

Two retire after 34 years

Resignation of two employees with 34 years of service between them and of a teacher as cheerleader adviser were accepted Monday night by Plymouth Board of Education, which adopted a policy governing absence of pupils to comply with the new state missing children act, as amended.

Mrs. Alice Owens, cook at Shiloh cafeteria for 20 years, will retire for reasons of health. Mrs. Evelyn Gundrum, also a cook, will retire after 14 years.

Mrs. Julie Frankl, citing a desire to give more time to her family, quit the cheerleader adviser post. She will retain her assignments in volleyball and softball.

Henceforth, if a pupil is to be absent, his parent or guardian must telephone the school between 6 and 8:30 a. m. on the day of intended absence. Parents having telephones in the 896 exchange may call Shiloh Junior High school or if the pupil attends classes in Plymouth, Parents having telephones in the 687 exchange may call Plymouth High school even if the pupil attends at Shiloh. Parents having telephones in the 347 exchange may call either school to report an absence. Electronic recorders will receive the message prior to arrival of staff personnel at about 7 a. m. If there is no notification, the principal will first try to call the parent at home. If this does not succeed, he will try to call the parent at work.

To enable him to do so, each pupil is henceforth required to file with the school a detailed index of numbers at which he and his parents can be reached by telephone at all times of the school day.

All children in kindergarten through 12th grade will be videotaped at least once during the school year, beginning in the fall. The videotape will show the student's certificate and records of attendance and performance at a previous school within 14 days or the facts of enrollment will be reported to the police or sheriff of appropriate jurisdiction.

Contracts for non-certificated personnel were approved for Joe Uelan, custodian, Plymouth Elementary school, and Mrs. Robert Smith, secretary, Plymouth Elementary school, continuing; Mary Chronister, cook, Shiloh; Lou Hall and John Hulse, bus drivers; and Bonnie Stigall, cleaner, two years; Carl Yeager, high school custodian, one year and 90 days.

Clayton Bertow was approved as substitute bus driver. David G. Coulter, high school science teacher, was approved as speaker during the annual commencement. He was chosen by the graduating class. An alumnae of Grove city college, Grove city, Pa., he holds the master's degree of Ashland college.

Advertisement will begin April 15 to run for four weeks, as required by law, to purchase a new 65-passenger bus, 50 per cent of the cost of which will be funded by the state.

Low Petit Driving School, Inc., Mansfield, on its low bid of $80 a pupil and on its record here, was reemployed to furnish driver education practical experience. Three other bidders were higher, by from $5 to $38 a pupil. The state will reimburse the district $50 for each pupil, who pays $30 fee for the instruction. The class is therefore self-liquidating.

An offer to sell some telephone equipment to the board by General Telephone Co. will result in a saving, after 20 months, of $1,642 annually. Supt. Douglas Stages was authorized to explore this further, particularly to determine if United Telephone Co. will do the same for Shiloh equipment, and to proceed before the offer expires.

Use of natural gas during the recent heating season, which expired Mar. 31, amounted to only 52.9 per cent of allocated usage of 143,064 hundred cubic feet for the four buildings. Total outlay was $44,854.

14 make 4.0s, 32 on honor roll, 85 on merit roll

Fourteen pupils with 4.0 grade-point averages head the honors list; 32 pupils head the honor roll; 85 pupils head the merit roll for the third nine-week grading period.

Thirty-two pupils were named to the honor roll (3.5 to 3.99) and 85 to the merit roll (3.0 to 3.49).

Perfect grades were recorded by Marina Castle, Michael Hawkins, Jesse Miller, Donald Patton and Julie Von Stein, 12th graders; Kristopher Bartheleme, Susan Beebe, Sandra Polachek, Marilyn Tackett and Kevin Taylor, 11th graders; Lana Laser, Janelle Miller, Christine Thompson and Larry Trout, 10th graders.

