

A new plan to fund education

A young politician from Ashland, Sen. Thomas Van Meter, obviously thirsts for the governor's chair.

In a comparatively short time, he has advanced to a position of leadership in Ohio's upper house. He obviously has some clout.

This week he announced his own plan to finance Ohio's schools.

It calls for a base state aid of $1,000 for each pupil each year. Combined state and local aid, he says, would average about $2,500 a pupil, about $650 a year more than what is now the case.

Van Meter claims his plan would produce a reduction in property taxes on owners of residential and agricultural property of $860 million. Gist of his plan is that starting July 1, 1982, a statewide levy of 30 mills on all industrial, commercial, mineral, public utility and tangible personal property would take effect. All school operating property tax millage would be abolished for residential and agricultural property save that in the 10 "inside" mills.

To replace it, he proposes a one per cent flat rate personal income tax, to be applied against adjusted federal gross income, and to be collected where a person resides, not where he works.

Local school boards would be permitted to ask voters to approve an increase in the tax and, in some instances, they would be empowered to eliminate some state-mandated categorical items.

In the Van Meter plan, the state would fund five categories of school costs: pupil transportation, bus purchase allowance, special education, school lunch program and vocational education.

The Van Meter plan also would repeal the 10 per cent property tax rollback, the new 2.5 per cent rollback, the House Bill 920 credit and the homestead exemption.

He acknowledges that some parts of his proposal would require an amendment to the constitution to become law and he pledges to work toward that end.

Will it fly?

It's too soon to tell.

What he didn't say in his press conference Tuesday, when he formally revealed the plan, was whether he has cleared it with John Hall.

Now who's John Hall?

He's the lobbyist for the powerful Ohio Education association, the teachers' union. And no school legislation in Ohio will become law without John Hall's specific approval.

We don't have sufficient data available here to determine at once how poorly or how well this district would fare if the Van Meter plan is adopted.

It will take time and money to produce these data. One would expect that, as the Van Meter plan progresses through the General Assembly, the legislative service people employed there will be put to work with files and computers and perhaps even ouija boards to determine impact on each of the nearly 725 school districts in the state.

What you can make book on is that unless the big city districts come out of the whole plan with more than what they're getting now, Tom Van Meter had better look to another scheme to advance his aspirations for the governor's chair.

Thieves steal $1,084 at station

A service station attendant was struck on the head and relieved of about $1,084 in cash and checks Friday shortly after 9 p.m.

Steven Gowlitzka, 9½ West Broadway, attendant at Keme's station at Routes 61 and 98, said he was closing the station when he was struck. He was dazed, he told police. Two men wearing ski masks tore the telephone from the wall, took the money and ran south in Route 97 to a car.

R. J. Bevier succumbs at 52 at Shelby

A heart attack Saturday was fatal to Raymond J. Bevier, 52, Fenner road, who succumbed in Shelby Memorial hospital.

He farmed in Plymouth township since he was discharged from the Army after service during the Korean conflict.

Born in Grant's Pass, Ore., he was the son of the late Harry F. Bevier. He was a member of Plymouth United Methodist church and of Richland Lodge 201, F&AM. He is survived by his wife, nee Audrey Daron; two children, Richard and Lorie, both at home; a brother, Delbert, Sandusky, and two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Lovett, Sandusky, and Mrs. Isabel Spayde, Bradenton, Fla.

His minister, the Rev. William Carter, conducted services Tuesday at 2 p.m. from McQuate-Score Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Truck stolen then found

A truck owned by Roger James, Plymouth, was stolen from the parking lot of Takos Inn at Shelby Saturday night and recovered at a house in Stirling road Sunday at 2 a.m.

Schools to lose $46,103 by June 30

Reductions in state funding of schools will cost Plymouth district 728 per cent a month, Supt. Douglas Stagg said Feb. 8.

This amounts to $46,103 between January and June.

Hearings are under way, Stagg said, on proposals to alter elementary and high school standards. The standards are to take effect in 1982. Stagg said the standards are likely to cost Plymouth district up to $75,000, yet there is not as far any provision to fund this additional expense.

Among proposals are raising of high school graduation requirements to 19 units and to raise pupils to declare a major, such as vocational education, general education or college preparatory education.

The board of education will comment on the proposals later this month in a letter to the state department of education.

A Saturday morning enrichment program for pupils of above average abilities in grades one through eight will begin in Richland county school district May 21, Stagg said.

Pupils will attend classes on the campus of Ohio State university at Mansfield and at North Central Technical college there.

Public is invited to call at Plymouth elementary school west branch of the Huron river in Richland county on May 5.

Water supply short; pay raises tabled

"Water, water everywhere but not a drop to drink!"

That ancient plaint may soon be adopted by Village Administrator James C. Root, who sloshed through the rain of Monday to the village water plant to survey the all-but-critical water supply situation.

He held forth before village council Thursday night with an account of what has happened in the water well field.

