SHADES OF THE

PAST YEAR

INDIVIDUALS HIGHLIGHT SEASON

As the shades of '88 are fading away, we recall fond memories of our friends, activities, and many accomplishments.

We have been gifted by our new foreign exchange students, Wilke, Bernd, Marianne, and Alfonzo. They have made this year more exciting and interesting for us all.

Our cross country teams accomplished much in '87. The girls brought home the Firelands Conference title, while both girls and boys' teams sent competitors to the State meet.

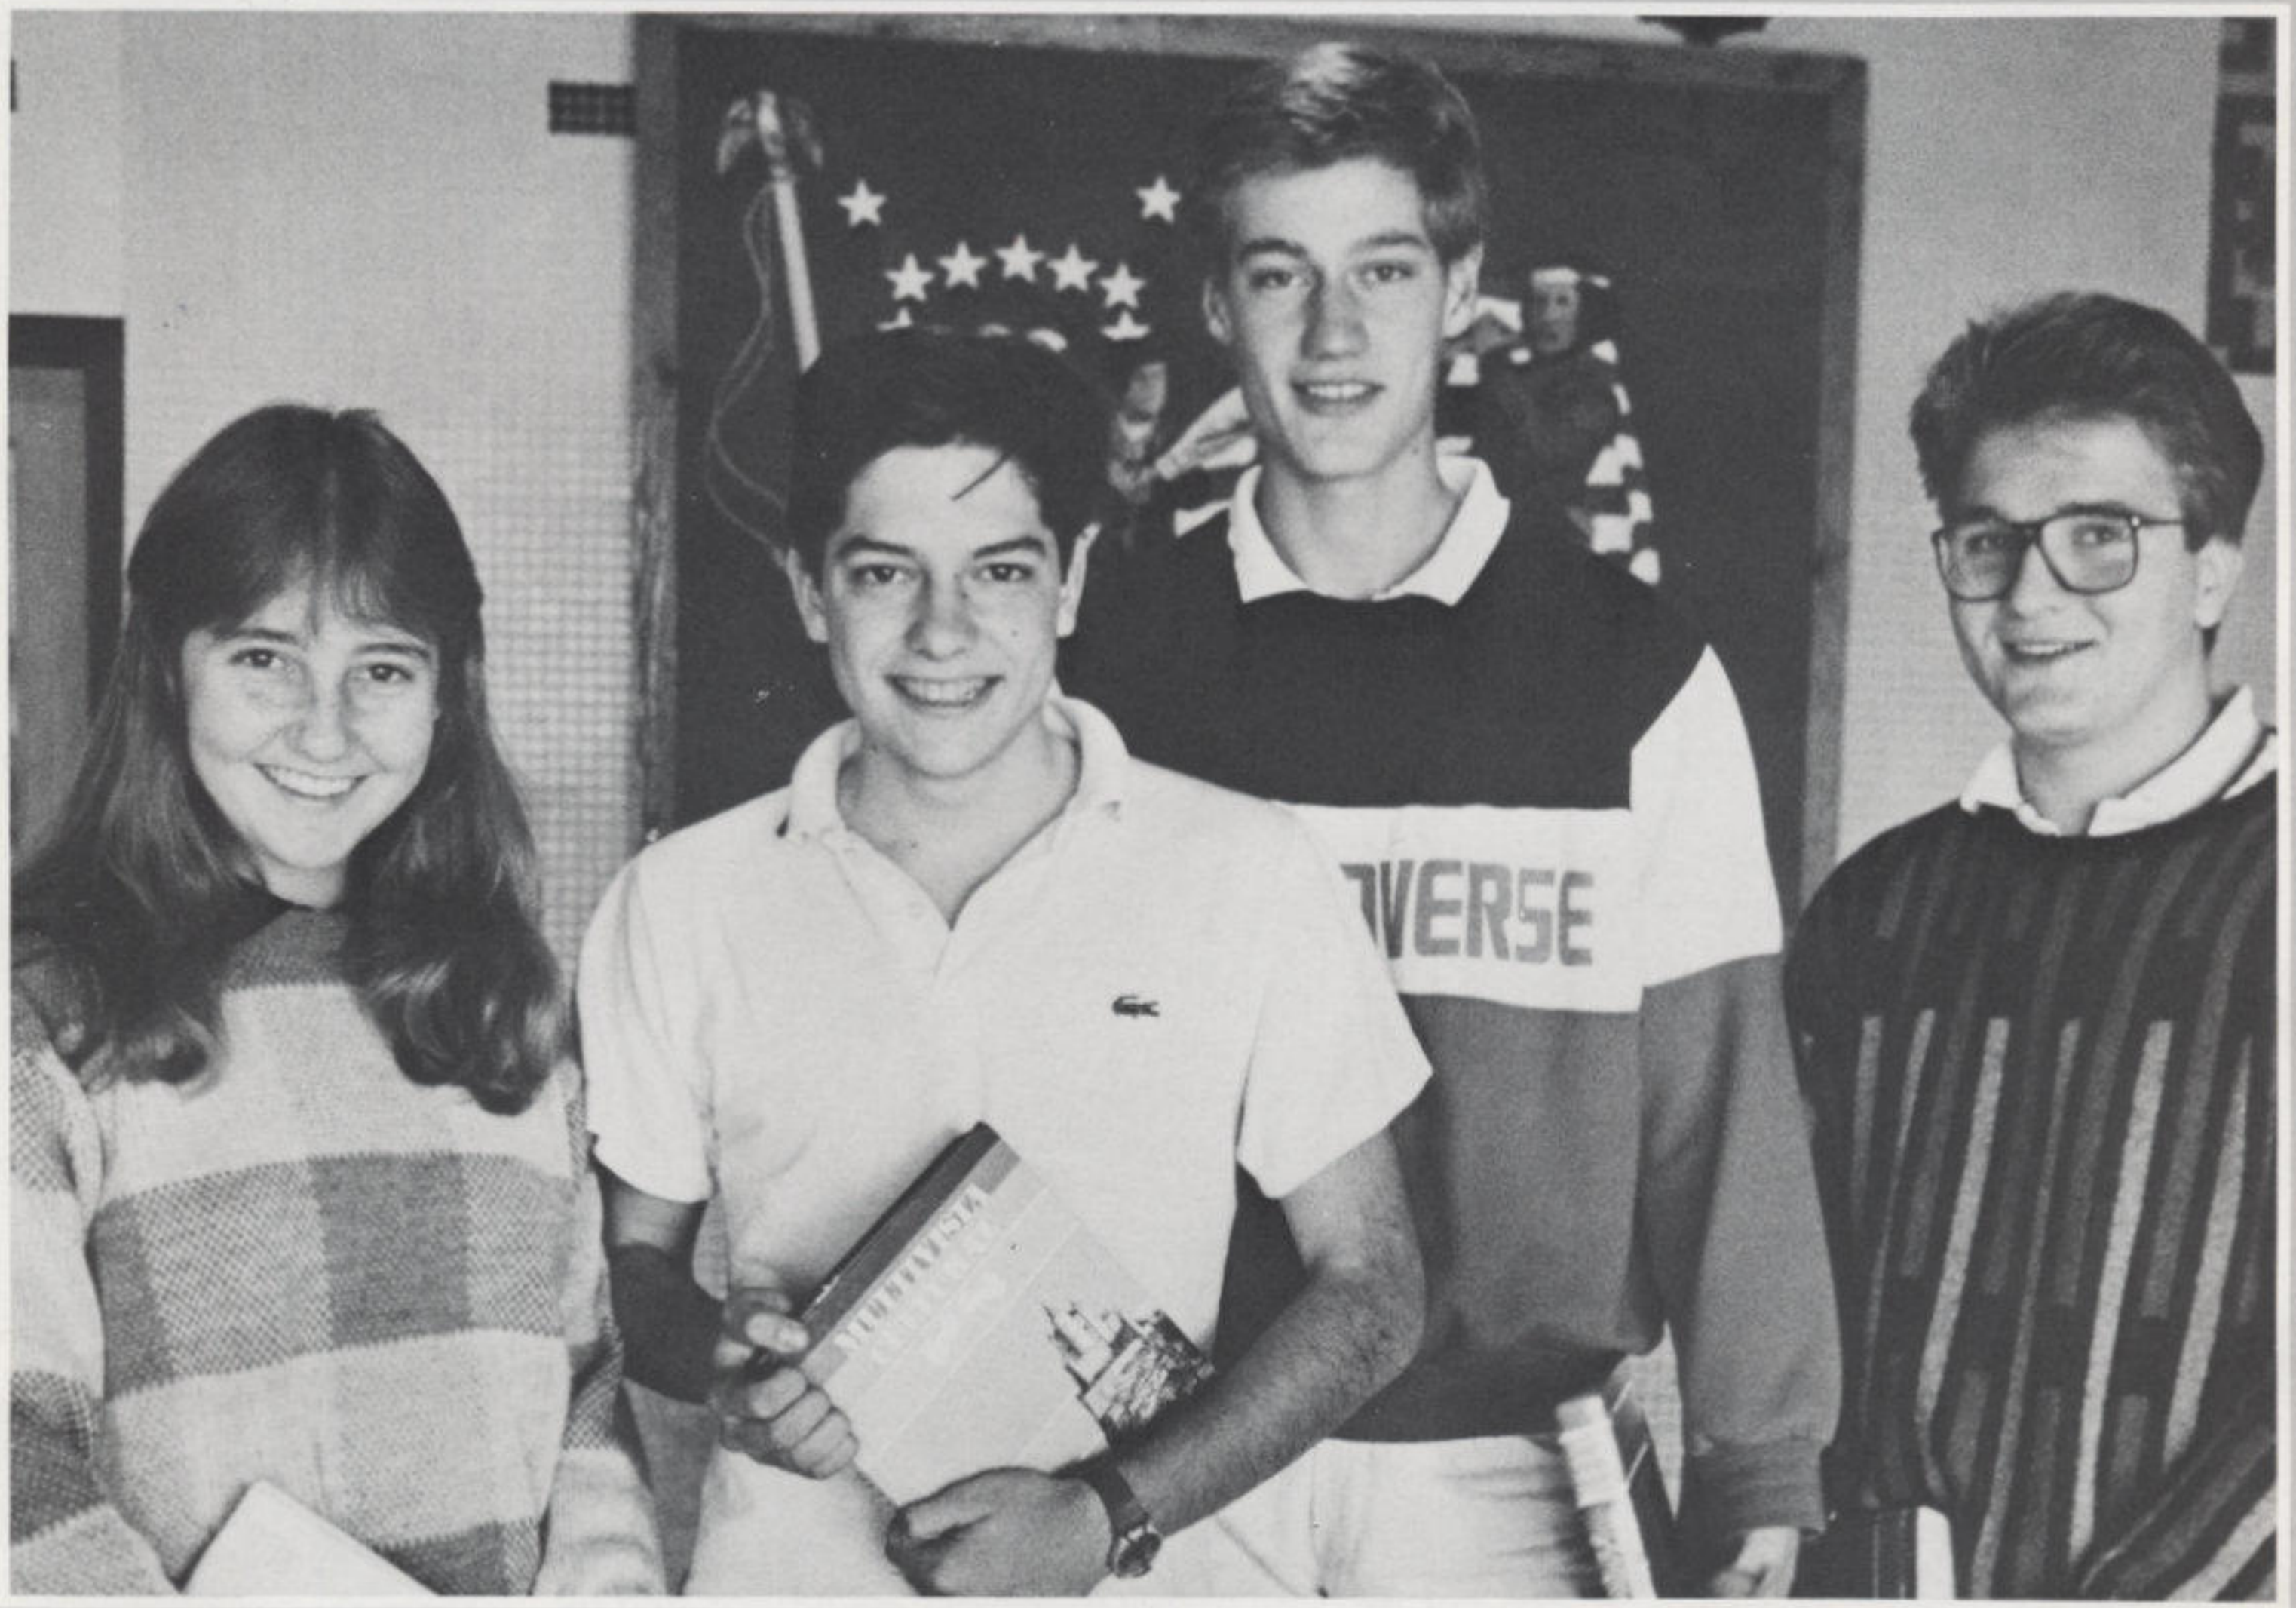

The cheerleading squad has been involved in many activities ranging from competitions, pep-rallies, and cheering at various sporting events. They were also named 'one of the most spirited squads at one of their competitions.

Homecoming was a big success, as it was sponsored by the Student Council. Donell Branham was chosen Queen, and "Lady in Red" was chosen as the theme song of the dance.

