

Key to funding 'job creation', planners told

It's unlikely, Dick Adair, community development planner for the Richland county planning commission, said Monday night, that the Huron or the Richland county commissioners would approve expenditures from any block grants in village areas not in their control.

What would come from Mansfield would have to be spent in Richland county and vice versa, he said.

He strongly recommended that Plymouth not sit back and wait for any county money, but seek its own independently.

Each county is given state money to be used at the discretion of the county commissioners, Adair said. Plymouth has received some of it. In 1982 the sum of $15,000 was used for street improvements and last year $20,000 for revamping a water line in the area of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

Adair pointed out that funds can be obtained to help small businesses at low interest rates. The only "price tag" to such loans is that it must create more jobs. He said for every $10,000 granted, one job is required.

The planning commission has been asking village council to place a mill levy on the May ballot to be called "Plymouth Improvement Levy".

Mayor Keith A. Hebble questioned the commission as to why it was asking for the approximate $11,000 the levy would produce annually. He said it would be hard to sell to the voters unless it is explicitly designated.

James C. Root, village administrator, brought the fact that the planning commission has had a budget of $2,000 which it has not spent.

The mayor said the village has money there could be used in lieu of a new levy by making some changes in planned expenditures for this year.

Mrs. Timothy Moore, a member of the commission, said if the levy is on the ballot and fails, the publicity would be worth it because it would show the commission cares about the village and wishes to see it grow and prosper.

Douglas A. Dickson, speaking as a citizen, brought up the fact that voters in Richland county will decide on a county bond issue for the Mansfield-Richland library for a building program which will not benefit Plymouth since it now has its own library building. He questioned if Plymouth could somehow not be asked to vote for the issue from which it will not benefit.

The commission since its formation has been interested in bringing restaurant to the village. Thomas F. Root has been a member of the committee to explore the possibility of a restaurant. He has said a fast food one would not be feasible because "they look for a larger population to serve".

Councilman Roy Barber asked if the village could own one and lease it out. The mayor said the idea would not work with taxpayer's money but that bonds could be issued to start one.

Dickson brought up the village's annual spring clean-up days, but Root said he did not think the village could do it this year. He does not have the manpower and the cost is out of bounds, since the lagoon site can no longer be used as a dump.

The council has taken no action as yet about the pick-ups, but it is hoped that each household will take care of its own trash.

The commission authorized the purchase of 10 benches at $115 each to be placed around the Square.

Here's auditor's view of state of village funds

MAYOR'S COURT

During the internal control analysis of duties, it was noted that one employee was involved in all aspects of accounting activities. The bookkeeper duties including that collecting of revenues and preparing the monthly bank reconciliations, in addition to recording and balancing the cash transactions of the Mayor's Court.

The responsibility of all accounting functions being vested in one person increases the possibility of manipulation of revenues and the opportunity to conceal irregularities.

In order to implement stronger controls and provide the basic concepts of internal control, segregation of duties and safeguarding assets, it is recommended that the duties of collecting and depositing be separated from the bookkeeping duties.

UTILITY COLLECTIONS

During our review of the utility department, we noted that the billings are not reconciled with the collections.

This practice could result in delinquent bills not being detected within a reasonable amount of time.

To correct this, we recommend monthly reconciliation be performed showing balance forward, current billing and billing adjustments, balance to cash received, penalties and other adjustments, and ending open account balances.

SWIMMING POOL RECEIPTS

Our review of cash receipts revealed the following:

1. The swimming pool did not maintain a record of daily receipts.

2. Pre-numbered season tickets are not being used for pool membership.

Though we found no abuse, the effect of this practice could result in irregularities or loss of cash without being detected within a timely period.

To strengthen account liability and provide better control over cash, we recommend:

1. Some form of cash record be maintained on a daily basis. This record should balance to the deposit each day.

2. Season tickets be pre-numbered and controlled.

POLICE DEPARTMENT - CITATIONS

During our review of the police department, we noted that very little control existed over the citations issued. No form of reconciliation was ever done.

This practice could allow for unpaid citations or misuse without being detected in a reasonable amount of time.

To correct this weakness, citations should be reconciled at least monthly and citations should be issued in numerical order.

PROPERTY CONTROL

Our review of the village's property and equipment revealed that no inventory list was maintained. The only list that was available was an insurance policy list.

This practice could allow for inventory to be lost or stolen and not be detected within a timely period.

