He is Richard E. Muta, Norwalk, who will oppose Timothy Riley, Norwalk, if Riley's candidacy is thrown out on a challenge that his credentials as licensed engineer are invalid because he did not pay a $15 registration fee.

First time in Ohio — Exhibition debate set at high school Apr. 19

An exhibition debate, never before undertaken in Ohio with lawyers as debaters, will be staged in Plymouth High school Apr. 19 at 9 a.m.

The debate is the idea of Jeffrey Slauson, principal, who succeeded James Craycraft in August of 1982 when the latter left precipitately to take the superintendency of his home district.

Four lawyers, two of them jurists, will debate the question, "Resolved: That no pupil of Plymouth High school shall be issued a diploma unless he has successfully passed four units of English, four units of mathematics, four units of social sciences, four units of physical sciences and three units of foreign language."

"The topic was chosen from six or seven subjects submitted to me as likely prospects for a vigorous discussion of material most likely to catch the attention of our pupils. We hope that this presentation will inspire and encourage pupils to wish to proceed with forensics, which is a combination of debating, extemporaneous speaking and public speaking. If we can develop sufficient interest, we plan to organize a variety debating program," Slauson says.

Judge Richard M. Christensen, Richland county probate judge, and Judge Max K. Chilcote, Robert A. McKown, a Plymouth High school alumnus, now an attorney here and at Shelby, and his son, Neal A., also an attorney, will argue the negative.

Three judges, all of them non-residents of the school district and non-electors of Richland county (both judges will be candidates for election this year; Judge Chilcote has primary opposition, but Judge Christensen is not opposed in either party), will determine the outcome of the debate by secret ballot.

These will be John Borgis, sheriff of Huron county; Kenneth Sommers, mayor of Willard and personnel director of Midwest Industries, Inc. there and James H. Ross, Jr., administrator of Willard Area Hospital.

A. L. Paddock, Jr., editor and publisher of The Advertiser, will be chairman, Dr. Pierre E. Haver, optometrist, will be timer.

Each speaker will be limited to a seven minute presentation. After two affirmative and two negative speeches, and a 10-minute intermission, there will be two rebuttals, each of seven minutes in length. The negative rebuttal will speak first.

The debate will be conducted under rules of the Intercollegiate Forensic association with slight amendments to deal with the local situation.

Public is invited to the debate, which will be presented to all pupils save those who attend Pioneer-Joint Vocational school.

Will FmHA accept offer by village of $10,000 for pool?

Mary Faye swimming pool may belong to the village in the future. Village council has made an offer to buy it for $10,000 without the needed repairs, which Farmers Home administration, Wooster, has estimated at about $30,000.

At first it was offered to the village for $15,000.

Now the village has been notified that more information is needed concerning income and costs for 1983. This will be forwarded to FmHA.

The important part of the latest communication is that FmHA said neither "yes" or "no" to the village offer.

Councilmen and James C. Root, village administrator, are of the opinion that the needed repairs can be done by the village employees considerably cheaper than the official estimate.

Councilmen have agreed that the pool is an asset to the community and that it should be available for use the coming summer.

Risky business a success: life mask technique works!

By AUNT LIZ

All the schools had a Right to Read week not so long ago, and it got a lot of publicity.

Frankly, I think the whole thing is for the birds.

Reading is not a privilege in this country and at this time in history. It is a necessity, and one of the few things in this world that is really joyful and fun all at once.

But, it can be carried a little too far.

One of the members of our house who can read anything he finds that can range from the very finest stuff ever put on paper to some of that stuff you hide so kids or guests do not see it, has outdone himself.

When he said, "Let's try it!" I was panic stricken over what could happen.

We did it, and it was a great idea. It was from an article a while months ago in the Smithsonian, which is my favorite magazine. My favorite used to be the New Yorker, until they quit being funny and became too political and unfunny.

Some town in New England has been doing this and having a ball. It's making face masks of yourself, then painting them.

So he came home with a package of fast-setting plaster bandage. The idea is that you cut them into strips of 10 inches — they are about four inches wide, dip them in water, then carefully encase a whole face. Someone has to do it for you while you are flat down on the floor. Place each strip carefully from left to right. You cover everything except the nostrils. But first you must apply vaseline to everything: skin, eyebrows, eyelids, the works!

14 Shilohans participate in Scout show

Fourteen Shiloh Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts participated in the annual Pinewood derby in Mt. Hope Lutheran church there Thursday.

