

M. H. B., A. J. S.: an appraisal

It is remarkable, to say the least, that the tiny community of New Haven has been served, and served well, over three decades by such giants as C. E. Davis, Richard and Henry Chapman, Mrs. Karl Bauer, Charles Wyandt, Joe Rosenberry, Edward Postema and his uncle, Harry, and those that we laid to rest last week, Marshall H. Burns and Albert J. Saas.

Perhaps it is something in the water. Whatever, it is a fact that some who settle in New Haven recognize man's obligation to his neighbor and work hard to discharge it with honor and dignity.

Which is what Red Burns and Al Saas did.

Two such diverse characters would defy a writer of fiction.

Red Burns was born to poverty and he spent a lifetime trying to rise above it. That he did so was because he worked hard, hard at his job and hard at being a good neighbor. He raised a loving family and, although fate dealt him a blow that his contemporaries with grandchildren escaped, he never lost his faith, trust and affection in the young. Toward the end, he went early to his post office box so that he could greet youngsters en route on foot to their classes in the New Haven school. When basketball games were played there by the Yellow Jackets before the high school went out of business about 25 years ago, he had a seat in the front row for every game.

He was loyal to his family, his neighbors, his convictions, his employer and his community. What better encomium for any man? May his soul rest in peace; he certainly went through his hell in his final illness.

Al Saas, like Burns, came to New Haven as a grown man. He married into a distinguished New Haven family, a landed one. But he directed his interests and his talents not to the soil but to commerce and he prospered. Prospered mightily, and his family and his employees with him. He was a stickler for honesty, industry and a thorough knowledge of what one is about before one leaps into action. When he had studied all angles, he plunged ahead and his business, when he became an octogenarian, cast a long shadow in north-central Ohio.

He has a special knack for discovering when one was down and he attended to that one's needs with encouragement, with empathy and sometimes with money. He was careful with his money. He often said that some folks don't know how to deal with money, will probably never know, and one must be careful not to let them abuse what money they have.

He served his country when the bugle sounded. He served his community. He was a substantial taxpayer and employer. He took care of his people. So long as they treated him as he deserved to be treated, with honesty and forthrightness, he defended them come hell or high water. He pioneered hereabouts the gift of a bonus and a handsome Yuletide party for his staff, so far as small business is concerned.

Small business: "Sure, we're small," he often said. "At least, Uncle Sam says we're small, by definition. But we can be big when we want to be and we always try to be as big as we have to be."

In his youth, he played sandlot baseball in and around Cleveland. He was, in fact, a whale of a pitcher. And when we sought his help some years ago to outfit a boys' baseball team, he said, "How much do you need?" Not "How much do you want?" but "How much do you need?"

We told him, and he wrote a check for 90 per cent of it.

"Here," he said, "it'll do you and those boys some good to have to scratch for the rest."

And he was right.

We are all the better for his having passed our way.

When he made Red Burns and Al Saas, the one five years older than the other, He broke the mold, more's the pity.

Aggressive in spirit and in action, she's a front court performer with a good shot and a better than average ball-handler.

Collins gets zoning variance

A zoning variance was granted by the board of zoning appeals Monday night for the construction of a farmer's market at the south edge of the village.
Bill Collins with Daniel Thornberry requested a zoning permit Nov. 28. This was denied a few days later by Jack Laser, zoning inspector, because it did not comply with the zoning ordinance.
The area, which borders on a seven acre plot of land between Routes 61 and 98, abuts on property belonging to Mrs. Hiram Reed and Woodrow Smith. It is designated as residential.

Collins applied for the variance Dec. 6, which allowed time to notify all property owners within 500 feet and conduct a hearing.
It was granted with certain restrictions, mainly that only one building will be constructed on two acres of the land. However, the door was left open for expansion of the single building by Collins and please see page 4 when sovereign immunity of school boards expired under new law.

There were three other bidders, Republic-Franklin at $1,462 for six months, Indiana Insurance Co. at $3,023 for a year and Ohio Agriculture Insurance Co. at $1,750 for a year.
Because blowing snow made driving hazardous, the board put off until tonight its interviews with candidates for the acting assistant elementary and junior high school principals. None of the candidates was identified.
In executive session later the board went over its evaluation of the treasurer and the superintendent for the last year.
Renewal of the agreement with the Satellite V Film center at Mansfield to furnish educational films at 85 cents a pupil, or $875 for the year, was approved.

