

Reckless waste, that's what it is!

The village is one step closer to enacting an ordinance that directs the mayor and clerk to advertise for bids by trash haulers for an exclusive contract to collect waste from every household in the village, at a fixed fee.

One councilman, the courageous Mr. Welker, demurred on the matter of suspension of the rules, so that the ordinance could be passed at once.

While one is mystified that a councilman can vote for an ordinance and all of its implications, but not vote for its enactment at once, one is compelled to observe that the thrust of the no vote has to be that some staff work, some prepared study, some specifications governing the prospective bidders, shall be forthcoming before Aug. 11, when the council next meets in regular session.

So far, there is no sign that any such effort is to be undertaken by anyone in the village employ. Nor is there any indication that a councilman will do so. Perhaps the mayor, who by law has the right to introduce legislation, under certain controlled circumstances, will extend his moral support of the present legislation to the detailed staff work that he is by training and experience eminently, perhaps perfectly, qualified to prepare and present and clarify for the public the complete rationale behind the legislation.

This newspaper's inquiries of the two scavengers now doing business here have resulted in a single recommendation: it would be wiser to back off, if for no other reason than that landfill dumping rates tend to be more dynamic than static. And we have shared that information with at least one councilman, who will, we trust, vote nay on final roll call on Aug. 11.

We know of no public outcry for this legislation. True, to solicit bids is not necessary a statement of intent to proceed. Nevertheless, as the ordinance is now worded, when it is approved the mayor and clerk are empowered and directed to choose a contractor and to enter into a contract with him without further review by the council.

Neither Mayor Hebble nor Mrs. Jump has ever shown, to us, at least, any sign of being a "railroader." The point is that it could happen and it does not become the village that its legislative body would put itself, and its constituency, in such a position.

The cost of carrying out this, so far, cockamamie scheme — how can a bidder prepare a tender to throw his line into a pond without knowing what he's supposed to catch? — is likely to be more than most of us conceive.

The solicitor has already exacted a stiff fee for drafting the ordinance (what ever happened to the notion that one role of the solicitor is to advise the village so that it doesn't do foolish things?).

If the ordinance should be passed on Aug. 11, at least the electorate retains its right of remonstrance. A remonstrance petition can be prepared and if sufficient signatures — 10 per cent of the total number of electors who participated in the last gubernatorial election — can be obtained, the whole matter can be decided on Nov. 5, in the general election.

At more cost to the village, please note.

The sheriff

The convicted sheriff of Richland county is to be sentenced a week from tomorrow.

He who thinks the report directed by the visiting judge to be prepared in respect to Richard Petty's conduct prior to the conviction will be sufficient to justify a stiff sentence is naive. The severity of the sentence will be the result of the measurement by the judge of such arguments for harshness as may be advanced by the prosecution and for leniency as may be certainly be presented by counsel for the defendant, and by his personal interpretation of the gravity of the offenses of which Petty stands convicted.

To buy more land —

Cemetery tax: one mill if new, less if renewed

Voters may be asked to approve a renewal of a one mill tax for the benefit of Greenlawn cemetery in November.

The levy runs out this year. Trustees of the cemetery told village council last week they would like it renewed.

If it will be a renewal or worded differently as to be a new levy will be discussed Monday night during a special meeting of the cemetery board and council members.

If it is worded as a new levy, there will be a slight increase in property taxes and more money for the cemetery. A renewal would continue at the present rate of taxation.

Kenneth Echelberry, cemetery sexton, said the acquisition of additional land is needed soon and the one mill could be earmarked for that purpose.

Trustee, clerk to run again

Incumbent New Haven township trustee Thomas Shaarda, Jr., and clerk, Calvin Wadsworth, will seek reelection.

Each is circulating a nominating petition.

Mack sells building for $150,000

Sale of his business premises at 262 Sandusky street for $150,000 to Charles David Mack, his younger son, has been effected by R. Harold Mack, Huron county recorder reports.

Sale of a house and lot in Plymouth Springmill road by the Gatenbrink partnership to David G. Coulter was effective July 8. So was sale of an adjoining parcel, occupied by a dooryard garden, to Robert and Bonnie Hall.

Sale of their premises in Plymouth East road to Robert Hanline has been completed by Larry and Mary Lee Miller Taylor.

