

Test results above national level, Gase tells board

Performance on standardized tests by pupils in the second, fourth, sixth and eighth grades was above national averages, Paul Gase, guidance counselor in the elementary schools told board of education members Monday night.

He submitted a table showing performance of pupils in reading, language, mathematics, reference service skills, science and social studies.

These pupils submit to the test every other year.

Taking, he said, scores of 40 to 60 as the national average, Plymouth pupils rated "well above the middle range of pupils taking the test nationally."

Mrs. Neil A. McKown, a tenured teacher who has been on leave for family reasons, sought and obtained a year's extension. She argued that her young family — she has two children only a little more than a year apart in age, and needs her attention for one more year.

The board acceded to her request without discussion or dissent after Supt. Douglas Staggie said that Mrs. McKown understands that next year she will have to take what's available in teacher assignment that fits her training and experience.

Miss Julie Maher, an alumna of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, with a year's experience at Loudonville, was hired to teach vocal music, succeeding Miss Joni Rinaldi, whose contract was not renewed.

Mrs. S. Michael Tracey's contract to teach learning disabilities was renewed. This renewal comes at the end of year, later than others, because it depends upon availability of federal funding. This money is now available and Mrs. Tracey will continue her assignment here.

Village Days committee was authorized to rent Plymouth Elementary school on Oct. 10 between 1 and 5 p.m.

Great-grandson of Mrs. Carl C. Carnahan and the Harry Aumenda, Jeffrey Matthew Lenczowski was stillborn Saturday morning in Mansfield General hospital.

He is also survived by his parents, James and Janice Polach Lenczowski; a brother, Jeffrey, and a sister, Jodie, both at home; his paternal grandparents, the Bernard Lenczowski, South Bend, Ind., and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Carnahan Polach, Mansfield.

The Rev. Preston Van Deuren, minister of First Evangelical Lutheran church, conducted graveside services in Oakland cemetery, Shelby, Tuesday at 10:30 a.m.

What do the results mean?

"They mean that our pupils understand what they are required to learn and they apparently learn it very well."

The table below shows results of the testing by grades. A legend below identifies individual categories.

The scores listed represent national percentile scores. For individuals, Gase said, these scores reflect the number of pupils per hundred outscored by the testees on the particular achievement test. The scores shown here are cumulative for all pupils of Plymouth schools enrolled in the grades indicated.

Anticipated revenue $10,000 —

One mill tax sought to benefit park

A new one mill levy to fund expenses of Mary Fate park will appear on the general election ballot.

By unanimous vote, trustees of Mary Fate park voted in May to send a request for one mill of fresh taxation to village council for its approval. This was forthcoming Tuesday night.

"We want to make it absolutely clear," said Wayne H. Strine, president of the trustees, "that we do not now intend to seek renewal of the existing one-half mill levy when it expires next year. If the people will vote in favor of the one mill tax, we will allow the one-half mill tax to expire without trying to renew it."

"It ought to be understood that for a long time the park has tried to get along on one-half mill of taxation, in part because it was thought that amount was all it was entitled to under the law. Our research with the state auditor's office shows this was wrong. As it is, the one-half mill levy voted by the people has been scaled down by the county auditor to 45/100 of a mill, which last year produced just a few dollars under $3,000 for the park. One-half mill based on the tax duplicate of the village ought to produce $5,000, but the auditor apportions some village deductions to the park fund and we lose about 35 per cent of our revenue dollar that way.

"Our buildings are in need of repair. We need another pavilion. For safety and other reasons, there is need to spend money that we don't now have. We think we are doing a careful job of spending the public's money, but if anybody has any better ideas, we invite him to come to the park board meetings and let us have them."

Motorcyclist upsets —

High speed chase ends in arrest

A hot chase at high speed ended late June 5 in a ditch in May road in Huron county.

But Plymouth police got their man.

He was Walter Stover, 36, Willard, formerly of Plymouth and on several occasions a client of the police department, including once when he barricaded himself in his house and at gunpoint held off the police chief and others seeking to help him.

Police noted a motorcycle bearing improper plates parked in front of a local watering spot. They sought to halt the vehicle, suspecting Stover, but he eluded them, proceeding north in Route 61 at high speed.