Heat too dear, station to close

High cost of heating the place forced village council at Shiloh Jan. 9 to close the small building beside the Conrail tracks that houses deputies of the Richland county sheriff.
The outpost building will remain closed until warmer weather enables its occupancy without heat.
Meanwhile, the village hall in the north side of West Main street will be used as a place for making telephone calls and performing administrative work.

'Mr. New Haven', A. J. Saas, 87, dies at Norwalk

The man who for a generation was known as Mr. New Haven died Jan. 8 in Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk, of a lengthy illness.
He was Albert John Saas, 87, West street, New Haven, who came to the little Huron county community to start a business that grew steadily as New Haven Supply Co. until it became a giant in its field.
He had worked for Sears Roebuck & Co. and the dream of beginning his own business materialized when he and his wife of 62 years, the former Clara Mills, son of a prominent New Haven township landowner family, undertook the venture. His expertise, to which he contributed so long as she was able, brought the firm to a highly competitive position in industrial electrical and plumbing supply in Northern Ohio.
During his youth, in Cleveland, he was an outstanding sandlot pitcher of baseball. He served in the Army during World War I. He was a member of IOOFallows lodge at New Haven.

After Mrs. Saas was admitted to Hillside Acres Nursing home at Willard, her husband carried on alone at home until, at last, he too required custodial care. He went into Gaymont Nursing home at Norwalk and remained there until his final illness.
For many years he banked here and always patronized the late Robert A. Lewis, the barber.
He is survived by his wife, a son, Thomas A. Mills of Saas, New Haven; a daughter, Geraldine, now Mrs. James Hardway, Norwalk; a brother, Duke L. Cleveland, a brother, John Florence Robillard, Willard; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.
The Rev. James Pfeffer, St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church, Willard, conducted services at Willard Thursday at 1 p.m. Interment by Fink-Lindsey Funeral home was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.
Memorial contributions to the Cancer society are suggested.

Red upsets Eagles, 56 to 41

Hall scores 21 in rout at Monroeville

A stout defense plus a magnificent performance by little Steve Hall, a 10th grader, who scored 21 points, nine of them in the fourth period, led Plymouth to an upset victory over Monroeville, defending Class A state champions, on the Eagle Friday night.

The score was 56 to 41. "We couldn't buy a basket," lamented Coach Bob Stitt, in his first year at the helm of the Eagles. "But I don't want to take anything away from Stevie Hall, who played just a super game, and the whole Plymouth defense, which forced us into too many turnovers — 26, I think."

The teams were tied at eight after eight minutes and at 33 after 24. Plymouth once again the victim of the third quarter syndrome.

It went to the dressing room for the halftime recess with a lead of 29 to 21 and came out for the second half with no luck at all. The Big Red fired 12 shots at the basket, made two of them, and missed out at the foul line because Monroeville didn't get into the penalty situation until the fourth period began.

The Eagles clawed from behind, scoring 12 in the third quarter, five players contributing to that figure, led by Dave Smith with four.

Plymouth broke the tie at 7:33 of the first period when Troy Keene first on a home from the corner. This gave the visitors a lead of 35 to 33 and they looked back skeptically but never were headed for the remainder of the game. Jeff Caullid scored with a three point play. Denny Smith cut it to three with a bucket at 4:41, whereupon Jeff Lasch, who got what the little boy shot at in the third quarter with few futile tries, converted a steal.

Indeed, the Eagles committed seven errors on offense in the last eight minutes. Plymouth converted five of them into scores. It was Hall who was the glue that kept Plymouth going in the final period. He was awarded seven free throws, he made four of them, and he added two field goals. One of them was a sensational effort eight through the middle of the Eagle defense for almost the length of the floor, climaxed by an acrobatic leap and shot that swished, to the delight of the noisy Red crowd.

Plymouth opened a nine point lead at 1:54, when Lasch canned a shot, and although Tim Jordan retaliated at 1:34, after a Jordan out and a miss at the free throw line by Lasch, Eric Rath got a layup alone under the basket and Plymouth led by 11.

