

Teacher retires; retention policy adopted by board

A veteran teacher retired from Plymouth Local School district Monday night.

Board of education approved the resignation of retirement purposes of Mrs. Bernice Campbell, first grade teacher at Shiloh, leaving the profession after 22 years of service.

Clayton Richard, a bus driver, also resigned.

Dennis Blanchard was appointed assistant girls' softball coach.

Mrs. Patricia Jackson, a learning disability teacher at Shiloh, was accorded maternity leave.

A new promotion and retention policy was adopted with but little discussion.

It provides that pupils in kindergarten through third grade may be retained with consent of parents.

and school authorities when it is believed the child's mental, physical and social development are best served at repeating the grade.

Pupils in grades one through eight may be retained (i. e., not promoted) if their grade level is F or unsatisfactory in two or more of the significant subjects, which are mathematics, reading, science, social studies, health or language arts. Grades of incomplete that are not overcome within appropriate time limits will be considered the same as an F.

Parents will be invited to a meeting among the teacher, principal and other staff members of the staff not later than Feb. 1 to discuss a possible retention. The building principal will make the decision by May 15 after discussing the matter with parents.

The voice of The Advertiser

On confusion

Government has no right to expect private business, of whatever nature, to do its dirty work.

Most especially the media.

There nevertheless comes a time, perhaps several times, when those in government ought to get some help even if they don't ask for it.

Such a time is now, when because the secretary of state has ruled on the ballot language of an operating levy, the village council finds itself between a rock and a hard place in explaining to the electorate that one of the two levies on the May 7 ballot is not an additional levy save in the strictest interpretation of the word.

What are the facts?

A levy of two mills that was approved a while back is expiring on Dec. 31. The village council has determined that its proceeds are important to the fiscal stability of the village and it has taken steps to retain that revenue.

To submit the levy as a renewal would be to apply the two mills tax that was approved in 1981 at its present effective level, or 1.8 mills. Why? Because owing to reappraisals and application of various tax reliefs approved by law, the effective rate of taxation of the two mills agreed to by the electorate is one 1.8 mills.

What alternative does the council have but to ask for the full two mills? Secretary of State Brown has ruled that ballot language for such plan must label it as additional taxation, an additional levy.

It's really not. It's the same old two mills, but now applied to the adjusted, read up to date, value of the real estate in the village.

It merits approval, despite the dog-in-the-manager attitude of the Friends' association, which in writing has accused the council of declining, nay refusing, to put a fire department levy on the ballot because to do so might jeopardize the chances of approval of the general fund operating levy and the cemetery levy.

An additional tax of one mill is sought by trustees of the cemetery.

The cemetery benefits from two mills of taxation outside the 10-mill limitation and from a one mill levy approved in 1981, effective for tax years 1982-86. It will expire at the end of 1987.

We have said many times that we object to the practice of burial of the dead because, as Mark Twain once said, "They ain't makin' no more real estate." We cannot afford the dedication of land for the purpose.

But over nearly a century and a half we have offered a public burial grounds here, the municipal corporation actively and knowingly engaged in sale of plots and service of those plots in perpetuity, and we are obligated to stand behind that commitment. Now it costs more to do that. The one mill cemetery levy is justified, it merits support at the polls on May 5.

'78 alumnus gets school post at Columbus

A 1978 graduate of Plymouth High school has taken a new position with South-Western City schools near Columbus.

Shannon Hamons joined SWCS as an administrator Mar. 10. His title is community service specialist in the school district, the seventh largest district in Ohio with more than 16,000 students and 80,000 residents. The school district encompasses southwest Franklin county, south of Columbus, and a portion of Pickaway county.

Among his responsibilities with the school district, Hamons will be director of three recreation centers currently under construction at each of the three high schools in the district. The buildings, which cost more than $6 million collectively to build, each contain three basketball courts, an indoor running track, community rooms and locker facilities.

In addition to administering the operation of the facilities when completed in August, 1986, Hamons is editor of several publications in the school district. These publications include the monthly employee newsletter, the "Southwesterner," which is distributed to each home in the district, the school district annual reports, and the district's new-come guide for new residents.

