Alcott wins Portsmouth tourney

PORTSMOUTH, Va (UPI) - Amy Alcott, winner of the first annual $100,000 LPGA Portsmouth Classic, said she "thrives on competition" and dreams about coming from behind to win on the last few holes.

Her dream came true Sunday when she took a one-stroke victory after Susie McAllister's three-foot putt for a par rolled inches by the 18th hole. Alcott, who tied McAllister at 2-under with a birdie putt on 15, missed her chance to win it herself on-18 when her birdie-putt fell-- to the left of the hole. She knocked in her par putt from there "I thrive on competition," Alcott said "Just give me those last four to five holes with me one back

"I dream about holes like that, 'cause when you come through with flying colors, there's no feeling like it in the world That's why I play golf.'

Fiori beats Weiskopf in playoff

COLUMBUS. Ga. (UPI) - Ed Fiori said he was "numb" when Tom Weiskopf missed a 31/2-foot putt on the first hole of their sudden-death playoff Sunday, which enabled the 26-yearold Texan to capture the Southern Open title with a 13-foot birdie putt on the second hole Fiori and Weiskopf were tied at 6-under-par 274 at the end of regulation play in the 10th annual Southern Open at the Green Island Country Club, capping a wild four-hole closing series.

Fiori, who was three strokes behind third-round leader Calvin

Pete at the beginning of play Sunday, took home $36,000 to join a select group of 11 firsttime winners on the PGA tour this year

Fiori watched in amazement as Weiskopf, a 14-year veteran, missed the short putt that would have ended the tournament on the first extra hole.

He usually has a lot of breakaways but we managed to take that away from him The players are doing an excellent job

Williams still scored a teamhigh 27 points before fouling out in the final mimite, but Lloyd Free scored a game-high 35 points, including four in the final two minutes, to spark San Diego's win The Sonics were in contention until the final 1 12, when Free easily scored on two fast-breaks to put the Clippers in front 94-87 Free has scored 81 points in his first two games
