Mayor declares water shortage, urges saving

Water users asked by Mayor Eric J. Akers and village officials to conserve water.

James C. Root, village administrator, said this week the wells have been pumping 24 hours a day and only getting about half the water of what they have been capable of in the past.

He estimates the water supply is about 200,000 gallons behind with the water tower about half full and the clear well at the water plant, which holds 100,000 gallons, empty.

The problem was greatly aggravated early Sunday morning when the fire hydrant at Plymouth and West

High streets was knocked down by a car out of control.

Root estimates the 100,000 gallons was lost during the three hours it took to make repairs to stop the water from running.

ERRATUM

Remarks highly critical of the village council attributed to James C. Root, village administrator, made at the Apr. 10 meeting and reported in last week's Advertiser were in error.

The remarks were made by Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine, who has been displeased with the handling of his department by the clerk and council.

New bank opens

Willard bank opens new branch here

For the first time since the first decade of this century Plymouth has two banks.

Willard United bank officially opened for business Monday.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony took place Friday afternoon with Mayor Eric J. Akers snipping a wide gold ribbon stretched across the front of the new building at Sandusky and Dix streets.

Among the honored guests for the ceremony were John A. Wallace, retired president of Willard United and now chairman of its board of directors; George Sweeting, North Fairfield; Mrs. Helen Ellis and Robert Rice, Willard, members of the board; Robert Harwood, executive vice-president and a member of the board; Tanya Carli, the current Miss Ohio, Alliance; Councilmen G. Thomas Moore, Michael Taylor and Ervin Howard.

The current president, Frank Chapman, spoke briefly, saying the WUB is pleased that it will be able to serve its Plymouth accounts more readily and added he was pleased that the bank was able to help in bringing a new restaurant to the Square.

The mayor replied that he was pleased that new business had opened here. Clarence O. Cramer, who has served as councilman and taken an active part in the community over the years, was presented with the first Golden Passbook issued by the new branch by Chapman.

He said that as a young man Mr. Cramer had offered him help which he has never forgotten. He was attempting to build a house alone and faced a plumbing problem and upon Cramer's good advice was able to solve it.

The village's first bank was opened in 1839 by a Mr. Barker, in connection with his mercantile trade. After his death it was continued until 1870, when Robert McDonough opened a regular bank in the building between the mayor's office and The Advertiser. It later became Lasch's Barber Shop.

New branch of Willard United bank, photographed Thursday morning, was getting finishing touches for crowds who thronged the place Friday and Saturday.

Sandra, 10, and Benjamin, 3, are the children of the Ben Elliott, 835 West Broadway.

David Alan, four, is the son of the Buddy Cartys, 160 Trux street.

Tiffany, one and a half, is the daughter of the William Albright, 2400 Plymouth East road.

Renee, 11, and Jennifer, 4, are the children of the Richard Carters, 186 West Broadway.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Welcome!

We join with its friends in welcoming Willard United bank to Plymouth.

Our relations with the bank over the past 26 years have been such that we never had cause to complain.

While it's impossible for anybody, or any firm, to do business for very long without making somebody angry about something, there are measures the customer can take to express his displeasure.

It's the same way with newspapers. The bank has been in business a long time and it aims to continue. So does this newspaper, which this week starts its 27th year under the same management.

Over his four years of membership in FFA, he has participated in many judging contests, parliamentary procedure experience and other activities.

Red wins first over Crestline on disputed call

Plymouth scored three unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh here Saturday to win the second half of a doubleheader with Crestline, 5 to 4.

A violent dispute raged for 20 minutes after the winning run scored.

An umpire's decision on a wild throw from the outfield that rolled into dead ball territory near home plate allowed Bill Hudson to score from second on his double with the winning run. Crestline argued vainly that Hudson should not have been permitted to advance beyond third.

Steve Mowry picked up the victory in relief of Randy Collins. Plymouth got only four hits, two of them by Hudson and one each by Mowry and Marty Carv.

Crestline had only three hits. One of them was a towering home to right by Bret Simmermacher, who was the losing pitcher in relief of his older brother, Brian.

In the first game, three Plymouth pitchers couldn't throttle the Bulldogs, who won, 8 to 1. Rick Winbiger kept Plymouth in check until the seventh.

Cougars nip Red, 6 to 5

A circus catch in left field in the seventh inning at Olivesburg Monday deprived Plymouth of what could have been its second victory of the season.

Crestview won, 6 to 5.

With two out, Mike Branham came to the plate with Randy Collins at first base. He banged one deep to the outer reaches, where a substitute outfielder, by name Sherrick, raced to his left and miraculously caught the ball. It would otherwise have been a homer.

Plymouth started out in the seventh three runs behind, thanks to a big four-run third inning by the Cougars. A two-run homer by Krebs highlighted the outburst. Steve Mowry singled and went to second on an error. After Bill Hudson was out, Gary King reached on a fielder's choice. Steve Tackett doubled but was thrown out stretching it to third. Two runs were home. Collins singled and then Branham's bid for fame was snuffed out.

Collins allowed the Cougars seven hits. Plymouth collected seven off Lyle Chronicler.