Hamons joins the school district after three years as a newspaper reporter and editor. He spent the last two years at the Grove City Record near Columbus as editor and general manager. Previous to that position, he was sports editor at the Willard Times.

He received a bachelor of science in Education degree from Bowling Green State university in 1982, majoring in recreation administration. Among his activities at Bowling Green, Hamons was a member of an academic honorary fraternity and sports announcer for two Bowling Green radio stations.

Hamons and his wife, nee Cullen Beard, a 1979 Plymouth High and 1983 BGSU graduate, live in Columbus. She is a computer programmer/analyst in BancOhio National bank, Columbus.

EPA order on tabs arose in village

A complaint by a resident of Happy Hollow Trailer park that excess roofing, shingle materials were sold by a Milan manufacturer for use in driveways, in violation of EPA standards, has prompted Rep. Richard Renc, R-Milan, to assist EPA, which ruled the shingle tabs, long, thin cutout pieces, are solid waste and not in the landfill.

Renc is angry that the manufacturer, CertainTeed Corp., who does business in Milan, has been dealt with so unfairly.

If CertainTeed cannot sell the tabs commercially, it will have to pay a hauler to take them to a landfill.

EPA says the tabs could lead to environmental problems.

EDST starts on Apr. 27 at 2 a.m.

Eastern Daylight savings time returns to Ohio and most of the remainder of the nation Sunday, Apr. 27 at 2 a.m.

All time pieces must be advanced one hour.

When the clock strikes 2 a.m., it will, in fact, be 3 a.m., 30 minutes past the legal closing time for alcohol permit holders entitled to be open until 2:30 a.m.

All sales and consumption of liquor must cease at 2 a.m., Director William J. Flaherty says.

Van Wagner injured in fall

A fall from a riding mower on the premises of Mrs. E. LaBarre Apr. 8 resulted in severe lacerations of the leg of William L. Van Wagner, 212 Trust street, who was removed by ambulance to Willard Area hospital, where the wounds were closed with multiple sutures.

Vance C. Hoffman, Sr., 165 Railroad street, fell and dislocated his shoulder on Friday.

Two plots here, one at New Haven change hands

Sidney and Diana Ream have acquired the deed to Lot 217 Sandusky street, from Florian A. and Rose M. Brown, Huron county residents.

Nathaniel and Sharon D. Maggard bought Lots 120 and 121 in Walnut street from First Buckeye bank.

Charles H. and Shirley G. Riedinger bought 8.5692 acres in Routes 224 and 61, New Haven, from Laura Rosenberg.

Protection by sheriff renewed at Shiloh

Police protection at Shiloh by contract with the Richmond county sheriff was renewed by its village council Apr. 9.

Fee will be $11,000 annually. Contract is for one year. It calls for two deputies to be in the village five days a week.

It does not specify the number of hours each deputy shall work at Shiloh.

Snowmobiles must henceforth not be operated in the public right-of-way. A written agreement must be obtained from the owner of private property to use it for snowmobiling.

A three year contract for fire protection with Cass and Adams ingroove townships was renewed, also by unanimous vote.

Councilman Richard Tallman reported he has joined the sheriff's department as part-time cook and jailer. Solicitor Jon Burton said he may not vote as a councilman on matters relating to police protection. Tallman asked to be removed from the safety committee.

New committee assignments were made by Mayor Delmar Neabitt: Charles R. Reeder, Mrs. Gloria Powers and Mrs. Barbara Musie, industrial, police and planning; Tallman, Robert Barker and Mrs. Powers, streets, sidewalks and storm sewers.

No decision was taken on the application of Thomas and Carol Krans to have some land declared agricultural so they can add sewer and water and electric assessments against it in years to come.

At sewer lagoon —

Police to build shooting range

Permission to the Plymouth police department to use part of the sewer lagoon site as a firing range was approved by village council Apr. 8.

Chief Steven Caudill can develop the range at no cost to the village.

Councilman Bill Taubee recommended the fees for Mary Tate swimming pool remain the same as last year.