In order to maintain controls over property and equipment, we recommend an inventory list be maintained to include: quantity, description, serial number and model number, tag number, purchase date, purchase price, date disposed, method of disposition and date inventory was taken and by whom taken.

Mansfielder aims to be senator

A 67-year-old Mansfield industrialist will seek the Democratic nomination for state senator in the 19th district.

If Richard R. Stander wins the nomination in the primary, he will oppose the winner of the Schaffner-Van Meter race for the GOP nomination in November.

Stander is an alumnus of Mansfield Senior High school and of Ohio State university in engineering, a calling he has followed since he was graduated. He joined the family business, Mansfield Asphalt Paving Co., which his father founded, and is today its president as well as head of Fredericktown Sand & Gravel Co., Mohiob Trucking Co., Mt. Vernon Asphalt Co., Elyria Asphalt Co., Mohican Sand & Gravel Co. and Park Building Co.

He is married and the father of four children, three of whom are involved in the family business. He has seven grandchildren. He has been a leader in the movement to obtain a hotel at the I-71 interchange south of Mansfield.

Jay Moser, POW in '44, dies at 66 at Mansfield

A hardware merchant at Shiloh all of his adult life and for most of his childhood, Jay Moser, 66, 12 Mechanic street, died Friday in Mansfield General hospital, where he was under treatment for severe cardiac disease.

He was stricken three weeks ago after two Shilohans engaged in an altercation in A. W. Moser Hardware, Shiloh, a mile from Moser's home. He was taken to Mansfield hospital, where he was under treatment for severe cardiac disease.

He was drafted into the Army during World War II and assigned to the 7th Armored Division. While engaged in the Battle of the Bulge, he was taken prisoner by the Germans and lived six months in a prison camp. Hereafter the Order of the Purple Heart for wounds in combat and the Bronze Star.

He was an avid golfer. He never married.

He was a member of George R. Broderick Post 291, VFW, Shelby; of the Shelby Owls club; of Elbert's Post 447, American Legion, here; and of Mt. Hope Lutheran church, whose minister, the Rev. Wayne Nieninen, conducted services from Secor Funeral home Tuesday at 2 p.m. Interment was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

A brother, Ross, with whom he lived, is his only survivor.

'51 alumna at Shiloh new USPM at Plymouth

A 1951 alumna of Shiloh High school will become the second Shiloh graduate to serve as Plymouth postmaster.

She is the former Della Laseer, who was graduated on May 16, 1951. She is the daughter of Alva Laseer and the late Mrs. Laseer. She was married to Edward Kaple and was widowed. She comes to the assignment, in succession to Mrs. Ruth Ann Pittenger, from the post office at Tiro.

Mrs. Kaple was for a time on the staff of Willard Area hospital.

Mrs. Pittenger, a 1956 alumna at Shiloh, is now the postmaster at Shelby, the first woman in that post as well as the first woman in the office here to be postmaster.

Mrs. Kaple's sister is Mrs. Carl Willford, 2386 Plymouth East road.

Foreclosure actions set at Norwalk

Charles E. Pritchard is defendant in a foreclosure action laid by First Buckeye Bank, N.A., on premises at 1-3 East Main street, calling for sale by the sheriff on Feb. 28 at 10:30 a.m. for not less than $18,000. Until purchase of the premises from the estate of Mrs. Peyton W. Thomas, the building was occupied by Plymouth Pharmacy and by The Plymouth Advertiser.

Blackfield Co. is defendant in a foreclosure action laid by Home Savings & Loan Co. in Huron county, calling for sale by the sheriff on Feb. 28 at 10:30 a.m. for not less than $65,000 of the premises at Route 224 and Bullhead road, New Haven township, for long known as Hartenstein's Supper club.

Rench seeks reelection to House

Rep. Richard Rensch (R-Milan) will seek reelection to the 90th General session in the Ohio General Assembly.

The 44-year-old former state highway patrolman defeated Robert Hoffman, former mayor of Crestline, in the last election. The district includes Huron county and Crawford county.

He and his wife have two sons. Rensch seeks his third term.

Three named to deans' lists

Mrs. Frank Burka, Parcel road, is on the Ashland college deans' list for the 1985 fall semester.

Two Plymouth students are also among dean's list designates on Mansfield campus, Ohio State university, for grade-point averages of 3.5 or better during the autumn quarter.