Honor roll grades assigned to Rnee Carter, Bertha Hall, Sarah Keinath, "Sheryl" Lewis, Diana Myers, "Ronald Nease, Scott Ryan, Debra Schrader, "Alice Stephens and Karen Stima, 12th graders.

Two daughters died earlier. The Rev Carl G. Bagthey, his minister, conducted service Monday at 10:30 a. m. from Turner Funeral home. Interment was in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

'68 grad appointed to top job as engineer

A 1968 alumna is the new director of engineering of Warren Rupp-Houdaille, Inc., Mansfield. He is Steven Reynolds, 34, son of the James Reynolds, 266 Trux street, now living in Milford township.

In his new position Reynolds will be in charge of all engineering operations including research and development.

The 14-year veteran of the Mansfield pump manufacturing firm was hired as a draftsman shortly after leaving Florida Technological university in Orlando, following attendance at Brevard Junior college in Cocoa, Fla. Born in Shelby, he was raised in Plymouth and attended school here.

During his tenure with Rupp he was promoted in turn to the positions of project engineer, chief project engineer and, in 1963, engineering manager.

With his wife, Linda, and two sons he is an active member of the Hanna Road Church of God, Mansfield.

Shiloh native dies at Shelby

A native of Shiloh, Arthur H. DeVier, 82, Shelby, died in Crestwood Care center there Friday evening of a brief illness.

He was born Sept. 19, 1892. He was a retired farmer and a member of First United Methodist church. His wife, nee Mildred Marriott, to whom he was married July 2, 1913; and a granddaughter survive.

Two daughters died earlier. The Rev Carl G. Bagthey, his minister, conducted service Monday at 10:30 a. m. from Turner Funeral home. Interment was in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

Visit to bar almost cost a lost wallet

A 55-year-old Shilohan nearly lost his wallet at Mansfield early Saturday.

Police did not identify him. They said he had been in a bar and missed his ride home to Shiloh, whereupon he met a man and woman to whom he addressed his need to a place to stay. As he did so, the man tried to make off with his wallet. When police drove up, the man punched the Shilohan and stalked away with the woman.

Police took the victim to a telephone, where he called members of his family for a ride home.

First dirt thrown

Construction starts on new library

"When this building is completed and dedicated, its name will be Plymouth Public library," was how Plymouth's nonagenarian benefactor, Mrs. John F. Stambaugh, concluded her informal remarks Monday at 10 a. m. as ground was formally broken to begin the new edifice, which she is funding.

Mrs. Robert L. McIntire, who with her daughters, Janet, now Mrs. John Reinhardt, Mansfield, and Louise, now Mrs. George Pierdieci, Avon, Conn., gave part of the site for the structure, said quietly, "I am glad that the McIntires could be a part of this."

Charles F. Hanline, chairman of the special library committee, turned the first shovelful of earth with a gold-painted shovel.

Competition of the building is expected by snowfall.

Other members of the committee, Mrs. J. Harold Cashman, with Mr. Cashman, Dr. Pierre E. Haver, and E. Dean Wolford, representing First Buckeye bank, in place of Robert McKnight, and representatives of the architects, Marr Knapp & Crawfords, Mansfield, James Mitchell and Timothy Liest, as well as representatives of the contractors, Thomas Wiethman, Wiethman Bros., Galion; David Copper, Schodorf Plumbing & Heating, Inc., Willard, and William Linkenbach, Buchman's Electric Construction, Mansfield, were on hand.

Small world: Plane plain example of adage

It's a small world department: From the Columbia, S. C., control tower operator.

"3945 Tango, turn off at the next taxiway. What is your home base?"

"45 Tango is out of Shelby, Ohio."

"Are you by any chance a funeral director from Plymouth?"

"No, but Earl McQuate formerly owned this airplane."

"I thought so. Give him my regards, also Art Heck and the others back home. My name is Rick Crouse and I'm from Willard."

This exchange took place Apr. 3 as the Thomas F. Rode was enroute to Orlando, Fla., for a visit with Mrs. Rode's step-mother, Mrs. W. R. Lawrence. The yellow-and-white Piper Arrow airplane is a well-recognized one, owing to the extensive travels in it by the R. Earl McQuate.

