

Here're rules if reporting an emergency!

Persons served by the Plymouth fire and ambulance departments are asked to place the telephone number, 687-4561, near their telephones.

This is the number to be called to report a fire or a medical emergency.

Kenneth Echelberry, head of the ambulance service and assistant fire chief, says a delay can cause a disaster if the caller reaches the police department, which necessitates a call to the proper number.

This occurred last week for a medical emergency, which caused a delay of over five minutes for the ambulance to be dispatched, Echelberry says.

Echelberry recommends the person making an emergency call speak slowly and distinctly with as many facts as possible and to be concise about the location and to identify himself.

Also, the telephone should not be disconnected until the dispatcher who has answered breaks the connection.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

What should prudent citizen do?

The annual financial report of the village appears today. Ohio law requires that the report be submitted by Mar. 31 to the state auditor (and no excuses) and that it be published as soon thereafter as is feasible.

The report in its present format is somewhat confusing to the average citizen. What it ought to do is compare revenues of the immediate past year with those of the preceding year, and similarly, to compare expenditures.

Section 705.22 of the Revised Code requires a municipality to prepare each year a pamphlet showing the details of the fiscal operations of the preceding year as compared with those of the year before that one. To our knowledge, the Village of Plymouth has never complied with this law, which also states that any citizen at a reasonable time is entitled to see the report or to have a copy of it, and further, that a copy of it shall be placed in the public library. The law further states that a summary of the acts of the village council and the mayor shall be published in the report.

The publication of the annual report comes on the heels of the publication of the annual appropriations ordinance.

The prudent citizen may note that in the police department and the mayor's office there is a combined appropriation of nearly $11,000 for a dispatcher-court bailiff. And that same prudent citizen may well inquire how it is that, after 114 years as an incorporated village, this community needs a bailiff to perform tasks that, in the past, were performed by the mayor and, sometimes, the chief of police.

He may also recall that, two years ago, the village council turned down a recommendation by the then mayor that slightly over $1,300 be appropriated to pay for a leased telephone line to Norwalk, where the county sheriff volunteered to dispatch police officers at no charge to the village when no personnel is available to respond to the telephone in the police station. This service would be available around the clock, seven days a week.

CETA officials said, "Nothing doing, you've got to hire people and train them, there is no money, no matter how much cheaper it is, to pay for goods rather than services."

Now, in its wisdom, the federal government is phasing out all CETA operations.

From our observations of how CETA have been applied in Huron and Richland counties, it is clear that the aims and thrust of the act were subverted: hardly anybody was trained for anything, most of the money was spent on manual labor that didn't avail the laborer of anything save a few blisters.

They know that as they're working for their future, their Bonds are working hard for America's future, too. So, buy U.S. Savings Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan. Whether you're raising vegetables at a family, they're a great way to save.

Series E: Bonds pay 6% interest and hold maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year) interest will be paid to you at local income tax rates, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

It pays to have good connections.

We're your hometown power company. But we're also part of American Electric Power, one of the most efficient electric systems in the country.

When you turn on a light switch, or an electric appliance, you probably don't care where the electricity comes from. As long as it gets there.

But we care, because the cost of making electricity can vary from plant to plant at different times of the day. And, since we're part of the 7-state AEP System, we can tap the best combination of generation and transmission efficiency to get the most economical power to you instantly from anywhere in the system.

Being part of this power system and its split-second efficiency is one reason why we've been able to keep your electric rates below the national average.*

If you can't smell cherry blossoms, make a cake from bananas!

By AUNT LIZ
If you missed the cherry blossoms in Washington this year, start planning on seeing and smelling them next year.

Your kids will be a year older and can appreciate them that much more.

They are worth the jaunt plus all the other things there are to see.

It seemed ironical during the two years I lived there that such beauty had been given to us, and there we were fighting a terrible war with Japan. By then half the kids I grew up with had been shot down and there I was loving every blossom.

The trees, 3,000 of them, were given to us in 1912. There were 12 different varieties, of which only two are still growing.

Dye left $26,121; Lewis left $31,492

For some reason Japan no longer has these, so we are sending cuttings back to them, which they are planting around Tokyo.

Now my big question is, who gets the cherries these trees produce?

It seems only fair that Nancy should have them for jelly, or are the residents sneaking to the Tidal basin in the middle of the night to snag them?

Right now we have our own cherries to make jelly. It is a terrific easy way, and, frankly, I think much cheaper than buying the fruit and getting through all the labor of getting the juice.

Sometimes I found a large can of undiluted cherry juice, the pure stuff, no sugar added, so what can be easier? This really is not jelly making season, but it is bake sale time like mad.

Three films on sprocket at library

And this is good enough for you to buy back for your own family.

It is a frosted banana cake baked in two eight inch layer pans that are well buttered.

Cream a stick of unsalted butter (margarine works just as well) with one and one-fourth cups of sugar, then beat in two eggs. Add a cup of mashed bananas and a teaspoon of vanilla.

Mix two and one-fourth cups of flour, three-fourths of a teaspoon of baking powder and a dash of salt.

Combine the two mixtures with a fourth of a cup of vanilla yogurt.

Bake at 350, take the pans out and let it cool.

The frosting is a mixture of a cup of firmly packed brown sugar, a fourth of a cup of half and half, three tablespoons of butter or margarine and another dash of salt. Boil it all for five minutes, no stirring. Let it cool, then add one and one-fourth cups of powdered sugar and a little more half and half so it will spread nicely.

Frost the first layer rather thinly and arrange thin slices of nice bananas. Put the second layer on and use up all the frosting on the top and sides. If you happen to have some coconut or nice halves of walnuts around, they can be used to pretty up the top. Halves of cherries wouldn't look bad either.