Taubee also said Continental Cablevision of Ohio, Inc., which serves the village, is on the path of obtaining a channel that will air athletic events from Ohio State university.

No action was taken concerning the liability insurance for the fire department. Councilman E. Adrian Cole was told to call the agency to determine if it is possible to obtain coverage only for personal liability rather than the complete package for vehicles, buildings and equipment.

Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine and Councilman Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr. exchanged harsh words when Strine said she made vulgar remarks about the firemen. She retorted she did not like being disturbed at her home while she is busy.

The disturbance occurred when an indignant fireman called at the Paddock residence to take issue with a piece that, it some became clear, she did not write and had no input. The fireman proceeded to take his grievance with Mr. Paddock, already outfitted to umpire a game at the high school field.

Mrs. Paddock had said that she does not believe in the need of renewing a half mill levy which will expire with the 1988 taxes because the department had a continuing three mill levy.

Since the levy still has two years to run, no decision has been made about putting it again on the ballot.

Mrs. Howard, 86, a life Shiloh, dies in hospital

Mrs. Ronald R. Howard, a native Shilohan who lived or near there almost 87 years, died Thursday in Mansfield General hospital of a lengthy illness.

She would have been 87 on Apr. 15.

Born Grace Pittenger, she lived in Guthrie road near Shiloh for many years. She was a member of Mt. Hope Lutheran church and of the Loyal Daughters class and of L.C.W. She was a pillar in the B Square Farm Women's club.

A widow, she is survived by a daughter, Beatrice, now Mrs. Donald Kenderfer, Adario; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Forsythe, Willard; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A son, Richard, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Barnes, also died earlier.

Her minister, the Rev. Wayne Niemenin, conducted services from the church Monday at 2:30 p.m. Interment by McQuate-Seccor Funeral home was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Ne Jean Pitzen —

Mrs. Predieri, 43, dies in hospital

A long fight with a debilitating disease ended Thursday in Willard Area hospital for Mrs. Ronald Predieri, 43, 165 Sandusky street.

Born Jean Pittzen, daughter of the late Frank and Marguerite Boardman Pittzen, in Shelby on Oct. 27, 1942, she was one of a 1962 alumna of Plymouth High school.

She was a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, whose pastor, the Rev. Donald Mueller, conducted services Monday at 11 a.m. from McQuate-Seccor Funeral home. Interment was in Green-lawn cemetery.

Her husband and three sisters, Holly, now Mrs. Charles Pugh, Columbus; Georgiana, now Mrs. Larry Berberich, Morristown, N.Y.; and Linda, now Mrs. Roger Gaudin, Shelby, survive.

Cause of the death in the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation are suggested.

Telephone once luxury, great for recipes!

By AUNT LIZ
 Over the centuries, parts of time get a name that is dreamt up by historians.
 Today we can look back on the Greek period, the Roman, the Renaissance, the industrial age, the Victorian, and today we are called the nuclear.
 Perhaps a thousand years from now that may be right, but right now I do not quite agree.
 I say it's the telephone age.
 Granted Mr. Bell is long gone. But he left his handiwork around, and since I have been around a long time, my memories go way back.
 We always had a telephone when many didn't. Back in those days it was a real luxury and used as such. Part of that was that not everyone had a car nor even a horse, so friends could chat even though they were not face to face.
 Then as the years went on, a telephone became a necessity for everyone's safety. To call the doctor, the fire department, to order groceries and to make complaints right back at the telephone company. That I know had, because my first and only real job was with the Bell system, and that was what I did, listen to complaint. You just soothed the ruffled feathers, and they would hang up loving the company, even though it was a real monopoly.
 At one time the city I grew up in had two telephone companies, and if you wanted to talk to a friend on another company, you had to have two telephone lines. Many houses did.
 Eventually, it all became one big system, Ma Bell.
 Now it is a real mess. Our happy government decided that someone was making too much, so it broke it all up. Free enterprise is the core of our country, but it is a little confusing. Everyone and his brother seems to be running long distance lines. Right now, as far as we are concerned, we are able to call our kids and they can call us.

