Fierce wind, electrical storm hits village; damage small

A fierce summer wind and rain storm, whipped by winds that reached up to 80 miles an hour and marked by bursts of lightning, some of which struck the ground, tore through Plymouth Sunday about 9 p.m., interrupting power to about 60 homes, knocking down trees that obstructed principal thoroughfares for about an hour and cutting telephone and cable television service to about 35 residences.

There was some warning for the storm.

No injuries were reported. Damage was slight to moderate, considering the force of the winds and the hour at which they struck.

Plymouth street south of Mills avenue was obstructed because trees in front of 78 and 79 Plymouth street were blown down. The winds tore into a huge maple tree on the property line between Coach Richard Roll and Mrs. Inez Marshall, severed large limbs that crashed down on Roll's garage, slightly damaging Mrs. Marshall's garage next to it, and crushing the Roll garage and the 1976 Vega parked in it. The Rolls had just returned from a baseball tournament in which their young son, Nicholas, was a participant. It was his father's notion to leave the later model family car at the garage but Mrs. Roll prevailed upon him to park the vehicle in front of the house, "because it's going to rain hard." Coach Roll remarked later, while he was engaged in freeing Plymouth street to passersby, "We were lucky. If I hadn't listened to Millie (his wife) the other car would've been gone."

Perhaps the same strong gust continued eastward and tore a huge limb from a maple tree beside Mulberry street and it fell onto the roof of the apartment at 85 Mulberry street. Power to the house at 87 Mulberry was restored early Monday but not to the apartment at 8 a.m.

A Richland county sheriff reported to the scene of obstruction of Plymouth street Sunday about 9:30 p.m. and said a car in Springfield road had been struck by a falling tree.

A tree in the yard of the Garrett family at Mills avenue and Wall street came down in the high winds and blocked northbound traffic in Wall street.

Volunteers, including Mark E.

More pictures of storm damage are on page 5 today.

Sheely, elementary school principal, who lives at 110 Plymouth street, where there were trees down, assisted in redirecting traffic in Plymouth street via West High street, Railroad street and West Broadway until telephone and cable television wires could be removed from the right of way and the felled tree limbs removed.

Cemetery Sexton Kenneth Echelberry reported about eight large trees in Greenlawn cemetery were uprooted or heavily damaged when limbs were torn off by the ferocity of the wind.

Pioneers Rest cemetery escaped heavy damage.

The southeast quadrant of the village appeared to have been hit the hardest by the storm.

Terra International, Inc., at 176 Beelman street reported winds took off the door of a bin.

The electrical connection to the house of Terry Jump, village electrician, was the last dealt with by his department.

Wind walloped Greenlawn cemetery, tore down this patriarch.

After upper limbs were sawed off, passersby could see what storm did to garage of Richard Roll, 79 Plymouth street.

Police looking into bizarre loss of $277

Police are looking into a bizarre report of theft.

Erica Bauer, 18, reported she left her Oldsmobile sedan first in front of the library, then in front of 20% Mills avenue while she visited there, and finally in front of 23 West

High street.

Luring that time, and perhaps while the vehicle was parked in Willard, checks totalling $276.91 belonging to her employer, Ruger's, Inc., North Fairfield, were taken from the car.

11th Firemen's fete to begin tomorrow; parade set Saturday

Eleventh annual Firemen's Festival will begin tomorrow.

The annual parade will march from Springfield road Saturday at 4:30 p.m. and will proceed northward past the reviewing stand in the Public Square to the high school, where it will disband.

Chicken barbecue will be served Friday and Saturday. Firemen are planning to serve 3,000 persons. Attendance of 7,000 is anticipated by planners of the festival, who will barbecue 1,500 chicken halves. The R. Earl McQuate, who for 45 years were in the funeral home business and operated a furniture store here until he retired in 1979, will be parade marshals this year.

