17 streets to be paved; cemetery gets building

Improvements to 17 village streets was authorized by village council May 14.

Total cost will be about $87,000. James C. root, village administrator, said he estimates blacktopping this year will be about $32 a ton. Last year the winning bid was $31.23.

Streets and alleys to be done are East Main, 3,200 ft.; Mulberry and Birchfield to Mills avenue, 1,000 ft.; alley off Birchfield, 500 ft.; South Wall street, 300 ft.; Railroad and Pine, plus patching in Riggs, 1,000 ft.; intersection of Bell and West High, 40 ft.; alley behind post office, 600 ft.; Franklin, 400 ft.; patching in Brooks court, 300 ft.; Walnut, 800 ft.; Light, 500 ft.; alley from Park avenue to West Broadway, 500 ft.; school driveway to gate of Mary Fats park, 500 ft.; both circles in the park, 1,600 ft.;

patching of Willow drive, 900 ft., and north end of North street, 3,000 ft.

The council also gave the green light to the construction of a maintenance building in Greenlawn cemetery. It will cost about $11,000 fully equipped, it is estimated. Payment will be divided, $4,500 from the cemetery fund and $6,500 from the capital improvement fund.

Kenneth Echelberry, cemetery sexton, has said it is badly needed to house the equipment, which can hardly fit into the present building that is just about falling apart.

Councilman E. Adrian Cole objected to the visits of a Frosty Ice Cream truck because of the danger to young children who will dash into the street without looking for oncoming cars.

He told his colleagues that many years ago his daughter was knocked down but fortunately not injured.

The driver of the truck, Clifford King, Bellevue, has offered to follow any safety requirements the village asks, according to Acting Police Chief Bill N. Spognardi.

It was suggested the truck stop at designated locations, which will help to eliminate some of the danger.

Councilman Roy Barber reported John Fazzin, village clerk-treasurer, has invested $130,000 of the fire pumper money at an interest rate of 10.65 per cent compounded quarterly for five years with First National Bank of Shelby.

During the committee meeting May 7, the police department fund was discussed. At the moment it is holding its own without having more appropriated into it. There is a possibility the money from workmen's compensation now being received for Police Chief Frank Hodge, who is on sick leave, may not cover the full period of his leave which expires in July.

It is a "wait and see" situation. Also at the committee meeting Councilman Keith Hebble said the village needs to consider a tree planting program and the removal of old trees that are dangerous.

Root said the water line survey is almost finished. When this is so, the size of the line near Plymouth Locomotive Works will be determined. The village has received a $20,000 grant for it from Richland county. Root is hopeful it will cover the cost of the proposed line.

Although it is still in the discussion stage, he hopes to run a larger water line in East Main street, which he estimates will hover around $30,000.

The gates of the Lord

Steps leading to First United Presbyterian church were deteriorating. Besides, access to the handicapped was all but impossible. Trustees ordered a pedestrian ramp that will, in time, be enclosed by a new vestibule. Willard Brewster dodged raindrops Tuesday to shovel earth off footer for ramp, expected to be completed in fortnight.

The Voice of The Advertiser -

What do we owe them?

At long last, those who served, and served us well, in the awful business in Southeast Asia have been accorded, are being accorded, the rightful respect and admiration to which they are entitled.

If they had asked us, we could have told them it would be so.

The world hates bad news. Particularly when the news, the painful truth, is that those who receive it are made out to be fools, less than intelligent, unwise, rash, ignorant, even malevolent. What people do is to shoot down the messenger. We are, figuratively and literally, so full of holes that we could give cards and spades and Big Casino to a sponge and beat it hollow.

To shoot the messenger doesn't change the truth. And the truth is, as we were several times warned by knowledgeable people who had out best interests at heart, we had no business committing ourselves to a shooting engagement on the other side of the world in a dispute that we could not win at any cost.

Our young men who were there can attest to that.

One of them, Forrest McKinney, laid down his life there.

What do we owe these fine specimens of American youth?

We owe them that we shall not ever again engage in such foolishness, that we will not saddle them and their children and their children's children with debts that they obviously do not want and probably cannot pay.

Nor is the limit on foolishness drawn only in the military theater.

Domestically, in the nation, in Ohio, in this county and, yes, even in this village, we all ought to consider anew these two questions: "How much will it cost?" and "Will it be worth the price when it is said and done?"

That's what we owe Frosty McKinney and the hundred or so other young men and women of this community who stopped their lives, Frosty permanently, to engage in national foolishness. Not because they wanted to, either. We sold it to them as their duty, more is our shame.

Educator to speak at rites Monday in Shiloh school

Stiffer regulations set at Greenlawn; one cremation a grave

Stiffer regulations governing burials in Greenlawn cemetery have been adopted by its board of trustees.

Only one cremated body may be interred in a single grave. The board fears that sale of plots will be inhibited if more than one burial of ashes in a single grave is permitted.

Each interment must be made in a concrete vault.

No new shrubbery, rose bushes or vines may be planted on any grave without the approval of the sexton, Kenneth Echelberry. Those who plant them will be held responsible for their upkeep.

Urns must be set in a concrete base at least 14 inches in diameter. They may be displayed between May 1 and Oct. 1 only.

Flowers may be planted at the head of a gravestone not further than 18 inches from it and must be kept free of grass and weeds or they will be removed.

Potted flowers, plants and baskets will be permitted for holidays, including Easter, Mother's day, Fathers' day, Memorial day, Veterans' day, All Souls day, Christmas, birthday and other anniversaries. They must be removed after five days.

Cut flowers will be permitted at all times but must be displayed in approved vases. Glass containers will not be permitted.