These are Jeanette Faeth and Cynthia Riedinger.

The Advertiser reported in its Jan. 30 issue that Rebecca Turson is a designee on the dean's list.

Bus flips, none injured

A Head Start bus carrying a Plymouth mother, her son, four other pupils en route to classes in Church of the Nazarene at Mansfield, the driver and an aide slipped injury Jan. 29 when their bus skidded at Mile's Corners in Route 603 and upset by going off the left side of the road.

Mrs. Wanda Alonzo, 28, 40 Trux street; her son, Christopher, three; the driver, Mrs. Marie Giesgo, 58, Shelby, who was summoned on a charge of failure to control her vehicle; Sarah Stevens, four; Crystal Conley, three; Mary Owens, four; and Rhonda Morgansten, five, were in the bus.

The children were taken to a house in Bowman Street road to await relief transportation sent by Head Start officials.

The bus was brought upright and driven on its own power away from the scene.

Police arrest man with pistol, wanted in Texas

Alert action by two officers of Plymouth Police department resulted early Friday in arrest of two men, one for carrying a concealed weapon, the other on a warrant issued by Mansfield.

Police were called to 33 East Main street to deal with a domestic disturbance Thursday at 10:37 p.m. They were told a man carrying a cal. 38 pistol had already left the scene.

Officers Peggy Strohm and Dane Howard returned to the police car and searched for the car in which the suspect was said to have fled. About 40 minutes later they spied the vehicle at Plymouth and High streets. They halted the driver and on search of the vehicle found a fully loaded weapon under the seat.

Timothy C. Sexton, 24, Ft. Worth, Tex., was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. His companion, Gary Majohn, 28, Shelby, was taken into custody on a warrant issued at Mansfield for failure to comply with a court order.

Subsequent inquiry by the police ascertained that Sexton is wanted by the Texas Department of Correction for a parole violation charge that derives from a conviction of armed robbery in Dallas county, Tex., and is wanted in Ft. Worth for armed robbery.

He was taken to Shelby jail.

Beef Acapulco recipe? Voila!

By AUNT LIZ

By now so much has been written about the big tragedy.

Frankly, I am surprised, like many others, that it had not happened earlier.

It was bound to.

When you push a new frontier forward, people get lost along the way. That has been very vaguely alluded to.

Just think what it was for out forefathers to move westward, just as far as Ohio from the Atlantic ocean. How many dropped along the way? No one really knows. Then some went farther on and eventually to the Pacific Land or sea, both took their toll from those early English, Spaniards, Portuguese and Italians. They dreamt of a "beyond" and believed it, and today we have it.

Some day because of people like those nice young seven, we will climb on a plane, settle down, be offered a drink and a snack, and off we go to a Hilton or a Sheraton somewhere up there.

The only people who will be against the whole thing will be those running good paying resort places down here on earth. It will make a big dent in their reservations.

Right now most of us are kind of earthbound, so we put up with what we have.

I have just discovered that most of us, or mostly I, simply have not discovered this world.

I just caught on to myself. I fall for stuff too easily and wrote for a free recipe booklet from a very well known chain of hotels that has them around the world in some very oddball places, including one on Saipan. Anyone in the Marine Corps knows what that was like once upon a time, probably the biggest casualty list that ever came into headquarters. Now they are lapping in luxury.

The recipe from there is not bad. It's for a little pork roast that I would simply stick in the oven and let roast away. They marinate it for a while in a mixture of a diced onion, three diced cloves of garlic mixed with enough vinegar to cover it, and salt and pepper.

Then there is the recipe from Acapulco that puts a new twist on beef.

Cut thin slices of beef from some cut that you know will be really tender. They say fillet, but I think you could marinate a cheaper cut a little and use it.

Saute the meat, then add some chopped onions, diced tomatoes, some minced garlic, a dash of minced green chili and a dash of thyme. Cook it a little, then throw in a little tequila. You can guess at it all and do a little tasting.

The one recipe in the booklet that leaves me completely speechless is from Jakarta. Once we knew three lovely Dutch couples who had lived there until a war broke out and they were prisoners for years.

We loved to be asked to their houses for dinner. The food was a mixture of Chinese and French. Plain good.

But what they are dreaming up now is a little far fetched for me. Goldfish!

They must have bigger ones than the ones people here have swimming around in a bowl.

The other catch is that you need a banana tree in the backyard.