Profits of the festival will be disbursed by the Firemen's association on equipment that cannot be funded from the public purse, for whatever reason. Last year's profits went toward the purchase of a departmental van with which to transport personnel to emergency sites and to fire and EMT training sites and equipment thereof.

Persons wishing to enter the parade may notify Billy Young at 887-5823 or Mrs. Terry Hopkins at 887-5101 of the intent to do so. A registration desk and parade headquarters will be established Saturday at 2 p.m. next to the Marathon station in Plymouth street.

Plymouth Area Historical society will sell home made ice cream in the rear of the fire station. Flavors are vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, cookies and cream, butter pecan, chocolate almond, cherry vanilla and black raspberry. The ice cream is made by Riverside Dairy.

An antique and classic auto show will be staged in the Public Square, directed by Carl M. McPherson, Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Street dancing will take place tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Mad volleyball games will be conducted behind the fire house Saturday. So will tags of war.

Judge rules Hodge ineligible for overtime

Former Police Chief K. Frank Hodge was never authorized to work overtime and therefore his claim to be paid for it is invalid, Huron County Common Pleas Judge Robert W. Smith has ruled.

Hodge's suit claiming $200,000 in damages from the village has been dismissed.

He recited in his suit three causes for redress: that he was terminated without a hearing, that he was fired without cause on July 29, 1985, by resolution of the village council, and that he was entitled to overtime pay.

Hodge joined the police department in December of 1977. He succeeded Robert Conley as chief after refusing appointment in 1982 immediately before Conley's resignation.

In December, 1983, dealing with a domestic dispute in Higgs street, he claimed injury. After 10 days of sick leave, he returned to duty, only to collapse on duty about three weeks later, owing to a herniated disc in his back.

Judge Smith ruled that since Hodge was unable to perform his duties, the village had every right to terminate him.

He turned down three of four motions for mistrial laid by Petty's attorneys. Gary Schweikart and Dennis Pusateri, and sentenced at 7:55 p.m. Petty to two years for tampering with evidence and one year, to be served concurrently, for obstruction of justice. He fined Petty $2,000 and ordered him to pay court costs. These amount to more than $15,000. Judge Reece allowed six months' limit to Petty's payment settlement.

The charges against Petty were consolidated. Two counts of tampering were considered as one and two counts of obstruction of justice similarly consolidated. Petty was liable to three and one-half years in prison with a maximum fine of $7,500.

The final hearing began shortly after 2 p.m. after, in the same courtroom, Judge Chilcote had sentenced Ronald Fitch and Debra Bush Penton Berges to terms of two to 15 years in the penitentiary on conviction of arson. Each was a prosecution witness against Petty.

Judge Reece approached his task with all the care of a man seeking to pierce a soap bubble. He allowed Schweikart considerable leeway in his arguments on the three motions that he subsequently denied.

The key one was that filed July 21, laid on an affidavit by Juror No. 11, Mrs. Dennis Foenen, that she experienced a theophany during the trial. Schweikart pounded hard on the argument that her experience constituted misconduct warranting an order for mistrial.

Judge Reece was obviously, as former Governor James A. Rhodes often counseled, "hiding in the bushes." When both sides had advanced their arguments pro and con, Judge Reece emerged from the weeds with a carefully researched opinion laid on an earlier trial involving one John Dioguardi and the decision of the court, upheld in obiter dictum in June of this year by the U.S. Supreme Court, Judge Sandra O'Connor. It is to the effect that misconduct of a juror for reasons of mental instability can only be proved by evidence of a pre-trial ruling of mental incapacity or one rendered immediately after the trial.

Mrs. Foenen, who lives in Mansfield route 3 and is the wife of the personnel director of AMF Corp., Shelby, did not and does not, Judge Reece pointed out, so qualify and he must, therefore, overrule the motion.