Mrs. McKenzie gets decree

Jennifer McKenzie, 51 Trux street, has obtained in Richland county domestic relations court a decree of divorce from her husband, Paul Roosevelt McKenzie, Shelby, a journal entry shows.

Car split by train, driver held

The car of a Plymouth driven was cut in half by a Chessie System train at the Edwards road crossing Friday at 6:30 a.m.

Kenneth Roberts, 30, Lot 39 Huron Valley Mobile Home park in Route 61, was driving to work at Lake Park Industries in Greenwich. He would normally proceed via Route 224. But the crossing there is obstructed while workers install rubberized road surface and traffic is diverted to Edwards road. Visibility is said to be limited. There are no gates nor warning lights.

When ambulance crews arrived Friday morning, Roberts had crawled through the window of his vehicle and was walking around.

He was taken to Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital in Newark. He was later summoned for surgery to yield the right of way.

If the tax is voted upon, the cemetery will have a total of three mills rather than two mills.

The council heard Ronald Cason, police dispatcher and court bailiff, describe a Monroe 2000 Systems computer that he said would fit the needs of the department.

The Flint, Mich., company specializes in computers designed for law enforcement departments.

If purchased outright, the cost would be $8,583, of which $1,023 is for the annual maintenance contract. However, a lease-purchase arrangement can be made with monthly payments over a three to five year period that would apply to the purchase price.

Councilman Roy Barber said the clerk's office is in need of a computer and the same company has a model on sale for $2,750.

No decision was made. It will be discussed during the council committee meeting next month. Approval was given on second reading of the all-village trash pick-up ordinance. But it again failed as an emergency measure when the motion to suspend the rules to allow a third and final reading drew a nay vote from Councilman Lee Welker. Welker wants to have more detail worked out as to charges.

He said it is not fair that an elderly neighbor who has very little trash to be picked up should pay as much as a householder that has more.

Mayor Keith A. Hebble told the council there is a possibility that the village will furnish electrical power to Plymouth Locomotive International, Inc., in the future.

He said the company's president, Paul Capelle, has inquired of him, the village can do it is to be studied. For years the company was served directly by Ohio Power Co., which has installed a large transformer on the company's property.

The council decided not to take action to regulate garage sales. Last summer it was considered because neighbors complained of some houses running them every day right through the summer months.

Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., said this year "has been more quiet" and she does not think villagers are taking advantage of too many or long sales.

Leonard Jessie approached the council about installing a mobile home on the three and a half acres he owns in Beelman street.

The zoning ordinance prohibits mobile homes except in one designated area in Springmill road, and there a mobile home park requires 10 acres of land.

He was told to obtain a building permit and refer it to the board of zoning appeals.

He left in a testy frame of mind, saying he knew of three others that were illegally installed and that there was an empty trailer on property adjoining his. James C. Root, village administrator, pointed out that it was unoccupied.

1965 alumnus gets new appointment in Washington

A 1965 alumnus of Plymouth High school will on Sept. 1 become associate director of training, Wyatt Corp., a Washington, D. C., actuarial consulting firm.

Dr. Arthur L. Paddock, 3rd, 39, has served as senior associate and assistant director of training. The Principal, formerly The Bankers Life, ninth largest insurer in the world, Des Moines, Ia., since Jan. 1, 1982.

He was graduated by Hiram college in 1969, took a master of arts degree in sociology from Illinois State university, Normal, Ill., in 1970, and the doctorate of philosophy from Southern Illinois university, Carbondale, Ill., in 1974.

Between 1973 and 1977 he was assistant professor of sociology and anthropology in California State college, Bakersfield, Cal., and from 1977 to 1979 director, criminal justice department, Murray State university, Murray, Ky. Between 1979 and the end of 1981, he was a professor of criminal justice, Illinois State university.

Married on June 13, 1970, to Miss Patricia Gayle Crouch, Alton, Ill., he is the father of Elizabeth Layne, 10.