From this point it was simply a question of how close could Monroeville come. Its doom was sealed and with less than 40 seconds left, Monroeville fouled to obtain possession. Hall got one down, missed the second, then got two more and was at the line after time had expired with a shot that he missed.

Plymouth had only two players in double figures, Hall with 21 and Lasch with 16. Dave Kezei with 12 was the only Eagle to reach double figures.

Monroeville's poor shooting on its home floor was revealed in the statistics' data. The Eagles unloaded 59 times and scored with 18. They converted five of 14 free throws, made 26 turnovers and outbounded Plymouth by plenty, 43 to 28. The Big Red scored with 22 of 56 shots, missed half of its 24 free throws, and was charged with only 17 offensive mistakes.

Red nips Eagles

Chris Roth went to the-line on the Eagle floor Friday night, without any luck. Dave Kezei, No. 12, and Steve Hall, No. 14, the floor generals of the opposing teams, watched intently.

Tom Schafer canned this shot in the second period Friday night, but all Kevin Taylor could do was watch.

Eric Rath, No. 40, and Jimmy Fitzgerald, No. 30, awaited the descent of a shot in the fourth quarter.

People who save energy deserve a reward.

Take a bite out of your monthly electric bill by following a few energy-saving hints. You can save money by wrapping your electric water heater with an insulated jacket. Save even more by setting your water temperature at 140°F — if you don't have a dishwasher, you can set the thermostat at 120°F.

Whenever possible, use a toaster, toaster-oven or electric frypan instead of your large oven or range.

Place pans on the surface of your electric range.

before you turn on the heat. And use lids on your pots and pans instead of leaving them uncovered.

Place the items you use the most in the front of your refrigerator so you can get to them quickly without wasting too much cold air.

By using these simple tips and good common sense, you can really slim down your electric bill. Reward yourself for the money you saved, but be careful of the calories!

Girls beaten by Crestview

"We certainly shot poorly," said Coach Mark McDaniel of the Big Red's outing with Crestview here Jan. 8.

The Cougars put it to Plymouth in the third quarter and kept it up in the final canto to walk away with a 46 to 34 Firelands conference victory.

The Big Red was outshot from the field, 17 to 13, each team getting off 58 shots at the basket. Plymouth's defense was vigorous but not effective enough; it allowed the visitors to make 12 free throws.

Rhonda Branham and Jodi Pitzer, beaten the injured ankle, led Plymouth scorers with 11 apiece. Sherri Bond collected 13, Pamela Cookey 12 and Rosemary Hively 10 for Crestview.

Seminar set for parents of Class of 1989

A meeting for parents of eighth-grade pupils to discuss ninth grade course scheduling will take place in Plymouth High school library Thursday Jan. 31 at 7 p.m.

Personal will be on hand to discuss the scheduling process, discuss the scheduling process, the rationale of course selection, and to provide an overview of the several ninth grade level courses.

Two accepted

Two Plymouth High school 12th graders have been accepted by the schools of their choice.

Angela Beverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beverly, will attend Ohio State University.

David Burks, son of the Frank Burks, has been accepted at Bowling Green State University.

Collins gets zoning variance

Thornberry.

They propose to sell fresh products, along with small household items.

H. Lee Walker, a member of the appeals board, questioned their future intentions, as to the possibility of expanding into a carryout with beer and wine.

He was assured by both men they do not plan such action.

None of the neighboring property owners came to the hearing nor raised any objections.

William L. Van Wagner and Bernard A. Garrett, also members of the appeals board, said they talked with several and saw no reason why the market should not be constructed.

The objections came from Douglas A. Dickson and Miss Laella Vandervort, both members of the village planning commission.

The former asked why a site in the Square could not have been chosen and why Collins had purchased seven acres when he only planned to use two.

The answer was that there was nothing in the Square that would suit his purposes as to space and parking. He bought the seven acres, he said, he had to purchase the whole plot rather than part of it.

Miss Vandervort said she hoped that a residential area could be maintained at the south end of the village and asked if more buildings would be constructed.

If this should happen in the future, another variance would have to be obtained.

Illinois plans to construct a 30 by 60-foot building at a cost of about $40,000.