Officials for the race were Carol Smart, John Ferguson and William Schuller.

Prizes were awarded to the three fastest cars. Winners were Brandon Kerna, Den 1, first; Kelly Geller, Den 1, second; John Ferguson, Den 2, third.

Other prizes were awarded to the three best looking cars, belonging to Ferguson, first; Chad Stumbo, Den 2, second, and Brian Kennard, Den 1, third.

'72 grad part of conference

A 1972 alumnus of Plymouth High school now teaching in Ball State university, Muncie, Ind., is a participant in the annual American Industrial Arts association conference at Columbus this week.

He is Richard Seymour, son of the G. Deming Seymour, Shiloh, a graduate of Ohio State university, whose presentation at the conference is titled "Developing Quality Assurance Programs in Manufacturing Courses."

He is also coordinator of Ball State's industry and technology department's exhibit at the conference.

At tourney! Where else?

Everyone who had a ticket was there!

It was the state basketball tournament in St. John Arena on the campus of Ohio State university, Columbus.

The Kenneth Echelberry's spent the weekend with their daughter, and son-in-law, the Robert Whittemans, and he saw Willard play its last game to a heart-breaking loss, and saw Monroville's Eagles win the Class A championship Saturday morning.

The John Fazzinis also saw the Willard game against Wheelersburg.

Supt. Douglas Staggs and Mrs. Staggs were there for the Willard and Monroville games.

Eric Heden and his son, Scott, and the James Enderbys were there for the Willard game.

A. L. Paddock, Jr., attended the Thursday and Saturday sessions and Mrs. Paddock joined him Saturday.

Bradley Postema, an Akron university student, is spending his spring break with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willford Postema.

Ronald D. Mumes and William Dent represented Plymouth Lions club at the two-day district meeting in Sandusky over the weekend.

I did it and the result really looked like a good old mummy. I figured it was his idea, which he counted me into, so it would be his problem if he had to go around the rest of his life because the mask would not come off.

It hardens in a very short time, and can you believe it? It lifted off perfectly.

This would be great for medium age kids to do, and they could have fun painting their faces.

It is not a new idea. All through history you have "death masks" of kings and queens that somehow were done from the actual face. They certainly didn't have Johnson & Johnson around them to make this plaster bandage stuff. Whatever they used did the trick. The cathedrals of Europe are filled with such things.

This is new. To me, anyway. It's for French hamburgers. I thought we had a natural monopoly on them.

For about six, start with a pound and a half of good ground chuck. Mix it with three fourths of a cup of minced onion, two tablespoons of soft margarine, some salt and pepper, a dash of thyme and one egg.

Flour them, and saute in half oil and half margarine.

Sounds ordinary, yes? The rest changes it. They are not eaten in buns with the works on them, but with a sauce and from a plate.

Melt two tablespoons margarine (or butter), add two tablespoons of finely minced onion. Cook until the onions are transparent. Add three fourths of a cup of dry red wine. Simmer this until it is partly gone.

The next part you can cheat on a little by using one and a half cups of minced beef gravy rather than making your own.

Add the gravy, two tablespoons of lemon juice, two tablespoons of parsley flakes, some salt, red pepper and about a cup of sliced mushrooms that have first been cooked a little bit in butter.

With such a sauce, you can even buy the cheapest hamburger around.

SAVING BABIES...

Recording star Evelyn King:

tors who received their land run or surveyed-out in townships five miles square, and sections two and one half miles square, divided or lotted it out to suit their fancies.
This fact accounts for the great irregularity of the lotting of land in the Firelands.

First deed of land made in New Haven township as shown by the record was early in 1815, to David and Royal N. Powers, and on the eighth day of April, 1815, they laid out the village of New Haven upon this land. In two years, the records show, over 60
of the 118 lots platted were sold.
Recollection and testimony of the early settlers are that the lots were improved as well as sold.

The village grew rapidly and in 1820, or five years' it was a respec-

Farmer resistance got full coverage

For nearly eight decades, the farm community served by The Advertiser has resisted the encroachment of what it regarded as its natural right — to sow, cultivate, harvest and market as it pleased, subject to the laws of supply and demand.

The newspaper always faithfully recorded its efforts to do so, although on some occasions it showed little editorial sympathy for the maneuverers to supersede duly enacted law.