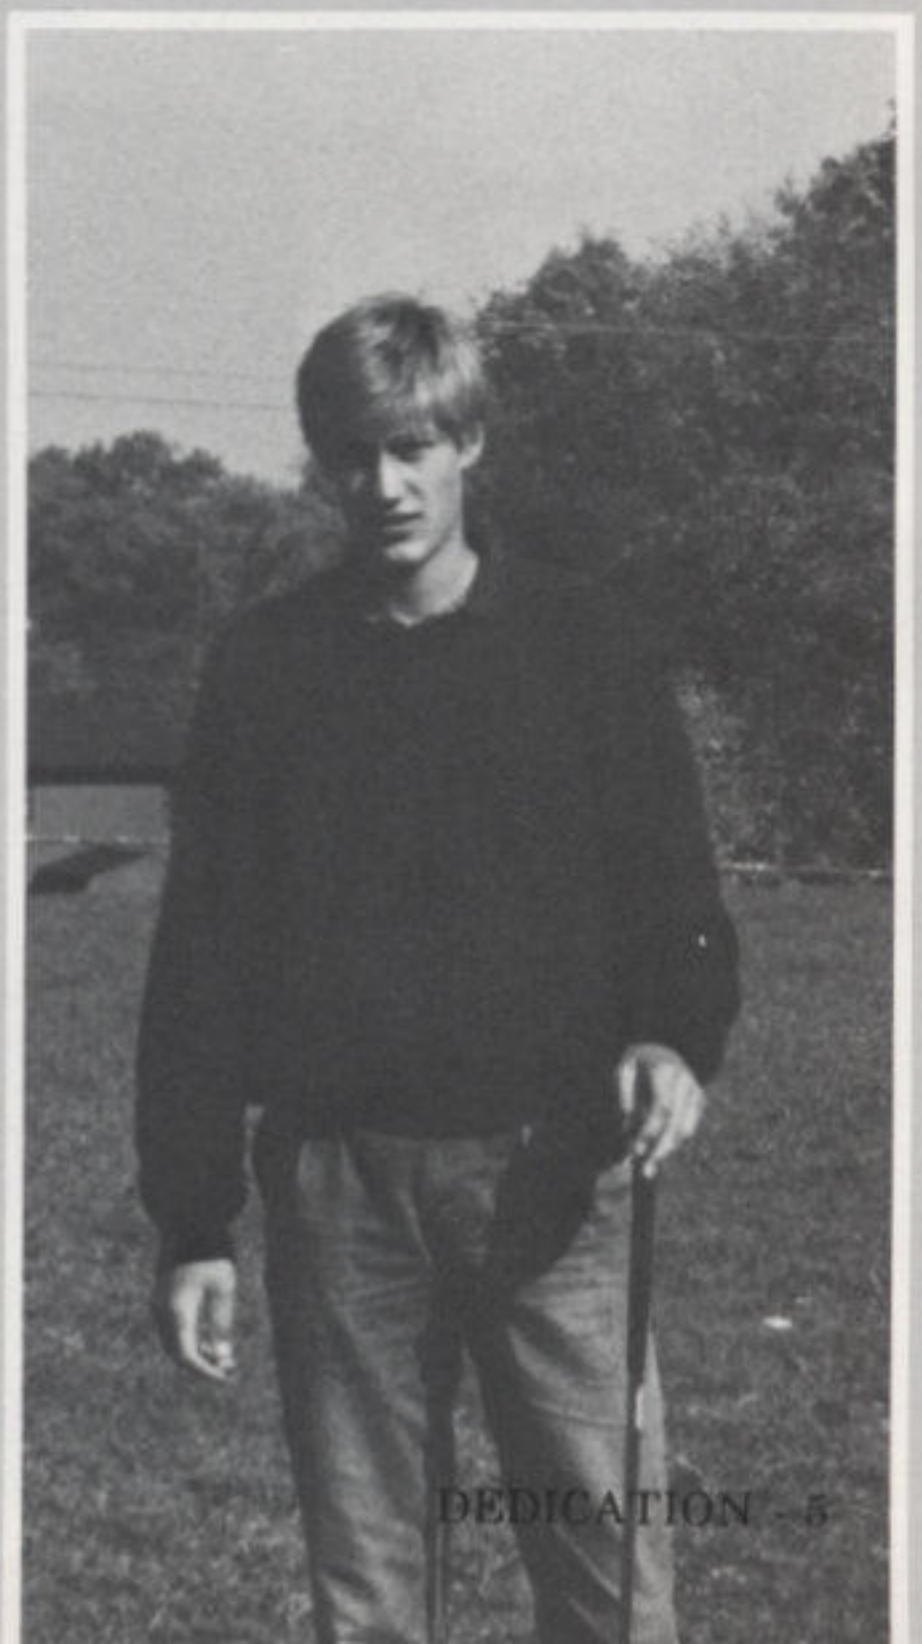

All of these events created the introduction of a memorable year. We hope you feel a glow of pride as you begin your tour of the "Shades of '88."

CHEERLEADERS SPARK

Jenny Chase: Cheerleading Mascot

The Varsity are recognized for going to regional competition.

The cheerleading squads were busy at the beginning of the school year doing numerous activities and attending cheerleading oriented camps and competitions.

The squads attended the UCA camp at OSU in Columbus over the summer and received "Spirit Sticks" as they were considered one of the most spirited squads. They also advanced to the regional competition in October. They didn't receive any awards, but nevertheless it was a good experience.

The cheerleaders also did a couple of after-game dances, held the annual King of Hearts Dance in February, and the cheer clinic in January.

High spirits and quick feet led the 1987 Big Red Cross Country teams to win many honors. The lady Red had a terrific season winning many trophies and medals, including a first place finish at the Galion Invitational and the prestigious honor of Firelands Conference Champs. The girls team placed 2nd. at Districts and advanced to Regionals where they placed 3rd. A Junior, Susan Helms, qualified for state 2 years in a row, a feat never done by another Lady Red team member.

The boys team ran hard and had a good regular season record. Their biggest accomplishment was being runnerup at the Ontario Invitational. The boys team placed 5th. at Districts and Wendell Burton advanced to Regionals where he placed 8th. Wendell Burton represented the boys team at the state meet along with Susan Helms.