First earth overturned was by Charles F. Hanline, president, John F. Stambaugh & Co., chairman of the committee to plan the new library. The shovel is gold-painted.

Has end come to gravity train?

The gravity train is ending for the Village.

James C. Root, village administrator, was notified last week the City of Mansfield will no longer be able to execute the tests required for the sewer system.

Over the last 10 years or so, the village was paying Merle Lutz, Shiloh, who holds the required sewer licenses to sign the reports, about $600 annually, with the testing done for nothing.

The village will enter into an agreement with the City of Willard, which has offered a discount rate for the weekly, monthly and quarterly reports that must be sent to the Bowling Green office of the Environmental Protection agency. The village will pay Willard $4,040 annually.

Howard Verborg, Willard's superintendent of its sewer treatment plant, has offered his services see page 3

Make dills into sweets with simple recipe

By AUNT LIZ

Spring house cleaning, I've been told, is better if you pitch right in and do it in one long session. This is alien to my thinking. You should sit back and spend some time admiring your work before you surge on.

So far one kitchen drawer is done. This leaves just 12 more to go. Each drawer has its certain things, and I know just where they are. Usually, But there sure are some surprises. We have one drawer that is more fun than any of the others. It houses clipped out recipes, coupons and anything else I find interesting.

Even a sidelight of history that discredits most history books on the Revolutionary war. Some historians say that the famous Ethan Allen at the surrender of the British at Ft. Ticonderoga said, "In the name of Jehovah and the Continental Congress" in calling for surrender. He didn't. Being a soldier, he was a little more exact and what he really said, was "Come out here, you damned old rat." That is more realistic, yes!

Another little clipping is how to get rid of the ring around the collar that no TV commercial has come up with yet. Some gal wrote in that she uses a cheap bottle of shampoo, since shampoo has something in it to cut grease and oil in hair and will do the same on a shirt. It works.

Then there is the recipe to make sweet pickles out of ordinary dill pickles that the wife of a nice friend sent. It is a savings plus the fact you get bigger pickle slices.

Start with a quart of dills, drain them and slice them. Mix two cups of sugar with two teaspoons of cider vinegar, a half teaspoon of allspice and celery seed each. Put the pickles in it and let sit at room temperature for a while until the juice forms. Stir a little, then refrigerate.

There is really so much goop in that happy drawer that I simply cannot remember what is there, so this was a good time to attack it, since this is now rhubarb season and we have a lovely neighbor who is very generous.

All about town . . .

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Cashman were Easter dinner guests of their son and daughter-in-law, the J. Lynn Cashmans, Shelby.

The Charles Hanlines, Jr., Willard, were Sunday guests of his parents, the Charles F. Hanlines, St.

Most rhubarb gets converted into pies or just stewed. This is for a cake.

This goes in a 9 x 13 greased baking dish and bakes at 350 degrees for about an hour or until nicely brown.

Mix two cups of flour, a half cup of sugar, some salt and three teaspoons of baking powder. Cut in two tablespoons of margarine until it is crumbly. Add a beaten egg in a cup of milk.

Put the batter in the pan, spoon four cups of chopped rhubarb over it, then sprinkle on a three ounce package of strawberry gelatin.

Over all that, spread a mixture of one and a fourth cups of sugar mixed with a third of a cup of flour, a half teaspoon each of nutmeg and cinnamon and three-fourths of a stick of margarine. If you have pecans or walnuts, they can be added.

There is one thing that has made this week, and it did not come out of the drawer. This is for those who hate liver which is plain good for you every couple of weeks.

Since we are dieting, we do not fry a thing, which includes onions and mushrooms. This makes trying to make liver impossible. But some friends unexpectedly bought some really dry Italian red wine. They will drink most everything and so will I, but this stuff was impossible. They offered me part of the bottle, so home I went, soaked the liver in it for hours, then got the bright idea to soak the onions. I put them all together, wine and all, in the oven and baked it. The wine had tenderized the liver to the point you did not need a knife and the flavoring was perfection and since it cooked, you do not have to worry about becoming an alcoholic.