The police vehicle set out in hot pursuit.

Stover turned into Route 598 and went south. The police vehicle was close behind, siren wailing. Stover sought to turn into May road and lost traction. The motorcycle upset. Stover was not hurt.

He was taken to Huron county jail at Norwalk and will answer charges in municipal court there of having improper tags, fleeing an officer and failing to have an operator's license.

Burnt marshmallows? They're great! Auntie claims

By AUNT LIZ

An Elsie I am not. The present one and her mother have over the years come up with some wonderful hints and ideas.

Maybe they have told the world about this one, which I learned the hard way.

Since this is picnic time and you will be going here and there with tasty salads of all kinds, you can end up with a disastrous problem.

Putting the dressing in too early can result in a liquidy mess. So if you have to go a distance, carry a container of it and mix it when you get there. Most salads have stuff that is loaded with water, which in turn makes the dressing watery.

And if you plan on sandwiches, take the easy way out. Bring the stuff and let everyone make his own. This way there are no leftovers to sit around, get soggy and end up in a disposal.

It's kind of a crazy world when we leave a comfortable kitchen with a table and chairs, drive miles, and sit around with an assortment of bugs to munch away. Some people are happy to eat this way if they have any food at all.

There are all kinds of picnics. Some are barbecues, which are open burning, since the kids will just be burning their marshmallows.

For a number of years we knew a bunch of young men who had one big one a summer (before they all got married and had kids, natch). They nicely had us on their list. And they were very gracious about their invitation, which said "Please come with a covered dish, and $7 to cover the beer." We all

And it was fun.

Then there were those great midnight picnics we had when we were in college. No way could I ever be too harsh with our kids when I remembered those nights.

Everyone in Minnesota had a "lake" cottage. Except us. My mother hated nature, and all her friends felt sorry for me, so it was like having one of my own.

Those late night affairs left their mark on me, but more so on a couple of the guys when a can of beans exploded because someone forgot to poke holes in it. I haven't seen them in years, but I bet they still have little bean-shaped scars.

They were really winner losers. Just a little fire, some sticks for roasting, the beans, and a mixture of gin and Coke. How we survived is a mystery.

We also should have drowned. We would swim around in the dark, which we all knew was wrong, since we were all official ARC lifelines. Call it the survival of the fittest.

But there is nothing like watching little ones roast wieners and marshmallows. A picnic has got to have a fire to make it real.

You can do this in your back yard. The EPA cannot object about open burning, since the kids will just be burning their marshmallows.

Reds clobber Yankees; Tigers blank Cubs

Reds and Indians share the lead in PML play after three games, each undefeated.

They lead by two games over the Tigers and Cubs, each of whom has won one and lost two.

Winless Cubs have lost four.

Reds clobbered the Yankees, 12-4, Thursday.

Bryan Combs hurled for the Reds and fanned 17. He also walked 11 but allowed only two hits over six innings.

Reds collected seven hits, including three in four tries by Brian Sione.

Barry Handshoe was the losing hurler. He struck out 13, walked 13 and gave up all seven hits over five innings.

Lineups:

Reds win over Tribe, take first

Reds stand alone at the top of PML after a 13 to 6 thumping of the Indians Monday night.

And George Anderson wishes his Tigers would go to the Yankees later this week what PML Tigers did to PML Yankees Monday. They won and won big, 17 to 0.

How will village deal with raise in water rates?

Raising of water rates will be discussed in a special meeting, decided in committee village council dedicated in committee June 4.

City of Willard has notified the village it plans to raise the monthly minimum rate, to the village.

The council has until May, 1986, to act upon the raise. The contract signed by the village Apr. 27, 1981, states rates may be revised at the end of each year. Sin, the contract was effective May 1, 1981, this fact allows for almost a year's time to study it and determine what raise will be necessary to pass on to Plymouth users.

James C. Root, village administrator, says he hopes the contract can be revised downward for minimum water requirements. It is now set at 700,000 gallons a day, but only a little over 500,000 gallons are being used. So the village is paying for unused water.

He agrees that something should be done about the aged and large trees in the tree lawns.

He said they are a danger because of threat of falling limbs and they interfere with utility lines. He suggested the council can find a way to help finance part of the cost of removing those that are necessary.

