Still precarious. . . 'Well field inadequate to supply average daily demand of 200,000 gals.'

The water situation is still precarious, village council was told by Administrator James C. Root Thursday night.

He said for the last two months the water field has not produced as it should and did in the past and no one can offer any explanation nor help, except to say there simply is not enough water available for the daily usage in the village.

Daily consumption now averages 200,000 gallons, more water than the wells are producing.

PVN Corp. wins race to build Shelby station

An agreement removing the last obstacle to the construction of a radio station in Shelby was filed with the Federal Communications commission Apr. 21, Edward A. Hunter, president of one of the applicants has announced.

The agreement, between Plymouth, Willard, Oberlin, and The Petroleum V. Naby Corp., provides that Willard will withdraw his application for the station in exchange for reimbursement of his expenses in filing the proposal. Under FCC rules, the FCC must approve the agreement. Hunter said the company's attorney believes the permit will be given within 30 days.

Willard filed a permit to build an FM station in Shelby in February, 1978. PVN, a corporation owned by Shelby, Willard and Plymouth residents submitted a competing application in January, 1979. By law, the FCC could grant only one of Ohio Environmental Protection agency in 1977 that the village seek a new supply, namely connecting to the City of Willard treatment plant at that time it was decided to put in a fourth well. This was done and enough water was provided until the first part of this year.

Councilman Michael R. Taylor said all that can be done right now is to ask the village water users to conserve as much as possible. He said solving the problem is going to take time and added this area is "notorious for not having water resources."

Councilman David A. Howard asked Root what guidance he could give the council. His answer was that he would like to check further and was waiting on records from EPA in Bowling Green, since the village records are inadequate.

Root also told the council the village gasoline pump had run out at noon on Apr. 23 and asked what it wished to do about an unpaid bill to the Marathon Oil Co. in the amount of $4,200.

He said he is embarrassed to ask the distributor, J. A. Lasch, for more credit. David Howard said that Lasch had told him he was willing to extend more credit so long as he is aware the village is being sincere in trying to pay its bills.

Shilohan indicted in theft

A 19-year-old Shilohan was indicted by a Huron county grand jury Apr. 23 on a charge of breaking and entering.

He is Wayne Barnett, 19, of Medina, Ohio, together with William Barnett, 25, Crescent Road, Greenwich, and Roy Shephard, 20, Mansfield, of unlawfully entering a home in Fayette road on Apr. 14.

PJVS teachers win new contract with 8% raise

A settlement made by some to result in the highest base pay among all joint vocational districts in Ohio was reached last week between the board of education of Pioneer Joint Vocational school and the Education Association of Pioneer.

The settlement, effective to Jan. 1, was approved by the board Apr. 22. It calls for a raise in the base salary of slightly over eight per cent, from $10,640 to $11,500. Teachers also will receive improvements in told their colleagues they had been with Kenneth Echelberry concerning the ambulance contracts for New Haven and Plymouth townships and they were not quite satisfied about the way they had been prepared by Richard Wolfe, solicitor.

Wolfe said he believes it is time to update the clauses in the contract to reflect the fact the village is furnishing the service to the townships. The question, he said, is "Do the townships need the service or does the village want the compensation?"

Wolfe also feels that a monthly rate should be spelled out so that the village is not expending its funds during a complete year and that it would make budgeting easier for the trustees when planning their appropriations.

He does not believe the village should make so many reports to the township, which has been done monthly since the service began. David Howard asked Mayor Eric J. Akers what progress attained in straightening out the village financial records.

The mayor said progress is being made, and that he would meet Sunday morning with Peter Rosche, Willard accountant, who has been hired to do the work so that the books are ready for a state audit.

Akers said that part of the problem in the fire fund was that the Huron county auditor has been "lumping" the one mill levy for operation and maintenance with the three mills which is to be set aside for a new pump.

Akers said he feels the council members should review past expenditures to determine if bills were paid out of their proper funds in the past.

David Howard spoke up and said he felt that is the duty of the administrator, and that he should present it to the council so legislative decisions could be made.

Megan Marie, 13 months, is the only child of Mayor and Mrs. Eric J. Akers.

Atkins sent to county jail

Timothy A. Atkins, Shiloh, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $250 plus court costs in a motor vehicle theft case.

All but 30 days of the sentence was suspended.

He pleaded guilty to charges of reckless operation, failure to negotiate a curve and driving under a suspended license.

No fine was assessed on either of the first two charges.

Arrangements have been made for Atkins to serve his time on weekends. The village must pay $18 a day to maintain him in jail.

His car went out of control at a high rate of speed Apr. 20 and it hit a tree and the water hydrant at Plymouth and West High streets, causing a loss of 100,000 gallons of water to the village. Danny R. Montgomery, New Washington, pleaded guilty to failure to stop at a stop sign and was fined $25 and costs.

Mary E. Suver, New Washington, charged with having an open container in a motor vehicle, also pleaded guilty. She was fined $100, with $50 suspended, plus court costs.

Raymond L. Hanson, Jr., Willard, posted a waiver of $50 and court costs of a charge of reckless operation.

James R. Whitesell, Ashland, paid a waiver of $20 and costs for passing on a double yellow line.

William W. Kamp, Norwalk, charged with speeding posted $18 and costs and Harold G. Rinehart, Shelby, also charged with speeding posted $15 and costs.

Girls ousted by Bucks, 13 to 7

Despite a splendid season, Plymouth girls simply can't match up to Buckeye Central. And their coach, Richard Red, is under a bigger heat: in two seasons, four games, he can't manage to defeat the Bucks.

He and his Charges couldn't do so Saturday in the sectional tourney at Upper Sandusky. Buckeye Central won, 13 to 7, relying on an 11-run outburst in the third on just one hit. Plymouth rallied for five in the fourth but it was too little, too late. Plymouth outthit the Bucks, six to two.

Andy Machak tells Bill Cosby: "A CPR-trained guard brought me back from the dead."

Andy Machak: "Luckily, a guy with Red Cross CPR training works where I do. A security guard. Don Guarino. He saved my life, no foolin'!"

I'd checked int-planting lines a hundred times before, but that day was different.

A boom came around from behind and pinned me to a T-bar... I lifted me right off my feet."

Bill Cosby: "That's a big ouch."

Andy Machak: "Last thing I remember was trying to find a kill switch..."

Three days later—in the hospital—Don told me it took six guys to get me down; somebody said so pulse or breathing, and Don remembers saying, "I gotta try anyway."

Bill Cosby: "Sounds like you had them worried!"

Andy Machak: "Well, I was clinically dead. Can't believe it myself. Bill. But thanks to Don's CPR training, I'm alive—thanks to Red Cross. I'm alive."

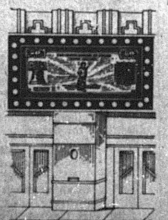

Bill Cosby: "CPR training can make the difference between life and death. Take it from Andy Machak. Help keep Red Cross ready."
