. Charles H. Dick was organist, Nancy Heilman vocalist, Burton Stahl, the bride's brother-in-law, guitarist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a long sleeved gown of bridal white styled with Queen Anne neckline trimmed with Venetian lace. A long train fell from the mid-back. She carried yellow roses with baby's breath.

Girls to face state champions on home floor tonight

Some of the bloom has been taken off tonight's girl's basketball game with the defending state champion St. Peter's quintet here because the Spartanettes have tasted defeat again.

They fell to Buckeye Central, Plymouth's only conqueror, on Saturday. The score was 58 to 49.

The Cowdrey twins, Jane and Joan, and Agnes Varga have graduated. The twins are playing for Ohio State's varsity. So the Spartanettes aren't so powerful as they once were.

But they've a representative team that outrebounded Buckeye Central on Mansfield floor, and it's a team that can certainly shoot free throws. The Spartanettes missed only two of 17 tries on Saturday.

Where St. Peter's was weak was in shooting field goals. It had enough opportunities: 68. But it couldn't make more than 17 of them. So the Bucks, outahot at the penalty line and outrebounded off the boards, capitalized on better shooting to win.

Which is what Plymouth must do here tonight.

The Big Red has won four and lost only one. Its last victory, over Lucas, was a Frank Merriwell-type finish that required two shots by a heretofore unsung heroine, Mary Lou Briner, as time was fading away to produce the desired result.

Certainly Plymouth will need to depend on Renee Taylor, a strong and tall 11th grader who came here after her father retired from the Air Force. Born in West Germany, but a natural born citizen of the United States, she went to junior high school at Shiloh, more gawky and clumsy than she wanted to be.

She plays in the pivot for Coach Keith Diebler's outfit and is relied upon to rebound. This she does exceptionally well, and she finds the right person to whom to throw the outlet pass for the fast break.

Miss Taylor, who's just 16 and somewhat reserved, has won one letter in basketball, a letter in volleyball and a letter in softball. Her aim is to study accounting after high school.

What's the secret of her success, and that of her team, this season?

"Last year, when Mr. Diebler was coach of the boys' team and teacher of physical education, he worked with me in physical education classes to improve my coordination and timing. That's helped a lot. Now, this season, we're a team. We've learned to depend on each other and that means a lot. When one of us is in foul trouble (and Miss Taylor was at Lucas, with four personals early on), the others help out and take the pressure off. We've got some good players and you'll see just how good they are as the season goes on."

The Taylors live at 320 East Main street. They'll be absent during the Christmas holidays, owing to a family commitment. Plymouth has one more game before the Yuletide recess, at Monroeville Tuesday night. When the Big Red comes back after the break, it faces two Black Fork Valley conference foes in successive games, Lucas here on Jan. 5 and Crestview there on Jan. 8.

Game time today is 6:30 p.m., when the reserves have at it. Plymouth is slightly favored, because of its home floor advantage, to win the varsity game. But it won't be easy.

Secor named all-OAC end at Wooster

Son of the Thomas Secors, McQuate-Secor Funeral home, Bob Secor was chosen to the all-Ohio Athletic conference first team as defensive end.

He plays for the College of Wooster, where he was chosen most valuable defensive lineman for 1980.

4th quarter charge falls short, 70 to 66

A furious charge by Plymouth in the final eight minutes of play at Ontario Friday night nearly produced the upset of the young season. But it fell five points short and Ontario staggered off with a 70 to 66 victory.

The Warriors went into the last quarter with supreme confidence that they had a win all locked up. The lead was 21 points and Plymouth showed no sign of being able to cope with Ontario's superior rebounding, largely the work of Larry Kotterman, who measures six feet eight inches, and his relief, Mike Lester, who's six-five.

Ontario took down 33 rebounds in the game, 13 of them by Kotterman, and held Plymouth to just 18.