Hebble said sidewalks also are a problem and should be considered at the same time.

Root said he planned to attend a meeting last week for the communities that purchase electric power wholesale from Ohio Power Co. The discussion, he said, would deal with the purchase of power at a cheaper rate, which would be a considerable savings to local users.

Mrs. Hawk talks to OMTA about program

Newly elected chairman of North Central district, Ohio Music Teachers Association, Mrs. James Hawk spoke Sunday at the OMTA convention at Ohio Northern university, Ada.

She was part of a panel discussion presented by Independent Music Teachers Forum dealing with studio policy, professional image and public school credit and release time for private music instruction.

A part of the discussion was the success of the national music testing program conducted annually in Plymouth for district music pupils. Mrs. Hawk has served as chairman for the evaluation center for past three years. She is certified by Music Teachers National association and OMTA as an independent piano teacher.

Bread?

As of Tuesday morning, there still was BREAD available in the village.

Not much, but it was here. D & N Market had a small supply. There were sweet rolls from a Shelby bakery.

Mack's Super Valu had a good supply from its warehouse and a supplier who is not involved in the state-wide strike of bread delivery trucks.

Can county fund removal of mounds?

Huron county is a step closer to solving the hazardous banks at the Peru Center road crossing of the Chessie System railroad.

The railroad has offered to pay half the cost.

Lawrence Heit, county engineer, estimates the cost of leveling the banks, which will allow motorists to have a better view of trains approaching the ungarded crossing, at between $14,000 and $16,000.

The railroad has offered to pay half the cost at a meeting May 29 in the office of Rep. Richard Rench at Columbus.

Funds are available from state and federal sources for safety precautions at a railroad crossing, but this crossing is not on the list of hazardous crossings, according to Rench. Therefore, it is not eligible for such funds.

The crossing has had two fatal collisions in the last several years, which are partially blamed on the fact the view is obstructed at the northwest side of the roadway.

The property belongs to Harold Smith. He has offered to clear some of the brush and has offered his cooperation in any way possible.

Rench, however, does not feel that Smith should bear the brunt of the cost.

At one point in ways to solve the problem, the Public Utilities commission was considering automatic flashers, but later cancelled a hearing for them when it looked as though the removal of the mound was probable.

As it stands now, the county is looking for the other half of the funds. These can come from someone simply willing to fund them or from a county-wide fund raising drive.

Rench is going another route. He feels the protection of rail crossings should be the responsibility of the Department of Highway Safety rather than the PUCO or the Ohio Department of Transportation. If that occurs, then there is the chance that public funds will be available.

These Americans took time off their jobs to serve their country.

Washington, Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt. Citizen soldiers are more than just a part of our country's history. They are our country's history. For over three centuries they've been leaving their homes and jobs to defend America.

They still do today. They're the members of the Guard and Reserve. Their readiness is vital to our defense.

Be fair to them when their time comes to go on duty. Don't penalize them when promotions and raises are due. Our country's future still depends upon our citizen soldiers. They depend upon you. About Bulls & Bears & Savings Bonds.

According to people in the stock market, bulls are good and bears are bad. But if you're buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, you don't have to worry about missing a ride on the bull or being devoured by the Wall Street bear.

When the bull is dominant in the market and rates are high, you'll share in those higher returns because Bonds now have a variable interest rate.

And that means there's no limit on how much you can earn.

But if the bear takes over and rates decline, you're protected by a guaranteed minimum of 7.5%. And that's only minimum.

Chances are you'll do a lot better over time.

So you have to do is hold your Bonds five years or more and you can ride the bull and beat the bear.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS
NOW PAYING
10.94%

U.S. Savings Bonds now pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts! At the current rate, you could double your money in less than seven years.
Hold your Savings Bonds for five years and you automatically get the higher variable rates that change every May 1 and November 1. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. You'll probably earn a lot more—but never less than 7½%.

Money market rates. A guaranteed return. You couldn't ask for better reasons to buy Savings Bonds. And Bonds are still a great way to keep America strong.

Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too. Purchase them at almost any financial institution.
Or easier still, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Start today.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS
Paying Better Than Ever

Variable rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least 5 years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than 5 years earn lower interest.