Kin of Meisers wed at New Washington

Miss Amber Elizabeth Heydinger was married May 11 in a nuptial mass sung at noon in St. Bernard's Roman Catholic church at New Washington to Gerald Franklin Hiler.

The Rev. Robert DeStoover was celebrant.

Daughter of the Allen Heydingers, New Washington, the bride is the granddaughter of the late Robert L. Meiser.

Mark Kehres was soloist and organist. He joined Karen Blum in duets. They were accompanied by the church choir.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white organza over taffeta, styled with scoop neckline and leg-of-mutton sleeves with natural waist. The skirt flowed into a cathedral-length train. Her hat was of Alencon lace, to which was attached a veiling of fingertip length. She carried her mother's prayer book and lavender and white roses with butterfly orchid and green.

George A. Carlier, formerly of Plymouth, where he was employed as chief compositor in The Advertiser from 1953 to 1959, visited the A. L. Padlocks, Jr., 78 Plymouth street, Friday. He is recovering from pancreatic surgery. He is employed by Ohio State university's publications office, Columbus.

One finds best recipes in the darnedest places!

By AUNT LIZ

This country has more unheard of heroes than those you read about, which is rather sad because everyone wants to be a hero.

Everyone knows who the big ones of cooking are. Such as Julia, Jimmy Beard, Craig Claiborne of the New York Times and his sidekick, Pierre Franey, and M.F.K. Fisher, whose cookbooks are like novels.

I guess writing a cookbook is something everyone wants to do, and a lot to it.

In a housecleaning spree I discovered we had a classic that I had forgotten. It is a little pocket edition that got tucked away in a corner. I must have picked it up one day years ago because of the little "The World's Best Recipes" and so help me it is just that.

It was written by Marvin Small who apparently was an executive who had retired from an advertising agency that took him around the world. Each place he visited, he seemed to come back with its best recipes.

If you have it, treasure it. If you don't, try to find it. It is worth it. What is so nice about it is that some of his choice recipes have little, interesting stories to go with them.

Like the story of a Kentucky host who had an annual Derby day breakfast filled with juleps, to which he invited everyone involved with horses, rich, poor and in between. One day he noticed a farmer standing with an empty plate surveying a sumptuous buffet table of luxuries, so he wandered over to see what the problem was. The farmer was merely trying to decide which dish was the "fillables". And with that tale, comes a great Kentucky black bean soup recipe.

None of his recipes is the "far-out" kind. They are practical, just like ordinary cooking around the world is.

Since this is the season for outdoor grills, his Chinese barbecue sauce can come in handy. He says that the Chinese use more sauce than meat, so this can be great on rice.

Combine all this in a sauce pan and just heat a little until it mixes: a fourth of a cup of soy sauce, two tablespoons of honey, one tablespoon of brown sugar, a teaspoon of salt, a half teaspoon of pepper, a minced clove of garlic and a grated one and a half inch of fresh ginger root. When it is all mixed, add a half jigger of ordinary brandy, not fruit flavored.

This does not make very much, you can tell, so double or triple it if needed.

He has a recipe from Bess Truman that had been in her family for several hundred years for pound cake, which is great topped with strawberries and cream.

This goes in a tube pan and bakes at about 310 degrees for at least an hour.

Cream two cups of sugar with just less than a pound of butter, add nine beaten egg yolks. Then gradually stir in four and a half cups of flour and a teaspoon of lemon flavoring.

The egg whites can be made into meringues, which are another treat with strawberries.

Beat them until frothy, slowly add a teaspoon of vanilla and a fourth of a teaspoon of cream of tartar. Then gradually while beating add two cups of sugar.

Drop spoonfuls on waxed paper on a cookie sheet, and bake at 255 degrees for almost an hour.

Donell Branham leads Red girls in regionals

"And a little child shall lead them"

An age-old adage comes to mind when one considers the regional Class A track and field competition at Mechock field in Mansfield today and Saturday and that Plymouth girls will be led by a young ninth grader who is just the third distaff competitor to wear the red and white to qualify for regionals in four events.

Count 'em: four.

She is Donell Branham, already the 1985 Firelands conference champion in the 300-meter low hurdles.

On Saturday she led the Big Red girls to seventh place in the district meet at Bucyrus with 34 2/3 points. She qualified not only in her specialty but also in the 800-meter relay, in which the Big Red finished second, behind Lucas; in the high jump, in which she took third place, at four feet five inches, behind Diebler of Colonel Crawford and Burkes of Mohawk; and the mile relay, in which Plymouth placed third, behind Colonel Crawford and South Central.

He was appointed to succeed Jerry Marshall, whose contract was not renewed after a 2-and-8 season.

Assistant coach at Norwalk for the last four seasons, Gilbert will continue to live there with his wife, Nancy, and son, Aaron, eight, a second grade pupil in St. Mary's parish school.

He is a 1968 alumnus of St. Francis High school in Toledo and a 1973 graduate of the University of Toledo. He will teach social studies.

He coached five years at the grade school level and 12 years at the high school level. Before going to Norwalk he was assistant at North Baltimore for two years and assistant at Bowling Green for six years. One of his associates at the latter post was Dayton (Hub) Reed, former Crestview head coach who is a Plymouth alumna.

About Bulls & Bears & Savings Bonds.

According to people in the stock market, bulls are good and bears are bad. But if you're buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, you don't have to worry about missing a ride on the bull or being devoured by the Wall Street bear.

When the bull is dominant in the market and rates are high, you'll share in those higher returns because Bonds now have a variable interest rate.

And that means there's no limit on how much you can earn.

But if the bear takes over and rates decline, you're protected by a guaranteed minimum of 7.5%. And that's only minimum.

Chances are you'll do a lot better over time.

All you have to do is hold your Bonds five years or more and you can ride the bull and beat the bear.

Take stock in America.