The sleepy eyed girls walk onto the bus.
They are runners, simple and true.
This particular morning there is no noise or fuss,
for one thought in their minds runs through and through.
They are united with a common goal,
not just to run and win,
but to run with heart and soul,
and all the power that comes from within.
The bus stops and soon all depart, taking with them the anticipation and intensity,
the bus had sheltered from the start,
and pouring it into the days' density.
They step into the rain and prepare to run.
Every spike digs into the ground and etches,
a trail of a body that has not yet begun.
For they are numb, despite all their stretches.
What is spoken promotes confidence, so the fear cannot be heard,
but the voices reveal how tense,
the meaning is that masks the word.
The time has finally come.
The wet girls stand at the line,
their hearts beating like a drum,
trying to leave fears and doubts behind.
The race has started but they cannot feel it.
Their awareness lies within the rain.
Its' powerful rhythm as each drop hits, matches the sound as their feet skim
across the terrain.
When they have no more energy,
they keep going on their desire.
This is their winning ability,
That pushes them like a burning fire.
They came in one by one,
finishing with confidence, and those determined girls won the title of the conference.

February 23, 1971 - December 27,

In memory of Anita Conley, Peggy Osborne, and Brian Neidermeier, the Student Body and Faculty of Plymouth High School wish to dedicate this page to them.

On January 4, 1988, a Memorial Service was held at the high school. Candles were lit by friends and family to honor their memory.

At the service, Mr. Flesher and Rev. Julian Taggart helped to put the question of "why" these deaths occurred into perspective. It was a very difficult and trying time for the students, faculty, and the community of Plymouth.

Even though this happened, and we cannot answer why, we must try to remember the good memories. Then, in this way, we will think of them with a smile and not a sadness in our hearts.

PUTTING MEMORIES ON PAPER

Putting the Yearbook together is definitely a time-consuming and sometimes thankless task which requires total cooperation and group effort. Without the help of ten very dedicated individuals, the '88 Yearbook would not have been possible. Every person on the staff had assigned tasks and duties to perform and they accomplished a great deal. All staff members were involved with all facets of the book to some degree—designing layouts, taking pictures, and writing copy. Co-editors Laura Stroup and Laura Sponseller shared the responsibility of making sure deadlines were met and layouts completed. Sophomores David Oney and Shane Garrett served as chief copywriters as well as helping to design layouts. Although a rookie, Senior Robert Rivera demonstrated his artistic skills in designing the cover of the book as well as all the Division pages. Robert was also head photographer, although he was assisted by David Oney and Laura Sponseller, and credit for most of the candid photos goes to them.

As third year Advisor, Mrs. Buurma was able to initiate some new and different ideas with the '88 Yearbook. The addition of color and the original cover design were attempts to use creativity in following the theme of this year's book: Shades of '88.

It is impossible to create the perfect Yearbook. Every attempt was made to include as many events and individuals as possible, and hopefully the students and faculty at P.H.S. will appreciate the effort and time that was given in producing the 1988 Havamal.

Possessing a huge amount of depth and talent, the 1987 Varsity football team showed great improvement this year. The Big Red finished .500, and fourth in the Firelands Conference.

Captains David Powers, Jeff Staggs, Terry Hall, Steve Roethlisberger, and Greg Burks led the team to their impressive record. David Powers was honored as MVP, and Senior Jeff Staggs was named most improved.

The double overtime loss to Monroeville, although disappointing, was probably the highlight of the season. Many who watched the game considered this one of the best high school games ever played.

With the loss of 11 seniors, the Big Red will be returning 14 lettermen next year. So we wish best of luck to next years' team, as well as graduating seniors.

"LI'L ABNER"

