Reliable Ted Wilks Saves Victory For Max Lanier NEW YORK - (LP) - With Ted winning run.

Wilks' ever-reliable right arm as the efficient buggy whip, the St. Louis Cardinals were riding in the driver's seat in the National League race today with a two-and-a-half game lead over the Dodgers.

The Cards stretched their lead to that margin last night when they whipped the Boston Braves, 7 to 5 while the Dodgers absorbed a 9 to 2 trouncing from the Pirates at Pittsburgh.
Same Old Story

For the Redbirds the story was once again, as it has been so many times, the relief work of righthander Wilks, the fellow they are calling "Ted the Cork" because he puts the stopper on enemy rallies. Wilks was hustled to the relief of Max Lanier in the seventh inning last night when the Braves shoved across three runs to pull up to a 7-5 deficit. Two walks and singles by Ed Sauer and Tommy Holmes scored two tallies and chased Lanier. Pinch-hitter Salkeld gretted Wilks with another single for a run, but that was the only safety he allowed in two-andand-one-thrid innings. That made 18 wins in the last 22 games for the Cards, who have won 16 out of 21 so far this season from the Braves. A big factor in the Dodger de-feat was that they didn't have anyone in the builpen who could match Wilks' efficiency. Newcombe Hit Brooklyn starter Don Newcombe was rapped for three runs in the fourth inning and gave up two more in the fifth before being vanked with one man on base. Carl Erskine came in but yielded a walk to Ralph Kiner and double to Wally Westlake. West-
