

The blood bank

Some diligent folks have put a considerable amount of time and effort into tomorrow's visit of the Bloodmobile.

It deserves support by everyone, whether donor or volunteer.

What is difficult for the organizers to get across is that starting Sunday, no one living in Plymouth need pay for blood nor repay blood transfused in any participating hospital in Northeast Ohio.

What does this mean?

It means simply that if one receives blood in any of these hospitals (and all hospitals in Huron county are participants; the editor has made a special arrangement with the Firelands Chapter, ARC, to accord the same treatment to residents of Plymouth at Shelby or Mansfield or Columbus hospitals) he need not pay for it. Nor does he need to recruit his family, friends or neighbors to replace such blood as he may have drawn.

For this reason alone, participation in the blood bank is a worthwhile activity.

Those who are donating their time and money tomorrow are deserving folks whose dedication and sacrifice are worthy of the approbation of all of us.

The Bloodmobile will be there, in the new gymnasium, from noon to 6 p. m. Pupils, teachers, townfolk and non-residents are making a special effort to have it succeed.

Your help is needed!

Water

The findings of the water consultants appear elsewhere on this page today.

They cost the village about $8,000, which is a lot of money, especially these days. They come as no surprise. Anybody with the sense of an addled ant has known for a long time that the water system is in sad shape. Those of us who did without water during the 1978 blizzard and the two or three times since know it, even if we didn't then.

And anyone who's had the slightest bit of concern and interest in the village for the past 15 or 20 years knows full well that there were those who shouted their lungs out to induce the village to proceed with sensible planning to resolve the problem.

The late Mayor Fetters urged for years that a loop be installed in the western part of the village, to insure greater pressure and more efficient fire protection.

The previous mayor in no less than seven annual reports to the council called attention to the severe water situation and urged the council to take some action, whether an upland water source or other means to resolve the problem.

It is plain that the time to act was a long time ago. Nevertheless, we all need water and Willard seems to be the only place to go to get it.

The negotiations are in the hands of others than we. But if we were up to us, we'd insist, so far as seems feasible, that ownership of the water main from Neal Zick road to Plymouth, funded as seems likely entirely by Plymouth's credit, must remain Plymouth's property. Those between Neal Zick road and Plymouth who may wish to tap into the main would thus have to deal with Plymouth.

And we'd also insist that the rate to be charged to Plymouth must not be double that which is charged to Willard users. We tried that, or something much like it, for several years, to those who live without the village but subscribe to our water, only to learn that Ohio law limits the surcharge to a mereittance, 10 per cent of the going water rate.

Child hurt in collision at Route 96

A nine-year-old Plymouth child was treated Sunday in Shelby Memorial hospital for injuries received in a collision at Route 96 and Plymouth Springmill road.

Shannon D. Chaffins, 42 Trux street, was a passenger of Phyllis A. Bruce, 37 Willard, who was overtaking another vehicle when she lost control and went into a field.

Mrs. Bruce and her son, Brent, 11, were also treated and released. She was charged with speeding.

Willard water only alternative, consultants tell village; initial cost $950,000

What's wrong with Plymouth's water supply and distribution system?

At a cost of about $8,000, Burgess & Niple, Columbus water consultants, were hired to make a study of the system.

A 40-page report has been submitted. Its recommendations are not new to the village.

These include:

1. A water main should be constructed to Willard and all of the water supply requirements of Plymouth should be obtained from Willard.

2. The existing wells and water treatment plant should be retained and utilized only on an emergency basis.

3. Distribution system improvements in Phase I of the plan to upgrade the system should be implemented at once. This includes field flow testing of the system and inspection of the 250,000-gallon water storage tank.

4. Phase II distribution system improvements should be implemented after the proposed water main and Phase I improvements have been made. Phase II improvements include the demolition of the 50,000-gallon elevated storage tank.

5. The option on the Chapman property at New Haven should be released.

Conclusions of the consultants are:

1. Over the past 20 years, the water supply has been unable to meet the demands of the community on numerous occasions.

2. Current safe yield of the four well raw water supply system is 110 gallons a minute, or 160,000 gallons a day.

3. Existing water treatment plant was constructed in 1932 and there are many deficiencies. More will undoubtedly occur soon.

4. Much of the water distribution system was installed in 1902 and is composed of one, two, four, six and eight-inch mains, with a high percentage being of the smaller size. There is an inadequate number of cross connections and there are many dead-end mains.

5. The 250,000-gallon elevated storage tank provides storage capacity for about one day's demand and has not been inspected recently. The 50,000-gallon storage tank, constructed in 1902, is not used and needs repair.