But I can kind of see a big problem looming up. They may be hooked up with a company with which we are not.
 Meanwhile everyone is telephone happy. You can buy a fancy job just any place. You no longer call and order it from one place. Just try any discount store, and you have the pick.
 For years, one telephone was it. Then it became at least two, one up and one down. Now they are inside and outside in every room.
 We know a nice family whose kids are gone off, so there are only two of them, and can you believe, they have seven telephones? In one house!
 When I asked just where they had them all, I simply had to accept the necessity of two in their bedroom. It seems they have a king size water bed, and it is almost impossible to be on one side of the bed and reach all the way across, so they have one of each side of the bed.
 Think what a future there is for the industry when the Chinese discover how handy telephones are. Africa is another open field that will put the village drummers out of business. We can just press a couple of buttons, but some of those remote tribes are still pounding it out.
 Nevertheless, I love my telephone. It is great for gossip and even greater when a nice friend calls and invites you to dinner or when you call a nice friend and invite him.

 One of my favorite recipes come via the telephone. We lived in Switzerland years ago, and they had direct dialing way before this country did. It was truly miserable because we would meet people from here and there, eat at their table then go home a hundred miles away and call them, because it was so easy, for the recipe of something they served. It kept all of us in hook to the Swiss telephone system. If we had to have telephone for a number in any of their four languages, it would never have happened.
 This comes from an old friend who lived in Geneva. She probably found it in a cookbook we didn't have.
 It is a great sauce for cold, left-over roast beef.
 Mix a cup and a half of mayonnaise (the real stuff, and better if homemade) with a teaspoon of chopped fresh tarragon, a teaspoon of chopped dill, a fourth of a cup of chopped parsley and a tablespoon and a half of chopped chives.
 All these things will be popping up out of the ground soon. The fresh is the best, although you can use the canned stuff. And it is great on sliced tomatoes.

All about town . . .

The Thomas Freunds, Deerfield, Ill., were Sunday luncheon guests of the A. L. Paddock, Jr., 78 Plymouth street. Mrs. Freund is a great-granddaughter of the late Solomon Spear, once a prominent men's ready-to-wear merchant here, who became a leader in political, commercial and fraternal circles. She has never visited Plymouth. Her uncle, Nathaniel Spear, Jr., New York N. Y., a grandson of Solomon Spear, has lately been bereaved by the loss of his wife of 60 years.
 The Charles F. Hanlines were guests of honor Sunday at open house at Willard, in the home of their younger daughter, Karen, now Mrs. Richard Myers, and Mr. Myers, in belated celebration of their 40th anniversary. The Hanlines were married in 1946 in Cleveland, where he was employed by Standard Oil Co., and they came here "by out" an opportunity with John F. Stambough Co. It grew into ownership of the firm and a 40-year tenure here.
 The Hanlines' elder daughter, Deborah, Tempe, Ariz., sent here for the reception. Her elder brother, Charles J., Jr., Willard, and her younger brother, Robert, Plymouth, also attended.

Huron county officials have hammered out some of the last technicalities regarding Peru Center road's "killer crossing", capping weeks of deliberation about the crossing's fate.

The county was informed by the Ohio Department of Transportation the disputed crossing site is eligible for federal funding. However, only 90 per cent of the cost of the removal of the mounds would be picked up under the proposed program. A round of informal meetings took place late last week between the county commissioners, Rep. Richard Rensick and County Engineer Lawrence Heid.

Under discussion were the possible sources of revenue which might be utilized for the county's 10 per cent share of the removal cost.

Commissioners passed an enabling resolution declaring that revenue sharing funds, along with railroad funds, would be utilized in order to bear the cost. County engineer's office has received confirmation from the B & O Railroad that its offer to share half of the county's cost of the removal of the mounds is still open.

Commissioner President Roy Palm noted that "After all, those mounds are on private property. Everybody just wants to make sure that we were not biting off more than what we could chew down there by being nice guys."