I should think, though, that this would work with a nice Lake Erie perch.

Just flavor the fish with some onions, turmeric, ginger root, garlic, salt and pepper and a little oil. Stir it all together, then whip it into a paste, spread on the fish and bake in foil if you do not have the banana leaves handy.

"If your heating bills are high, add on a heat pump."

You can cut your heating bills by adding a heat pump to the gas or oil furnace you already have.

An add-on heat pump saves you money because it shares the job of heating your home. It goes on only when electricity is the most efficient, economical source of heat.

And all summer long, you get the comfort of air conditioning. Because in the summer, the heat pump reverses itself and pumps the heat out of your house while keeping the cool air circulating.

Because an add-on heat pump uses your existing furnace, most installations don't involve any changes at all to your ductwork.

If you think about the savings, the air conditioning, and the low cost of installation, adding a heat pump is a pretty smart move. Call us and find out more.

Ohio Geology

Notes from the Division of Geological Survey of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources

NATURAL BRIDGES

A natural bridge is a somewhat narrow ledge of rock that spans a small valley. Only about a dozen natural bridges have been reported from Ohio, but others probably exist. The majority of these bridges are in the eastern part of the state and are formed in sandstone, but two formed in limestone are known from Highland County. These bridges commonly form where soft sandstone, overlain by a ledge of hard sandstone, is eroded to form a rock-shelter cave. Eventually a portion of the roof of the cave collapses, leaving the remaining portion of the roof as a narrow bridge. One of the most famous, and perhaps the largest, that has formed in this manner in Ohio is Rock Bridge in Hocking County.

Jeff Staggs is lefthanded but he used a righthanded twist on his opponent in the bout he won at St. Paul's Jan. 28 in the 126-pound class.

Marvin Blankenship was a winner in the 132-lb. division.

A key bout was the 145-lb. class. Tony Bolen swarmed all over his man to win.

Randy Myers, but newly restored to the good graces of the OHSAA, showed why his coach has confidence in him: he pinned his opponent in the heavyweight bout at St. Paul's Jan. 28.

Red rally wins over Pirate girls; Mounties winners

Plymouth came from behind after eight minutes, outbounded and outshot Black River and walked away with a 50 to 42 victory Thursday night on the home floor.

The visitors were accorded one free throw and failed with it. The Big Red placed four competitors in double figures, Kay Weidermeier and Michelle Collins with 13, Tami Tackett and Donell Branham with 11 each.

Dennie Mantz of the Pirates was game high with 18. Pam Heilman scored 10.

Trailing by five going into the second period, Plymouth put it together and overtook Black River at the half, 25 to 22. A big third period, in which the Big Red outpointed the visitors by six, enabled Plymouth to hold off the Pirates in the final eight minutes. Plymouth got off 59 shots at the basket and converted 22. The Pirates bagged 21 of 50 shots. Plymouth missed half of its 12 free throws.

Where the Big Red was dominant was off the boards, 42 to 23. Miss Branham pulled down 13, Miss Tackett 10. Black River made 16 mistakes on offense, Plymouth only 14.

In wrestling at Norwalk —

Red whips St. Paul's first time in 10 years

For the first time in 10 seasons, Plymouth whipped St. Paul's in a dual wrestling meet at Norwalk Thursday night.

It was the first home defeat for the Flyers in four years.

The score was 39 to 24. "The key bouts were in the 145 and 185 divisions," said Ken Jones, second year coach of the Big Red. "I am not surprised that we won. Everything came together tonight — I've been telling 'em all year long to do what we tell 'em in practice. Their spirit was in a great. They all pulled together."

Plymouth is now 2-and-7 in dual competition and will engage Monroeville here on Feb. 8.

The victory over St. Paul's, which placed third in the Firelands conference championships at Olivesburg on Jan. 18, while the Red placed seventh in a field of nine, came despite the fact Plymouth was compelled to forfeit four bouts.

Summary:
98-lb.: Both teams forfeited;
106-lb.: Terry Farrigan (P) 13, Chris Colvin (S) 1;
112-lb.: Tim Reichert (S) scored a technical fall over Tim Farrigan (P);
118-lb.: Jeff Echebarger (P), won by forfeit;
126-lb.: Jeff Staggs (P) pinned Paul Suda (S), 1:21;
132-lb.: Marc Blankenship (P), 10, Matt Scripps (S), 3;
138-lb.: Craig Runkle (P) pinned

Jeff Strimpfel (S), 3:15;
145-lb.: Tony Bolen (P) 17, Dave Ott (S) 6;
155-lb.: Chris Phillips (S), won by forfeit;
167-lb.: Eric Claus (S), won by forfeit;
175-lb.: Andy Wasniak (S), won by forfeit;
185-lb.: Greg Burks (P) 4, Tom Gross (S) 2;
Hwt.: Randy Myers (P) pinned Tom Stoll (S), 3:26.

