

Hail to the victors!

The victory of the cross country team in the Firelands conference championships is a reward to those who listened to the patient, painstaking coach, the man who says "I'm not a coach, I just believe in kids and if they need such as I am, then I'll be there."

The competitors, all seven of them — Jeff and Wendell Burton, Jamie Beck, Lance Combs, Brian Carnahan, Robert Smith and Brian Beebe, are entitled to our applause. And so is their coach, Paul Gase, who put his finger, as he so often does, on the nub of the matter: "We are a team competitor; if one guy on our team doesn't do his job, the whole business goes haywire!"

Sound words, those. Think about them, and not in the context of a cross country race, either.

For Moyer

There is no choice on Nov. 4 ballot so important as that of chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The incumbent has marshalled every resource at his command — and make no mistake about it, those resources are considerable; his home town newspaper said on Sunday, conspicuously, that some of them are one step removed from perversion — to retain his post.

We have said, many times, that it is unwise, perhaps even folly, to elect appellate court justices. They should be appointed, by, with and after due consideration by consultation with their professional colleagues and the upper house of the legislature.

But we do not have that luxury, unfortunately, and we must rely on the ballot box to throw the rascal out.

And he is indeed a rascal.

He has manipulated his office to reward his friends and punish his enemies. He has taken stands on partisan issues that one who is blind and deaf could have predicted well in advance. His conduct of his office has alienated his professional colleagues to the point where, collectively, through the state bar association, they have said he is singularly unqualified for his post.

That same home town newspaper said, on Sunday:

"Since February, . . . Justice Celebrezze's re-election campaign has received at least $10,500 in contributions from two Cleveland political action committees partially funded by organized crime figures."

"The committees are run by two locals of the Laborers' International Union of North America that have been repeatedly and publicly identified by government officials as being mob-influenced. Campaign records show the two PACs have received money over the past four years from convicted felons and men who have been publicly identified as members of associates of Cleveland's organized crime family."

"On two occasions, records show, decisions by the chief justice have benefited the treasurer of one of these committees, Cleveland laborer's union boss Chester Liberatore."

"In 1982, Celebrezze cast a tie-breaking vote against convicting Liberatore of arson. State records show that five days later, a Celebrezze campaign fund was given $5,000 — money that came from Liberatore's union PAC and followed an indirect path into the chief justice's campaign coffers."

The chief justice has refused to discuss these facts. His campaign manager says "the only thing that concerns me is whether or not the political committee within the union is operating within the law, and until the secretary of state says there is something wrong here, I don't have a problem."

And the secretary of state? He's Sherrod Brown, Richland county's own. He is quoted as having said the contributions were legal but "speaking for myself, I would not knowingly accept money from somebody who I think has acted illegally or immorally."

Mr. Justice Celebrezze's opponent is a distinguished lawyer and judge of broad experience. He has served on the appeals bench of Franklin county for seven years. He was in private practice for eight years, he is past president of the Columbus Bar association and secretary of the board of trustees of Franklin university in Columbus.

His name is Thomas J. Moyer.

By electing him we restore honor and decency to the appellate courts of the state. Vote for Moyer.

CPA hired by village to examine water rates

A certified public accountant has been engaged by the village to aid in the water rate dispute between Plymouth and Willard.

He is Bruce Johnson, associate with Feerber & Weinstein, Inc., Euclid, hired at the request of Richard P. Wolfe, 2nd, village solicitor.

He will make a study of the costs of the Willard water department from 1979 to 1985.

His study will show if the 17 per cent increase applied by Willard is justified.

Mayor Keith A. Hebble told village council meeting as a committee last week that he and James C. Root, village administrator, agreed to Wolfe's suggestion.

Root told the council he has had 21 householders request their sidewalks be repaved. An existing ordinance stipulates the householder be required to undertake the work, but it has not been totally enforced.

What to do with the "discarded" ambulance was discussed. The high bidder for it was Robert Rudd, but the council is still undecided if the vehicle should be kept by the village and used in another department. Both the water department workers and the cemetery are in need of a new vehicle.