The final time table for the project has yet to be determined. Plans are being made which may allow for the work to be complete before the first of June. Heid says "All the T's have to be crossed and the I's dotted with ODOT and the feds, but it gives us a pretty good feeling to know that there is a light at the end of this tunnel."

Candidates invited Apr. 28

Third annual political candidate night will take place in Plymouth High school on Apr. 28 at 7 p.m.

Sixty-eight candidates are invited.

Plymouth is the only place to host a two-county candidate night in Ohio.

Candidate night is open to the public to ask questions pertinent to these officials.

Refreshments will also be served.

This candidate night is sponsored by Plymouth High school American government classes and the student council, Douglas A. Dickson, instructor, Krist Staggs, Maria Ousley, Sandra Polachek and Dianna Hudson, chairmen.

According to County Commissioner James Westerhold, the turning point came in discussion with Willard City Manager Paul Capelle when federal revenue sharing funds were suggested to be used to fund the local share of the project. "I mean, hey, what we don't need is to get the county's behind used off when we are out there getting rid of these things (mounds) and being nice guys." Westerhold commented that railroad funds were also being used as a matter of practicality. "After all, most of these funds, revenue sharing, are pretty well allocated and any money that we save here can be of use elsewhere in the county."

Mrs. Knaus head of Bike-a-thon

Mrs. Kent Knaus has been appointed chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's bike-a-thon in Shiloh May 10 from 9 a.m. to noon, starting from United Methodist church.

"The Shiloh bike-a-thon is one of many held nationwide. Combined, these events raise millions of dollars to fight cystic fibrosis," Mrs. Knaus says. "I hope the residents of Shiloh will give their all to support this national effort."

Money raised from the event will help fund research to determine the genetic causes and treatments for cystic fibrosis, the nation's number one genetic killer of young people. Cystic fibrosis is an incurable disease which primarily affects the lungs and digestive system.

To become involved in the Shiloh bike-a-thon, one may call Mrs. Knaus at 896-3331.

Rhodes to speak at Norwalk at fund raiser

Former Gov. James A. Rhodes, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will speak Thursday at a luncheon in Norwalk.

Public is invited at 1 p.m. at the Maple Tree restaurant.

The luncheon will also serve as a fund raiser and a donation will be asked in the amount of $25.

Telephone reservations may be made by calling 668-9887 or 935-1306.

Rhodes was Ohio governor from 1963 to 1971 and 1975 to 1983.

Before that, he was state auditor for 10 years and mayor of Columbus for 10 years.

Three 'pupils-of-month'

Two 12th graders and an 11th grader are pupils-of-the-month for April and will be honored by Plymouth Lions club.

Twelfth graders are Lisa Robinson and Maria Ousley. Eleventh grader is Thomas Dials.

Daghter of the Franklin Ousleys, Plymouth route 1, Miss Ousley is a member of Louis Bromfield Chapter, National Honor society, of FHA, of the marching, jazz and pep bands, of the yearbook staff and of the public address announcing staff. Earlier she participated in musicals, was reporter of the school newspaper, served as FHA officer, was co-editor of The "Avamall, the yearbook, and a officer of the band. She was a district FHA representative. She attends Rain-bow Valley chapel, where she is president of its youth group. She belongs to Reach-Out 4-H club and is its treasurer. She is a winner of the county 4-H committee award for the coveted state homemaker degree.

She will enter Mt. Vernon Nazarene college, Mt. Vernon, to prepare for a career in English education, minoring in home economics or mathematics.

Miss Robinson is the daughter of the Daniel Robinsons, 101 Park avenue, also a National Honor society member, enrolled in the talented/gifted program, as is Miss Ousley, and is the champion-speller of the high school, a title she has won three times. She was runner-up once. She is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students" and is the winner of awards in history and the American Legion citizenship test. She is a consistent honor and merit roll pupil. She plans to engage in office work and in activities of Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Young Dials, son of the Foster Diales, 24 West High street, is a winner in the declamation contest and a participant in musicals and plays.

He wants to be a teacher.

Worried about having to choose a long-distance company?

There's lots of confusion these days over how, when, and why you must choose a long-distance company to handle your "one-plus" calls.

