

Mrs. Bachrach

The refreshing spirit and zest for life of our old friend and neighbor, Mrs. Maurice Bachrach, have been stilled. She always had time to think about others, and she thought about them often. Those privileged to know her will remember her well. Her kind comes down the pike only too seldom.

Are we ready?

The events of the past fortnight ought to have more impact upon each of us.

Fortunately, although there were signs that severe windstorms might develop into tornadoes, these didn't materialize. And although in the first storm some cellars filled with water and a couple of bridges were awash, damage hereabouts wasn't nearly so bad as it could have been and, indeed, was in Cardington.

After the tornado struck Willard in 1973, steps were taken to organize a stopgap assistance force to relieve the distress of anyone in this community who has lost housing, clothing and the like. The American Red Cross took the lead and it did a good job. The organization in Plymouth served a useful purpose during the terrible blizzard of 1978, perhaps the only time that it has been needed.

He who headed the organization from the start has gone, to serve the Lord in another place. His replacement here took over the reins, but now he is going elsewhere.

It would be nice to rely upon the powers that be in that church to select a person who by training, instinct or experience will be both able and willing to accede to the post.

But it would be foolish to do so. Not to say unfair to the subsequent successor.

Plymouth has avoided heavy wind damage over the past two generations. Some say it's because the watershed is so close to the village. Others have different explanations. Whatever, we should all be thankful.

Nevertheless, are we prepared? Do our emergency personnel, exclusive of those assigned to the fire department engage in sufficient training? Do we recruit sufficient people so that, in event of a minor disaster, we can put into action an energetic and capable group of people who can manage their and our affairs well enough so that those who've been damaged or are likely to be damaged can be protected?

We think not.

The Red Cross will commence during August a CPR program here. It will convene on each of four Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m., at a place to be decided next week. Volunteers will be greeted with open arms.

As the village population ages, its residents are increasingly less able to do for themselves when such events as high winds that tear down limbs of trees and such occur. Those of us who're not so old need to remember this and to lend a hand when and where we can.

And we shouldn't depend upon the public tax purse to stand in the breach. Village crews have the obligation to clear thoroughfares and to restore electric and water and sewer services, and firemen have the duty to extinguish fires and to render emergency aid by ambulance. We should not expect any of them to perform private services because, for whatever reason, we are not able to do so ourselves.

Of late there has been a spate of activity to prepare for the coming school year. What a fine thing it would be for members of the school athletic teams to volunteer their services to deal with episodes such as those of the past fortnight!

High winds, rain rock village; damage slight

High winds and heavy rains over the weekend caused minor damage locally.

Glenn Hass reported Monday morning that Route 103 between New Pittsburgh and New Washington was blocked by falling trees. He said he was compelled to drive his light truck through a ditch beside Route 98 to reach Tiro, also because of fallen trees. Hass reported a large tree was felled in the driveway of Frank C. Fenn's house in Route 598, temporarily obstructing access.

Village administrator James C. Root said a large limb was blown across Route 61 opposite the residence of Mrs. Richard L. Horton, Jr. William Taylor, assistant to the cemetery sexton, Burton Forquer, reported a large tree was blown over Sunday night or Monday morning in the cemetery but that no monuments appeared to be damaged.

Route 61 north of Shelby was temporarily blocked. A workman en route here from Shelby said he was compelled to proceed via Plymouth Springhill road.

Large limbs were blown from maple trees in West High street.

Some limbs were blown from oak and maple trees in Mary Fete park and village crews will be dispatched to remove them as soon as they can be freed.

Although the rain fell in great sheets, both early Monday and later, there was no flooding to speak of. Rainfall reported to be as much as two inches in Carey, Wyandot county, where there was a tornado warning that extended into Seneca county Sunday night, was not so heavy here. Mansfielders reported lighter rainfall than in the northern part of Richland county, where a tornado warning was in effect Monday until 11 a. m.

Teachers wed in St. Joseph's church

Joyce E. Sloan becomes Mrs. Paul A. Gase

Two teachers in Plymouth schools were married Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

The Rev. Frank Eckart was celebrant of the double ring ceremony uniting Miss Joyce Eileen Sloan, daughter of the Howard A. Sloans, Free road, Shiloh, and Paul Alan Gase, son of the Otto E. Gases, Tiffin.

Two beauty baskets of yellow gladioli, daisies and carnations decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white bridal satin styled with Empire waist, full skirt, a scalloped lace overlay on the bodice, lace sleeves and detachable train. She made her own gown, the train and skirt of which was edged in lace.

She wore flowers in her hair. She carried white carnations, stephanotis and orange roses.

Miss Linda Cline, Shelby, a colleague, was maid of honor. The bride's sister, Jeanne, Shiloh; Rebecca Armstrong, Shiloh, and Margaret Andrews, Garrettsville, were bridesmaids.

Each was attired in a gown of polyester crepe, with beige background with floral print in coral, yellow and aquamarine. It was sleeveless, styled with V-neckline, Empire waist and full skirt. A cape of sheer beige completed the ensemble. Each carried a basket with carnations, daisies and roses in spring colors.

Paul Kleinhenz, Tiffin, was best man. The bridegroom's brother, William, Toledo; Robert Baat, Shelby, and Thomas Woodman, Bethel, Pa., ushered.