Who pays the cost of nursing care while the medical history is being reviewed?

Your energy-saving options are as easy as:

Electric Thermal Storage.

Electric Thermal Storage, ETS, a very efficient whole-house heating system that works in a unique way. It stores enough heat at night to heat your home for the rest of the day.

Because ETS uses electricity at night, when the cost of electricity is less, ETS customers qualify for special rates. So you'll get lower electric rates for heating. And for all other electricity you use at night.

What's more, the same lower rates apply all weekend.

ETS not only heats your home, it also heats your water. Individual room heaters are available, too.

Add-On Electric Heat Pump.

Another very modern option to save energy, and money.

An Add-On Electric Heat Pump works with your existing furnace — no matter what kind of fuel it uses — to heat your home more efficiently all winter long.

In summer, it's a central air conditioner, cooling and dehumidifying your home.

So an Add-On Electric Heat Pump can actually work year round for you and save you money on your winter heating costs.

Add-On Resistance Heating.

Another add-on option. Your third way to save energy and money.

Add-On Resistance Heating is simply an electric element that's slipped into the duct of your furnace.

It takes over for your furnace on weeknights and weekends when the cost of electricity is less. And, as an Add-On Resistance Heating customer, you pay special lower rates for nighttime heating — as well as all other electricity you use during those same hours.

For a low initial investment, Add-On Resistance Heating can be a real comfort to your nighttime heating costs.

Shelby wallops Red on six hits, 17 to 3

Plymouth opened its 1985 baseball season at Shelby Apr. 2 with disastrous results.

After taking a two run lead in the opening inning, Plymouth saw the Whippies score four times on three hits in their half and never look back in a 17 to 3 rout.

Steve Hall and Joe Tuttle shared mound duties for the Big Red. They allowed just six hits, fanned two and walked three. They received shoddy support.

Plymouth collected four safeties from three Whippier hurlers. Four of the Big Red went down on strikes and one drew a pass.

Lasch, Caudill add 32 to losing cause, 114-87

A new floor scoring record was set at Plymouth Apr. 2 when North All-Stars defeated the South, 114 to 87, in the annual Firelands conference showpiece.

The total of 164 set eight years ago by Plymouth and Lucas was exceeded by 37 points. No team has ever scored 114 points in a game on the Plymouth floor.

The record is tainted by the length of the periods, nine minutes as opposed to the OHSA eight.

Russ Logan of Western Reserve led the North with 18. Matt Spriggs of champion St. Paul's contributed 16. There were four others in double figures. Dave Kessel scored the 100th point at

4:16 of the final period.	Nickoli	3	3	9
Jeff Lasch, making his final appearance before a home crowd, bagged 18 to lead Coach Dave Dunn's squad, handicapped by the absence of two players. Four others made double figures in a vain effort to overtake the team coached by John Schlessman of St. Paul's.	Spriggs	6	4	16

Homemakers' 'Spring Fling' set at Shelby

Annual "Spring Fling" of the Richard county extension homemakers service will be Wednesday at Shelby MSC center.

Registration is at 9:30 a. m. Before the luncheon is served, new models will be installed.

Highlight of the day will be a style show by The Shoppe on the Square, Plymouth, with Mrs. Sidney Ream as narrator.

Among the models will be Mrs. Judy Hedge, Mrs. Neil McKown and Cathy Horne.

Seized with a sudden stomach ailment after dining at Mansfield, Dr. Charles O. Butner, Shiloh's physician, and his office nurse, Mrs. Kent Knaus, required hospitalization at Willard Apr. 23.

Former councilman and village administrator, D. Douglas Brumbach is in the intensive care unit at Willard area hospital, where his condition is "guarded".