6. In 1980, Plymouth's population of about 1,984 persons used an average of about 205,000 gallons of water a day through 759 water customers.

7. By the year 2000, population of Plymouth is projected to be 2,098 persons with a maximum daily water use of 439,000 gallons.

8. Groundwater availability in the Plymouth area is very poor.

9. The 10-inch Chapman well has a safe yield of about 60 gallons a minute. Connecting this low-yield well into the existing water supply system is not a long-term solution.

10. Major drawback to the development of any surface supply is that it will require a new water treatment plant estimated to cost $900,000.

11. A water main to Willard is the most economical and practical method to provide future water supply and treatment requirements of Plymouth.

12. In general, the treated water quality from Willard will be softer and lower in iron and manganese content than the water currently used by Plymouth.

13. Estimated cost to maintain the existing water treatment plant and only supplement the water supply system with water from Willard is $250,000.

14. The water distribution system has deficiencies because of the small size of most of the mains, encrustation of the mains, wide spacing between cross connections and excessive number of dead end mains.

If Willard agrees to sell water to Plymouth at the reported rate of 200 per cent of Willard's rate, cost of water from Willard will be about $99,800 a year, the consultants conclude.

They recommend that Plymouth at once seek a loan from the Farmers Home administration, to be settled in 50 years at five per cent interest, which will place the cost of water for 770 users on a monthly basis of $22.10 for the $710,000 water main to Willard and operation and maintenance costs plus purchase of the water.

Add to this the cost of funding Phase I distribution improvements of $237,000 and the average monthly cost to the householder by this method of financing would be $23.59.

Wooster calls on Sponseller

Robert Sponseller, Shelby route 3, is serving as an alumni-admissions representative for The College of Wooster.

Sponseller, a Wooster graduate, has volunteered to talk with high school pupils in Shelby, Plymouth and Willard. High schools who may be interested in learning more about Wooster.

He is one of more than 600 Wooster alumni volunteers throughout the country working with high school pupils.

An ex-logician and now a farmer, Sponseller is involved with concerns of public education and a member of the Plymouth Elementary P.T.O.

New tax sought for school

A 1.5-mill operating levy to benefit Christie Lane school for the mentally retarded will appear on the June 2 primary election ballot.

The levy would run for five years.

It would produce about $378,200 annually.

Christie Lane faces a deficit of $108,000 in its 1981 budget.

County Auditor C. B. Roscoe says the new tax would cost the average householder occupying his own property about $10.80 a year.

Chimes in place at church

New organ chimes in First Evangelical Lutheran church were dedicated Sunday.

The Rev. Ronald Atkins, pastor, read the names of a number of past and present members of the church who contributed to this memorial gift, which he dedicated by saying, "Bless and dedicate these chimes to the praise, honor and glory of Almighty God and to the edification of his holy people, and in memory of all of the saints in this parish."

The R. Harold Macks sent flowers to the altar in celebration of their wedding anniversary. The candle honored the fifth birthday anniversary of Sara Atkins.

LCW will meet today at 10 a. m. to sew quilts for Lutheran world relief.

Ash Wednesday communion service will take place Mar. 4 at 7:30 p. m.

Film set at chapel Sunday

"The Devil's Coach", a story of Jim Brock, head baseball coach of Arizona State university, made into a film, will be shown in Rainbow Valley chapel, 2800 Riggs street, Sunday at 7 p. m.

Public is invited.

Bloodmobile to call here tomorrow

ARC Bloodmobile will come here again tomorrow. Plymouth Lions club is again the sponsor.

Charles E. Pritchard is chairman of the visit. He is president of the club.

The Bloodmobile will take donations of whole blood in the gymnasium of Plymouth High school from noon to 6 p. m.

Mrs. Lionel Howard is chairman of the food solicitation committee.

Volunteers have been recruited to solicit donors and to staff the visit.

Lenten rites to commence Wednesday

First United Presbyterian church will begin the Lenten season Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. with a potluck supper and holy communion.

Eula Mae Hammock, Willard, will be guest vocalist.

The Rev. Julian Taggart will preach on the theme "Questions Jesus Asked" throughout the Lenten season.

The Avilla will appear on Mar. 11, Vivian Stevens on Mar. 15, The Spencers on Mar. 26, men's choir and youth band of the church on Apr. 1 and the Hagans on Apr. 8.

Members of the student council of Plymouth school volunteered to telephone previous donors to remind them of the visit.