Root reported a new vehicle for the water department can cost please see page 3

Bus notice: flashers on at loading

Plymouth school buses are now required to have their flashers on when they are in the Plymouth High school parking lot when loading and unloading pupils.

It is a violation to overtake any bus while the flashers are on, the same as when a bus is traveling its route and stops to pick up or unload a pupil.

Rothschild kin, H. M. Ott, 75, dies at Willard

Father of Mrs. Charles Rothschild, Route 598, Herman M. Ott, 75, died early Friday in Willard Area hospital of an illness of two years.

Born Jan. 8, 1911, in Shelby, he lived in the Shelby-Willard area his whole life. He retired from Ott's Sporting Goods, Willard.

He is also survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruth M. Crall, whom he married in 1939; a daughter, Lynn, now Mrs. Dean Link, Willard, and four grandchildren.

Two sisters, Misses Dorothy Sayre and Hazel Reese, died earlier.

The Rev. Herbert Gurnes conducted services from Secor Funeral home Monday at 11 a.m. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery, Willard.

Will Shiloh opt for sewer lagoons?

Will Shiloh opt for a lagoon system of treating sanitary sewage?

Its village council was told Oct. 9 that such a system is feasible, a conclusion with which the council agreed if it can obtain federal funding assistance.

Application for that has already been made.

A committee of Councilman Richard Tallman, C. R. Reeder and Charles Strickland was named by Mayor Delmar Nesbitt to look into the matter.

Custodial service employees who clean the village offices will be advanced in pay.

Village streets must be swept Mondays and Fridays, the council ruled.

Councilmen suggested that business houses clean their sidewalks at the same time, so that trash may be disposed of.

Hale ditch clean-up was assigned by Mayor Nesbitt to a committee comprised of Councilmen Robert Barker, Reeder and Mrs. Ronald Powers.

A catch basin and tile will be installed at the end of Pearl street. The village will furnish the catch basin and the tile, Gary Ball, Ball's Welding, will furnish stone and grate and will engineer the project.

Mayor Nesbitt reported his court assessed fine of $127, costs of $52.50 and paid the state $52 during September.

Miss Vandervort, 62, succumbs to cancer at home here

A 1942 alumna of Plymouth High school, Miss Luella Marie Vandervort, 62, 346 Plymouth street, died early Thursday of cancer.

She had fought the affliction for several months, lately with chemotherapy.

Born Apr. 18, 1924, to Harry and Gladys Phillips Vandervort, she lived most of her life here. She was graduated by Kent State university with a bachelor of arts degree in English and later studied for the master's degree in the Bread Loaf program in Vermont. She taught in Mansfield and Northfield, Ill. schools.

She never married. She was a member of First United Presbyterian church and formerly sang in its choir. Until her health prohibited it, she was a member of the village plabbing commission. She was active in the promotion of the ill-fate Village Days program.

She is survived by her father, Kerville, Tenn.; a niece, and two nephews. Her mother and a brother, Harry Stephens Vandervort, died earlier.

In compliance with her wish, she was cremated.

Her minister, the Rev. Julian Tuggart, conducted a memorial service from the church Friday at 2 p.m.

Memorials may be made to the Cancer society or to a preferred charity.

Secor Funeral home dealt with the cremation.

Lebkuchen? Great recipe for holidays!

By AUNT LIZ
Sometimes the English language simply does not make sense. But then some - others don't either.

The Italians have a work, ciao, that means hello and goodbye. (Ed. note: So do we; what about aloha?)

Then the other night for no reason at all, I happened to notice a classified ad in a nearby paper which said: Wanted: Sewers.

It went on to say that only professional sewers need apply.

It took me a while when we went to Italy to catch on to that, and it is only used among good friends, never with someone you hardly know.

Maybe I have a thing about those underground pipes. They were my first thought and I wondered what in the heck could be wrong with those people who were advertising for them.

After thinking about it for a few minutes, I realized the ad was for needles and thread people.