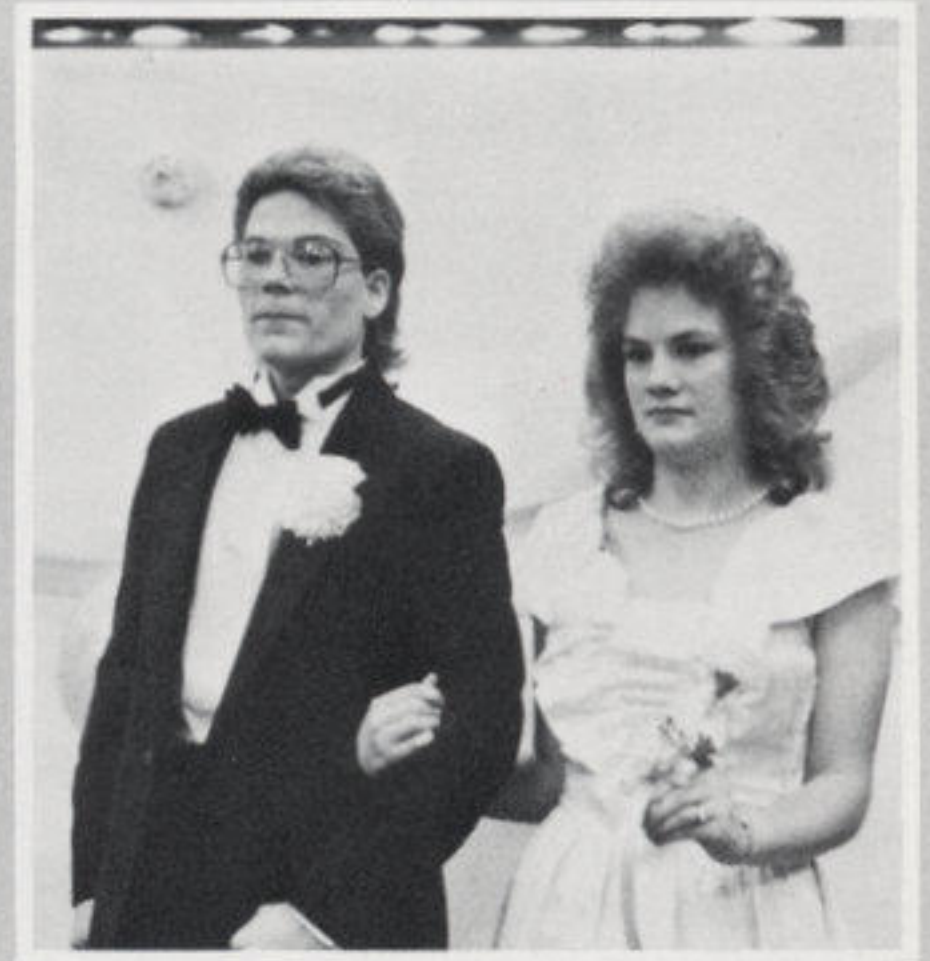

For a few short months this Spring, the high school stage turned into a small backwoods, southern town: Dogpatch U.S.A. The director, Mrs. Susie Roberts, felt that the musical was a tremendous success. She said the students experienced a great opportunity to perform and learn about musical theatre. And above all, they were a hard working group and should be very proud of their accomplishment. Best Actress of the musical went to Amy McClure and Best Actor to Duane Adams. A special Director's Award was given to Steve Hawkins. (They may even have perfected the art of talking and dancing "dogpatch" style!)

LIFESTYLES OF THE RICH/NOT SO RICH AND FAMOUS/NOT SO FAMOUS

Good afternoon ladies and gents. Welcome to another edition of lifestyles of the Rich/not so Rich & Famous/not so Famous. My name is _____ and when we return we'll be taking a special trip to find out about the lives of the class of '88 graduates of Plymouth High School, but right now we bring you this message from your local station.

This just in from our front desk in Washington, Plymouth High School '88 graduate was brought up on charges in the United States for selling secrets to the Soviets. His name Eric Breznicki. He claims he's been selling secrets since grade school, yet, no one ever suspected or questioned his last name. He believes the reason is because no one could ever spell it correctly. Now, back to our regularly scheduled program.

Welcome back. Right now we are here in the middle of a famous pig farm, owned by Steve "Porky" Arnold. We were unable to get an interview with him because he is in a meeting with Mark Campbell of Campbell's Soups and Angie Cook of Cook's Cookbook for Pork. We suspect they are all trying to set up a business together to help profits increase. So we take you to our next interview.

Location, the world-wide known Truancy Office. The famous truant officer, Sherry Sexton Branham, in great efforts along with Tammy Stephens, have succeeded in cutting school-truancy down to a world-wide minimum. Their tactics, scaring the heck out of school children with their own stories of the good ole days.

We apologize for this next interview. We seem to have had difficulty in slowing down the tape slow enough to catch everything Mrs. Sherry Felty Blankenship tried to discuss with us in our interview. She simply talks far too fast for our viewing audience. Also our interview with Laura Paulo will not be seen, due to the fact that we weren't able to understand any of her interview. Next time we'll remember to have a dictionary at our side to look up all of the extremely hard words she uses.

For the first time on national television we bring the world's first invisible women. Well she's not really invisible and if you look closely at your screen you'll be able to see the thin line of Krista Castle. No need to adjust your screen, the line is suppose to be there.

Next up we'll introduce you to the first set of triplets to graduate from Plymouth High School. But now we bring this news break.

Today there was commotion outside the capitol. A group of red heads gathered because they wanted a day on the calendar proclaimed as National Red Head Day. These people are headed by a group of Plymouth High graduates, who we believe are as follows: Tammy Gayheart, Jeff Lybarger, Mike McQuate, Jeff Nickles, and Laura Stroup. The police force were unable to make an arrest because of chants about the bill of Rights granting the right to demonstrate, along with chants thanking one Mr. Douglas Dickson of Plymouth High for making them aware of the right. Now we return to Life Styles of the Rich-/Not so Rich and Famous/Not so Famous.