PRIOR TO WORLD WAR I,
state and county agricultural authorities, on approval of the state legislature, began to make inspections of livestock as a control against communicable diseases.

Not all farmers in the northern tier of townships in Richland county approved of it.

This story from the Jan. 9, 19-15, issue is an example:
"Christian Dinning, 52, his four sons, Percy, Ray, Mead and Carl, and Austin Lybarger, all of Cass township, were arrested last week Friday by Chief Feeney and Captain McClure of Mansfield.

on warrants sworn out by G. S.
Mechling, field veterinarian of the agricultural commission of Ohio who charges that the men interfered with an officer. The farmers were taken to Mansfield, where they each gave bond in the sum of $50 for their appearance.

"The affidavit recites that the farmers violently resisted the officer; but Dr. Mechling says there was no violence used. He stated further that the owners of the stock simply refused to allow him to inspect the cattle when he called at their farms Thursday.

"Christian Dinning: Waxed in an interview that Dr. Mechling displayed no badge or credentials and that he, Dinning, had no way of knowing whether the stranger was an authorized agent of the agricultural commission or a fraud.
Dinning claimed further that Dr.
Mechling had come from inspecting a herd of hogs infected with cholera. He said he knew if his hogs got the cholera, it meant hundreds of dollars loss, his summer work and no compensation for his loss.

"The attorney for both sides held a consultation in the mayor's private office over an hour, then asked to have the case continued to Jan. 18."

Six weeks later, the Advertiser
wrote:
"Several counties, including Huron, have clamped down with the quarantine on live stock. The action was taken by state officials last Friday and the following order, signed by Paul Frevier, I.
P. Beechy and A. P. Sandles has been received by The Advertiser:
"Columbus, O. Feb. 12 —
Order No. 17 effective at once.
The entire counties of Hamilton,
Lorain, Medina, Erie and Huron,
and the townships of Townsend and York in Sandusky county, the townships of Thompson, Reed, and Venice in Seneca county, and the townships of Ruggles, Troy and Sullivan in Ashland county are hereby quarantined, prohibiting absolutely the movement of any cattle, sheep or other rumi-nants and swine out of said territory for or from farm to farm within said territory for any purpose whatever; over railroads, public highways, or otherwise; and prohibiting absolutely the movement of any hay, straw, or similar feeder, and manure, hides, hoofs,

PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Four presidents got warm reception here

Four presidents of the United States, reported The Advertiser on Mar. 15, 1934, and two defeated candidates for the presidency favored Plymouth with a friendly
call or speech, four of the six having made speeches.

"About the year 1868, General U. S. Grant was touring Ohio and held a reception at the B. & O. depot here. A large crowd was present and shook his hand and some of the young ladies of Plymouth claimed the honor of having kissed the General.

While R. B. Hayes was Governor of Ohio, he held a similar reception at the B. & O. depot.

"WILLIAM MCKINLEY
made a political speech from the upper porch of the McIntire building on the south side of Public Square.

OHIO NATURALLY

Two new accounts funded solely by contributions from Ohio's taxpayers will allow the Ohio Department of Natural Resources to become involved in additional preservation and management activities. Ohioans are now able to donate all or a portion of their personal state income tax return to these special accounts.

Created by law, a Natural Areas and Preserves Special Account and a Nongame and Endangered Wildlife Special Account will generate money for vital conservation programs. Money contributed to these accounts will not supplement or replace budget appropriations, but will be designated for innovative projects which have not been undertaken due to funding shortages.

Making a donation is simple. Contributors designate the amounts and the funds they wish to support on lines 20 and 21 of the state income tax form. Then, these amounts are deducted from the total refund. Contributions can be made to one or both funds.

The Natural Areas and Preserves account will help protect the habitats of endangered plants and animals, and the state's nature preserves and scenic rivers. Donations will be used to develop visitor facilities, provide workshops and educational programs, and help to locate and preserve the last and best remaining natural areas in Ohio.

More than 1,000 species of wildlife not taken for sport or commercial purposes will be protected by the Nongame and Endangered Wildlife fund. The money will assist in the restoration of endangered wildlife populations and the reintroduction of species once extirpated from Ohio.

Ohioans not receiving a state income tax return can contribute to the funds by sending a check to:

 Here's How: When you stop your car, turn off the ignition. Even a minute's idling uses more fuel than starting again. You waste money and gasoline when you let your motor idle endlessly.