How many persons will be employed? He said that at the moment there would be four, him, his wife and the two Thornberrys.

ALLIANCE TO SAVE ENERGY

This is a public service message from the newspaper and the Advertising Council. Also sponsored by Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Federal National Mortgage Association, National Institute of Building Sciences, U.S. Department of Energy.

Notice of Application of General Telephone Company of Ohio for Increases and Adjustments in Rates and Charges

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 4909.19 of the Ohio Revised Code, General Telephone Company of Ohio hereby gives notice that on October 1, 1984, it filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an application (PUCO Docket No. 84-1026-TP-AIR) for authority to increase and adjust its rates and charges for telecommunications service and to change its regulations and practices affecting the same.

This notice contains the substance and prayer of the application. However, any interested party desiring complete detailed information with respect to all affected rates, charges, regulations and practices should inspect a copy of the application and all attached schedules at the office of the Commission, 180 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio. A copy of the application may be inspected by any interested party at the office of the General Telephone Company of Ohio located at 100 Executive Drive, Marion, Ohio. A copy of the application and the proposed tariff sheets are also available for inspection during normal business hours at any Phone Mart of General Telephone Company of Ohio. In addition, the proposed tariffs were mailed to the mayors and legislative authorities of all municipalities served by the Company on August 31, 1984, as part of the Company's notification of its intent to file.

The application affects rates and charges for telecommunications services to all customers of General Telephone Company of Ohio, provided pursuant to its Exchange Rate Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 6, and General Exchange Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 7.

Any person, firm, corporation or association may file, pursuant to Section 4909.19 of the Ohio Revised Code, objections to the proposed increases and adjustments in rates and charges, and to the proposed changes in regulations and practices affecting the same. The objections may allege that such application contains proposals that are unjust and discriminatory or unreasonable. Recommendations which differ from the application may be made by the staff of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio or by intervening parties and may be adopted by the Commission.

Local Exchange Service

The application proposes to restructure the existing exchange rate charges. A portion of the cost of providing extended area service (EAS) will be unbundled from the local exchange service rates and applied only to those exchanges benefiting from EAS in the form of an EAS supplemental charge. The EAS supplemental charge will be applied in all exchanges having EAS (EAS is not optional). The extent of existing EAS will determine the amount of the EAS supplemental charge (a maximum of $4.00 for one-party residence service), to be added to the exchange local service and zone rate charges. Zone rates, which some customers pay in addition to their basic rate, with the exception of the Zone C rate for two-party service will increase. Certain base rate areas and zone areas within certain exchanges will be expanded. The average increase in monthly rates for different classes of service are as follows: residence one-party $6.14 or 53.9%; two-party $5.39 or 50.5%; four-party $4.87 or 52.1%; business one-party $12.56 or 52.6%; key trunks $15.17 or 49.4%; PBX trunk $21.06 or 42.0%. The changes in monthly rates for residence one-party, two-party, or four-party exchange service and for one-party business exchange service in representative communities, should the requested increase be granted in full, are shown below. Proposed rates for services in the Company's 232 other exchanges are contained in the proposed tariff sheets which can be inspected as stated previously.

Usage Sensitive Service

The Company is proposing an introduction of nonoptional Usage Sensitive Service in four Ohio exchanges: Bellevue, Huron, Montrose, and Oak Harbor. Individual line residence and business customers in other exchanges will be regraded to Usage Sensitive Service as equipment to provide the service becomes available. Usage Sensitive Service is a local service billing system that lets the customers pay based on the calls they originate. Under the plan, the customer would pay a substantially lower monthly basic service charge for connection to the local telephone network. As a customer places local calls additional charges would apply based on the elapsed time, time of day, day of the week and the distance of the call if between different exchanges served under the local calling plan. No distance charges would apply on calls within the same exchange. Discounted rates would apply to late evening and Sunday calls. No charge would apply on calls being received. These charges would range from $9.85 for a residence single party, $25.90 for a business single party, as compared to the proposed flat rate average charge of $17.39 residence single party and $36.38 business single party in these four exchanges.

Paystation Telephone Service

The Company proposes to increase the paystation rate from $.20 to $.25.