Plymouthite Michael R. Berberick, left, receives congratulations from College of Engineering, Dean Donald D. Glower during commencement ceremonies on the campus of Ohio State university. Berberick received the bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, awarded cum laude in recognition of his superior academic performance. The son of the Robert Berbericks, 330 Trux street, he is a 1979 graduate of Plymouth High school. He was class president for two years and belonged to the football and basketball teams. At Ohio State, he was vice-president of the student chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers. The OSPE selected him as an outstanding student in engineering and he won the John Mount Academic Excellence award. He has joined the Arthur Andersen Co. and will pursue graduate studies in corporate finance on a part-time basis.

Biggest event in county, Shiloh parade Saturday

Annual exposition by Shiloh Town & Country Garden club will start in Mt. Hope Lutheran church Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and conclude at 9 p.m.

Biggest one day annual event in Richland county will occur Saturday in Shiloh, when the Shiloh-Case-Bloomingsgrove Firemen's association stages its parade to conclude a two day ox roast and festival.

If the weather cooperates, a crowd of 11,000 is anticipated.

Proceeds will be applied to purchase of life saving and firefighting gear by the department. Events begin tomorrow.

A total of 2.5 tons of quality beef will go into the pits off Route 903 east of Shiloh tonight. First increments of the roasted beef will be served tomorrow at noon.

In addition to roast beef sandwiches — it is not unheard of for one customer to order 150 or so — sandwiches for lunch on Friday — the event will feature hot dogs, Sloppy Joes, French fried potatoes, roasted corn ears, potato salad, baked beans, pie, cake and soft drinks.

Garden tractor pull will be conducted tomorrow with prize money for winners.

Rook fans eight in 18-2 win —

All-Stars take second place at Willard

Plymouth 11 and 12-year-old All Stars captured second place in the Willard 'Midlet League' tournament championship.

After a 19 to 0 shelling by eventual champion North Robinson of West Washington, the only loss to that point in the tourney, Coach Tom Rook said, "There's not one weak spot there."

Adam Taylor of the Tigers had Plymouth's only hit, as seven Plymouth batters were set down on strikes.

"We need to go up and hit the ball and get some hits from our first four batters," Rook said before resuming the rain-shortened championship game.

It was the bottom half of the order that delivered for Plymouth. Five of Plymouth's eight hits came from the last five batters and scored five of the six runs.

Plymouth won, 6 to 5. The Cubs' Dale Fletcher went three-for-three with a double and two singles. Brett King keyed a four-run fifth inning with a one-out, two RBI single with the bases loaded. Not to be outdone, Foster Dials led, followed with a two RBI single of his own and the game-winning RBI.

Plymouth provided some fireworks in the July 4 Willard tournament for all-star midlevel league teams. Plymouth All-Stars breezed past three opponents, losing only to North Robinson.

In the first game Plymouth trounced Willard Park and Pingers, 18 to 2, behind Jason Rook, who recorded eight strikeouts and issued one walk. Chris Gullett had two hits and two RBIs as Gullett King added three RBIs on two hits. Tied at 1 to 1 in the fourth, Plymouth exploded for a 10-run inning.

Willard Mariners were Plymouth's second victim, 15 to 5. Brian Handshoe struck out six and walked three. He had two hits, one a three-run homer over the left field fence, and three RBIs. Rook smacked two doubles in his fourth hit, four RBIs display. Gullett tripled and doubled for three RBIs. Roger Crager added two hits with an RBI.

After a 19 to 0 loss to North Robinson, Plymouth rebounded for an 8 to 4 victory over West Washington. Handshoe retired 13 batters on strikes and walked four. Rook, the losing pitcher against North Robinson, had two hits. Foster Dials added a double and Gullett and Andy Fenner drove in one and two runs respectively.

Headhunter hits one more time: Laird let out

The headhunter on Monroeville's board of education has swung his axe again.

Tim Laird has been fired as head boys' basketball coach after a 1- and 20 season blamed by the headhunter, in part, on the village newspaper, which he said failed to cover Eagles' games adequately. That the only sports reporter on the paper's staff was at the time fighting for his life in the intensive care unit of Mansfield General hospital made no difference to the headhunter, who has been responsible for the departure of three head Eagle coaches in as many seasons. After Harry Angsupurged let Monroeville to a state Class A championship in 1984, Bob Stitt, Jim Dillard and Laird were successively entrusted with the reins of the Monroeville team, only to be invited to hit the road. That experienced talent was thin — only one 12th grader turned out for Laird's team — was apparent to opposing coaches and scores of Firelands conference fans.