Two pumps have burned out within a week's time. The first one went out on Feb. 1, the second on Feb. 7. The pumps burn out because there is insufficient water in the vein to prime the pumps.

Root said the situation may be helped by acidizing a well inside the water plant. This procedure would require shutting down the pumps on the other wells for 12 hours, Root said. And it would be an expensive procedure, about $5,000.

The situation isn't critical yet, Root said, but if the level of water stored in the tower - 50,000 gallons - should drop to, say, 10,000 gallons, Plymouth would be in dire straits.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said the village has received a water survey report from Burgess & Niple, Columbus consultants. "They told us what we already know, that our water system is inadequate." A copy of the report has been sent to the Ohio Environmental Protection agency to justify the village's appeal for an emergency grant to fund a new water system.

Ernst & Whinney, Cleveland accounting firm hired by the state to resolve the village's fiscal management problems, examined the proposed pay ordinance, Mayor Akers reported, and turned it back because two funds are incapable of meeting the obligations foreseen by the ordinance. These funds are the street fund, which shows red ink of $3,500, and the water fund, which shows black ink balance of only $59.

An executive session took place to prepare a new pay ordinance to meet Ernst & Whinney's objections.

The next day the mayor said he had checked with the accountants and was informed that salaries which would come from these two funds could legally be paid from other funds that have positive balances.

He felt that since this has been determined, the council would then pass the proposed pay ordinance at its next meeting.

Jerry Fischer, Columbia Gas of Ohio, told the council the company has made application for a rate increase of about six per cent. However, he said, it will be at least a year before approval will be forthcoming from the PUCO.

The mayor asked him if the rate increase would be used for improvements to the lines serving the village. Fischer said he was not aware of any such plans but that the company had a regular plan whereby each connection is checked every five years.

The village has received two bills from Robert A. McKown, former village solicitor, for $8,585 and $16,697.70 for legal work going back to 1974. Most of the items are in connection with contract II and III of the sanitary sewer project.

The bills are being turned over to the present solicitor, Richard

Wolfe, for review, because they go back so far.

Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and D. Douglas Brumbaugh said they do not think this is necessary. Both said that McKown had discussed the items with them.

Brumbaugh said the principal reason they were so late was that Eugene C. Gerken, engineer for the project, was late in getting the necessary information to McKown.

Kennon Osburn told the council forms are being distributed this week to village residents to complete the necessary survey for applying for a block grant.

He is asking that they be returned to the village office by Thursday.

Overtime for James C. Root, village administrator, Terry Jupp and James Holloman was voted down. Councilmen James Holloway and Moore voted for it. Councilman Ervin Howard was absent.

Councilman Dean A. Cline said he thinks the overtime should wait for the pay ordinance to be passed and considered then.

Moore told the council he has been investigating the property tax bills the village has received from the Huron county auditor.

Four parcels of land are involved, the Mary Faye park pool and three at the sewer lagoon site. He said that since the village is receiving an income from leasing land at the lagoon site, it is liable for the tax, but there is a chance that because it is village owned property, the tax can be reduced 50 per cent by a special legislative act.

PFD dealt with 50 fires during 1980

Plymouth Fire department dealt with seven house fires during 1980.

Two were within the village, four were in Plymouth township, one was in New Haven township and one was in Auburn township.

Thirteen grass fire calls were answered, four within the village, five in Plymouth and Plymouth townships.

Car fires totaled 24 during the year. Twelve were answered in the village, eight in Plymouth township, two in New Haven township and two in Cass township.

During the year the firemen donated a total of 3,531 hours of their own time. This included specialized training, hauling water, inspection of buildings, assisting the police departments in looking for missing persons and conducting their annual festival.

Adams out of job as Shiloh commissioner, but did he resign?

Shiloh's street commissioner is out of a job, but was he fired or did he quit?

Robert Adams got into a vigorous discussion with Mrs. Robert Boock, the clerk-treasurer, in a Shiloh restaurant. She allegedly made some adverse comments about his performance and he handed her his keys and invited her to make use of them if she thought she could do a better job than he.

This was conveyed to Mayor Francis Gowlitzka, who spoke with Adams. Adams says he didn't quit but acknowledges he told Gowlitzka he wanted more pay - $18,000 - and more authority.

Gowlitzka and the council met with trustees of public affairs Feb. 9. They declined Adams's ultimatum. Gowlitzka and Trustee Harry Foster, a former councilman, approached Thomas and Wayne Baker, father and son, Greenwich utility employees, for assurance that their assistance would be forthcoming if Adams's heir-apparent, John Shepard, needs help. The Bakers agreed to serve on a stand-by basis.

Shepard is paid $2,210. Adams drew $12,284.

Frank Cline, president pro tempore of the council, said some help should be provided to Shepard to instruct him how to use some of the equipment. Shepard also would be assigned to read meters, at additional pay.

Adams, meanwhile, argues that he is entitled to pay for 72 hours of overtime. He told the council Feb. 11 he intends to file a nominating petition to run for village councilman in November.