(Actually, many people have already chosen the long-distance company they want to use. And, of course, you may sign-up with companies serving your area anytime you wish.)

The confusion is coming from all the ads telling you that if you don't choose, someone else will do it for you. They're talking about the new service called "equal access." With equal access, you must choose the company you want to handle your direct dial calls.

But, don't panic. You don't have to do anything until you hear from us. Since we are the ones to make equal access available in your area, you can bet that nothing will happen until we've notified you.

(Some areas may never see equal access. That's because long-distance companies may choose not to offer the service in all locations.) If your town is one of the ones to get the new service, we will send you all the information you need to make a decision.

We'll send you a package explaining the how, when, and why of equal access. It will tell you exactly what you must do. And when you must do it. In fact, it will even include a ballot to make it easier for you to notify us of your choice.

But, until then, you don't have to do a thing. So sit back, relax. Your long distance service will be the same tomorrow as it is today.

Red rally defeats AAA Senior, 10 to 7

When the Big Red decides to play ball, it is no respecter of size. Plymouth went to Arlin field at

Flyers nip Big Red, 7-6, behind Myers

Plymouth opened its 1986 Firelands conference baseball slate on a sour note Apr. 8, going down before St. Paul's, 7 to 6.

The Flyers got to Steve Hall for five runs in the third to snatch the lead and Plymouth could not recover, despite two runs in the seventh.

Hall poled a home run for the Big Red. He fanned eight, and passed eight. Chuck Kose, his reliever, walked one.

Hall's old opponent in football and basketball, Charley Meyer, took the hill and pitched creditably. He struck out seven and walked two. He, like Hall, was stingy with hits. Plymouth got only five safeties. The Flyers had six.

Jason Robinson and Charley Beverly struck doubles for Plymouth. Klausner, Obinger and Conney for the Flyers.

Steve Hall, twice a loser before Monday, survived the six run outburst by Senior in the second inning, with relief help by Jeff Stagers, who also struck a triple, notched his first victory of the season. Hall also accounted for two of Plymouth's 11 safeties.

Charley Beverly also clouted a triple for the Big Red, which got two hits from Jamie Brown and Troy Keene as well. Keene hit a double.

Hall fanned three and passed three. Stagers issued one walk and struck out one.

Czernewski, the loser, struck out six and walked six. E. Johnson fanned one.

The Tigers scored 10 hits. Plymouth scored five in the third, tied it in the fourth, allowed a run in the fifth, then vaulted into the lead with two in the fifth and added two in the sixth.

Ohio history pupils of Mrs. Julie Frankl made pillows highlighting events in the Buckeye state's long and glorious past. Tasha Tuttle and J. B. Neff, fourth graders, displayed a covey of pillows Monday morning.

Two women hurt in collision at Routes 103-598

Two women were seriously injured in a car-truck collision Monday at 12:10 p.m. at Route 103 and 598.

Mrs. Lucille B. Lillo, 76, Willard, and her passenger, Mrs. Elenor R. Lillo, 68, Willard, were admitted to the intensive care unit of Willard Area hospital.

Mrs. Lillo was driving west in Route 103, when a small truck driven by Joseph W. Horner, 23, Huron, going north in Route 598, failed to stop at the intersection.

The Lillo car struck the side of the truck, then went into the ditch. The truck continued on a short distance and overturned.

Horner apparently was not injured by the impact. He was charged with failure to yield by the state highway patrol.

Horner is one of the partners in J & D's Country Farm Market, which has recently opened at the south edge of Plymouth.

Being new to the area, he was unfamiliar with the roadway and apparently only saw the stop sign newly installed farther ahead at the railroad crossing in Peru Center road.

Man held at Akron on charge of cocaine

A Plymouth man was arrested at Willard Apr. 9 on a drug sale charge.

Estate Lopez, 42 West High street, was arrested by Cleveland drug enforcement officers on a charge of selling cocaine.

Olivero Arredondo, 40, Spangler road, Willard, was also taken into custody. Both men were held in lieu of $25,000 bail.