Earlier, the visiting jurist from Summit county had ruled on a bizarre argument by Schweikart that Petty was subjected to double jeopardy because on the same evidence on which the jury acquitted the sheriff of charges of lying to Arson Investigator Charles Hooks and Police Capt. Wayne Cairns, the jury found him guilty of tampering with evidence and obstruction of justice. Judge Reece said he surmised the jury found Petty innocent on Counts No. 3 and No. 6 because it was concerned about the insurance payments to Mrs. Berges.

John Carroll, a Columbus polygraphist, testified late on Friday that he conducted a long interview with Petty and thereafter asked him some questions about the evidence and the trial. Did Petty tell the truth, he was asked by Judge Pettier, when he replied "yes" to the question "Have you told the complete truth of your knowledge of the facts of this trial?" Carroll replied "yes."

Schweikart beseeched Judge Reece to be lenient with his client. He cited Petty's 30-year record in law enforcement with his submitted petitions attesting to Petty's public esteem signed by 383 supporters of the sheriff. Special Prosecutor Rocky Coss asked the bench to consider there is "a great deal of cynicism about the (criminal justice) system among the people. They have a belief that the people in power benefit from that power. They tend to believe the system tends to favor those persons with connections."

Prior to pronouncing sentence, Judge Reece proceeded carefully through the shoals of what he obviously perceived is sharply divided public opinion. He remarked that he wondered that Petty had shown no remorse nor did he seem to consider that his personal dignity and that of his office demand a different sort of conduct, "even assuming that he may in the future be exonerated."

"My problem is that I don't know if there's any shame left in this country. From a president to a federal judge to a secretary to a sheriff."

Judge Reece referred to Judge Clayborne of the federal judiciary, who even after conviction and incarceration refused to relinquish his office. He implied Petty's conduct was as reprehensible as he considered that of Clayborne.

One motion remains to be settled. It is that Petty's alibi that he retained the confession of Mrs. Berges in his desk drawer because he intended to tie her and others to the Adams street fire was valid, based on a written confession by Ronald Holbrook, a prisoner at Chillicothe, that he set the fire. The confession is alleged to have been made to Burl F. Kirkpatrick, 54, serving eight to 15 years for holding up a doughnut shop with a pistol. Judge Reece ruled that a decision on the materiality of this confession need not interfere with immediate sentencing.

Schweikart, in obvious disgust with what he scathingly called "Richland county justice" "I am glad I don't live in this county," his colleague, Pusateri said — characterized his client as the victim of a system he served well and faithfully for 30 years that has now turned on him and devoured him. He promised a vigorous effort to overturn the verdict through the appeal process. What some observers promptly observed, despite Judge Reece's promises to Petty that if he cannot afford the cost of copies of the proceedings or an attorney these will be furnished to him, was "How much justice can Dick Petty afford?"

Throughout Friday's session the courtroom was jammed and for the first time Petty was hailed before the bar of justice the doors to the courtroom were locked from the inside. Media coverage of the sessions was heavy and distributed among print, radio and television.

Petty quits to escape high penitentiary

Dale Shetler is Richland county's new sheriff. He acceded to the post Friday night after Richland county's four common pleas judges, Max Chilcote, James Henson, Richard Christiansen and Paul Christ, in an unprecedented session, found Sheriff Richard Petty, a convicted felon, "disabled" and unable to serve as principal law enforcement of the county and named Shetler to succeed him.

As a condition of probation from a sentence of two years in the penitentiary at Chillicothe, Petty was required by Judge John W. Reece to resign by Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Teacher-pupil once, colleagues today

When the four jurists of Richland county assembled late Friday — it was after 9 p.m. — to act on the initiative of Judge Max E. Chilcote to disqualify Sheriff Petty from further service, either until his resignation or if he should fail to resign, it was another reunion of two old friends who started out in a teacher-pupil relationship.

Max Chilcote is a child of Seneca county. His family has been resident in Attica for many years. His father was marshal there. The judge was graduated by Attica High school and, in time, returned to teach and coach basketball there.