New coach is Dana Carley, with eight years of teaching experience and coaching experience. For the last four years Carley has been assistant coach at McConnelville in Morgan county. He will teach social studies. He is married with two children.

Laird will continue to teach mathematics in Monroeville High school, where Angsupurged still teaches sciences.

Boys to take physicals

All boys wishing to engage in interscholastic athletics must submit to a medical examination.

Plymouth High school boys will be examined at Willard Monday at 8 a.m. Transportation for those unable to arrange their own will depart from the school at 7:30 a.m.

Neeley wins at Shelby

Even an old blind sow finds an acorn if she roots long enough!

Ralph Neeley took his 1972 Nova show car to the Bud Young Chevy-Olds Car show at Shelby and in a competition with over 100 owners, he won the People's Choice award, the highest prize in the show.

Reds win undisputed 2nd place

Thursday, July 9
R O I 4 3 5 - 13
T 1 5 1 0 0 - 7

Reds gained sole possession of second place in PML play with a 13 to 7 five-inning victory over the Tigers, now 0-10. The game was called because of the 8 p.m. curfew.

Tigers held a 6 to 1 advantage at the end of two full innings. They sent 11 batters to the plate in the second inning.

Reds drew to within two, 7 to 5, in the third inning and took the lead on Josh Swartz's bases loaded walk in the fourth for the game-winning RBI.

Lee Fenner's Reds stand at 6- and 5 on the year and have clinched at least a tie for second place in the fourth for the game-winning RBI.

Monday, July 6
C 0 0 3 0 0 0 - 3
C 3 0 1 0 0 X - 4

"We stink when we play these guys — they psych us out," said Cubs' Coach Tom Rook after the July 6 narrow 4 to 3 victory over the Indians in PML action.

The Cubs were held to just eight hits as John Haas and Brian Loebe combined for a seven-hit outing.

Cubs starter Jason Rook was replaced in the third inning by Foster Dials. The Indians left the bases full in the third, as Dials surrendered one of only two hits, a single to John Haas, walked two and fanned two in the inning. "Mental errors took us out of one inning," said Indians assistant coach Terry Fenner.

Computer victories to count more for four clubs

By THE OLD TIMER

Victories by four teams in the nine school firelands conference will count toward participation in the state playoffs for more than 82 years.

Successful seasons by Mapleton, Monroeville, St. Paul's and South Central will result in a greater number of computer points than the same results by the other five. The Mounties, Eagles, Flyers and Trojans are in Division V. Each victory over a Class V team will count one computer point, a tie half a point.

But when any of these teams defeats or ties Crestview, New London, Plymouth, Western Reserve or Black River, the victory will count 1.5 points. A tie will earn .75 computer points.

Breakdown by male enrollment in grades nine, 10 and 11:

Division V: 34 to 147 pupils
Division IV: 148 to 219 pupils
Division III: 220 to 328 pupils
Division II: 329 to 507 pupils
Division I: 508 to 1,391 pupils

In boys' basketball, an innovation this season is a fourth division.

These schools are in Division III, the others in IV.

Two teams compete among Northeast district schools, the others in Northwest district.

In football the nine teams are divided among four regions. Black River, Division IV, is in Region 13. Crestview, New London, Plymouth and Western Reserve, Division IV, are in Region 14. South Central, St. Paul's and Mapleton, Division V, are in Region 17. Monroeville, Division V, is in Region 18.

In basketball, enrollment classification is different so as to support four divisions.

These are:
Division IV: 25 to 145 pupils
Division III: 146 to 250 pupils

Division II: 251 to 426 pupils
Division I: 427 to 1,391 pupils
Division IV schools are Monroeville with 104 boys, St. Paul's with 82 and South Central with 118.

Division III teams are New London, 151 boys; Crestview, 182 boys; Plymouth, 150 boys; Western Reserve, 157 boys; Black River, 168 boys; Mapleton, 129 boys.

In girls' basketball, four divisions will be the rule.

Classification:
Division IV: 18 to 133 pupils
Division III: 134 to 242 pupils
Division II: 243 to 408 pupils
Division I: 409 to 1,292 pupils

Division III teams are Crestview, 139 girls; New London, 168 girls; Western Reserve, 163 girls; Black River, 158 girls; and Mapleton, 146 girls.