No wonder English is thought to be a very, very difficult language to learn. Now I think I can kind of understand why "Johnny can't read". If I am having a problem, think of those poor first graders.

Right now I am doing a little planning, ahead trying to be efficient for what is coming too soon, the happy holidays.

These will keep if stashed in a good air tight tin. It's Lebkuchen, German and very tasty.

It is a big recipe, so start with your largest bowl.

Beat four eggs until light and foamy, then fold in two and one-third cups of sugar and a cup of ground blanched almonds.

In a smaller bowl combine one and a half teaspoons of soda with three tablespoons of sherry. Stir this until the soda is dissolved, then add a cup of honey.

Bring out a third bowl for six cups of flour, a dash of salt, a teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of cloves and a half cup of finely cut-up citron.

Add the dry mixture alternately with the honey mixture to the eggs and sugar.

Roll it out on a floured board, and cut into squares. Put on greased cookie sheets and let it stay overnight in a coolish place.

Bake at 325 degrees until golden. The bars can be coated with an ordinary powdered sugar frosting.

If you need something in sherry for an after school snack, try these. If they have a name, I do not know it, but they are.

Use a double boiler to mix it up. You need a six ounce package of chocolate bits, a six ounce package of butterscotch bits, a three ounce can of Chinese noodles and a cup of peanuts.

Melt the chocolate and butterscotch over hot water and add the rest of the mix gently. Drop onto a cookie sheet lined with waxed paper and chill.

Will board accede to transfer of 239 A.?

Transfer of three parcels to Buckeye Central Local School district was requested of Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

Kenneth Karl, 7791 Scott road, was spokesman for the group.

He said his children are attending St. Bernard's Roman Catholic school in New Washington and he feels it would be better for them to continue on to Buckeye Central with their classmates than to attend Plymouth High school.

The other families are the David Stumps, 7652 Kenestrick road, and the Raymond Stimas, Route 103, Tiro.

Karl said when the Stimas purchased their property, they thought they were in the Buckeye Central district and that their children would attend the Tiro school, four miles away. Instead one is being bused to the Shiloh school.

Karl proposed the school district line be redrawn so that it is in a straight line and that 319 acres of land be transferred to Plymouth and 239 to Buckeye Central.

The property that would be transferred to Plymouth to achieve the straight line is the camping grounds of Maurice Cooke in Route 98.

Another argument Karl presented was that by not having to pick up his children, the bus would not have to jog out of its way.

Robert Wagner, head bus driver, said this is not so.

Supt. Jeffrey Slauson asked Karl to present the request in writing at the next board meeting Nov. 10.

What will be at the root of the request by the three families is how much the Plymouth district may lose in state foundation money by transfer of the pupils.

Slauson told board members Monday night the official enrollment of the district is 1,193, up by about 30 pupils from last year.

This amounts to 207 Plymouth Elementary pupils, 617 elementary and junior high at Shiloh and 369 in the high school, which includes those in Pioneer Joint Vocational school.

Tuition rates for pupils attending Plymouth from other districts will be $79.54 this year, as set by the State Department of Education.

Slauson said this is the smallest increase, 29 cents, in many years.

Board members approved June 5, 1987 at 8 p.m. for high school graduation ceremonies. The graduating class will also be dismissed on June 3.

Approval was given to the required state bus code, which spells out approved behavior of pupils and penalties for violations. The code is in effect from the time the pupil leaves his doorway in the morning until entering it at the end of the school day.

It also applies whenever there is a school activity where a vehicle is required, even though it is not a bus.

Request of Keith Johnson, adviser of Plymouth Chapter, FFA, for the board to pay the gasoline required for a small group to drive to Kansas City, Mo., next month for the national FFA convention was approved. The group will travel in its own van. Johnson thinks the cost will be between $120 and $150.

Because of a change by the Human Resource bureau, the district will not receive funding for student cafeteria workers. Slauson asked the board to authorize the hiring of a worker for one hour a day in the Plymouth cafeteria and for two in Shiloh at $2.25 an hour.