Late Payment Charge

The Company proposes a late payment charge of 1.5% on amounts carried forward as an unpaid balance on any customer's bill.

Private Line/Interexchange Mileage

The Company is proposing to increase its private line local channel rates as well as the rates for off-premise non-continuous property extensions.

Touch Call/Custom Calling Charges

The Company proposes to use the multi-element non-recurring charge for service charges associated with Touch Call service and custom calling service.

Repair Visit Charge

The Company is proposing to partially remove the premise visit costs of maintenance from its local service rates. The charge established will recognize the cost of a repairman making a premise visit in connection with a maintenance call associated with single line telephones.

Extended Area Service Supplemental Rates

The Company is proposing two extended area service (EAS) supplemental rate additives; one for EAS points that go into service after August 1, 1985 and one that applies to existing or in-service EAS points as of August 1, 1985.

The EAS supplemental rate additive proposed for current EAS points is discussed in the local service section of this notice.

The proposed EAS supplemental rate additive for EAS points established after August 1, 1985 would more accurately apply the cost of providing EAS to those customers who would benefit from the EAS. Customers receiving new EAS would be charged a supplemental EAS rate additive, but would not experience an increase in the banded rate schedule associated with the increase in main stations in the local calling area. Also, the remaining rate payers in the state would not be required to subsidize the new EAS.

Miscellaneous Products and Services

Increases in rates and charges are proposed for several of the miscellaneous products and services including:

- foreign central office service;
- jack and plug equipment;
- enterprise service;
- multi-element service connections, move and change charges;
- maintenance of service charges;
- non-published and emergency non-published service and;
- directory listings.

Key Telephone and Private Branch Exchange Systems and Equipment

The Company proposes increases in trunk rates for key telephone and private branch exchange systems. Proposed rates and charges may be found in the Company's proposed tariff sheets. Some new key system and PBX equipment items are proposed tariff additions.

Optional Customer Premise Equipment

The Company proposes to increase the rates and charges for some optional customer premise equipment. However, the rates for the standard line of telephones will not be increased.

Customer Provided Inside Wire

The Company proposes tariffs containing the rules and regulations for the installation of inside simplex wire. The Company is also proposing to remove the maintenance cost of inside wire from the local service rate. The rate for maintenance of inside wire will be $.23 per month.

Operator Assistance On Local Calls

The Company proposes a tariff which establishes rates for operator assisted coin, Usage Sensitive Service local calls and for busy verification requests.

Instrument Pick-Up Charge

The Company proposes to remove the cost of going to a customer's premise to remove single line telephone equipment provided by the Company from its local service rates.

The prayer of the application requests the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to do the following:

- Find that the Company's present rates and charges and the regulations and practices affecting the same are unjust, unreasonable and insufficient to yield reasonable compensation for the services rendered;
- Find that the rates and charges and regulations and practices proposed are just and reasonable and will provide not more than a fair and reasonable rate of return on the value of the Company's property actually used and useful for the convenience of the public;
- Approve the filing of the proposed schedule sheets contained in Schedule E-1 of the application, modified to reflect such revisions thereof as may become effective, pursuant to orders of the Commission, during the interim between the filing of the application and the date upon which the schedule sheets become effective;
- Order that the proposed schedule sheets become effective forthwith;
- Approve the withdrawal of the present schedule sheets contained in Schedule E-2 of the application;
- Grant such other and further relief as the Company is reasonably entitled to in the premises.

TODAY'S WOMAN HAS A WILL OF HER OWN

Time was when a woman didn't feel she needed to have a will. Her husband or father or some other male member of the family took care of such things. But today things are different. Many women prefer to handle things themselves—investments, insurance, property—and to make their own decisions. When it comes to their possessions, they want to decide who gets the treasured items,
the stock, the real estate or the antiques.

The best way for you to be sure that your wishes will be carried out is to make a will of your own.
And the first step is to see your attorney. After you have remembered those close to you, we ask you to remember the American Cancer Society.
We promise to use anything you leave us carefully and prudently in research, in public and professional education and to improve the quality of life of cancer patients.

If you or your attorney want to know more about the Society and what we do, call your local ACS Unit or write to the American Cancer Society, 4 West 35th Street, New York, NY 10001.
