Village seeks loan of $50,000

as start on Willard water

Action to borrow interest-free money to fund the engineering of a new water line to Willard was taken by village council Thursday wight night.

Two resolutions were passed to do so.

So. 200 feet as a sum of $25,000 from the state's Emergency Village Capital Improvements Rotary fund.

The state will loan the money, interest free, for a short period of time to allow small villages to get engineering projects off the ground and assure that money is available until the promised federal grant of $300,000 and additional financing with borrowed money are forthwith borrowed money are forth-

The money can be paid back immediately if it is available or in planned installments over a 10-

Mayor Eric J. Akers said he does not think the $50,000 will be required. "More like $35,000 for the planning, administrative and engineering costs," he said. The remainder then can be applied to repay the loan.

The council also approved the sum of $2,500 for the preliminary surveying, which was started last week by Lester Poggemyer &

On which side of Route 61 to run the water line is to be decided. James C. Root, village administra-tor, said informally it is likely will be run down the east side of the roadway because the west side has roadway because the west side has a deep ditch. This will necessitate crossing over to the village water plant, which is in the west side. Paul Capelle, Willard's city manager, sat in on part of the Thursday meeting. He said, "This it has a side of the control of the control contractors are not building, and the cost will be a bargain."

Akers estimates the actual cost of the line will be $410,000, which means Plymouth will only have to provide a little over $100,000 in view of the HUD grant of $300,000.

There is no way to determine what additional charges there will be for water once it comes from for water once it comes from Councilman D. Douglas Brum-bach asked Capelle if the Willard police department will offer pro-tection to the Plymouth council members once the rate is deter-mined. He said he remembered the mined. He said he remembered the near revolution which existed when the sewer rates were an-nounced, once the sanitary system was begun. Those rates were established by Farmers Home administration to assure it would he received years at the service of the be repaid over a 40-year period for its loan of $968,000 and the village had to accept them

Meanwhile, the council listened politely to two representatives of the Buckeye Water Co., Mansfield, who claimed Plymouth has more water than it could obtain from Willard located at the south end of the village.

Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and James Holloway said Willard is a "sure" source of water and that too much time and money have been spent over the years trying to establish that well water is avail-able.

Approval was given to the water department to read water meters every two months, six times a year rather than four times. Moore said he has heard numerous complaints about the current water billing and recommended that the village find an efficient meter reader.

The current bills are the result of Root, Terry Jump and James-Holloman reading the meters in lieu of a CETA employee, who has been terminated with the program. Apparently, many meters were not read, and simply billed for several quarters at the minimum rate. Root requested and was given the go ahead to purchase 50 new meters at the cost of $3,000 to replace defectiv the cost of $3,000 to replace defective ones.

The mayor discovered House Bill 850, effective Aug. 7, 1980, states that a levy placed on the ballot cannot run for a stated number of years, but shall run forever.

The three-mill levy to be on the June primary ballot was certified to run for only three years, when it would be decided if it should be renewed.

Because of the law, the council had no choice but to pass a resolution to change the length of time of the levy to comply.

Cashman and Moore were upset and Village Solicitor Richard Wolfe suggested they write to their state representatives. Moore said, "Once a levy is passed it is "Once a levy is passed, it is forever."

Councilman Ervin Howard's request to "fix-up" a second park in Riggs avenue went down the drain. Howard had asked the council at noward had asked the council at the last meeting to appropriate $3,000 from the income tax money for the parks. The money will be used to install a toilet system in the Scout hut in Mary Fate park. Holloway said Mary Fate comes first. There is a possibility that the Birger average installetic means her Riggs avenue installation may be funded if the planning commission is successful in gaining the money it has requested.

After hearing Kennon Osbun speak about his plans through the planning commission, the council agreed to wait and see what will happen.

of his duties as of Apr. 13.

There was no discussion, although it was apparent many of the parents intended to dispute with the board any gesture to reappoint the controversial coach, against whom on Mar. 9 there were levelled charges of use of improper language and obscene gestures by some of the same parents.

some of the same parents.
Whether the resignation developed as a result of an executive session of the board on Apr. 8 was unstated. Some who claimed to be informed in the matter said the board dispused respectively. board discussed reappointment of Tracey at the session. They implied Tracey was informed of dissatis-faction of at least two members of the board, A. George Miller and Larry O. Vredenburgh, who comprise the athletics committee, with his performance. This should have come as no shock to him, for it was they who voted not to renew his contract as assistant football coach on Mar. 9.

It is a fact that Tracey was present for the board's executive session on Apr. 8. And it is a fact that despite what was said in it, the administration was prepared on Monday night to recommend his reappointment as coach. So the reappointment as coach. resignation came as something of a surprise to the athletic director, the high school principal and the superintendent.

The Book That Put Pueblo, Colorado On The Map.

For years Pueblo remained uncharted and unknown.

Then, suddenly, the secret was out. Pueblo is the city that sends out the free Consumer Information Catalog. It's the city where the streets are paved with booklets.

Now everyone knows.

And now everyone can send for their very own copy of the Consumer Informa-tion Catalog. The new edition lists over 200 helpful Federal publications, more than half of them free. Publications that could help with—money management, car care, housing hints, growing gardens, food facts. All kinds of useful consumer information you can use every day.