But the Big Red was undaunted and began to peck away at the lead. After the teams traded baskets, Plymouth put together six unanswered points. Ontario's Brian Waterhouse made a bucket and Steve Tackett a free throw for Plymouth, whereupon Brett Duffner contributed his only points of the night. Then Plymouth went on another tear, scoring 13 unanswered points before Ontario called for time out with 2:05 remaining in the game. Ken Earhart canned a long jumper and Scott Harris came back with another. With the score at 67 to 62, Kotterman shot one from underneath, his 22nd point of the night, and it seemed Ontario was home free. Marty Carty fired two free throws, having been elbowed by Earhart, and the lead was three points. Don Kuenzli scored with a free throw with one second remaining and Ontario had its victory.

Both teams shot exceptionally well. Ontario fired for field goal 61 times and scored with 31, just over 50 per cent accuracy. It missed half of its 16 free throws. Plymouth for its part, got off 51 tries for field goal and bagged 26 of them, just over 50 per cent, and it missed a third of its 21 penalty shots.

Had Plymouth been able to rebound with the Warriors, it would have been a different story, perhaps.

Ontario took an early lead and improved upon it in the second half. The Warriors led by two after eight minutes and by 13 at the half. After three periods the lead was 21 points. Plymouth is not, apparently, a god third period club.

Carty scored 20, Tackett 14 and Brad Postema, who played well underneath, garnered 15 for the Big Red.

Briner heroine at Lucas

Mary Lou Briner threw in a jump shot just as the buzzer sounded at Lucas Thursday and Plymouth defeated the Cubs, 55 to 53, in Black Fork Valley conference play.

She scored a season- and career-high of 20 points.

Miss Briner canned a jumper with 11 seconds left to tie the game. Plymouth was awarded the ball because the Cubs didn't throw it in within five seconds and Miss Briner converted her golden opportunity.

Plymouth did not shoot well. It got off 88 shots for field goal and made only 22 of them, just 25 per cent. Lucas made 23 of 50 tries for field goal.

The Big Red missed 18 of 29 free throws.

Plymouth outrebounded the Cubs, 56 to 52, Renee Taylor getting 16, Lisa Daron 14 and Becky Turson 12.

Mapleton bombs Plymouth, 67 to 49, on first half surge

Mapleton bombed Plymouth here Saturday night, 67 to 49.

Plymouth was never a factor.

The Mounties took an early lead and sat on it until the game was safely away.

Mapleton outrebounded and outshot Plymouth.

The visitors won the battle of the boards, 39 to 29. From the field, they succeeded with 27 of 53 tries, just over 50 per cent. From the foul line, they shot 20 times and made 13.

For its part, Plymouth's shooting was less frequent and less accurate. The Big Red put the ball up 47 times and made 20 of them. And from the foul line Plymouth was nine of 14.

Two players, one on each side, were ejected for fighting in the third period.

Mapleton had four in double figures, led by Rick Ashton and Bob O'Sullivan with a dozen apiece.

Plymouth made fewer mistakes than did Mapleton, but the Mounties' superior shooting and rebounding more than compensated for this fact.

Once again, Plymouth put on a last period rally, when it scored 15 points. But that was one less than what Mapleton put in and it was Plymouth's slow start in the first period, when Mapleton produced 25 points and Plymouth a mere seven, that led to the defeat. In the second half the teams were just one point off dead even.

77 to 56 vote ends strike

By a narrow vote of 77 to 56, striking employees of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., voted Saturday to end the longest work stoppage in the village's history.

Local 2161, UAW, went on strike Oct. 1, when their contract expired.

The three-year contract which they accepted Saturday will expire Feb. 1, 1984.

It calls for 25 cents an hour increase for all hourly employees as of Saturday, another 25 cents on Oct. 1, 1981, and a third 25 cents an hour on Oct. 1, 1982.

Increased pension benefits of 50 cents a month in each of the three years of the contract will amount to $10.25 in pension for each month of service in the first year, $10.75 in the second year, $11.25 in the third year.

Members of the negotiating and grievance committees will be paid for monthly meetings and also for any negotiating sessions on company premises.