Division IV schools are Monroeville, 102 girls; Plymouth, 128 girls; South Central, 119 girls; St. Paul's, 113 girls.

C. Todd Strohmeier, executive head of Hopedale schools in Harrison county, was hired by Plymouth Board of Education to succeed Maynard J. Coon on a two-year contract at $8,500 annually. Schools choose nine '87-'88 first aid training first goals;

Nine goals have been chosen for the Plymouth Local school district for the 1987-88 school year by Supt. Jeffrey Slauson and approved by its board of education.

He told the board at its last meeting on July 13 the goals set for the last school year were met, so this year he has set his sights on other areas he believes need to be developed.

First, he wants to have all school personnel, qualified in basic first aid.

He said that last spring when a Plymouth Elementary pupil fell on the playground and fractured his leg, there were two teachers with the training and because they were aware of how to treat such an injury until an ambulance arrives, the child suffered less, although it was an extremely bad fracture.

His second goal is to correlate the reading levels for each grade and have a consistent policy from building to building.

The third goal is to begin in the two elementary schools cursive writing at the same level. Pupils in the Plymouth school begin in the third grade while Shiloh pupils begin in the second.

Slauson's fourth goal is to draw teachers together to solve inconsistencies in how much homework is assigned in each class, so that one class is not overloaded while another has very little.

Fifth goal is to review the mathematics program from kindergarten through the eighth grade.

His sixth goal may turn out to be controversial. He wants nine week grading periods for all classes rather than the present six for early grades. He realizes parents might not like the longer period and may want to know earlier just how well their children are doing. He said even he wonders because he wants to be aware of what his own children are doing in the classroom.

The argument in favor of the longer grading period is that it puts less burden on teachers.

Seventh goal is to increase involvement of the staff in community and school affairs.

What this means is simply he wants teachers to participate in more school activities such as athletic events and proms and the like.

Even though the Plymouth district has the best computer system in the county, 54 computers for 1,157 pupils, much better than the state average, Slauson can see room for improvement in that area and hopes to set up long range goals as his eighth goal for the year.

Ninth goal is more community involvement by the schools in the community and vice versa. He feels this will make for a better relationship on both sides.

AFTER THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE OUR FOUNDING FATHERS WROTE SOMETHING EVEN MORE IMPORTANT.

Ten years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence our founding fathers created what historians have called the greatest single document struck off by the hand and mind of man.

Our founding fathers created the Constitution of the United States.

For the first time in history, power was granted by the people to the government, and not by the government to the people.

The freedom unleashed by the Constitution allowed Americans to develop their talents and abilities to the fullest. And attain what is now known the world over as the American Dream.

As we commemorate the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, there is no better way for you as an American to reaffirm the principles for which our country stands than to learn more about the Constitution.

The words we live by.

Hamman fined $109 —

Mayor sends not guilty plea to Norwalk

Seven cases were continued in Mayor Keith A. Hebble's court July 15.

One who pleaded not guilty will be heard in Huron county juvenile court. He is James Earl Hicke Willard, accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Two who pleaded not guilty were found culpable as charged and fined.

These were Mark A. Adams, Plymouth, accused of driving with an inadequate exhaust, who was fined $15, and Robert L. Hamman, convicted on four counts, speeding 67 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, fined $64; tire peeling, two counts, and showing no turn signal, on each of which he was fined $15 and costs. In the matter of operating a vehicle while under suspension, charges were continued to Aug. 12. The accused is said to be employed in Springfield. He did not pay any of the fines in full and promised the court he will make partial payments.

Manuel Mejia Ramirez, Galion, charged with consuming alcohol in a vehicle, was heard yesterday. So was Tomas Gaspar Tomas, Clearyville, on the same charge.

Peggy D. Pittman, Mansfield, charged with speeding, was also heard yesterday.

Pam F. Strohm, Shelby, was heard yesterday on a charge of violating a stop light.

Michael T. Mansfield, Plymouth, accused by Sharon K. Alestep of reckless operation, was also heard yesterday.