Resignation of Elmer Prater, effective Dec. 1, because of ill health was approved. He has served as transportation supervisor for a number of years.

Mrs. Carolyn White was hired as learning disabilities teacher for three hours a day.

At the beginning of the school year, it was thought one teacher working six hours a day could deal with the load, but there are more pupils for the class than has been planned.

A donation of $150 from First Buckeye Bank was accepted with thanks. It will go into the high school principal's fund.

Library to be subject of Boosters CPA hired by village to examine water rates

Trish Elbertson, Richland County Public Library, will speak Tuesday to Viking Academic Boosters in the high school library.

Boosters intend to review the library's facilities, study its current use and explore its potential for pupils.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting, to which the public is invited.

CPA hired by village to examine water rates from $7,000 to $8,000. Kenneth Echelberry, cemetery sexton, estimates a used pick-up for his department would be about $5,000.

Because of the absence of Councilman Roy Barber and E. Adrian Cole, Ross's suggestion of a number of capital improvements was not discussed. Nor was his suggestion of raising employees of the utility department 10 per cent and increasing paid holidays from seven and half to 11.

Monroeville spoiled pageantry of annual Homecoming in Mary Fate park, where Karen Thornberry is escorted by Co-Capt. Jason Robinson.

Queen for a day!

Eagles rally whips Plymouth, 30 to 20

Monroeville recovered from the shock of two quick Plymouth scores early in the game in Mary Fate park. Plymouth's "pit" Friday night and blew the Big Red's doors off in a 30 to 20 Firelands conference victory to end a three game losing streak.

The Eagles gained a net of 204 yards on the ground and 210 yards through the air.

Kevin Smith completed 15 of 20 passes, lost one by interception, and gave Plymouth fits all night.

The Eagles fielded Randy Smith's punt after the opening series at their 42-yard line and began an attack that reached the Red 19. On fourth down, Chris Pfeiffer kicked a 36-yard field goal. Monroeville covered 58 yards in 10 plays.

Plymouth came upfield with fervor. For the first time this season Coach Richard Roll turned his triple threat ace, Steve Hall, loose as a running back and the co-captain responded. He carried five of the six times Plymouth attacked with the ball. The last one was a 20-yard sweep of right end that produced the first Red touchdown. Hall gained 57 of the 59 yards. Plymouth amassed in this drive. Randy Myers botched the PAT and Plymouth led, 7 to 3.

Monroeville unleashed its passing game in the ensuing series and Plymouth could not do much with it.

Smith passed consecutively to J. D. Pothorski for 20 and to Pfeiffer for 10 to obtain first down at the 50-yard line. He rolled out to his left, then swerved to his right and 12 yards upfield was struck a jolt by two Red tacklers. The ball squirted loose and Chuck Deskins fell on it, at the Plymouth 35.

The Big Red attacked yet again. Its scouting report having led the Plymouth coaching staff to believe Monroeville was vulnerable to the end run, the Big Red attacked along those lines again. In 12 plays it was in the end zone again.

Hall ran for a touchdown from the 15 but the play was called back because the Big Red was holding. So from the 22, in a brilliant performance, the shifty Hall ripped around right end for 18 yards to the Eagle four, whence he poked for two as the first period ended.

On the first play of the second quarter, the Red fullback punched home, Plymouth having covered 65 yards in 12 plays. Myers' kick was not good and Plymouth let by 13 to 3.

It was at this point that Monroeville regrouped and began to assert itself.

It marched 72 yards in 15 plays with the kickoff, 55 of the yards coming through the air as Smith hit Pfeiffer, Jason Collins, Pfeiffer and Bob Smith before he threw to J. D. Pothorski for seven yards and the first Eagle score at 5:50. Pfeiffer's kick did not succeed.

Monroeville edged closer in the next series. Its kickoff went to the end zone and Plymouth set out from its 20. Hall gained two and was stopped for no gain on the second play. Chuck Kosse from the 22 sought to pass. His soft throw went directly into the arms of Jason Collins at the Red 12 and Collins ran unhindered into the end zone.