Appointment of Charles R. Reeder as councilman was urged upon the mayor by the council. Since 30 days have elapsed since the vacancy occurred, the mayor must make the appointment.

Solicitor Jon Burton told the council that no legal problems would arise if Reeder is appointed, even though his wife is a member of the rescue squad and Adams is his brother-in-law.

Burton declined to accept a new contract as solicitor. J. Roger Renwick, McKee, Renwick, Welsh & Burton, Mansfield attorneys, was paid $850 for the year, with $40 for a meeting and 17 cents a mile.

Flames burn Big Red, 63 to 45

Big first half produces BFVC win

Mansfield Christian proved once again Friday night the truth of the old adage, "It's not the size of the dog in the fight that counts, it's the size of the fight in the dog."

Mansfield Christian is the smallest school in its league. The Flames played one solid half of good basketball - the first half - and walked away with a 63 to 45 Black Fork Valley conference victory over Plymouth.

The Big Red outscored Mansfield Christian in the second half, 23 to 19, but the Flames had put together two excellent quarters in the first half and made their lead stand up.

Dave Tingley, heretofore not a good shooter, came into his own in this contest and had nine points in the first eight minutes. These alone were enough to lead Plymouth, which managed to score just eight points on four field goals in the first quarter.

The Flames fired for field goal 13 times and were successful with eight of them and missed one of two foul shots in the first period to take a 17 to 8 advantage.

They really broke it open in the second quarter, largely at the foul line, where they had 14 opportunities and missed only two of them. Their record from the field was the same as during the first eight minutes, eight for 13, and the resultant 27 points gave the Flames a fantastic lead of 44 to 22 after 16 minutes that Plymouth simply was unable to overcome.

There were only eight players suited up on the Red bench. Two of them, Brian Fenner and Steve Tackett, fouled out before the game was over. One of them, the forgotten man of the Red team, got into the game, not without some unexpected fanfare, in the second period. Marty Carty made the only shot he took. For the night he was two-of-three.

That Plymouth did not shoot well in the first half was the main reason it trailed so badly. The Big Red shot from the field 11 times in the first period, making just four, and 14 times in the second, making only four.

Its record in the third period was no less dismal, two of 10. Even in the final quarter, when Plymouth took 17 shots at the bucket and scored with six, the shooting percentage was not good.

The Flames, meanwhile, while not a tall team by any means, were rebounding effectively - they won the battle of the boards, 36 to 29 - and shooting the eyes out of the basket, as was to be expected on their home floor.

After three periods, they were 21 of 35 from the floor and 12 of 19 from the free throw line. Tingley's 19 points led all scorers. Mark Standridge, a substitute, scored 14, eight of them on free throws, not missing a one.

Steve Mowry, with just one field goal, managed 11 points to lead Plymouth, which mercifully has two more regular season games left, at Bucyrus Saturday and at Seneca East on Feb. 28.

Red draws St. Peter's in tourney

Big Red will play St. Peter's in the first round of the 1981 Class A tourney during sectional play at Ashland High school Mar. 3. Plymouth will meet the winner of the Lucas vs. New London contest on May 6 if it survives.

Tickets for the tourney are on sale at the school at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for pupils. They will be sold until the day of the game. At the door, all tickets are $2.50.

On the sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Fans wishing to attend the basketball game at Bucyrus Saturday should proceed south in Route 98, take the route 30 bypass and exit in route 4, then proceed south to the public square before turning west, right, and continuing to the west edge of the city, where the high school site is clearly visible. Bucyrus hasn't much of a team this season (the Red-men did manage to defeat Tiffin Columbian by a single point) and the faithful should see a close contest.

For two of the players, Steve Tackett and Marty Carty, it'll be the last trip to Bucyrus in a schoolboy basketball uniform. They're candidates for the diploma of Plymouth High school on June 7.

FOR A TAX BREAK NOW . . . FOR A LARGER RETIREMENT FUND . . .

An Individual Retirement Account

An "IRA" allows an individual not covered by a qualified retirement plan to start his or her own tax-favored retirement savings plan. Annual contributions, as set by law, are allowed up to 15% of your earnings, but not more than $1,500 a year.

Consider the TAX ADVANTAGES . . .

First, you get a tax deduction for your deposits in an IRA account. Second, the interest on your account compounds tax-free.

and the PRACTICAL ADVANTAGES . . .

Because of the tax privileges, the same amount of money put into an IRA will build up to a much larger retirement fund than an ordinary savings account. — Look at it this way, if your tax bracket is 24%, the government puts $24 into your account for every $76 you put in.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
In Memory of Bro. Raymond J. DeVier, who died February 14, 1981.
Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem, and hath received as his reward the white stone with the new name written thereon; and, Whereas, The all-wise and merciful Master of the Universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected brother, and having been a true and faithful member of our beloved Order, therefore be it
Resolved, That Richard Lodge No. 201, F.&A.M. of Plymouth, Ohio, in testimony of its loss, drape its Charter in mourning for thirty days, that we tender to the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.