Disposition of other cases: Tammy L. Stuton, Shelby, $21; Earl D. Pace, Manchester, Ky., $24; Frederick C. Cook, Willard, $36; Robert D. Ruhl, Bellville, $28; Jeffrey S. Monastre, Shelby, $34; Karen L. Howell, Willard, $40; Lois M. Goetz, Shelby, $28; Harry Looney, Akron, $20, all speeding.

Also, Lori S. Patrick, Shelby, expired license, $150, of which $125 was suspended on condition of no similar violations for one year; Gerald D. Strong, Plymouth, permitting unlicensed driver to operate vehicle, same fine.

Bench warrants will issue for Michael Branham, Plymouth, accused of driving with an expired license, and Greg A. Brown, Willard, charged with speeding.

Valarie Tackett, Mansfield, pleaded not guilty to speeding and will be heard Wednesday.

The voice of The Advertiser —

The sheriff

To what extent will plea bargaining influence the sentence? The prosecutor — as don't we all? — wants Petty out of his office. Petty has said he has no intention of resigning. Whether the governor would stand on his hands-off attitude toward removal of the sheriff were he not of the governor's party is something we'll never know. It seems clear the only way to be rid of Petty now is to hand down a mild sentence.

Even a hide-hound Democrat should prefer that Petty go quietly — his political future isn't worth the sweepings from a bird cage — and one hopes the leaders of the party will get to him with the logic, and the decency, of a prompt resignation.

No other course is suitable. Nor acceptable.

Nor is a sentence that is perceived by the man in the street, and his wife, as only a token not representative of the offenses against the people conceived and perpetrated by a less than honest government official.

Mrs. Weber gets divorce decree

Elizabeth R. Weber, nee Sexton, 34 West Main street, Shiloh, has obtained in Richland county domestic relations court a decree of divorce from her husband, Richard Weber, Walnut street, Shiloh, a journal entry shows.

'Recall' or 'remember'?

Why not pickled beets?

By AUNT LIZ

ABC is going to hate me when I say I haven't missed General Hospital at all.

To start with, it still amazes me that we can sit comfortably and watch what is going on in the world.

The hearings have impressed me. Maybe not the way they have everyone else, but I cannot help realizing what good air conditioners they have in Washington. With all the hot bodies in the hearing room, you would think someone would be melting. But they are not; they look cool and comfortable.

The other thing that has impressed me is the indexing of all the evidence. It must have been a monumental task to put it together so everyone can find what he needs in seconds.

What has been bugging me for the last couple of weeks is the vocabulary they all use.

No one remembers at all, but they sure as heck can recall very well. That is a word I simply never think of using. Either I remember vividly, half remember or have plain forgotten.

Curiously got the better of me, so out came the dictionary.

There's a slight difference in the meanings of those two words. Remember is to "have a notion or idea come to mind again as previously known or felt, to have renewed apprehending."

Recall is slightly different and a little more vague: "to call back to mind, to revive in memory". To me it seems that recalling is not remembering definitely, as in black and white, more like plain guessing something.

Another thing I have been wondering about: do those people really take the time for a decent lunch during their two hour break or are they pouring over more goopy evidence to nail the witnesses with?

The Senate dining room is probably one of the best places to eat in Washington and they should take advantage of it. Its bean soup is world famous, but what else do they serve? That I have never read.

I know that one copy of The Advertiser goes to Washington, so I decided to help them out, and maybe my favorite representative to Congress will cut this out and pass it to the chef.

It's for a form of pickled beets which kind of disguises them and makes them tastier.

Peel and slice about a pound of beets and cook in about three-fourths of a cup of water until nice and tender. Do not drain but add an eight ounce can of crushed pineapple, three tablespoons of cider vinegar, two tablespoons of brown sugar, well packed down, two teaspoons of cornstarch, too, if you want. Bring it to a boil and stir until thickened.

And for those Congressmen who hate spinach but should eat it because it's good for them, perk it up with a small sauce.

Brown a third of a cup of sesame seeds in a third of a cup of margarine. Put aside and do the spinach the regular way, then mix a tablespoon of soy sauce with the seeds and sprinkle over the spinach.

Garden club exposition set at Shiloh Saturday

Annual exhibition and competition of Shiloh Town & Country Garden club will be conducted Saturday in the basement of Mt. Hope Lutheran church there.

Entries must be in place Saturday at 10 a.m. Judging will begin at 10:30 a.m. No exhibit may be removed before 9 p.m.

