Fall Sports in the Air

While high school football seems to be the main attraction at this time every year, there are schoolboys also preparing for the cross country and golf seasons.

Without a doubt, high school football draws the most fans. gets the most ink and, along with basketball, makes it possible for high school athletic programs to function.

Cross country and golf athletes will be opening during next week while the tootballers are readying for a week from

In addition to tootball, cross country and golf, there's water polo, soccer and girls volleyball on the agenda, also with a starting date of next week.

Even though football is the most popularized sport at this time of year, nothing can be taken away from those who participate in the other sports — after all, they work at their 'specialty," too.

Football is most concentrated on from August 1 and more so around two weeks later when the head-knocking starts in practice and scrimmages.

Cross country athletes are always, at least supposed to be, in condition like anyone else. But those boys are somehow, always on the go in any way, shape or form that keeps them in good health, all leading up to their season

Golfers are always on the course, using their rounds not only in competitive action during tournaments during the spring, but as a "conditioner" for the second-year fall sport. Of course, Mansfield Christian is the lone area school that participates in high school soccer, and it too, is prepping for another successful season. Girls volleyball, as has basketball, is becoming a more accepted sport. There'll be plenty of action during the following weeks in gymnasiums throughout the area, heading for a hopefully successful season and the state tournament. Nov. The least successful of any of the fall sports is water polo.

which is very limited in the Mansfield area on a high school basis. Most of the opportunity exists during the spring and summer months with swim clubs and YMCAs.

Will it be another successful fall season in these sports? There were several fine records attained throughout the area last year and it could be difficult in 1975 for further excell-

There are these questions

Will Buckeye Central again go 9-0 as it did last year and win the North Central Conference football title?

Will Shelby, 9-1 last year, be beaten out in the computer play-offs by Norwalk, no matter if there is a three-way tie again in the Northern Ohio League with Tiffin?

Will Mt. Gilead repeat as the Mid-Ohio Conference football champion? Will Crestview do the same in the Johnny Appleseed Conference. Those football questions will be answered by Nov. 7-8, the final regular season weekend of

On the cross country level, will Plymouth win the state championship with a new coach in 1975, even though most of the squad returns?

Will Shelby, as it did in most sports last year, excel again on the golf course after winning the district and placing fifth in the state tournament?

Those and many more questions will be answered this fall as every scholastic athlete — boy and girl — tries to succeed to the degree they have set for themselves

Coaches in each sport will also get the answers as they seek success for the school and their own success in the position they are hired — to coach

Ontario Harrier Squad Stronger

ONTARIO - The Ontario Warriors cross country team was cruising along last season with high hopes of gaining a team into the district when disaster struck.

In about a week's time, veteran coach Bill Brown lost three of his top runners to injuries, including Ed Cowell, the squad's No. 1 runner (9:46).

Before the injuries the Warriors were second at the Park Hills Invitational. After the injuries. Ontario finished third in the conference which was the first time since 1966 that the squad didn't place either first or second