One of his pupils, an eager young Boy Scout, was one James Henson, now his colleague on the common plea bench. Judge Henson admits he worshipped Max Chilcote as a teacher. Today, his position is one of "great, even extreme, respect."

JUDGE JOHN W. Reece earlier admonished the gallery for "jumping the gun" when it began intra-conversations while he was engaged in sidebar colloquy with the lawyers. On Friday, he repeated this accusation, when, he having declared a recess would be taken, the gallery arose and resumed intra-conversation while he remained on bench.

What he didn't realize was that the bailiff, Joe Romano, had already declared, "This court is in recess." Romano was keen to go home. His Mansfield Senior High school class had scheduled a picnic for Friday and a banquet for Saturday. Romano played end on the celebrated Tiger football team that sought to halt Massillon's 39-game victory streak in 1942. Other members of that up-to-then unscored upon Mansfield team: Paul Dietzel, later head coach at Louisiana State; Bill Doolittle, the famous quarterback.

APPOINTMENT OF Richard Petty's principal deputy, Dale Shetter, as acting sheriff doesn't change the scenario, which is dictated by Ohio law. When a public officer decided by election of the nominee of a political party becomes vacant, the successor is chosen by the central committee of the departed officer's party. The 128 members of the Richland County Democratic Central committee will meet promptly to select a nominee to serve until the end of Petty's term on Dec. 31, 1988. The decision must be taken not before five nor later than 15 days from the date the vacancy occurs. Shetter is a confessed candidate. Another is Lieut. Kevin Riepleman, Mansfield Police department.

There are some who say that Mrs. Joan Thompson, first woman commissioner of Richland county, who "wanted to see Dick Petty convicted so bad she could taste it," years to be chosen to succeed him. She now serves as a police officer in Butler, having completed the required peace officer's course. Others say, "No way, she doesn't have the clout any more, she shot her wad."

Stanley Popp, defeated by Petty in 1984, is understood to want the GOP nomination again.

DURING THE colloquy between Judge Reece and the defendant late Friday evening, the jurist allowed that Petty's resignation should be in the hands of the county commissioners by Monday morning, whereupon Petty observed the commissioners don't meet until Tuesday. Judge Reece remarked, "What's with you people down here? Don't you work a full week?"

That the visiting jurist, in addition to being something of a legal scholar, is also a political animal, with antennae as sensitive as those of a praying mantia, became clear once again when he addressed Gary Schweikart, Petty's lawyer, in the matter of the motion filed earlier Friday to set aside the trial and its verdict in the face of new evidence provided by the confession of Ronald Holbrook to setting the fire in the Adams street house.

Addressing Schweikart, he said, with emphasis, "I certainly want to give you opportunity to defend your client, however I do not wish to prolong this matter and I'm prepared to rule on these motions."

In the matter of the latest motion, which concerns Holbrook's confession, the diminutive Rocky Coas, special prosecutor from Highland county, told the judge, "It's a question of materiality. The confession is not material, the sheriff admitted under oath he didn't investigate the Adams street fire, he only had a hunch." He said the court should proceed with sentencing, even if a ruling on the latest motion should be undertaken post-sentencing.

ONE COMPULSION TO Petty to resign by Monday at 9 a.m.: His bond is revoked as of that date and time, and if no resignation is on file he was to be taken to Mansfield city jail and thence to the state penitentiary at Chillicothe.

Cashman joins Hall of Fame

He grew up only a stone's throw from Plymouth. His late father was a trustee of Plymouth township for a long time. His two brothers and a sister came to live in Plymouth Local School district. And through-out his long service to Ohio agriculture, Samuel Cashman never forgot his roots in northwestern Richland county.

On Aug. 14, he and three others will be inducted into the Ohio Agriculture Hall of Fame during the annual state fair, of which he was manager for nearly four years and where he established the original shuttle bus system, saw to it that a youth center was erected, brought in big name entertainment such as Bob Hope and established the first farm animal and "babyland" exhibit, all the while keeping the state fair in the black.