As promised we bring you to the Wilson brothers. Hi, my name is Terry, this is my brother Wilson and my other brother Wilson. We own this here mansion, housing all of our triplet sons and daughters. We obtained our fortune when we sued Wilson Athletic products for using our famous triplet last name.

Now we take you to those '88 grads who made it big in the factory scene. First we have for you Clyde Cox.

Clyde is the proud owner of the worlds largest factory that makes a great line of camouflaged clothing. Clyde stated to us that the reason he has been so successful and is able to turn a large profit is because he doesn't have to spend money purchasing green dyes for the apparel. He prefers to leave them white, light, gray and dark gray.

Next we have for you the ever popular air head, I mean doornail, what I'm trying to say is the ever popular, Donell Branham. She just made a major mistake by opening her own factory called "The Doornail Nail Company," specializing in air head screws.

Our next factory owner was unavailable for an interview because famous fur factory owner, Sheri Arthur, is busy producing a new line of furs. No, not just fur coats anymore, but fur pants, fur towels, fur sheets, anything and everything fur. Including by favorite, fur toilet seats.

Finally we bring you our last factory owner. This is by far our most unusual one we've ever seen. The owner, Robert Smith. His product, life size trapper keepers. Robert admits he got his inspiration during high school because he was always very unorganized and his trapper keeper could never hold all of the junk he stuffed in it. (Where do get these people, anyway?)

When we return we'll bring you more interviews guaranteed to make you ask, why me? Right after this special news report.

In this special news report we'll inform you about several top stories we are following at the present time.

Today, four men were reported as missing in action. Two of which are big game hunters, and the other two big partiers. David Handshoe and Scott Whittington left for a hunting expedition several weeks ago. It is believed they ran into some very harsh weather in Africa and took shelter in a house somewhere in the jungles.

The other two men, Rodney Stumbo and Mike Oney were last seen fleeing the site of their vehicle after a major crash and burn. Witnesses are saying they had just left a major party. Law enforcement officers are hot on their trail though, because they are certain they are heading for another major party site.

Just in, two women in addition to the four men are also missing in action. Lavonne Branham and Jodi Putnam both had early dismissals from graduation each one 10 minutes apart. They are still under investigation by local authorities. Do you suppose they are together somewhere?

Now we have for you our medical marvels. Today surgeons from all across the world attempted to surgically uncross Andrew Knaus' legs. After being unsuccessful doctors do agree that they will try once more. If they fail the second time, what's fifty or sixty more years of crossed legs?

Also, today, we have millionaire Ronald Dean Stephens, who has been doing experimental bionic self-surgery. He can now jump so that he can break any record at PHS.

Our most unusual medical marvel is that of Gary Horner. Today he is having plastic surgery done to fix the burn scars he received years ago while trying to dive over fire at a senior class bonfire. He was motivated by Mark Hall who agreed to pay Gary each time he made it across. Needless to say, Mark never lost a cent.

In the wedding scene today two graduates of Plymouth High said "I do".

Laura Sponseller, famous singer of the band Feindish Thingie, tied the knot. It will be marked as the worlds' most unusual wedding. Laura's gown was of course, white? Wait a minute is there a mistake in my script? Are you sure it wasn't black?

Moving on, Jennifer Cole has recently married the Pennsylvania big shot Mr. Hershey. Despite popular opinion, she didn't marry him for his money, she married him for his chocolate.

Before we return to our scheduled program there has been an update on the whereabouts of two of our graduates. Lavonne Branham and Jodi Putnam, driving a suspicious white vehicle, have been spotted by the Plymouth Police Department. They were last seen pulling Greg Niedermeier and an unmentionable person out of a ditch off Baseline Road in Plymouth. Now back to our program.

This segment has been brought to you by the famous football player Greg Burks "Just-My-Size" pantyhose, and by Scott Gano's famous "Nair" hair remover for men.

Welcome back! Now we're going to take you to the city where all the game show hosts can be found. Meet Aaron Barker, long lost relative of Bob Barker. Aaron, too, has gray hair and enjoys his job on "The Price is Right" very much.

Also meet Kevin Beverly and Tom Woodmansee. They host the Saturday morning cartoon special, "The All New Transformers". They really love what these things can do!

Next we have Lance Combs, host of the new game show "Jigsaw Jiggle", named after his famous dance, of course.

And finally meet Terry Hall. Critics agree he's the best host "Jeopardy" has ever had. He's had the answers to all of the questions. He says he enjoys his job very much. Even though it takes up most of his time, he still finds time to coon hunt.