Mrs. Sloan watched from the front pew in a jacket dress of blue with a print of pink, aquamarine and dark blue, to which she added a corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Gase, on the other side of the aisle, chose a gown of pink and white with flowers similar to those of Mrs. Sloan.

A reception took place in Ehret-Parcel Post 447.

Three films on sprocket at lirrary

The children's films "Strange Bird," "Most Marvelous Cat," and "Wizard" will be shown at the Plymouth branch of Mansfield-Richland County Public Library on Tuesday at 10 a. m.

"Strange Bird" is an amusing story about the only bird in the forest who has no egg to hatch. A clever crow finally finds an extra egg, but what hatches is not a bird.

An animated story set to the music of Mozart, "Most Marvelous Cat" shows what happens to a music-loving cat named Johann Sebastian when he goes to the city to earn rent money.

In "Wizard" a small-town wizard is lonely until he learns how to use his creative powers to do good.

Admission to the film program is free.

The branch library, at 21 West Broadway, will be closed Friday, July 3, to observe Independence day.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gase (Joyce Sloan)

The altar was decorated with daisies and carnations and lighted by candles for the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a traditional gown of white satin styled with Empire waist and trimmed with floral lace and sequins. The fingertip veil was edged with matching lace. Her train was attached to the bodice to create an illusion of ruffles. She carried roses, daisies and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Linda, Portner street, was maid of honor, attired in an off-the-shoulder gown of a melon hue. She carried a melon rose. Bridesmaids were Traci Caywood, attired as the maid of honor save in blue with a blue rose; Sharon Parkinson, similarly dressed save in yellow, and Laura Klemm, attired in green.

Thoughts after 35 years of marriage to same man

By AUNT LIZ
June is the traditional month and happy month of weddings.
That just might be for every year except for one.
Without knowing the figures, I am willing to bet that 1946 was the big year. It is pure guess work.
That was the year everyone really got back from WWII.

That includes us. At the moment I have a complete list of what my next will be like - mainly staying out of my kitchen when I am trying to create something I think will taste good.
If I knew then what I would be getting into 35 years later, no soap.
I must admit the whole time has been a real ball. What other husband moved a new wife to a country with no hot water so she never had a decent bath outside of a washbowl sponge deal for four months? That was the big start. Once we took a little weekend off and I discovered hot water in France, I spent most of the time in a lovely hot tub. Water was not our only problem. We had no heat. Italy simply did not have the coal for heat. We were so much better off than the local people. None of us had any heat one whole winter, which was one of the worst things I had had in years, but we had close to put on.

We really recovered and loved the country after that lousy winter. Then the next place you-know-who got me to was Africa. If you like large black ants crawling out of the woodwork, it was great. You learn to cope with them and I loved the place.
The Ethiopians were lovely, charming people. Their kids would run in front of my little Renault and I would nearly hit them. I would stop, get out, and paddle them right in front of their mothers, who would nod in agreement, I would shake my finger at those kids and they would simply smile back. It was a game they played with me. We lived there so long that they knew who we were, and kind of loved the little attention they got.
So from one of the most primitive countries in the world we moved to the most sophisticated, Switzerland. Without knowing each other at all, they had one thing in common. Shoes!
It was a quaint custom that when you entered a Swiss house or an apartment, off went your shoes, and slippers were provided. No way would a good housekeeper have her rugs messed up. Once they bought something, it was to last forever. At first I thought, "What is this?" Then I realized, when in Switzerland, do as they do and made sure that I did not have any holes in my toes nor did you-know-who. It was probably the only period in his life that he was sure of not having a small hole here and there. After all, national pride was involved.
But our friends south of the border had a much more efficient way of solving the shoe problem. They simply did not wear them, and we could be very accepted socially without ours.

David Kranz, Shiloh route 1, is the winner of a $750 scholarship of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, whose director of local affairs, Robert Bash, made the presentation. He will study agricultural education in Ohio State university.

Winner!

Annual festival of Shenandoah Christian church will be staged Saturday at the church in Route 13.
A full supper menu will be served, beginning at 4:30 p. m.
Committee is the Roger Jennens, the Gilbert Fridays, the Bruce Wintresses and the Virgil Jennens.

Mrs. Noah Justice was released June 17 from Willard Area hospital.
Wade Garrett was released at Willard Thursday.
Mrs. Joseph H. McCurdy and Francis E. Guthrie were admitted at Willard Friday.
Mrs. Roy Edler was admitted at Willard Sunday and Clovis Sexton released.

Phyllis Pritchard was released Sunday from Shelby Memorial hospital.

Announcing GREAT new place to RAISE CANE also Land that's Not hard to BEET.

A growing country needs lots of growing things.
And the South was a perfect place to raise just about anything.

Feeding the hungry industrial regions to the north, the South helped make a new and struggling country grow strong and prosperous.

Today, America keeps getting stronger every day. Thanks to over 9½ million Americans taking stock in their country by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

They know that as they're working for their future, their Bonds are working hard for America's future, too.

So, buy U.S. Savings Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan.

Whether you're raising vegetables or a family, they're a great way to save.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 10 years (4½% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

During a lot of the years, I have learned to make all sorts of odd ball things to eat which we like, but can never believe that I have never made a sloppy Joe recipe in my life. Any recipe made from scratch, not a canned version, would be most welcome.