All eligible employees will receive vacation to which they are entitled.

Since the ratification occurred on a Saturday, the company will award 1½ days of pay as a signing bonus.

The company commits itself to undertake no disciplinary action or criminal prosecution against any picket line misconduct. It pledges reinstatement of James Eldridge with full back pay. All written practices of the past will be reviewed by a joint labor-management committee and agreed to for the next three years.

Shop stewards will be eliminated. Effective in April, one additional committee member will be added.

Cost of living allowance will be accorded on June 1 and Dec. 1 of each year of the contract at the rate of one cent an hour for each full three-tenths of one per cent by which the Bureau of Labor Statistics consumer price index rises or falls during the measurement period, which is from November to April and May to October.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

The Christmas story

In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled.

This was the first enrollment, when Quirinius was governor of Syria.

And all went to be enrolled, each to his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child.

And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered.

And she gave birth to her first-born son and wrapped him in swaddling cloths, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

And in that region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear.

And the angel said to them, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord.

And this will be a sign for you: you will find a babe wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom he is pleased!"

$500,000 in grant target of planners

Exactly three persons hope so.

The first public hearing took place Thursday at 6 p.m. in the village hall with Planning Commission Chairman Kennon Osbun, Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard, a member of the commission, and Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach.

The money if granted will be used to repair West High, Beelman, Nichols and Springmill roads.

Osbun also hopes that some money might be used to repair some of the housing in those areas under an energy conservation program.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the village hall.

Persons residing in those areas are urged to attend.

Cost of water from Willard: $33.14 a month

Only practical solution to Plymouth's water problems, village council was told Monday night by Mark Rowland, representing Burgess & Niple, Columbus water consultants, is to borrow money and install a water line from Willard's treatment plant to the village mains.

This, he said, could assure the village a more than adequate supply for about 40 years. Now the village is consuming about 210,000 gallons a day and he estimates that in 20 years this consumption with normal growth will increase to 440,000 gallons daily.

His estimated cost of an eight inch line with a lift station is roughly $679,000.

By bypassing the present treatment plant, which is outdated and outmoded, the village could save $250,000, which he said would be the cost to renovate it.

He also told the council the distribution system, which has some parts that are almost 80 years old, will cost roughly $368,000.

Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach said Willard and Plymouth have used different methods to treat their water and asked what reaction there would be with the Willard water entering the village lines.

Rowland said the distribution system is in such a sad state that it simply does not matter.

He urged the council to take immediate action to fund the line through a grant, that can be funded equally by the village and governmental agency.

He made several suggestions. One would be OWDA funds that would cost 10½ per cent interest over a 25-year period, making the average monthly water bill for the village's 750 users $33.14.

Another way is to go to the Farmers Home administration, which financed the sanitary sewer system. Its loan would be for 40 years at five per cent interest, thus making the average bill $26.40.

Rowland said there is a good chance FHA would give the village a 50 per cent grant, which is now being investigated by the EPA.

Mayor Eric J. Akers was concerned about the informal talks he has had during the last few weeks since learning that the water consultants believe Willard water is the only hope.

He hopes that Willard's rate for the cost of water can be reduced from 200 per cent, which is charged for users outside the city, to 120 per cent.

Rowland pointed out the city needs a good water customer since its water fund is experiencing money problems.

The mayor said he wants to work out an agreement that would not require Plymouth to purchase any set minimum of water each month, but only what is actually metered and used.

He said the village must work quickly, to which Councilman G. Thomas Moore added the water consultants had been hired and their advice should be followed.

Councilman James H. Cashman moved to formally proceed with the advice of Burgess & Niple. The service committee with the mayor as its spokesman will open new talks with Willard and determine the best method of financing the water line.

Sexton charged in melee

Garland Sexton was charged with assault by two agents of the Ohio Liquor Control board Friday night.

The agents were investigating Weber's Cafe's sale of alcoholic beverages to a minor.