The pass for PATs did not succeed. The clock read 4:18.

Kosse was intercepted in the next series and it cost Plymouth another touchdown.

On second down, Brett Colahan nailed Kosse's pass from the Red 31 and Monroeville set up at the Plymouth 35.

In seven plays, Smith was in the end zone, the last six yards his run through tackle. He ran the PATs and with 49 yards left in the half Monroeville led by 23 to 13. The Eagles had scored 20 points in the 12 minutes of the second period, its best output of the season.

At halftime, Plymouth had outscored Monroeville on the ground, 111 to 100. But in the air the Big Red hadn't a yard and Monroeville had thrown 15 times with 10 completions for 129 yards.

Monroeville took the second half kickoff and drove 64 yards in nine plays for another score with 9:24 on the clock.

Bob Smith ran through right guard for 15 yards and through left guard for nine. After Monroeville was penalized for holding to the Red 30, Kevin Smith found Pothorski against the north sideline. He faked masterfully and snatched Smith's pass amid two defenders, and ran the 30 yards to the goal. A mild protest that he had earlier stepped out of bounds was not considered. Pfeiffer kicked the PAT.

The Eagles were, through scoring for the night.

It was not that they didn't try. The next time they got their hands on the ball they drove to the Plymouth two in 15 plays, 42 yards through the air on three completions by Kevin Smith, one to Pothorski for 20 yards, one to Pfeiffer for 12 and a third to Allen Leach for 10. On fourth down, Dave Powers intercepted Smith's pass in the end zone and the Eagles were thwarted.

Plymouth struck back.

Kosse went to the air, hit Powers for 14 and first down at the Plymouth 34. Then he went deep and Mike Schaefer intercepted at the Monroeville 29. On second down, Bill Smith coughed up the ball and Erin Echelberry recovered for the Big Red.

Plymouth needed five plays for the 31 yards to the end zone. On third down Kosse passed to Hall for 19 yards and the score. Myers kicked the PAT and Plymouth trailed by 10.

Neither team was a threat from this point.

It was mysterious that, having been so successful at running the ball in the first half, Hall did not get a call after the early going in the third period. All told, he carried 17 times for a net of 91 yards, by far his best performance of the season.

Kevin Smith was splendid for Monroeville.

The Eagles have a way of developing young quarterbacks and Smith is another in this mold. He passed with deadly accuracy and he ran with authority.

The Monroeville forwards performed up to snuff with a dogged will that shut off Plymouth's inside game, such as it is, was or Co-Capt. Steve Hall tore around Eagle right end for 18 yards on this play, with Greg Burks blocking.

... And on this shot Hall got 12 yards.

... No. 11, Mike Schaefer, did good job at defending against Red passes. He stopped this one aimed at Jason Robinson.

Eaglettes overcome Big Red

Monroeville got a stiff fight from Plymouth but prevailed in straight games of Firelands conference volleyball Oct. 7, 15 to 11 and 15 to 11.

Coach Cindy Ruffer of the Eaglettes called on the complete bench to see action.

Monroeville is now 13-and-3 for the season.

Colleen Smith notched nine points at service with two aces. Missy Watkins went nine-for-nine and scored six points. Kristin Scheel, Sandy Steiber and Joanne Hoji recorded perfect record at service.

Miss Steiber was a demon at the net, where she went nine-for-10 with eight kills. Kelly Ott recorded three kills in a seven-for-eight performance and Miss Smith had two kills with a five-for-five record.

Harriers outrun Monroeville, 15 to 46

Plymouth shut out Monroeville in dual cross country competition in Mary Fate park, the Big Red's stopping ground, Oct. 7.

Boys won 15 to 46. Girls collected a forfeit because Monroeville entered a five runner team but five did not finish.

Ray shot a bear! How to cook it?

Raymond Secor's vocation is to deal with the deceased. His avocation is to go afield after game.