At the last meeting Randy Myers discussed awareness teams. Program committee, Lisa Rath, Michelle Krietmeyer and John and Randy Myers, will meet with the advisers.

Members will sell Stanley products.

Michelle Krietmeyer discussed kitchen safety, Lisa Rath CPR and Kathy Myers bicycle safety.

Randy Myers will participate in the safety talk preliminaries at OSU-Mansfield May 14. Finals will be May 21.

A chimney fire in the home of Quentin R. Ream, 324 Willow court, was brought under control by firemen Apr. 8 at about 7:25 p.m. without much damage.

Mrs. Combs dies; interred at Shiloh

Interment took place Sunday in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township, for Mrs. Savel Combs, 58 Shelby, who died there Thursday of a lengthy bout with cancer.

Born Beulah M. Parrigan in Clincho, Va., Apr. 29, 1927, she grew up in Wayland, Ky. She came to Shelby in 1955.

A retiree of Federal Signal Corp., Shelby, she was a member of Little Rebecca Old Regular Baptist church, where Elder Buddy Carty conducted services Sunday at 10 a.m.

Her husband, two sons, Michael and Edmond, Shelby; a sister Mrs. Edith Terry, Wayland, Ky., and three brothers, Edmond Parrigan, Shelby; Leon Parrigan, Plymouth and Samuel Parrigan, Shelby, survive.

Her parents, the McKinley Parrigans; a sister, Genola Parrigan, and four brothers, Leonard, Franklin, Virgil and McKinley Parrigan, Jr., died earlier. Interment was by McQuate Secor Funeral home.

Miss Johnson to go to parley

An 11th grader in Pioneer Joint Vocational school will attend a youth leadership conference June 24-27 at Denison university, Granville, sponsored by the State Department of Vocational Education. Winifred Johnson, enrolled in cosmetology, will attend activities for entrepreneurship.

She was selected for this educational experience for her talents and leadership qualities.

Echelbarger wins award as No. 1 in FFA

Jeffrey Echelbarger is the star chapter farmer of 1986 of Plymouth Chapter, Future Farmers of America.

He was chosen at the annual banquet Apr. 8.

It is the highest honor a local chapter may bestow.

Son of the Don M. Echelbargers, Base Line road, he also won the award for outstanding crop production — 10 acres of soybeans that produced 41 bushels an acre; swine production — two hogs that averaged 1.8 pounds of gain a day and achieved a food conversion of 2.05 pounds of feed for each pound of gained weight; diversified livestock — three Holstein steers totalling 3,155 pounds of market weight and two market hogs, and the 12th grade leadership award, which he shared with Leonard Myers.

Other winners:

Myers, horse award, for raising two animals with 220 hours of practical experience; work experience award, 532 hours of service on a dairy farm; diversified crop award, for raising 20 tons of corn an acre and five tons of hay an acre;

Lloyd Hoffman, sheep award, with market lamb that gained half a pound a day on six pounds of feed for each pound of weight gain;

Randy Smith, specialty animal, for raising 50 pheasants over 38 workhours; fruit and vegetables, for raising 329 pumpkins on 2,700 sq. ft. of land; improvement projects award, for applying 159 hours to repair of a barn roof and a truck and other projects;

NOT FOR SALE

Every year the Government publishes thousands of books. And every year the Government Printing Office sells millions of these books to people in the know. Now there's a book that tells you about the Government's "bestsellers"— but it's not for sale... it's free!

It's our new catalog of almost 1,000 of GPO's most popular books. Books like
Infant Care, Merchandising Your Job,
Talents, The Statistical Abstract, Starting a Business, The Space Shuttle
at Work, How to Select a Nursing Home, Voyager at Saturn, and Cutting Energy Costs.

This catalog includes books from virtually every Government agency.

So the subjects range from agriculture, business, children, and diet to science, space, transportation, and vacations. And there are titles on military history, education, hobbies, physical fitness, gardening, and much, much more. There's even a special section for recently published books.

Find out about the Government's bestsellers. Send today for a copy of the book we don't sell. Write—