There is no charge for entering.

Entries in the horticulture division must have been grown by the exhibitor. "TV Shows" is the theme of the arrangements division this year. Ten classes for all comers and four for juniors are open for entries.

Twenty-four classes of horticultural specimens and five of potted plants are also open for entries.

In the arrangements division, Class 1 is "Wheel of Fortune", a round arrangement.

Class 2 is "Dallas", a dried arrangement in an oil can.

For Class 3, "Green Acres", entrants will prepare an arrangement featuring green.

"Three's Company" is Class 4, calling for three shades of blooms.

"Golden Girls" is Class 5, an arrangement featuring yellow.

Class 6, "World News", calls for a mass arrangement.

Class 7, "Highway to Heaven", specifies an arrangement with a religious theme.

"Webster" is Class 8, a miniature arrangement no taller than four inches.

"Lucy", Class 9, calls for a line arrangement emphasizing red.

"I Dream of Jeanie", an arrangement using a lamp, is Class 10.

Juniors up to 10 years of age may compete in "Care Bears", an arrangement using bears as an accessory, and "Ghost Busters", an arrangement featuring white.

Juniors over 10 years through 19 years may enter "Star Trek", a "do your thing" arrangement, and "Head of the Class", an arrangement of one flower using foliage.

Horticultural specimens may be exhibits of four types of roses, seven kinds of gladioli, zinnias, marigolds, asters, celosia, dahlias, cosmos, tuberous begonias, manedragons, petunias, lilies, hemerocallis, annuals not specified and perennials not specified.

Potted plant entries are in classes calling for African violets, cacti or succulents, hanging plants potted blooming and potted foliage plants.

It's called gloating but who can paint it?

Dearie voted for Jimmy Carter, both times.

To explain why, she offered up these explanations:

"Nixon was a thief and a liar. Ford was his hand-picked man. When Ford pardoned Nixon, he lost me."

"Nancy Reagan thinks, as you so often say, her backside weighs seven tons. I can't stomach her. Ronald Reagan doesn't go to the bathroom without asking Nancy if it's all right. We don't need that kind of man in the White House."

Typical explanations — some would say excuses — of a mature (?) woman voter.

But in this specific case, they're not wholly honest.

Dearie really didn't care for Jimmy Carter. It wasn't that she thought he was or is a bad man. Nor a bad president. Quite the contrary, despite the fact the Iranians conspired to embarrass the very daylight out of him by withholding release of the hostages until a few hours after his term officially expired.

Nor, was it Rosalynn, the indefatigable spouse of the peanut farmer and former governor of Georgia,

It was Amy.

Dearie couldn't stand Amy. She never met her.

But she disapproved of how she was raised: seated at an honor table during a diplomatic reception, with a fairy tale book in her lap, when she should've been upstairs playing with her dolls; participating in official events that forced distinguished foreigners, out of courtesy to the United States, to demean themselves by making tehy-poo talk with a 10-year-old girl who was obviously spoiled rotten.

Dearie hasn't said a word of late. But, to one who's sat within arm's length of her at the dinner table for over 40 years, it's apparent that she's gloating.

When Amy was arrested for trespassing, in a case that would result in a jail sentence for your child or mine, Dearie said, "They'll never convict that girl — not because of what she did or didn't do, but because she is the child of President Carter."

Dearie was, as she is almost half the time, right. The jury acquitted Amy Carter and her illustrious co-defendants.

Now the prestigious Ivy league institution, perhaps that with the best undergraduate program of any of the eight (the others are Cornell, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Dartmouth, Princeton, Yale and Harvard), Brown university, at Providence, R.I. has booted her out. Why? She has "uncorrectable academic deficiencies", the university says, and she won't be permitted to enroll for the fall term.

Those are the times that, indeed, try a man's soul: That he cannot, because He failed to accord him the talent to do so, paint or draw the look on Dearie's face, the one that spells "gloat". It would rival the smile on the face of Mona Lisa.

And speaking of Nancy, Dearie is absolutely delighted with now verified information that the Canadian form of the popular parlor game "Trivial Pursuit" differs from the American version by one question only.

What question?

How was Nancy Davis pregnant before she married Ronald Reagan?

Answer: Three months.