Black River rally nips Red; second half rebounding key

Black River dealt a severe blow, perhaps a fatal one, to Plymouth's 1985 Firelands conference basketball championship hopes at Sullivan Friday night with a comeback behind 71 to 69 victory.

The Pirates won it at the foul line and with superior rebounding. Often, notably in the second half, the Pirates were afforded three and four shots at the basket. When the smoke cleared, Black River had rebounded 45 times, Plymouth only 23.

The Big Red went into the final minutes on the head end of a 53 to 50 count. The Pirates did not go ahead until 2:16 remained, when Larry Clifford changed one home to make it 66 to 65.

This was the beginning of a six point run for Black River.

At 2:04, Clifford scored with two free throws, having been hacked by Eric Rath, who returned to the game after being carried from the floor with a turned ankle at 2:42 of the third period.

Trailing by three, Plymouth came down the floor and Bryan Christoff countered with a rebound off his own missed shot. The Pirates asked for time at 1:24 and 22 seconds later Randy Zechman threw in two free throws on a foul by Christoff.

Plymouth cut the lead to a point on a shot by Jason Robinson with 18 seconds left. Clifford missed two free throws that would have won it for Black River and the Big Red advanced with an opportunity to win.

But it made a mistake in ball handling, the Pirates took it and stormed to the basket, where with five seconds left Larry Ensign made the first of two free throws, having been fouled by Robinson.

Half's shot at the buzzer was off the mark. Black River jumped off to a strong lead and Plymouth played deliberate basketball to tie at 14 and go ahead by two after eight minutes. The Big Red outshot Black River in the second quarter, nine of 21 to seven of 18, and the visitors held a lead of 36 to 31 at the half.

Had Plymouth done somewhat better at foul shooting, it would have had a stronger lead.

The Al McGuire theory about the first three minutes of the second half was not helped in this one. It was a standoff, each time scoring six points until the Pirates began to assert their rebounding strength and they cut the Plymouth lead to three points.

Black River shot for field goal 72 times and scored with 30 of them. It missed seven of 18 free throws. Plymouth fired 73 times and converted 33 of them. It failed with six of nine free throws.

Shot selection by the Big Red was not so bad. It counted 16 field goals, 66 inside the paint and 17 portion of the floor, Black River 17.

Nor did Plymouth make too many mistakes on offense. It was charged with eight turnovers, Black River with 13.

Hall led all scorers with 25. Rath collected 12, Christoff 10, Keene and Taylor eight.

Tim Channel, probably a shooin for all-league honors, bagged 23 and Dave Savick 17 for the Pirates. Randy Zechman had 11.

'64 grad coaching track at Salisbury

A 1964 alumnus of Plymouth High school is track and field and cross country coach of University of Maryland — Salisbury, on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

He is Dr. Gregory E. Cashman, a twin, son of the Earl C. Cashmans, now of Sarasota, Fla. His grandfather, J. Elden Nimmans, and his father together totalled almost a century in the banking business in Plymouth.

Dr. Cashman is a graduate of Ohio University, Athens, where he lettered in track. His doctorate of philosophy in international relations was obtained at the University of Denver, Denver, Colo.

He and his wife, Linda, reside in Salisbury, where he has completed sabbatical leave as a professor to write a textbook on the causes of war.

Dr. Cashman has a son, Keith, 11, by a previous marriage.

SJHS wins at Milan, over Trojans

Aaron Fenner scored 12 points and Shane Garrett nine as Shiloh eighth graders defeated Edison, 43 to 32, on Jan. 23 at Milan.

Roger Keary bagged 18 and Tony Hammond 13 but Shiloh fell to Mapleton at home Jan. 28, 51 to 45.

Hammond registered a whop-whop 28 to lead Shiloh over South Central, 55 to 38, on Jan. 30.

One way to stop Steve Hall, Black River may have reasoned, is to raise his head by the chin, from behind!