Now we are here at the home of Mother Goose Kathy Chase where presently she is working on the new American Flag. She's always been crafty with a needle and thread. In the room opposite of her is a group of individuals whom of which all of their lives have been shy and quiet. These individuals are divided into two groups for a therapy panel discussion. On one panel is Bryan Carnahan, Margie Hamilton, Tammy Montgomery, and Lori Kessler Reed. On the other panel is Marie Renz Carrington, Angie Sexton, Mike Sexton, and Tammy Isaac. Their purpose is to overcome their shyness and quietness, but I must say I don't think they are making much progress because they are all too shy and quiet to start the therapy conversation. Have any ideas?

Across the street we have another therapy session for those people who are unafraid to speak their mind. These people are Theresa Cochran, Samantha Gearheart, Tracey McVey, Dawn Moore, and Dana Tuttle. As a matter of fact, these people have a hard time being in the same room at the same time because they all want to say their piece first. Their discussion is hard to follow because they all speak at once, - - - louder and louder.

Now for a change of scenery we take you to Plymouth High School to introduce you to a few new teachers. First there is Alfonso del Pozo Dominquez who replaced Mrs. Luna. Kids adore him but never understand what he's saying.

Also at PHS is Steve Hawkins, not only is he the new government teacher, he's also the cheerleading advisor with a squad of National Champions!

Jeff "Boz" Staggs has taken over for Mr. Pfaff, and he, too, has given an award to a student that has "done a lot of growing up".

I think I'm getting hungry so I'll stop in here at Domino's Pizza. Well, get this. There stands Scott Edler. Can you believe it? He can spin pizza dough to perfection with one hand. (Yes, he still experiments with fireworks!)

Next door to Domino's we have Sheri Wagers getting ready to open up her famous "Waggers Pet Shop". And across the street from Sherri is the famous law building where we can find Powers and Powers Associates. Brian "Ty" Powers practices in breakdancing injury lawsuits and David specializes in bodily injury caused in classic convertibles lawsuits.

The two biggest successes from the Class of '88 are those of Heath Hale and Peggy Helms. Heath Hale has made a considerable fortune selling his quick grow tonic. Of course he's still a conartist. Peggy Helms has made her fortune by opening a chain of tanning salons for fair-skinned individuals. She doesn't understand why people don't believe her.

Let's walk a little farther down the road here and see what we can find. Hmmm. Here's the Giggles commercial studio. Here we find Missy Horne is giggling more than ever. She now owns the Giggles Cookie Company and stars in a Giggles cookie commercial.

Other company takeovers are those of Wyler's and Welch's. Kris Wiley has bought out Wyler's fruit drinks and Stephanie Wells has bought out Welch's Orchards.

Moving on we come to the building of famous oil tycoon Steve Roethlisberger. After becoming famous he is now known as the "world's largest source of natural gas".

Next we come to John Clagg's shoe shop called Clagg's Cloggs. Despite his enormous shoe size, he does make shoes to fit any size foot.

Finally we come to Errin Echelberry's Barber Shop. He specializes in weird and unusual hair cuts. (I think I'll pass this one up!!)

During our beauty contest surveys we ran into Michelle Martin. After being voted as having the best personality in the senior class she went on to bigger things. Her secret is that famous wink of hers when she smiles at you. Now, to our final news brief.

Four other graduates have been reported as missing. First of all, Rodney Reed and Robert Rivera of the United States Marine Corps were "shot down" while sunbathing upon their ship. It is believed that Wilson brother, Terry, also of the Marines out on honorable discharge, saved Rodney and Robert and then placed them in safe hiding.

John Linville has been missing since he appeared at the Grand Ole Opry with his song "I Could Have Been a Belt Maker but I Couldn't Buckle Down" and he got run out of town. Guess he never stopped running!

The other missing graduate is Kathy Welker. Kathy left for India after graduation as part of the foreign exchange student program. After several attempts to locate her, we contacted the authorities but they failed also. A close friend admitted that Kathy may be searching for her man who is still in the army.

In a recent court case Libby Martin sued Libby's Canned Fruit Company for not using her favorite jingle in their commercials anymore. She wants to hear Libby's Libby's on the label, label, label, just one more time for old times.

After being kicked out of their country for not being able to speak German any longer Bernd Schneider and Wilke Schutte returned to the United States. Bernd is with the Bears and has become the world's most famous field goal kicker. Wilke plays all over the world in tennis tournaments and can still eat more than most human beings!

And in our final medical brief we sadly report that Jimmy Elliott has been admitted to the hospital after an unfortunate accident at Big Wheel. Observers say Jimmy was attacked by his floor buffer while waxing the flooring. He simply lost control of the buffer.

Now back for the closing of Lifestyles of the Rich/Not So Rich and Famous/Not So Famous. Well, I hope you enjoyed our journey today. I must say the graduates of the Class of '88 from Plymouth High School are a very unique group. I hope the teachers survived their brief or not so brief encounter. Until we meet again, this has been Lifestyles of the Rich/Not So Rich and Famous/Not So Famous.