After graduating from Shelby High school in 1934, he went to Ohio State university, where he prepared to be a vocational agriculture teacher. He served in that role at Upper Sandusky, served in the Army Air Corps during World War II, then worked eight years as a county extension agent, 25 years with the Ohio Farm Bureau and five years with the Ohio Soil and Water commission.

He helped to found the Ohio Agriculture Marketing association and was its first general manager and served as editor of "Buckeye Farm News", official publication of the Farm Bureau.

Carters sell to Taylors

Premises of Richard E. and Bonnie M. Carter in West Broadway have been conveyed to Larry G. and Mary Lee Taylor, Huron county recorder reports.

Newsy notes . . .

The Richard Lewises and their two children left Tuesday morning for their home in La Costa, Cal., after a two week visit with his mother, Mrs. Robert Lewis.

By no means a regular feature, this sketch appears in this guise mostly because the staff doesn't know how else to present it. Generally it has in the past been used for material that seemed unsuitable, because it was to short or too flimsy, for attention in the editorial column.

A word about use of language seems appropriate now, in the season when the young are more mobile, the new age limits on legal drinking and/or right to purchase alcoholic beverages accentuate the need.

Consider: A driver halts at roadside at 10:30 p.m. to effect minor repair to his vehicle. A police officer stops to volunteer assistance. He smells alcohol on the breath of the driver and takes him to the police station for a breath test. Result of the test: reading of .14. Meaning: the test: testee in under the influence of alcohol by Ohio definition.

Action by officer: testee is detained (held) while officer prepares summons before requiring testee to obtain assistance in going home or moving vehicle. Use of word "held" does not mean, nor is it intended to mean, that testee was placed in a cell. It is clear, nonetheless, that testee is NOT free to proceed as he wishes. The presumption is strong that if he is allowed to do so, he will drive his car, assuming its mechanical condition is sufficient to sustain travel. Although testee is not required to post bond nor remain in custody, it is clear that he has been "held" from free operation of his vehicle.

Kin of Browns graduated

Daughter-in-law of the Charles E. Browns, Route 61, Air National Guard Airman Christine M. Brown has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas. Her husband is Larry Brown. She is a 1980 graduate of Shelby High school, the daughter of the Donald R. Hauns.

Kin of Carters seeks to marry

Grandson of the Roy Carters, Tad C. Fox, Greenwich, a landscaper, and Stephanie Hall, New London, not employed, have applied to Huron county probate court for a license to marry.

Shiloh officer ends course at Texas post

Lieut. Col. Ronald E. Grimwood, Jr., son of the Ronald E. Grimwood, Route 98, Shiloh, has completed the U.S. Air Force military indoctrination for medical service officers at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

The course acquaints newly commissioned medical personnel with professional and administrative responsibilities as Air Force officers. He received a master's degree in 1974 from the Ohio State university.

DON'T LET WINTER TAKE YOUR HEATING BILLS FOR A RIDE.

When temperatures take the plunge this winter, your heating bills needn't climb. Not if you're on Columbia's Budget Payment Plan.

The plan averages your bills into 12 equal payments, so there are no peaks and valleys because of the weather. Instead, the monthly amount stays the same...higher than you now pay in the summer, but a lot lower in the winter.

Rather than ups and downs, your gas bills stay on a smooth, even track all year round.

It's easy to be a Budget Payment customer. Too. All you do is pay the "Budget Amount" on your August bill, and you'll be billed that amount every month. Your meter will continue to be read as usual, and each month's bill will continue to show the amount of gas you used. A review in March determines if your budget amount needs to be adjusted because of weather.

Another good idea: sign on for Checkfree, too. It automatically makes your gas payment from your checking account each month, so you save time, postage and check charges.

Join the Columbia Budget Payment Plan. You'll take the ups and downs out of your heating bills...and leave the high cost of winter behind.

A pioneer in support of fire prevention and fire-fighting in Plymouth . . .