Samuel Sanchez was a patient at Willard Apr. 24. Mark Adams was a patient there Apr. 5-6.

Carl V. Ellis was admitted for surgery to Mansfield General hospital last week.

Girls asked to sign up for softball

Girls wishing to participate in summer softball may enroll before Apr. 20 by completing a form sent home with pupils of Plymouth and Shiloh Elementary schools and Shiloh Junior High school and submitting a fee of $7.

High school girls may enroll with Sharon Williston, Sandra Elliott, Heather Howard or Lana Laser on the same terms.

Roy Barber, president; Larry Laser, vice-president, and their wives will respond to questions about the program.

PHisS seeks house records for history

Planning commission and Plymouth Area Historical society ask residents to complete a survey form of their houses concerning the historical background, along with other information, by this summer.

Purpose is to collect information on each structure and site, to promote the historic nature of Plymouth and to assist in the historic surveying of Plymouth. This will help the Village of Plymouth, the Plymouth Area Historical society and the Village Days committee to promote its heritage.

Forms can be picked up at the village hall.

30 fires in '84, loss $40,075, report says

Firemen dealt with 30 blazes during 1984, according to the computer print-out furnished by the state fire marshall's office.

There were 20 building fires, two in vehicles and eight miscellaneous.

Total dollar loss was $40,075. Of that figure, damage and loss of dwellings accounted to $38,000. Loss of agriculture structures was $575, special structures, $1,000, and vehicles, $500.

The department received only two false calls during the year and had no fire-related injuries.

Has end come to gravy train?

As technical advisor at $60 a month. He will assist in the daily testing and sign the reports.

Verburg met with the council committees last week to make the offer. He strongly suggested the village make an effort to have an employee trained at least as a Class 1 operator.

He also said that by July, 1988, every sewage disposal system in the country will be required to chlorinate its waste materials.

Root said this will be an expensive undertaking for the village because of the equipment required, such as running electrical lines to the lagoon site and installing a pumping system.

He told the committee thought should be given to raising the sewer rates next year in anticipation of the additional expenses.

The agreement with Willard, however, may be a temporary affair, since the Village of Shiloh which also depended on Mansfield for its testing, is in the same boat.

It was suggested perhaps the two villages could go together to install the necessary equipment to make tests. The Village of Greenwich has already done so and Root said the cost was about $12,000.

Pick-up of trash starts Apr. 19

Village pick-up trash days will begin Monday for the week through Apr. 19.

Trash may be left at the kerbside, preferably bundled.

No garbage will be accepted.

Honduras duty a far, far cry from Ft. Riley

Working and living in different countries is nothing new for people in the U.S. armed forces. The call to duty may send a serviceman or woman to the ends of the earth and almost anywhere in-between.

For Sgt. Jerry L. Miller, 22, son of the A. George Millers, Shiloh-Norwalk road, the call for duty came in the form of an assignment in Honduras.

"When I first got here, I thought we went for a ride back in time," said Miller, an aircraft powerplant repairer. "But the countryside, with all the mountains, reminded me of Germany and the hot weather was really nice."

Life at Palmerola can best be described as "auster." Service members live in temporary, pre-fabricated wooden buildings called Chutas. And while these buildings are a step above the tent city that occupied the area a year ago, the remainder of the facilities on the camp are a far cry from the modern facilities found on most military posts.

"It took some time to get used to working and living here," said Miller, who is permanently stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan. "I'm married and not used to working and living with the same people. It was also hard adapting to the difference changes in lifestyle. I wasn't used to walking outside to an outhouse."

By supporting military exercises such as Big Pine III, service members not only gain valuable experience in their job specialties; they also learn how to cope in an environment that is beautiful, harsh and sometimes unpredictable.

"It's difficult not being able to sit down on the couch with my wife after work," said Miller. "This has been the worst thing about his trip. I feel it has drawn all of us closer together down here."

Text by Staff Sgt.
Richard D. Glynn.

Lupe Fernandez.

We've learned to work together and have a good time together when we're off.