The cafe personnel called Plymouth Police department, which in turn called the Richland county sheriff to escort the agents from the village when angry patrons threatened them.

Sexton will appear in Shelby Municipal court.

Officers elected by Presbyterians

Officers of First United Presbyterian church will be formally installed after the service Sunday morning.

They were chosen during the annual congregational meeting Dec. 14.

Mrs. Paul Kessler and Robert Young are the elders for three year terms.

Mrs. Julian Taggart and Mrs. Kenneth Echelberry are deacons also for three years.

Mrs. Donald Perdue will serve a two year term as a deacon.

William Houser is the head usher and Dean Moorman the assistant for a one year term.

Church school superintendent is Mrs. James Will. Her assistant is Jamie Brooks. Each is for one year.

Miss Luella Vandervort and Timothy Branham will serve as trustees for three years.

Auntie shares today letter from S. Claus

BY AUNT LIZ

This is a letter we received last week. It was a strange looking envelope, the first thing I noticed was that it did not have a stamp on it but somehow it got through the mails. Then I looked at the return address, which said, "Mrs. Claus, the North Pole," so I knew a nice old friend was writing a holiday letter. For years we have written to each other at this time of the year. I really want to share it with young mothers, so here it is).

"Dear Aunt Liz,"

"Santa wants me to tell you he is getting ready. He is packing up sacks of nice, happy things to deliver. Somehow, and this has always amazed me, he seems to know just what everyone really yearns for and will be so happy to find under his Christmas tree. (I have been married to the guy for years and years as you know, and have never figured out how he knows all this) (I think he gets a little help here and there; he will not let me open his mail, but I think he gets hints from about July).

"He wants all the children to know he will get to each house sometime Christmas Eve, most likely when they are in bed. It does take the reindeer a while to hop over each housetop".

"Right now they are outside practicing, but they are really frolicking in the snow, which they love to do. I just went outside, clapped my hands and said, 'Go on practicing getting over rooftops'. They looked at me sadly, but they are really hopping around. They love it all, but do not want to admit it. They know what they must do on Christmas Eve and will be ready".

"The elves have been working away making things for everyone. One has just finished making a closet hanging of braided lavender yarn with little things of lavender sewed on it. It is simply beautiful. While they are working away, they are singing like mad, 'Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer'.

"They love him and he loves them, but some days he is a very bad reindeer".

"He sneaks into their workshop and steals their peanut butter sandwiches while they are working away making nice things".

"Rudolph has been a problem. He simply does not like to mind, but he makes the elves so happy because he is such a clown".

"He really saved the day for Mr. Claus. One day the elves simply stood up and said, 'We want ham salad sandwiches!'

"Santa really thought that over and decided peanut butter was more nutritious.

"Right now he is not sure of what they really want, but the reindeer still love the peanute butter ones".

"One other thing. Santa wants me to tell everyone that he will be there late, and will need a couple cookies and something to drink at each house".

"All you need to do is to put out two of your most beautiful cookies with something to warm up his tummy".

"Put it out on a table with a small sign wich says, 'Santa, this is for YOU!'"

(When our children were very young, we would put out stuff to munch on, and I can remember how we would share an orange and drop the peeling on the living room rug to show that S.C. had been there. No one ever dropped on that rug during the year, but Christmas Eve is something special, and after all, that guy is in a big rush.)

Auntie's note: If you really think you need to have an outsider come along to eat it all, which will make it all look so legitimate, just call me.

Big Red loses two contests

Plymouth's defense was inadequate at Danbury Saturday night and the Lakers delivered a 78 to 63 beating to the visitors.

Plymouth led by a point after eight minutes, whereupon Danbury began to move. Led by Chris Clemons and Guy Tibbles, the Lakers scored 21 in the second period, holding Plymouth to just 10, and 25 in the third period, limiting the Big Red to only 12.

This was too much for Plymouth to deal with. A hot fourth quarter for the Big Red, in which it netted 28 points, cut into the lead by eight points but it was far from enough.