Our employees were part and parcel of the first fire department. And they still are. For many years, firemen summoned to a call during working hours were paid for their time, even though they were coupling hose, climbing ladders, or whatever.

Result of gift

New bulletin board at high school was raised by student council — Janelle Miller, first alumna to be appointed to the U.S. Military academy at West Point, N.Y., and her father, A. George Miller, member of the board of education — with funds given by Mrs. Leonard F. McCullom, nee Eleanor Searle, Houston, Tex.

P. S. Thomas —

'44 grad honored at Shelby

A 1944 alumnus of Plymouth high school who grew up in the printing business with his parents, owners of The Advertiser is a Paul Harris Fellow of Shelby Rotary club.

P. (for Peyton) Siddall Thomas, 51, owner-operator of Shelby Printing Service, was awarded the award for the Rotarian who has best supported the local club during the reporting year.

George Kell, chairman of the committee, praised Thomas for his contributions. Thomas was president during 1985-86 and was liaison between the Rotary club and former Troop I.

In his honor, Rotary club will present a $1,000 scholarship to the Rotary International scholarship fund, which is used to pay the expenses for one pupil's schooling abroad.

The Shelby club will add to the $1,000, enough to pay the travel, books and tuition for the pupil.

Earlier winners welcomed Thomas into the elite group. These are Raymond Pugh, a Plymouth graduate in 1922; Wayne Carleton, Kell, Spencer Kerr, George Kilgore and William Mako. Harold Goetze was absent.

Thomas is married and the father of a daughter and a son. He was an Eagle Scout when he lived in Plymouth, one of the several of that rank encouraged and led by Don W. Einsel, Jr., who eventually won the Silver Beaver, highest award in Scouting, for his service.

After he went into the Army immediately upon graduation here, he enrolled in Kent State university and took a degree in journalism. He joined his father in business here and in Shelby and in time, when his father died, he bought out a partner, Vincent L. Bucknam.

Crestline, and became sole proprietor of the Shelby business, which has prospered steadily.

Rothaar celebrates 25th year in employ of R.R. Donnelley

A 25th service anniversary for Gary Rothaar occurred July 30 in Willard Manufacturing Division, R.R. Donnelley and Sons Co.

He began his career with Donnelley as a PTA in Department OSM in July, 1962. In 1964, he was promoted to lead PTA and transferred. In 1965 he was again promoted to rolltender. He transferred to Department OMP in 1970 and was promoted to plate checker. He and his wife, nee Jean Ann Leach, reside in Willard with their four children, Michael, Christopher, Jason and Brenda. The family belongs to Christian Missionary Alliance church, where he is the Bible quizzing coach. He participates in both tennis and softball.

Hamman opts for trial here

A juvenile who resides at 204 Mills avenue was summoned July 30 at 3:58 p.m. for driving a three wheeled vehicle on the sidewalk, a complaint registered with police a number of times.

He will be heard in Richard county juvenile court.

His elder brothers, Robert L. Hamman, 18, and a sibling younger than Robert but older than the accused in the three wheeler escapade, have been the subject of law enforcement officials of late.

Haled into mayor's court here on a number of charges, including operating a vehicle while under suspension, with some discrepancies in the driver's license he exhibited to Sgt. Richard Garn.

Robert L. Hamman pleaded not guilty. His case was transferred to Norwalk Municipal court. When the village solicitor and the court assembled to try the case, Hamman was not to be found. A bench warrant was issued and he was arrested here and lodged in the Huron county jail over the weekend.

His mother, Mrs. Roberta Meiser Hamman, posted bond on July 27. He later thought the better of his plea and now will be heard in mayor's court on Wednesday, obviously to plead guilty or no contest.

His immediate younger brother, held in custody of the state at a youth diagnostic center in Columbus for several weeks, is now at home.

A salute to the watchdogs of safety!

Who knows better than an insurer know how dedicated are OUR FIREMEN.