Adam L. Mumes and William Dent circulated signs prepared by the Pritchard sisters advertising the event.

Registered and practical nurses who have volunteered their services are Mmes. Richard L. Horton, Jr., Plymouth; John V. Emery, Willard, and Edward Piffer, New Washington, and Coy Hillis, New Haven.

FFA week occasion for drive-in, photography

Plymouth Chapter, Future Farmers of America, is celebrating National FFA week through Saturday.

On Friday members conducted a tractor drive-in. Tractors were driven to the high school, parked in the teachers' lot, photographed with their drivers, and then paraded through the village.

A radio program prepared by local members was broadcast Monday night.

A showcase was assembled in the high school hall showcasing and posters were placed in the school and throughout the village.

9th grade wins title in BFVC

Ninth grade basketball team rallied with nine seconds to play to defeat Mansfield Christian, 41 to 40, and capture the Black Fork Valley conference championship.

Mike McKenzie stole an outlet pass and was fouled on his drive to the bucket. He sank both free throws to establish the lead that stood up in what little time remained.

McKenzie led in scoring with 16. Rodney Hampton bagged 13 points. He yanked down 15 rebounds.

Brian Vredenburg, Mark Kamann, Tom Baker and Darrel Hale limited their opponents to a total of nine points.

The team concluded its season with a record of 13-and-1. Coached by John Hart, others on the team are Chad McGinnis, Mike Beebe, Loren Kranz and Darren Brannham.

Sixth graders whip Spartans

Sixth grade Vikings defeated St. Peter's, 62 to 14, last week in Friendly House competition at Mansfield. Doug Bards scored 14 and Steve Hall 11.

Plymouth girls were defeated in their penultimate game of the season here Feb. 17, leaving the year's record at 8-and-3.

New London rallied in the last eight minutes to prevail, 48 to 46.

The Wildcats won it at the foul line. Plymouth outshot the visitors from the field, 20 goals to 18.

The Big Red also won the battle of the backboards, 36 to 29.

Joni Stoll scored 16 and Debbie Ash 14 for the winners. Mary Lou Briner and Jeni Caudill had 10 apiece for Plymouth.

Bucyrus whips Red on strong first half

The two teams with the worst season's records in these parts squared off at Bucyrus Saturday and the Redmen prevailed, 64 to 40. Bucyrus scored 24 unanswered points from early in the first period to halfway through the second quarter and never was threatened after that.

It was only the second victory of the season for Bucyrus, which had earlier defeated Tiffin Columbian.

Plymouth did not play well, did not shoot well, did not rebound well and probably should have stayed home.

Nor, considering the weather and the relatively short distance to the Crawford county seat, was there a large turnout of Plymouth fans.

Plymouth got a double figure scoring performance from Brian Fenner, who managed 10 points, most of them from the corners.

The Big Red fired for field goal 55 times and was successful with 17 of them. It missed five of 11 free throws. Bucyrus shot 62 times and scored with 28 of them. It missed nine of 17 free throws. Mike Cotsomire scored 14 points and Gary Hoesy and Howie Eaton 10 apiece for the Redmen, who yanked down 18 rebounds. Plymouth was limited to 14 rebounds.

By the half it was clear that Plymouth would have serious difficulty in even making it close and the big lead that Bucyrus had established in the first half was not threatened.

The teams were fairly even in the last 16 minutes. The Redmen scored 28 points, Plymouth 27. The Bucyrus facility, named after Alex Kish, 16, long a teacher and coach there, is a splendid one, perhaps the finest Plymouth has played on this season. It is said that the team could not have performed better, not only in this contest but in others earlier.

8% U.S. Savings Bonds Increase Interest Rates And Shorten Maturity Period.

Here's some good news for those already holding, or about to purchase U.S. Savings Bonds.

The Treasury has announced that effective Nov. 1, 1980, all Series EE Bonds will earn 8% interest if held for 9 years.

Intermediate yields will also rise from 4 1/2% to 5 1/2% after one year and to 7 1/2% after five years.

All outstanding Savings Bonds will also benefit from a 1% increase to their next maturity.

U.S. Savings Bonds are now growing bigger, faster. So they're an even better way to save than they have been over the years.

They're still safe, still guaranteed, still easy to buy through the Payroll Savings Plan. But now the interest rate has been improved.

And the maturity is shortened so that you reach that full 8% a lot quicker.

Take another look at Bonds. As a saving instrument. At the tax benefits. At the new interest rates. The shortened maturity. Bonds do make sense. For you and for your country.

Take stock in America.