Although Danbury is not a particularly big team, it managed to outrebound Plymouth by plenty, 46 to 22, Clemons taking down 14 caroms.

The superiority in rebounding showed in the shooting figures. Danbury got off 79 tries for field goal, making 35. Plymouth shot for field goal 65 times and scored with 27 of them.

Plymouth's free throw shooting was not up to par. The visitors missed 14 of 23 tries. Danbury missed only five of 13.

Clemons led Danbury with 20, Tibbles had 18 and Brian Albertson scored 16.

Marty Carty bagged 21 for Plymouth. Greg Polachek, who played well in his second straight game, and Scott Harris contributed 11 apiece.

It is plain that Plymouth's problems are that its defense has not been strong and its shooting has not been good. That it does not have a strong rebounder or much collective height, of course, do not contribute to much progress.

Plymouth was charged with 10 turnovers, Danbury with 15.

Cubs thump Plymouth, 78 to 54

Lucas took an early lead in Black Fork Valley conference play at Lucas Friday night and thumped Plymouth, 78 to 54.

The Cubs broke it open with 11 unanswered points in the first period, overcoming a 5 to 4 lead by Plymouth, and never were in trouble thereafter.

Leading by 15 to 7 after eight minutes, the Cubs simply poured it on in the second period, when they scored 26 points while holding the Big Red to 15.

The Cubs won not because they outrebounded Plymouth — Plymouth had 33 rebounds, Lucas 37 — but because they outshot and outpassed the visitors.

Lucas scored 34 field goals in 64 tries and 10 free throws in 22 attempts. Plymouth, correspondingly, made 20 of 51 tries for field goal and 14 of 20 free throws.

Lucas was charged with 22 turnovers, Plymouth with 14.

Terry Caldwell and Robin Boone very nearly matched Plymouth's output of points. Caldwell scored 25 and Boone 23. Rick Hardin was the only other Cub in double figures with 12.

Plymouth had four players in double figures. Steve Tackett had 16, Marty Carty 12, Steve Mowry 11 and Brian Fenner 10.

Coach Mike Tracey changed his starting lineup with no appreciable difference in result. Greg Polachek began at center and Brian Fenner at guard.

Lucas led by 19 at the half and by 31 after three periods.

A slick plan for a rainy day.

Some people manage to go through life without ever having a rainy day. But most people run into a storm now and then.

So it pays to plan for a storm and then hope it never happens.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one sure, safe, easy way to force yourself to start saving. And savings are a must to keep any financial plan from going on the skids.

The little you set aside each payday for U.S. Savings Bonds will grow. And help to keep you covered come rain or come shine.

Take stock in America.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.

The promise of natural gas:

It can brighten your outlook about tomorrow's energy.

Natural gas holds bright prospects for our energy needs, with growing availability now, and the promise of supplies for decades to come. And beyond.

Columbia's current supply picture is such that we have been able to start making new customer connections again. So more homeowners are enjoying the benefits of natural gas. We're able to draw on increasing reserves—helped by our customers' conservation efforts which have reduced residential usage by approximately 15% over the last decade.

At the same time, projects underway will continue to add to future supply capabilities. Included are new wells, pipelines and storage facilities; plus investment in development of new gas-producing technologies.

It's estimated that there's enough natural gas still underground to take us well into the next century. Then supplies from new sources will be ready to give our future generations the energy they need.

Today it can be said of natural gas that it is your best energy value. With the promise of the future—and with continued conservation by our customers—Columbia is taking the steps to make sure natural gas remains available. And remains the best energy value.

COLUMBIA GAS

Still your best energy value.
And we want to keep it that way.

The American Electric Power System

It's one reason your electric rates are below the national average.

When you turn on a light switch, or an appliance, or a television, chances are you don't care where the electricity comes from. But we do.

You see, at different times of the day, the cost of making electricity can vary from plant to plant. And, because we're part of the AEP System, we're able to use the best combination of generation and transmission efficiency to instantly get the most economical power to you from anywhere in the system.