What they do and how they do it have made Plymouth a better and safer community for all of us.

A Prayer for Firemen

When they are called to duty, God
Whenever flames may rage
Give them the strength to save some life,
Whatever be its age,
Help them embrace a little child before its too late,
Or save an older person from the horror of that fate
Enable them to be alert and hear the weakest shout
And quickly and efficiently to put the fire out
And if according to Your will they have to lose their lives
Please bless with your hand their children and their wives.

T-Ball All-Stars lose to Willard in tourney

Big Red T-Ball All Stars were eliminated from Plymouth's all-star tournament in Weber stadium July 25 in game seven 18 to 8, knocked out by Willard All Stars, who won the tournament July 26. They played four straight games and took a doubleheader from undefeated Greenwich in the double elimination affair.

Union dismissed the Plymouth Vikings in game eight, 13 to 6, on July 26.

Big Red lost its first two games, the Vikings to tournament runner-up Greenwich 21 to 9 to exit with a 1-and-2 record. Teammates Nick Perkins and Calvin Tuttle of the Royals each singled and scored twice in the Vikings's loss to South Central.

In the opener the hometown teams clashed. Three six-run innings catapulted the Vikings past the Big Red, 18 to 0, a three and onehalf inning game.

The Force's Chad Hall drove in the Vikings' sixth run in the first inning with an inside-the-park run to empty the bases. One of his four RBIs was not scored, since the six runs in an inning rule was enforced.

The Raiders' Tim Dove duplicated Hall's feat with an inside-the-park homer of his own to lead off the second inning. Dove ripped the ball down the third base line and it rolled to the fence. Dove batted in three runs. Michelle Woodmansee of the Force doubled with bases loaded to score two runs in the third inning. Scott Albright of the Blitz added a two RBI single to the third for the Viking All Stars.

Big Red managed only six hits in the 1st contest, compared to the Vikings' 21-hit attack. All but one Viking had a hit.

"We were a lot younger than the other team and just didn't have the horses," said Big Red Coach Ted Rook. "They played well, and I'm proud of them."

"We looked good; that's the best I've seen them play," said Vikings Coach Richard Gullett. "The defense was super, and we had key hits. If we keep this up we'll do well."

Laird signs at Northmor

By THE OLD TIMER
Fired as head basketball coach at Monroeville, Tim Laird has declined to be another Harry Augspurger - a former coach who remains on the staff as a potential sniper of his successor.

He could have remained on the Monroeville staff.

But he chose to cut his losses completely. On July 21 he was hired to teach social studies, ninth grade basketball coach and assistant football coach at Northmor High school.

The Golden Knights have engaged a Wisconsin teacher-coach to lead their basketball team.

He is Forest Larson, with seven years of varsity experience in the Badger state. He succeeds Ken Bros, who quit after two seasons to be head coach at Circleville.

18 veterans to report for football

Eighteen lettermen are expected to report for opening drills when Coach Richard Roll begins his sixth year as Plymouth's head football coach Aug. 12.

One has won three letters, two have won two letters, 15 one letter. There is one reserve letterman. Seven winners of numerals are also expected to turn out.

First scrimmage is at Lucas Aug. 22.

Lettermen are David Powers, three years; Terry Hall and Jeff Staggs, two years, and Mike Bailey, Jeff Bloomfield, Chuck Deskins, John Ganzhorn, Shane Garrett, Barry Handaboe, Mike Howell, Roger Keesy, Chuck Kose, John Myers, Steve Roethlisberger, Tim Snipes, Greg Burks, Rod Reed, Jeff Tackett, one year.

Two experienced hands from last season have decided not to play this year.

Reserve letterman is Phil Gibson. Numeral winners are Jim Cornelius, Roy Fletcher, Cory Myers, Wendell Stone, Kevin Stevens, Mike Clark and Frank Burks.

Choice of a starting quarterback will be a pleasant duty for Roll.

Chuck Kose, the starter who was injured in the Crestline game last season, has healed.