"We're in the dry season now, so it really gets hot during the day," he added. "The dust is really bad and as soon as I step out of the shower, I'm covered with dust again, so we can never stay clean here."

Duty in Honduras has another face, one of learning about different cultures. The Yanks stationed here may sample the Latin pace of Tegucigalpa or visit the serene and stately ruins of the ancient Mayan city of Copan.

"I guess overall, this trip has been a good experience," says the 1981 graduate of Plymouth High school.

"I've been able to see a lot of different things that most people can only dream about. I went to the Mayan ruins at Copan, spent a weekend at a resort and went to Lake Yohoa, which is supposed to have some of the best bass fishing in the world."

"I've also learned just how good I have it living in the United States. I wouldn't want to do this kind of duty again, unless the Army let me bring my wife, Rebecca, with me."

Chopper man

Sgt. Jerry L. Miller, an aircraft powerplant repairer, works on the engine of a U-1 Huey helicopter. Miller is temporarily assigned at Palmerola Air Force base, Honduras.

An ancient temple and ball court fill a plaza at the ruins of the Mayan city of Copan, visited by the Plymouth alumnus. Once the home of nearly 100,000 Mayans, Copan, along with other Mayan cities, was mysteriously abandoned during the ninth century. The ruins are a favorite sight-seeing spot for U.S. service people in Honduras.

All about town

Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. MacMichael and the Willard Foreman, Shelby, spent the holiday weekend with the MacMichaels' son and daughter, the James Rameys, Westerville.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leonhardt, Mesa, Ariz., spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lewis, last week. They were called home because of the sudden death on Apr. 1 of his father, Harold Leonhardt, Shelby. The Leonhardts operated The Fashion Shop in Shelby for a number of years.

The Michael Dicks, former Plymouth residents who have been living in Mansfield, have moved to Myrtle Beach, S.C.

R&R visit

Ryan Barber participated in the game directed by his mother, Mrs. Roy Barber, at right. She's the former Ruth Ann Patton, Class of 1966, Plymouth High school.

LeRoy Carrington, high school pupil, steered Timothy Dove, kindergartener, in a Right to Read game.

Mindy Taylor had her picture taken as the face of Care Bear. She is the child of the Larry Taylors and the grandchild of the William R. Millers and the John Taylors.

C. Michael Follett loaded pupils into the village's oldest - and first - fire truck, driven by Chief Wayne E. Strine.

An Army CH-47 helicopter takes off from Palmerola Air Force base with a load of U.S. military doctors and medical technicians, bringing modern medical services to the interior of Honduras. Humanitarian medical missions such as this one bring much needed medical and dental aid to isolated Honduran villages.

Readers' rewards: Carnival draws parents, pupils

Teachers succeed, in large part, because there is a carrot on the end of the stick.

A form of that carrot was manifest in Plymouth Elementary school Friday, when pupils who achieved during Right to Read month were treated to a dozen fun activities, including rides in the village's antique fire truck.

Pupils earned participation in the several events by completing tasks during the month, which entitled them to tickets valid for the events. These tasks included forecasting television for a whole day in favor of reading, reading aloud to a younger child, making an oral book report, designing a new book cover, visiting the village library and such.

Miss Christina Creamer was coordinator.

She had help, from Principal Mark Sheely to Fire Chief and Mrs. Wayne E. Strine, with stops en route at Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., the Village of Plymouth, McIntire's Plymouth Dry Goods, Moore's Parts & Service, Dr. Pierre E. Haver, Inc., First National Bank of Shelby, Richard Collins, Mansfield, carver, Plymouth High school pupils who managed games and Shiloh Junior High school pupils who painted posters and tattoos at the carnival. Not to mention a dozen or so parents, who contributed their time and enthusiasm to the carnival.

available from your Government. The U.S.
Government Printing Office has produced a new catalog. It tells about the most popular books sold by the Government — nearly 1,000 in all. Books on agriculture, business, children, diet, energy, health, history, space, and much more. For a free