And he went to Michigan in search of black bear, espied one, took aim, fired and brought down his quarry, which is now in the hands of J. Michael Bauer, Shiloh meat cutter, for dressing.

His uncle, Dr. John J. Rosso, the Willard physician, has been casting about among his acquaintances for "a guaranteed A-Number One recipe to prepare and cook bear so it can be eaten, because as sure as you're born I'm gonna get some of that damned bear."

For Dr. Rosso, Raymond Secor and others who shoot bears, here's a proven recipe: To make four gallons of marinade, bruise 25 green peppercorns. Place them in a glass or enameled bowl. Grate four tablespoons of fresh black pepper into the mixture. Add two tablespoons of io-dized salt. Add two table- spoons of marjoram. Add one tablespoon of turmeric. Add three crushed cloves of garlic. Slice four medium yellow onions thinly and add them to the mixture. Add two sliced yellow turnips (peeled), five sliced peeled carrots, two sliced potatoes.

Add three tablespoons of thyme. Mix in four table- spoons of olive oil. Add three gallons of dry red wine. Add one gallon of apple cider.

Use an enameled pail. Cut bear meat into manageable pieces and marinate the meat in the mixture for at least 12 hours, in a cool, dark place. When meat has marinated, remove from mixture, drain and pat dry. Lard the meat with a larding tool, using beef suet, bacon rind, or other fat, since bear meat is classically devoid of fat.

Roast in conventional fashion on small rack, using soap of marinade to baste meat while cooking.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Our Board of Commissioners should be more concerned with "WHAT WE CAN DO FOR THE PEOPLE," instead of "WHAT WE CAN DO TO THE PEOPLE." Governments should provide for the people that which they cannot do for themselves.

COMMUNICATION

Dale Bricker is proud of his service with Teamsters International, an "Executive Training Organization," a member since 1958. Bricker is a Past President of SHILLY Club #703 (1980) and MANSFIELD Club #647. Bricker is currently Lt. Governor, T.M. Division "C," serving as Training Officer within a 7 County Territory (9 T.M. Clubs). He communicates with people.

VETERAN'S SERVICES

Bricker believes in helping all veterans and citizens and questions why more isn't done for those that need help. With current fund cuts in mind, special attention should be paid locally toward medical & housing benefits for our Veterans.

Bricker is a member of Shelby's O'Brien, American Legion Post #326 and is current (1986-87) Public Relations Officer of Mansfield's ANVETS, Robert Spring Post #26.

GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1986

"Let's Discuss Issues!"

ROADS & DITCHES

Planning should begin on the drawing board, then mutual plans and solutions should be shared; improvement costs minimal, no road or bridge should be blocked during repair.

HISTORY

Should be preserved by all citizens, coordinated by Governments and their assigns for protection of high values.

WASTE

Contracts, purchases and services should be a cooperative effort and consideration. No one should selfishly put their importance above that of their affiliate.

LANDFILLS

It is time Richland County considers the "total picture" of disposal of

"wastes." We could be the leader of developing a WASTELAND of our County into a truly FUN CENTER ACTIVITY; profitable too.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Total commitment to PROMOTING OUR COMMUNITIES; manpower, skills, assets, resources & location to all concerned should be a continuous effort. More (U.S.A.) funds could be acquired if fiscal research, planning, and administrative skills would be accomplished locally, thereby eliminating delays in "red tape."

INFLUENCE

All opinions and intelligent reasoning should be heard and considered by Public Officials, but NO organization's pressure tactics should be sole reason for approval.

CARD OF THANKS
Our hearts are filled with thanks and gratitude to everyone for their prayers, concern, cards, calls, visits, food and flowers during Pete's stay in the Cleveland Clinic and at his passing.

A special thanks to the Pastor Van Deursen for all of his help, trips to Cleveland, prayers and comforting words to the Lutheran Church Women for the lovely dinner, and to First National Bank of Shelby for their understanding during this time.

The love and support shown to us has helped us so much through this difficult time.

God bless you all!