Jeff Staggs has the most experience in the position.

Shane Garrett came off the bench as a green hand last season and served well at the end of the schedule.

The Big Red has backfield talent to spare. To develop an adequate forward wall is, as it has been throughout Roll's tenure, a first priority challenge.

John Ganzhorn, Roger Keesy, Rod Reed, Greg Burks and John Myers are likely to see heavy action in early scrimmages as linemen.

Ron Stephens, the lanky basketball star, promises to turn out.

'Colleen' places second in pace

Scrogie Colleen is back in form. She went to the post in the eighth race at Northfield Park Friday night, a $4,200 conditioned pace, and finished second, 1 1/4 lengths behind Senecetime, whose time was two minutes for the mile.

The Shiloh-owned pacer paid $11.20 to place and $7.20 to show.

Conditioning for junior high school football players will begin Aug. 17 from 8 to 9:30 a.m.

Completed physical forms should be produced at the start of the season.

Harriers loaded with veterans

A cross country squad well larded with experienced runners will respond to Coach Paul Gase's opening whistle.

Nine boys and eight girls who are winners of 27 letters among them will compete for the Big Red.

These include Brian Carnahan, Lance Combs and Robert Smith, three-time lettermen; Brian Beebe and Wendell Burton, with two letters, and Steve Hawkins, Gary Horner, Derek Kren and Jeff Studer, single letter winners.

Girls who have won letters include Kathy Farmer, Jennifer Chase and Susan Helm, two each, and Jonell Branham, Angela Cook, Rachel DeLombard, Kathy Welker and Christine Wilson, one.

Four lettermen back for golf

If Ron Stephens persists in his notion to compete for a place on the Big Red football squad, Coach C. Michael Follett, Jr.'s, golf squad will be the weaker.

Stephens is a letterman.

Returning monogram winners are Scott Gano, three; Glenn Welker, two, and Aaron Barker and Greg Niedermeier, one.

Mike McQuate and Scott Elder will reserve letters last season.

Heath Howard, Aaron Penner, Robbie Roberts, Scott Stone, Brian Carter, William Hase and Clayton Loehn are numerals winners.

PHIS to sell ice cream at festival

Plymouth Area Historical society museum will be open tomorrow and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. during the annual Firemen's Festival.

An attraction will be a window display of items of local historical interest to be identified. The winner will receive a gallon of homemade vanilla ice cream.

Douglas A. Dickson, vice president of the Plymouth Historical society, announced a memorial gift has been received from Mrs. Leonard F. McCollum for John F. Root.

Mrs. Blum's kin, Mrs. Gross, 56, dies at Norwalk

Sister of Mrs. Robert Blum, Route 61, Mrs. Paul J. Gross, 56, Norwalk, died in Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital there on July 28. She was ill only briefly.

Born Patricia M. Widman, daughter of the Leo Widmans, in Clyde, she lived in Wakeman until she went to Norwalk in 1943.

She was a communicant of St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, Norwalk.

Her husband, Paul J., to whom she was married in 1960; three sons, Gary, Sheffield Lake; Daniel, Dayton and Thomas, USMC, Camp Lejeune, N.C.; three daughters, Nancy and Tricia, Columbus, and Virginia, at home; three sisters, Louise, now Mrs. Charles Shipley, Maumee; Carol, now Mrs. Virgil Falter, Tiffin; and Delores, now Mrs. Brian Colahan, Milan, also survive.

A daughter, Susan, a brother, Vernon, and her parents died earlier.

The Rev. Nicholas Cunningham was celebrant of the funeral mass from the church Friday at 10:30 a.m.

Interment was in St. Paul's cemetery, Norwalk.

Memorial contributions to the parish school tuition fund or to the American Diabetes association are suggested.

Newsy notes

Healthy babies say...

Thanks,
Mom!

See a doctor as soon as you think you are pregnant.
Your baby will thank you for the rest of his or her life.
